REV. A. BOOKER.

Rev. M. W. Jamison of the Eddyville circuit, Bowling Green District, Lexington Conference, has united with the Baptists at Princetown, Ky.

Rev. J. F. Lindsey has reunited with the A. M. E. Church.

I can only assign one reason why they have left us; that is they found no blank. We were all in good friendship and we have had no trouble with either of them.

Analyzing the Baking Powders.

Under the directions of the New York State Board of Health, eighty-four different kinds of baking powders, embracing all the brands that could be found for sale in the State, were submitted to examination and analysis by Prof. C. F. Chandler, a Member of the State Board and President of the New York City Board of Health, assisted by Prof. Edward G. Love, the well-known late United States Government chemist.

The official report shows that a large number of the powders examined were found to contain alum or lime; many of them to such an extent as to render them seriously objectionable for use in the preparation of human food.

Alum was found in twenty-nine samples. This drug is employed in baking powders to cheapen their cost. The presence of lime is attributed the impure cream of tartar of commerce used in their manufacture, such cream of tartar was also analyzed and found to contain lime and other impurities, in some samples to the extent of 93 per cent of their entire weight.

All the baking powders of the market, with the single exception of "Royal" (not including the alum and phosphate powders, which were long since discarded as unsafe or inefficient by prudent housekeepers are made from the impure cream of tartar of commerce, and consequently contain lime to a corresponding extent.

The only baking powder yet found by chemical analysis to be entirely free from lime and absolutely pure is the "Royal." This perfect purity results from the exclusive use of cream of tartar specially refined and prepared by patent processes of the N. Y. Tartar Co., which totally remove the tartrate of lime and other impurities. The cost of this chemically pure cream of this greater cost is used in no baking powder but the "Royal."

Prof. Love, who made the analyses of baking powders for the New York State Board of Health, as well as for the Government, says of the purity and wholesomeness of "Royal."

"I have tested a package of 'Royal Baking Powder' which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates of any injurious substances.

Books From Our Own Book Concern.

CENTENARY THOUGHTS, For the Pew and Pulpit of Methodism in Eighteen Hundred and Eighty-four. By Bishop R. S. Foster. 12mo. $1 50

Bishop Foster, of the Methodist Church, has written enough to make it unnecessary that our readers should have an introduction. He is a man of a very unusual combination of logical and rhetorical power. Nothing that he writes is weak, and nothing dull. His "Objections to Calvanism" was his first book; this showed the skillful polemic. The Bishop has been conspicuous in his Church, ranking among the highest dignitaries, not only officially, but in real, recognized ability. The name of this volume clearly indicates its drift. It is designed to instruct Methodist people as to what Methodism is, what it has acheived, and what are its capacity and prospects. Bishop Foster would elevate and enlarge the views of all Methodists, by giving them an intelligent apprehension of Methodist history, doctrine, and economy. He would inspire noble sentiments and endeavors by a review of the past and by a prospective view of the future. Writing as he does, with uncommon vigor and beauty, no mind of capacity and taste can read this book without admiration and profit. As our own people are equally concerned with this Centennary of the Church, and as our own literature of this sort is scant, they would serve themselves well to read Bishop Foster. The author discusses every matter of moment concerning our affairs in a lucid, expository way. He has much to say about sermons and preachers quite apropos to our times and our ministers. Lack of information is the great obstacle to all noble endeavors of this particular period. Hence, we hail with delight every effort to enlighten our people as to their doctrines and Church institutions. The direct outcome of the year may not meet anticipations, so far as financial plans are concerned; but the after and distant results are fairly to be computed in any proper estimate of the schemes of this memorable year. The intelligence of the Church will be greatly increased, and we believe its liberality will be largely improved. Bishop Foster's volume is at moderate price.—Quarterly Review of Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The November Chautauquan.

The Chautauquan for November speaks severely, but we think correctly and justly of the massacre of Chinese workmen in Wyoming. Here is a specimen sentence or two.

"The laws enacted by Congress have failed of their object; it is probably inevitable that all such laws shall fail.

As the bottom of the motive for the recent assassinations, there is, probably a conviction that the Chinese cannot be removed except by the Guteau process. This conviction however does not impart any dignity to the assassinations."

A paper on Victor Hugo in the same issue will bear an interested reading. Always good the number before us loses nothing in excellence in contrast with those which have gone before it. It is the young people's classic of our Church, and they should all read it.

PEEPS AT REAL GIRLS IN CHINA.

This little book contains extracts from journals, and letters written by Clara and Sarah Wang, translated by Clara M. Cushman.

The book is sent forth with the hope that it may win more love and sympathy for the Chinese women and girls, and that the proceeds may help carry them the "glad tidings" of great joy."

Price, single copies, ten cents. Twenty copies, one dollar. For Sale by C. M. Cushman, 586 Fifth str. South Boston Mass.

DANGER SIGNAL.

When a person gives you counterfeit money he perpetrates a crime against the law and your pecuniary interests; but when he gives you an inferior and dangerous medicine in the place of one of recognized and well known curative properties he commits the blackest of crimes, for he conspires against your health and life.

"The New York Herald," Sept. 21, 1885, says: "To endorse a counterfeit medicine is to injure the manufacturer and the buyer, and the buyers will soon drop away from a counterfeited medicine that they find worthless. Manufacturers of counterfeit articles fail because they have not the experience and apparatus of the large manufacturer to produce the same curative results. The large manufacturers have the utmost incentive, while they are protected, to make their medicine as perfect and curative as possible."

For example, take the experience of Simmons Liver Regulator prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., of Philadelphia; their firm has devoted years of time, employed the most eminent chemists of the land, and spent thousands of dollars in bringing their medicine to the perfection it has attained. They expended a large amount of money in bringing it to the attention of the people, and its use has made Simmons Liver Regulator widely popular. In order to make money from the great reputation gained by this remedy, unscrupulous adventurers have gotten up cheap counterfeits, dangerous to health, and stick on these frauds a name closely resembling Simmons Liver Regulator, to deceive the unwary into buying their inferior goods.

FERNANDINA, Nassau Co., Fla.

"I have used Dr. Simmons Liver Regulator and always found it to do what is claimed for it. The last bottle and two packages did me no good and were worse than nothing. I see it is not put up by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and not genuine, and a waste of money to buy it. I would be glad to get the pure and genuine. Send me some from honest hands (with red Z and Zeilin & Co.'s signature on the Wrapper). The fictitious stuff sold will injure some one badly.

BENJ. T. RICH."

The genuine Simmons Liver Regulator has become the Faultless Family Medicine and has the endorsement of the thousands who have used it. If you want Simmons Liver Regulator see that the Druggist gives you the genuine, not something he claims is "just as good," and because he makes more off it.

From the Indianapolis News.

"Even This Shall Pass Away."

Once in Persia reigned a king
Who upon his signet ring
Graved a maxim true and wise,
Which, if held before his eyes,
Gave him counsel at a glance
Fit for every change and chance.
Solemn words, and these are they:
"Even this shall pass away."

Trains of camels through the sand
Brought him gems from Samarcand;
Fleets of galleys through the seas
Brought him pearls to match with these.
But he counted not his gain
Treasures of the mine or main;
"What is wealth?" the king would say;
"Even this shall pass away."

In the revels of his court,
At the zenith of the sport,
When the palms of all his guests
Burned with clapping at his jests,
He, amid his figs and wine,
Cried: "O, loving friends of mine,
Pleasure comes, but not to stay;
Even this shall pass away."

Fighting on a furious field,
Once a javelin pierced his shield,
Soldiers with a loud lament,
Bore him bleeding to his tent.
Groaning from his tortured side,
"Pain is hard to bear," he cried;
"But with patience, day by day,
Even this shall pass away."

Towering in the public square,
Twenty cubits in the air,
Rose his statue carved in stone.
Then the king, disguised, unknown,
Stood before his sculptured name,
Mused meekly, "What is fame?
Fame is but a slow decay—
Even this shall pass away."

Struck with palsy, sere and old,
Waiting at the gates of gold,
Said he, with his dying breath,
"Life is done, but what is death?"
Then, in answer to the king,
Fell a sunbeam on his ring,
Showing by a heavenly ray,
"Even this shall pass away."

Domestic Hygiene.

Acne.

GEO. L. CURTIS, M. D.

Acne is a common disease, manifesting itself in pimples, more or less severe and numerous, on the face, neck and body. It is "an inflammatory disease of the sebaceous glands," lying in the skin and opening by a small duct to the surface. This disease usually manifests itself by many little papules, pustules or tubercules. If only papules, they are hard, shot-like bodies in the skin, red, tender, sometimes itching and unpleasant to the touch. They give a rough mottled appearance to the skin. If they are pustules, these shot-like bodies have broken down and become filled with pus which on opening will discharge a small amount of whitish matter, after which recovery of that particular pustule may occur. If the disease has advanced to the tubercle, these shot-like bodies have become a fair sized boil. They are hot, painful, swollen and very red, and when ripe, discharge a considerable amount of corruption, often streaked with blood. These pustules may have scars when healed up.

In most cases the two first conditions may exist together, and often all three. It is sometimes observed that when acne exists to considerable extent on the shoulders and back, it is absent from the face. Still, wherever sebaceous glands exist, acne may exist.

Sometimes the pimple face may exist as a chronic disease. Children are never afflicted with it. It attacks the young who are approaching puberty, and may thus continue till twenty-five or thirty years of age. Sometimes it may continue to fifty years. There are cases where its course is very short, as even, a few months seem entirely sufficient, only to break out again. Usually it is a chronic affection.

It attacks men and women. It is not peculiar to either sex. It may select all colors and races of people, though its appearance is more marked in people of fair complexion, seeming to be of a scrofulous nature. It may be caused by neglect or improper care of sebaceous glands.

Who has not seen or pimple face? question not determined.

Some declare there are no causes for it, but it comes. Such an opinion is untenable. There must be a cause. Others believe it to be caused by changes in the system, as puberty, "indulgence in stimulating foods and drinks, scrofula, tuberculosis, gastro-intestinal derangements." It may be aggravated by want of cleanliness, and care in exercise, etc. It is possible that puberty, indulgence in stimulating foods and drinks, stomach and intestinal disorders and excesses, and want of cleanliness may all combine to cause acne. It is often observed that it is much worse soon after any excess that affects the stomach. It is also observed that constipation aggravates it, as also trouble with the liver.

It is observed that cosmetics, as powders, coloring matters, and paste applied to the face, produce them, or at least cause them to greatly and rapidly develop. One physician says, "I have reason to believe that irritating cosmetics play no small part in the causation of acne; for some of the severest cases I have witnessed have occurred in theatrical people."

What can be done to cure this seemingly simple affection?

1. A competent physician should attend to the internal treatment, by which the bowels shall become regular, the liver commence its regular work; and the stomach come to its own proper tone and functions. The persistent dyspepsia must be overcome, not by harsh, but gentle treatment. Foods and drinks stimulating or hard to digest must be interdicted. "Hot breads and pastry of all kinds" ought to be forbidden. When the physician has brought the patient to the proper condition he will then begin to build up the system with tonics.

2. Equal in importance to internal treatment is external. There should be regular ablutions with cold water down to the waste, or at any rate over and beyond the portion affected, and the parts rubbed dry with a rough crash towel. The rubbing should be hard. On the face there should be a prompt and persistent picking and pressing of the pustules, and the application of hot water to the wound, followed by rubbing. As soon as a pimple appears, go at it with "lancet or large needle," and apply hot water. Cloths wrung out of hot water, applied to the face five minutes at a time for two or four times a day will greatly help.

There are several ointments that may be used at night, and thoroughly washed off in the morning with soap and water, but my observation is that the great amount of rubbing when oily substances are put on the face is about the chief benefit. The rubbing breaks down the congestion by causing the absorbant vessels to take up the lardy matter in the glands, and carry it away. It is often observed that gently manipulating a swelling will cause its removal. So in the case of acne, the moulding or rubbing causes the vessels to act more promptly and carry away the corrupting material.

Acne is not easily cured. Many a physician has failed, greatly to the disgust of the patient. One favorable thing about it is, no one was ever known to die from acne or pimpled face.

Every Woman Knows Them.

The human body is much like a good clock or watch in its movements; if one goes too slow or too fast, so follow all the others, and bad time results; if one organ or set of organs works imperfectly, perversion of functional effort of all organs is sure to follow. Hence it is that the numerous ailments which make woman's life miserable are the direct issues of the abnormal action of uterine system. For all that numerous class of symptoms—and every woman knows them—there is one unfailing remedy, Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," the favorite of the sex.

Calamities come to all, and early errors carry hard consequences.

Some genius proposes to introduce paper shirts. This might do for Japan, but would prove a "big thing" for the doctors, because rheumatism, etc., would become frequent, If, however, people would keep Salvation Oil convenient, paper shirts might still be a success. It costs only 25 cents.

A greater number of vessels enter and leave Chicago harbor during the season of lake navigation than at New York, Philadelphia and Boston combined. The Tribune says that during a recent day the arrivals averaged one vessel every twelve minutes.

Every one has a will and a mind to think for himself, yet many will go about hacking and coughing until a friend recommends Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup for that cough.

MR. EDITOR: I wish to inquire for my mother, uncles and aunts. My mother's name is Ellen Tolliver, and father's name is Valentine Tolliver. They are here with me. Uncles' names are Orns and Jem, Robert, and Jack; Aunts Winnie, Mary, Betsy and Phillis, their mother's name was Judy, and she is dead. My mother was Sophia Johnson, her husband was Peter Johnson. They moved here with us before the war. They are dead. They belonged to James Gilmore, who lived between Montgomery, Ala., and Dallas. At one time we belonged to Morgon Smith, and lived near Handsville, Lawrence county, Ala. After Morgan Smith's death we were moved to Louisiana by his heirs. Address W. N. Tolliver, Shreveport, La.

A Season of Prayer.

The week commencing Sunday, Nov. 8, will be observed throughout the civilized world as a season of prayer for young men and Young Men's Christian Associations.

This season had its origin in a resolution adopted by the International Convention of the American Associations held in Albany, N. Y., in 1866, and has been observed every year since at the recommendation of the subsequent conventions.

There are now 2900 of these associations in the world, distributed as follows: North America, 934; Great Britain, 503; France, 72; Germany, 549; Holland, 396; Switzerland, 268; Denmark, 43; Belgium, 24, and a dozen, more or less, in each of the following countries: Spain, Italy, Turkey, Russia, Austria, Japan, Syria, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, Madagascar and India. The American associations are the strongest and best organized of any. They number 629 general associations, 190 colleges, 69 railroad, 11 colored and 12 German. The current expenses of the [illegible] in America amount to [illegible]. They own 82 buildings, valued at $3,532,000, and have a total net property of $4,253,000; 415 men are devoting their whole time to the work as secretaries, librarians, and gymnasium instructors.

The expenses of railroad associations is $70,000 per year, two thirds of which sum is contributed by the railroad companies, who testify to the great benefit resulting to their employes through this special department of Young Men's Christian Association work. Last year 1700 young men professed conversion in the college associations. There are 31 State and provincial organizations, each with its executive committee and annual convention. Order in Sunday-Schools.

REV. A. PHILLIPS.

A Sunday-school without good order cannot accomplish much good.

The first law of heaven was order. I find in a great many of our Sunday-schools that they fail to do the good they might, for the want of good order. Every Sunday-school superintendent should make it his legitimate business to see that the school he superintends keeps good order. When the time comes for opening the Sunday school, the superintendent should tap the bell, and every body should be silent at once. Then he should commence the opening services, and the entire school should take part in the opening service.

When the school is opened the teachers will then according to order take charge of their classes.

The superintendent must see that every teacher keeps good order in their classes. The librarian, secretary and sexton should be kept quiet during the school services.

The work of the Sunday-school is to bring souls to Christ.

My soul of evil near;

Mr. Editor, the SOUTHWESTERN has done much for me; you have found my people. Mr. Charles Brown, Ark.

The Christian Advocate for Oct. 29, issued a supplement filled with reading matter of an exceedingly interesting character.

The Western of November 4th appeared with a bright new face, and no less readable and newsy for this enhancement of its beauty.

In old times they reckoned not with the officers of the church because "they dealt faithfully." But in these times prudence requires the keeping of accounts.

Bishop Turner and Dr. Tanner are sure to lock horns on the question of the validity of the consecration of Rev. Richard Allen to the episcopacy.

Blessed is the preacher who receiveth his appointment, goeth straightway and preacheth upon the first Sabbath after conference in the same.

Rev. James A. Riese, of our church in Princess, Ann county, Md., is in the midst of a revival with nearly 100 converts so far and the work progressing.

The Pacific Christian Advocate of the Methodist Episcopal Church, published at Portland Oregon has a new face, an enlarged form and it wants more subscribers. We wish you well neighbor. Go ahead.

Prisoner of hope, be strong, be bold, cast off thy doubts disdain to fear, dare to believe, of Christ lay hold; wrestle with Christ in mighty prayer, tell him, I will not let thee go, till I thy name, thy nature know.

Rev. E. W. S. Hammond, Ninth St. Methodist Episcopal Church, Covington, Ky., has a grand outpouring of the spirit, in his church; 20 persons have been converted and added to the membership within a week, and 20 more are at the altar Nov. 3.

PRELIMINARY MEETINGS

The failure of Rev. A. H. Gillett to arrive in time to hold the Sunday school Congress announced for Tuesday and Wednesday, October 20 and 21, preceding the conference session, was a great disappointment, especially to the visitors and brethren who, to improve the opportunity, came to the city as early as Monday. Fortunately, however, Rev. M. W. Taylor, D.D, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, was among the first to arrive. As might have been expected, all eyes were turned toward him, and I doubt if he has received anywhere a more cordial greeting. On Tuesday night he preached to a large and appreciative audience assembled in the chapel. The theme discussed was "Conditions of Discipleship," and, sufficeth to say, that it was an able presentation, elicited throughout the closest attention.

At a meeting held the next day Dr. Taylor, in a speech of some length, set forth the claims of the SOUTHWESTERN. He did more than that; he showed from carefully prepared statistics the numerical strength of the colored membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church, its wonderful growth financially, educationally and otherwise, and then, with convincing logic, demonstrated the facts that our people have acted wisely in casting their lot with this great church. On account of having to meet the Tennessee Conference the Doctor left on the afternoon train for Gallatin, much to our regret. I think it would be found an excellent thing to have Dr. Taylor visit, as far as practicable, all our Southern conferences. His addresses would have a powerfully stimulating effect and arouse the brethren to greater activity along all lines of church effort.

THE CONFERENCE.

The conference convened Thursday, the 22d. Bishop Hurst conducted the devotions, after which the Lord's Supper was celebrated; all the members of the conference and several visitors present participating. Rev. B. H. Johnson was elected Secretary, Rev. F. L Donahoo, Statistical Secretary, and Rev. O. Hypshire, Treasurer. A few happily chosen words spoken with graceful fervor by the Bishop put the conference into a frame for carrying forward its work with harmony and dispatch.

The presiding elders, Rev. S. J. Harris, of the Morristown district, and Rev. E. Provine, of the Chattanooga district, both read an encouraging report of their respective fields. The character of all the elders was severally passed. None had died during the year. Rev. J. S. Hill, A.M., the wide awake President of the Morristown Seminary and formerly of the Holston conference, was announced transferred to our conference. Rev. D. B. Lawton, who has for several years labored assidnously as financial agent, raising funds for building purposes, was, at his request, given a superannuated relation, and transferred back to the Holston conference. Rev. A J Fletcher, former secretary of the conference, severed his relation in order to take work in the Tennessee conference, where the best wishes of our brethren will follow him.

A number of distinguished visitors were present, among whom we may mention Rev. T C Carter, D. D., editor Methodist Advocate; Rev. A H Gillett, D. D., Rev. W P Thirkield, Rev. T B Russell, Rev. W C Graves, Rev. J J Manker, D. D., Rev. J F Spence, D. D., Dev. J W Mann, Rev. S P Smith, Rev. C C Russell and Rev. D W Wells. The three last named are pastors of churches in Knoxville.

Rev. Dr. Carter addressed the conference in the interest of the SOUTHWESTERN and also urged greater diligence in circulating our church literature. Rev. Dr. Gillett represented the Sunday School work and imparted much useful information respecting the operation of schools and the variety, quality and price of our own lesson helps and Sunday School supplies. Dean Thirkield had a word to say for Gammon Theological School and pressed the importance of raising the standard of ministerial attainment. His lecture on the elements of success in the preachers work was full of rich sentences and made an impression that will not soon be effaced.

W. A. Shannon, J. Zellender and C. W. Walton were admitted on trial. They are men of promise and will be heard from, provided they do not neglect their studies. Father Mays after many long years of heroic service in the effective ranks yields at last to increasing infirmities, and takes a superannuated relation. May his enforced retirement be as peaceful as his active career has been useful. At the educational meeting Thursday night, Rev. J. S. Hill and Bishop Hurst addressed the audience, both speeches were strong and timely. The chart prepared by Drs. Rust and Hartzell was exhibited and most eloquently did it tell its story. All the resolutions were pointed and in strict harmony with our aggressive spirits and methods.

The details of business received the consideration their importance seemed to demand. There was no hurry, no confusion, and no complaint. There was an evident purpose to proceed in regular Methodistic fashion and the success attained was in the opinion of competent judges, very creditable to so young a conference. The Bishop remarked at one time that the conference had given him no trouble whatever, and that he did not remember having observed a more harmonious body. Such encominms are worth a great deal.

Cleveland is to have the honor of entertaining the next conference. The treasurer submitted the following report, collected, For Missions, $130.50; Freedmen, $125 Sunday School Union, $11.50; Church Extension, $28; Education, $25; American Bible Society, $5; Women's Home Mission, $4; Tracts, $13; Womens Foreign Mission $4; Episcopal Fund, $27; Conference claimants $5. The statistics will show I think, an advance over last year. Sunday was a grand day. The services were held in the court house; Seney Chapel East Port where the session was held; being too small to afford sufficient room. The hall was seated mostly with chairs, making it comfortable for the crowds which thronged it at each service. The love feast was well attended and the testimonies were prompt and gave evidence of a joyful acceptance of God's plan as well as a thirsting after a deeper and wider Christian experience. At half past ten o'clock Bishop Hurst preached an able sermon from the 34th verse of the 15th chapter of Matthew, which went straight to the hearts of his hearers. It was a scholarly production delivered in a persuasive manner, seizing at once the attention and making a profound impression. I endeavered to get a reporter to take down in short hand the sermon as delivered, and really thought my request would be complied with until I read the weak, disconnected synopsis which afterwards appeared in one of our daily papers. The Bishop greatly pleased our people by his affable sermon, Christian tone and kindly words, and I believe he has made many friends for our cause here. At the close of the sermon T. Jackson, J. Zellender and W. A. Shannon, local preachers, were ordained deacons by the Bishop assisted by the presiding elders. Rev. Z. S. Hill preached an effective sermon in the afternoon which stirred the audience. Rev. P. P. Brooks preached at night a sermon that was characteristic for its brevity as well as for the earnest thought and fervor with which it abounded. The Bishop followed with a few words of counsel and good cheer, after which the appointments were read and the preachers rejoiced that a new conference year had dawned, bringing to them the privilege of making a new beginning in the field waiting their coming. The collection during the day in cash and by subscription amounted to $471.

Three Witnesses.—A Sermon on the Modes of Baptism.

REV. W. W. WHITE, TEX. CONF.

Text—John v, 8: "And there are three that bear witness in earth, the spirit, the water and the blood; and these three agree in one."

1—The testimony of the blood.

I desire first to advance the testimony of the blood. If I can show how the blood was applied I think there will be little trouble to prove the mode of applying the spirit and the water. I refer you therefore to the book of Exodus xii, 21 23; xxiv, 6 8; xxix, 19 21, and Lev. xiv, 4 7, in order that you may see the significance of these divers washing, which, in the Greek, are called Baptism. And Paul uses this term interchangeably with sprinkling. Heb. xii, 24; 1 Peter, 2; Rev. 1, 5.

According to the teaching of Paul, Peter and John, just read, Christ washed us in his own blood by sprinkling. The blood of the Passover was applied by sprinkling, and was the means of temporal salvation to the Israelites; Heb. xi, 28. The blood of the Jewish sacrifice, called the blood of the atonement, was applied by sprinkling. "Moses took the blood and sprinkled the books and the tabernacle and all the people."

2—The testimony of the spirit.

Did God ever promise to manifest His Spirit to man in any particular manner? If so, what is it? Read Ps. lxxii, 6 8; Prov. i, 23; Isa xliv, 3, lii, 13; Ezek. xxxvi, 25 27. God testifies by the prophet Joel, also hear him, Joel ii, 8-29.

We are not to suppose that this pouring out of the Spirit was in an overwhelming torrent. There occurs a similar expression in Job xxxvi, 27-28. Now we proceed to inquire was these prophesies ever fulfilled? If not they are false But if they have been fulfilled according to the very letter of the predictions by the Spirit having been poured out and coming down upon them, and if this is called baptism by divine authority then that settles the long controverted question regarding the mode of baptism. Now, that is the question which by the help of God I hope to answer; Acts 1, 3 8; 11, 1-4. These passages record an exact fulfillment of of the prophecies before referred to, and so Peter understood it; Acts ii, 28-29-33. If we prove that the baptism of the Holy Ghost was by coming down upon the people, then baptism by water must comply with the divine pattern; and sprinkling and pouring then is the only scriptural mode of baptism. From this conclusion there is no escape. Now I will refer you to my third witness. I believe the remaining part of our task is easy. We have the evidence of two of our witnesses in favor of sprinkling or pouring as the only Scriptnre mode of purification.

3—The testimony of the water.

This must testify in unison with the other two, for they agree in one. Indeed it is impossible, in the very nature of things, that there should be any disagreement. It was the same Spirit poured out, shed forth and come down upon the disciples; which directs how the blood was to be applied under the former, and the water the latter dispensation, and as an emblem of purification from defilement in both cases. Christ, by his death, procured the Spirit's influence to cleanse and purify the lost according to the testimony of John: "Come, not by water only, but by water and blood." I might as well ask of what use is a few drops of blood sprinkled upon the people? Why did not Moses immerse them in it? as to ask of what use is a few drops of water sprinkled or poured on the heads of the people. The water must be the justifying agent according to the Scripture; and water baptism is an outward sign of an inward and spiritual grace. A sign or seal must be a perfect fac simile of the thing signified. Since the Holy Spirit in regeneration is poured out or sprinkled upon us, the water of baptism representing this great change must be applied in the same way.

We shall now proceed to introduce the Scripture evidence, that the water of baptism was applied to the subject by the apostle, by sprinkling on or pouring it upon them, and that the subject was not applied to the water by dipping him into it.

Let us read Rom. vi. 3-7 and Col. ii., 10-12; Gal. iii., 22-28; Tit. iii., 5 6. Now I deny that the apostle, in any of these passages, except the last, had any reference to the mode of baptism at all. For if they alluded to the mode of baptism, they would prove a great deal more than a zealous immersionist would desire.

If they refer to the mode of baptism, they prove so great a variety of modes that it would be difficult for an immersionist to make a selection. But they must take all or give up the whole.

St. Paul says: "So many of us were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into His death." Christ died by crucifixion. If that was a baptism, the mode of it was unquestionably sprinkling. The blood and water would ooze out of the wound in His side and trickle down to the ground. So that it be said that He was baptized in His own blood.

It may have been in allusion to this very same that He exclaimed: "I have a baptism to be baptized with and how am I straitened until it be accomplished." Certainly he was not immersed during the whole of His suffering. We are baptized in His burial.

Now by what kind of a mode would that baptism be? What likeness is there between dipping a person into and clean under the water and carrying a corpse horizontally forward into an open cave hewn out of the face of a rock.

Just at wash day our wives or daughters carry an armful of clothes and lay them on a shelf in the clothes closet.

We are planted together by baptism in the likeness of His death. The cross on which Christ suffered was planted in the ground after the manner of planting a tree. Not by covering it up, but by inserting the roots a little under the ground. What mode of baptism would that be? Why we should make the candidate stand perpendicular in a stream ankle deep while we sprinkle or pour forth the water upon him.

We once knew of the rite of baptism being administered in that way by Dr. Marshall W. Taylor and believe it was either Bishop Morris or McKendree, of our church, who did it the same way in the Ohio river, at Cincinnati.

We are circumcised by baptism by putting off the body of sin of the flesh, what mode of baptism would this be? To sum it up. I ask you my friends whether you can perceive any analogy between the death of Christ by crucifixion, the burial of Christ above ground, and the planting or grafting of a tree. The clipping of a small bit of the cuticle in circumcision, and the dipping of a man in water clean under. But if any one insist after that these passages do refer to the mode of baptism. Then I claim every one of them as being in favor of sprinkling.

The Apostle Paul, recollect, was the author of them all, and in the passage to Titus he doubtless does refer to the mode of baptism; and he called it the washing of regeneration.

I connect it with the renewing of the Holy Ghost, which he said was shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Savior. Here the matter refers to the ever memorable day of pentecost. When the Christian dispensation was opened, and this glorious revival which now included you and me among the saved. The Lord give us understanding and faith in these things. "Amen."

Lexington, Ky.

[It is extravagant to say that sprinkling and pouring are the only Scriptural modes of water baptism. Quite as much so as it would be to say that immersion was the only Scriptural mode. Methodists deny the latter and do not affirm the former. Having ascertained the nature and intent of this sacred ordinance, we safely relegate the mode of doing it to the decision of an enlightened Christian conscience.—ED.]

One James Bratton and Martha Bowls alias Bratton, claiming to be husband and wife, are not properly living together. He was trustee and she a steward in our church he left a wife and three children and she a husband and four children, and eloping went to Ohio. All persons are hereby warned not to be imposed upon by them. William E. Wilson.

From the Districts.

New Orleans District.

REV. L. P. CUSHMAN, P. E.

There is not a single instance recorded in the Bible, of a worshiping congregation leaving the house of the Lord, and going off to some creek, river, pool or lake to administer the ordinance of baptism. Such a thing is not recorded of the apostle, or the church. With them men were baptized when, and where they were converted. If they were converted in a house they were baptized in that house; if they believed in a prison; they were baptized in a prison, if in a desert or wilderness they believed and were converted they were baptized there. They did not go any where; but were then and there baptized.

All this pomp, show and parade of leaving the house of the Lord, and marching off to some stagnant pool or pond, lake, creek or river to baptize, is a modern invention, unapostolic, and unscriptural. It is purely and truly a human device.

At Haven Chapel, Bro. Mason is on his third year, loved and respected by all the people. God has wonderfully blessed His labors on this charge. The membership has increased more than three-fold. He has two Negro Sunday-schools with over 250 scholars enrolled. Upon the church property costing $1,000, $700 has been paid without calling upon the Church Extension Society for aid, illustrating the proverb "Where there is a will there is a way."

The secret of pastoral success is personal, pastoral work. The minister must have a Christly and an all-consuming passion for saving souls. He must go from house to house, talking and praying with the unconverted, enticing them to the place of worship. The Master will bless the work of such men. Good sermons are needed, but after all entire consecration to personal effort will do more to fill our churches, and lead souls to Christ, than the most eloquent sermons.

At Clinton Street, Bro. Ford is on his second year. A delightful state of harmony exists between the pastor and the people. The church has been neatly painted inside and out, and paid for. We speak of these good things with pleasure and satisfaction, but the fact can not be overlooked that the revival spirit is not among the people; the unsaved are not reached, and converted.

At Simpson Chapel, Bro. Jackson is closing the third year of his pastorate, under the most favorable circumstances. The church is harmonious, the congregations large, the Sunday-school has more than doubled. The old debt that had for so many years been hanging over the church is nearly all paid, and over $700 laid out in repairs, and all paid for. The current expenses are promptly met. Over 200 have been received into full membership during his pastorate, some of them heads of families, men of influence, many of them young people, attending our school, trying to fit themselves for life's great work, and some of them not a few Roman Catholics, but now thoroughly converted to God. It is no flattery to say that the Master has given this church remarkable prosperity during the past two years and a half.

In these times little care but little for oddity or gentility in dress. Elegance of behavior, gracefulness of person, amount to but little, with a person, who does not pay his debts. The world has no confidence in the piety that is not prompt in paying its bills. The man, whether in the pulpit, or pew, who can lightly repudiate financial obligations must have some specks of the dead rot on his consoience. Preaching and borrowing money, begging goods or groceries, and never paying, is hardly reconcilable.

At LaHarpe Street, we have some good people and Bro. Clark, on the whole is having a good year. There came up one little squall, but the Master had hold of the helm, the squall soon lost all of its fury, blew itself out of existence. The church is there, the brethren are united, the work of the Lord is going on, over thirty have been received into full membership since conference.

"The Lord will make the wrath of man to praise Him," sometimes directly, sometimes indirectly. Men may lay their plans broad and deep, the fruit may seem ripe and just ready to drop in their hands, but God looks down from the heavens, draws the wheels from off their chariots, and defeats all the counselors, whose counsel is not in harmony with His will.

At Pleasant Plains, Bro. Forest is "holding the fort." He has been annoyed by certain characters, who seem to be unable to rise to any thing that is great or good, "they are like mosquitoes, whose most ambitions employment is buzzing around." In the meantime Bro. Forest has been pastor, and attended to every part of his work. At the last quarterly meeting, the fruit of the Spirit was manifest, there was "love, joy, peace, gentleness and meekness." "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." Blessed are the peace makers they shall be called the children of God. The great desire of this writer is, that God may awaken His people to a full sense of their duty, give them more life, more enthusiasm, more hungering and thirsting after complete deliverance from sin, and an all-consuming desire for the salvation of men.

Shreveport District.

REV. PIERRE LANDRY, P. E.

The Shreveport district conference met at Mansfield La., 13th of August. The presiding elder P. Landry in the chair, Rev. H. J. Wright Secretary assisted by Rev. V. Chapman and C. D. Shallowhorne. The organization being completed the time for meeting was fixed from 9 a. m., to 1 p. m., and half an hour from 8 to 9 a. m., in the morning for prayer meeting. The usual committees were appointed, and the programme of the literary exercises was refered to the committee on devotional exercises, who fixed the time for the discussion of each subject. The report of the presiding elder was full of interest showing the district to be in good and growing condition, he having seen nearly every part of the same. The address of the presiding elder to the brethren on the subject of benevolent collections, and the claims of the different causes, commencing with that of Mission and the million, for that cause, the Church Extension, Freedmens Aid Society and all the rest of them was inspiring. Letters of encouragement were read from Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D. D., C. C. M'Cabe, D. D. of New York, and others. The conference was visited by some of the best white citizens of Mansfield who by their words of kindness on the floor of the conference created profound impression on all present. The conference was largely attended, the large church in which it was held could not accomodate the visitors whose interest was so great in the proceedings as to keep them standing in and out of doors. Sunday the 16th was observed as follows: conference love feast commencing at 8 a. m., conducted by Rev. S. Davage and Rev J. H. Peirre. The district conference union meeting commenced at half past ten, when six sermons were preached and a collection taken by each preacher until 1 p. m., the time for dinner. Recess for one hour was had for dinner; when upon the invitation of Rev. F. Harvey all the pastors partook of the kind hospitality of the people and the friends at Mansfield. At first it was thought a matter of impossibility to feed the large number present, but to the surprise of many all ate and fared sumptuously, and still there was some left. At 3 p. m., until 6 the same number of sermons was again preached as in the forenoon; a collection was taken up by each preacher, which including the night collection the sum of $86 was raised, which is considered a splendid showing. At night Rev. V. Chapman preached to a large and appreciative audience, from the words "In my Fathers house are many mansions," after which a short session of the conference was held, when resolutions endorsing the editorial tone and conduct of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, and expressing the abiding faith of the conference in the judgment and great ability of Rev. Marshall W. Taylor, D. D. as its editor; endorsing the administration of the Rev. Pierre Landry, Presiding Elder of the district, and thanking him for his fair and impartial rulings over the deliberations of the conference, and his fair dealings in general with all the people over whom he is in authority; endorsing the services and labors of Rev. R S. Rust, D. D., and J. C. Hartzell D. D., corresponding secretaries of the Freedmen's Aid Society for the zeal they have shown in behalf of educational work in the South; thanking the Rail road companies for reduced fares to the citizens of Mansfield, for their hospitality during the session of the conference; Rev. H. J. Wright, secretary and his assistants for their faithfull performance of their duties, and at 11 p. m., in the midst of the best of calling the conference adjourned with the doxology, and the Apostolic benediction by the Rev. Pierre Landry, P. E.

P. S.—On arriving home we opened up a protracted meeting on Fairfield circuit at Fairview Chapel. We was blessed with the company of the presiding elder and Bro. Wright in our midst on the 23d of August; the meeting lasted two weeks, we were blessed with 25 converts 15 backsliders reclaimed, and 3 from the Baptist Church, making 43 enrolled to the church. We had a grand baptising on September 1st assisted by Rev. S. Davage, sprinkled 17 and immersed 8. The Lord has blessed us in our protracted meeting and we are opening battle against sin at other churches on the circuit. We are doing all we can to raise our benevolent collections before the bad weather sets in. Pray for us, C. D. Shallowhorne pastor of Fairfield circuit and assistant Secretary of the district conference.

Sixth Session—Austin, West Texas, District Conference.

REV. C. L. MADISON, P. E.

Austin district conference, of the West Texas Annual Conference, convened at Calvert, Texas, Oct. 29th, 1885, Rev. C. L. Madison, presiding elder opened the conference, by reading the Scriptures, and the first thirty minutes devoted to prayer meeting.

The elder then addressed the conference, on the importance of meeting and the many benefits to be derived from it, especially the local preachers and exhorters. All of the pastors were present but four. After the roll was called, I was chosen secretary, and Rev. A. Foster, assistant. The reports from the pastors showed a grand success in their work both spiritually and temporally. The presiding elder's report was as follows: conversions on the district, 387; additions to the church, 226; full members, 1856; probationers, 244; schools, 21; officers and teachers, 104; scholars of all ages, 1995; churches, 24, parsonages, 7; amount raised for building and improving, $1645 13; paid out, $900.98.

Prof. Thomas M. Dart, from Cincinnati, Ohio, who has been appointed to take charge of our West Texas Conference Seminary, was introduced to the conference, who spoke relative to the work he came to do; he also exhibited a chart showing the work of the Freedmen's Aid Society. The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The Freedmen's Aid Society, through its secretary, Dr. Rust, has provided for the organization of our Conference Seminary by the appointment of Prof. Thos. M. Dart as its president. Therefore be it

H. SWANN,
A. FOSTER,

After which $15 was raised by the brethren of the conference toward getting the elder a suit of clothes, and others promise to contribute different amounts as soon as they returned home.

Letters from the Pastors.

Rev. N. H. Tolbert of Penn Valley Ky., Sycamore Chapel, writes: "We have just closed our camp meeting with great success. Our presiding elder was with us on the 30th and held his second quarterly meeting and preached a grand sermon to a large congregation. His text was "The eagle stirreth up his nest" Dent 32, 11; sacrament was administered and 57 communed. Collection during the day was $55:60. We have had fifteen additions this conference year. The amount raised during camp meeting was $145:05."

Rev. B. L. Crump writes: "The third quarterly conference for the Oxford charge were held Saturday September 19, 1885, the Rev. J. C. Eckles P. E., in the chair. The members all had their reports nicely written. The elder was highly pleased with the work. Sunday at 3 o'clock the elder preached a sermon mixed with the fervor of the Holy Ghost; he held the congregation spell bound for an hour and a half. Elder Eckles is a power in the pulpit, and our people all truly love him, they prove that by paying him up every cent they promise quarterly. Collection Sunday was $20. Our Sunday School is good. We have a right to say as we feel and believe it will be better from now on than ever it was before. Why? because Prof. Henry Avant a graduate of law from one of the best colleges in the North, is elected principal of the Oxford high school which opened on the 7th instant. This able and useful young lawyer was appointed to take charge of the Bible class in our Sabbath School, also the principal manager of the Sabbath School. The following named persons were elected teachers and officers of the Sabbath School. L. Starkand, N. L. Upshaw, Annie Davidson, H. Demmond, teachers: Mrs. H. Anderson Secretary, Mrs. B. L. Crump, Treasurer. Mattie Smith, A. C. Boon, teachers; F. W. Nelson, Librarian. I think this number of officers and teachers at the head of the Sunday School will make the school what it ought to be and lead it to victory. Our people are working hard to make everything pleasant for the Annual Conference."

Rev. C. Flerson, of Meridian circuit Miss, writes: "My third quarterly is over, Presiding Elder Campbell was with us. He preached and rallied the people to all our church interests. On Children's Day we raised $3:50. We have bought two good lots and have built one church and propose to build another, and complete it soon. Sisters Williams and Clayton, two good working sisters here are collecting for that purpose. Our revival resulted in 18 additions. Bros. R. Honston and N. Toole two local preachers were with me and rendered valuable assistance in my meeting. We have so far received 23 persons into our church this year, three of them came from other churches.

Rev. W. W. Brown Navasota, Grimes County Texas, Navasota district Plantersville circuit writes: "Our grand revival during which 25 professed religion from the Bethlehem Church, and a grand meeting was held at Pleasant Grove Church, and six were converted to God; in all 32, and reclaimed. So you see that the Lord has blessed my labor this year."

Rev. L. J. S. Bell, of Quitman, Miss., writes: "My work has been signally blessed since the second Sunday in August. I have six appointments at each of which there has been a revival as follows viz, Zion Chapel 18 accessions; Jones Chapel, 14 accessions; ten of them converts; Bethel Chapel, 3 accessions, one reclaimed; Quitman, 20 accessions; Desoto, 14 accessions; Mt. Olive, 12 accessions; six on probation. Total number received altogether 81; two of our converts went to other churches, but from that source six come to us. Revs. P. Blue, and J. C. Brogan aided me. For the year I have taken 169 persons. Children's Day was a success, collection $5 At Quitman I attended in his last hours Benjamin Day, a boy 13 years old, who was condemned to be hung. He was converted and baptized in his cell. Among my converts are some of the best people in the places, one old man 60 years of age came to the Lord and was saved. "Hallelujah for the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth."

Rev. George W. Wells of Rosedale, La., writes: "While at Lavonia looking after our church interest a committee of gentlemen who are deeply interested in our cause, consisting of Mr. H. D. Robinson, F. Vickers, F. A. Rylander and George W. Wells the pastor of Rosedale, called on Mr. Cornelius Gumble and stated the nature of the case to him, who without hesitancy donated one acre of land at the Fordoche station on which to build a Methodist Episcopal Church, and also donated 2500 feet of lumber, and cypress logs enough to make ten thousand shingles. Mr. Gumbel has large properties at Lavonia. He is desirous of doing all he can to help ameliorate the condition of the Negro. We express thanks to Mr. T. Dryius, A. Simon, and others for favors.

Rev. J. R. Carnes, of Goliad Texas, writes: "Our 4th quarterly conference was held on the 10th inst., Rev. G. W. Richardson P. E. in the chair. The conference was well attended by the brethren. Reports from class leaders showed that they were coming up manfully in the performance of their duty in the way of visiting etc. The Presiding Elder, in addressing the brethren after the regular business of the quarterly conference was over, said that the meeting was one of unusual interest to him, from the fact it being probably the last time that he would ever meet with them again in another quarterly conference. He gave a synopsis of his visit to Goliad, and how kindly he had been treated by the people in general, etc., and hoped that they would go right along in the way that they seemed to be going, and furthermore stated that he would be glad to learn of their success, through the reports of the pastors that they may have, and that said letters would be watched for by him if he lived, and would be read with care and interest. On Sunday our Sunday School was well attended, the presiding elder was present and revived the school; after which he gave our little folks a very encouraging talk, which they seemed to highly appreciate by their attentiveness. At 3 p. m., the elder preached a very interesting sermon, taking his text Acts, 1st chapter, 8th verse. The sermon I think will be long remembered by our people here at Goliad. After the sermon the sacrament was administered, 82 partook thereof. At evening the writer was requested to preach by the presiding elder, he responded by doing the best he could, taking his text the 14th verse of the 5th chapter of Matt. Each of the sevices was well attended. Collection for P. E. $17,-75, making a total of $45 paid the the presididing elder this year from this point as per assessment. We have an indebtedness of $42.75 on church property. I think we will be able to cancel that before annual conference. The quarterly conference voted to constitute their pastor a life member of the Parent Missionary Society by the payment of $20 of their missionary assessment."

Rev. S. R. Hason, Dickson circuit La., writes. "Rev. D. Shelby of Conshatta joined us in a grand union meeting lately. It was the first ever held here. It was a financial success, $28,50 being collected. Our first quarterly conference speedily followed this, it was held in the Fairfield church at Benton. We have only 11 members here, but Elder Landry comes whether the members be many or few. Several visiting ministers were with us also, as follows: Revs. Charles Simms, R. Torrence, S. H. Ralph, Solomon Willis, John Armstrong, and Henry Lawson, all of the Baptist Church. Revs. John Fopps, N. Baker, and G. W. Smith, of our church. All reports were in order, $350 had been expended in improvements; $63:75 to pastor, $18 to elder, and $17 for benevolent causes."

Rev. A. W. Parker, Hughes Spring, Cass county, Tex, writes: "Camp meeting held at Liberty church commenced Sept., 1st and dismissed on the 12th day. We had brush tents to sleep under, and the church house was occupied by the campers as a capital tent, and the preaching was held under a brush arbor, and I went on the camp ground sick, but when I came home from the camp ground I was well, and the Lord blessed us with a grand prayer meeting every morning at 4 o'clock a. m., and we had plenty to eat such as pork, beef, and sheep meat. The preachers were preaching and some of the campers were dragging sheep along on the ground, and on Sunday thereafter the Lord's spirit met the congregation in the grove meeting, and one of the preachers ran and clamped hold on a tree and went up it; and we had a grand time taking altogether, and the Lord blessed the work with 20 conversions and backsliders together, and on Sunday I baptised 7, 3 by pouring and 4 by immersion, and the Lord blessed those little children with great joy and happiness, and shouting; and the Lord blessed us this year to meet our Presiding Elder H. Webb of the Marshall district Texas conference, September 28, who held my fourth quarterly conference, and all things being in order the conference proceeded to business, and two brothers were recommended for license to preach, failing to stand the examination remained in the same relation and on Sunday 24 partook of the Lord's Supper and the Lord blessed us with the close of our conference year. Collection for presiding elder $8 this quarter, and may the Lord bless the P. E. H. Webb with a long life, and many souls converted to the Lord.

Rev Thomas Smith of Bosqueville, Tex., writes: Rev. W. H. Davis is our Presiding Elder and he is greatly beloved by all. His visits are seasons of profit and pleasure. He is carrying the work right forward. Our district under such efforts continued for four years is bound to go forward. My charge is succeeding fairly in both spiritual and temporal matters.

We will raise our assessment towards that million for missions."

Rev. H. W. Tate, of Springfield Ohio, writes. "My charge, the Wiley Chapel M. E. Church, is in the current of prosperity. My people are lovers of the mother church and show many characteristics of loyalty to her usages and doctrines. I am with the support of my members laboring for our interests locally and generally. Our third quarterly meeting was characterized by a warm spiritual season among the membeship. Rev. Joseph Courtney, Presiding Elder preached fervently to the profit of the people. We have had 15 accessions since the annual conference adjourned. The attendance at the preaching services is better than either of the previous years of my pastorate. Our congregation is up with the average of the other city churches in intelligence, spirituality and liberality. The benevolent causes of the church are presented and public collections taken on the fifth Sundays. My charge is assessed for benevolence this year $42, and of this amount we have raised $27.22 in cash already. I delight to circulate our church periodicals and books and have met with some success in this line. Our Sunday School is supplied with the Berean Sunday School literature, which is the best in print. We do not want any other. I have 16 cash subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN, and will endeavor to enlarge the list for next year. We like it very much, and will not do without its good influences in our homes. The children's catchetical class meets me at the church of Friday afternoons on their way from the day school. Our Young People's Literary Society meets on Thursday nights of each week. It is in full force for work and is doing much good among our young people. Its object is for social intercourse, intellectual and moral improvement, and financial aid to the church. Our future outlook is hopeful. The influence of our church is spreading for good yearly."

Rev. S. J. Robinson of Roanoke circuit Central Alabama conference writes: "We had a grand time at Pleasant Hill on Children's Day. Mr. Joseph Ward is teacher, Miss. Lulu James, Miss. Anna Stits and Miss. Lizzie Stits, assistant teachers. Mr. Frank James is Superintendent. We had the Children's Day service and tried to carry it out. Each pupil did his part well. Collections, Pleasant Hill, $1:30 Roanoke, $1:25; tatal $2:55. All were well pleased."

Rev. W. H. Logan, of Houston, Texas, writes: "Our members have done good work this year. The parsonage has been renovated raised a foot higher and a new roof put on and a hall made in it. This was projected and accomplished by our efficient board of trustees. The ladies have not been idle while this was going on. They raised money employed mechanics, bought material and caused the erection of a neat cypress fence around the property. They also furnished the parsonage neatly. Mrs. S. Williams is president of the circle, and the following ladies were the committee on parsonage furniture, Mrs. James Kyle, Mrs. S. J. Lanard. The work will commend itself to all who witness, but the excellent judgment displayed demands this mention. The following articles complete the parsonage outfit. One Brussels carpet cost $19:15; a set of cushion bottom chairs $23; a fine parlor looking glass $7; a nice hall lamp, $3:50; window shades, $2:70; and a centre table, $3:50. So you see we have some as good workers among the females as are among the males, if not better. I leave that to others to say.

Rev. B. Bailey of French Camp circuit, Miss., writes: "My circuit lies along the new rail road to Aberdeen. We have six churches four of which are very good ones. In five protracted meetings we have had the spirit of the Lord with us. Many have confessed Christ, 87 have been added to the church. I have baptized 46 adults and 40 children. One backslider has been reclaimed and a number of persons from other churches have joined us. Our finances are easy. Collections to date $70, and other valuables contributed to the support of the pastor."

Rev. F. Walker, of Morgan City, La., writes. "I have received 12 persons into the church thus far, among whom is Mr. Joshua Thomas of this place. Our church has passed a season of distractions, but the way is now clear. We have good congregations and the outlook is encouraging. Rev. Emperor Williams, our Presiding Elder is greatly beloved among us here. He has visited promptly, and has done good work, and is always welcome."

Rev. C. W. Ivy, of Mashulaville Miss., writes: "The third quarterly conference convened on the 15th, J. Campbell in the chair. Class leaders all had written reports. The sacrament was administered to 48. The elder preached a fine sermon from the 20th chapter of St. Luke, 13th verse. Paid elder $8; benevolent collection $2;-10. We will raise our part, we have raised $11:60."

Letters From the Laity.

UNION CHAPEL M. E. CHURCH.

The concert given Friday evening, Oct. 53, at Union Chapel M. E. Church, was both a literary and financial succes. The programme was composed of the best talent of the city, and many thanks are due the managers for their success. The selections rendered by Misses Amelia O. Taylor and Alice I. Thomas, showed sublimity as well as great culture. Mr. Robert J. Harlan, Jr., one of Cincinnati's elocutionists, gave, in his pleasing and artistic manner, several selections by repeated encores. Mr. Harlan is certainly grand, and can not be surpassed by some of our best actors. Mrs. Mosella Wilson read "Woman's Rights," which pleased every one. Mr. James Elliotte, our well know Booth, was present and charmed the audience with selectious from Shakesphere. The singing was very fine. Miss Carrie Maud Hubbard sang a beautiful solo, and brought the house down with her sweet soprano voice. Mrs. Ernestine Clark Nesbit sustained her former reputation as Cincinnati's favorite warbler, and Misses Ida Liverpool and Mary Gray sang remarkably well. Mr. John M. Lewis, favorite tenor singer, and Mr. Alfred Charles, the unrivaled baritone, sang with their usual ease and grace. The Instrumental music was performed by Mr. Chas. Hawkins, the only rival or "Blind Tom," and Mesdames Leana Clark and Mamie W. Brown. Rev. Allen Allensworth, of the Union Baptist Church, opened the concert with prayer, and the "Woodward Quartelle Club," rendered selections with great credit to all. Rev. L. M. Hagood, pastor in charge, is meeting with great success, notwithstanding the many difficulties which he encounters. His earnest work is greatly appreciated. We can only say to him go on, and may the God of peace be with you.

Cincinnati, Ohio.

Mr. J. T. Barnes, Paris, Texas, writes: "Miss Martha Woods Lever, entered Wiley University, at Marshall, Texas, to further advance her education, Sept. 26th. She is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and also a member of the Sunday-school, and has been for 12 years, and has not missed a Sunday-school, unless she was out of the city; let it snow, rain and sleet or hail she would be seen at Sunday-school. She is a good member, and we are glad to see her persuing her education, and truly hope this will stir up the young persons throughout the country."

Bro. L. H. Richardson, Milford, Texas, writes: "It has been for four or five years, that our people at this place have been serving God in an old hut, called the county school house, on which the A. M. E Church, held a claim. It was burned down in June, 1885. This grieved our people very much, but within a month's time, the leading sinner friends and members here went to work, and had lumber and shingles enough on the church lot to build a small house dedicated to our grand and noble work, Methodism, and was up and ready for the services of the Lord; then we had 18 members, now we have 30. Our church is 20x30, and it is all paid for. The trustees are Eli Manton, Eli Sims and John R. Wright."

Mrs I T. Howells, writes: "The work of the Woman's Home Mission Society is still going on very nicely in the Texas Conference, and as far as I have been on the Huntsville district, the people have taken hold of the matter with spirit. If God permits, I shall be on the the Palestine district in a few days I was very much pleased with an article in the SOUTHWESTERN a few weeks since. I trust the character of our young people will be made the subject of many articles yet to come. I have long believed we are too negligent concerning our young people's character, I trust the subject will be fully endorsed, and steps taken to protect our girls."

Miss Alice Langham, VanBuren, Ark., writes: "Our pastor was with us the second Sunday in this mouth and preached to a small audience. We like and believe him to be an embassador for Christ. We have a nice school here, and children's day was well observed. I teach in Sunday-school and like the work. I have more to write you but will not weary you now. We have a good people here, all the preachers like us, and like to be sent here."

M. H. Hunter, Springfield, La. writes: "Good Tiding's Day was observed here, and we collected the sum of $2 for the magnificent cause of the Sunday-School Union and Tract Society of our grand old church. We are struggling hard and earnestly under adverse circumstances, to lift every claim against us for this conference year, and to win souls for the Master's kingdom through the kind help of our blessed Redeemer. We have organized a Sabbath-school of 30 scholars in Pontchatoula, where we so much need a church building as we have none there. However, we are negotiating to build before the coming Annual Conference We are looking hopefully to this end. Rev. L. P. Cushman, our presiding elder, is deeply interested in the movement of erecting a church edifice in Pontchatoula and he has communicated some cheering news to our ears, touching on this particular."

Thomas D. Hibbs, Esq., Smithland, Ky., writes: "I am glad to see and know that we have so many intelligent leaders, both ladies and gentlemen, who are able to represent us in any community or social circle into which they may go. From every point of the compass comes the good news of intelligence increasing and spreading among our race. The number of students who attend high schools and colleges for the purpose of doing better work among our people is steadily growing larger. Into cities, towns and hamlets go these students, and remodel and set up higher educational bases and principles, making progress rapid intellectually. Teachers, preachers and other public workers see the great necessity of higher qualifications among themselves to enable them to do a successful work. These leave the institutions of learning and go in different directions, locate here and there and proclaim words of encouragement to the uneducated."

THE SOUTHWESTERN

MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D., Editor

THURSDAY, NOV. 12, 1885.

A Million for Missions and a quarter of a million for edncation in the South. Who says amen?

President Cleveland has appointed Thursday, Nov. 26th, as a national Thanksgiving day.

The fact is, we are opposed from principle to any "caste" church and such the African Methodist Church is. Our opposition to "caste" caused us to write as we have and shall respecting it in colored schools and conferences in ours which is not in theory a caste church.

The SOUTHWESTERN is widely quoted but sparseley credited. This is due to our newsy reliable statements and the apprenension of cotemporaries that their patrons would want us if they knew us. It proceeds upon the rule that

Where ignorance is bliss,
Tis folly to be wise.

The outlook is bright for that million, and no less for $250,000 for Christian education in the South, but many a battle has been lost by over confidence, and many another won by men rendered desperate by the dread and fear of defeat. The thing to do, is to have plenty of assurance and to keep steadily at work.

Begin at Once.

The best time to begin a revival is as soon as you get into your appointment, and try to get there within a week after conference. You are new to the people, the people are new to you, so are all the various matters of a local nature. You need to be concerned in every charge. There are those who make it their calling to post the new pastor. While you are waiting for them to get around, drive the protracted meeting ahead with all your might.

Union Camp Meeting.

A unique and interesting union service was held at Spanish Fort, near New Orleans, Oct. 25th.

Current Events.

New York and Virginia held their election on ou Nov. 3, and went Demooratic. The legislatures of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut are Republican however.

Mr. Charles, son of Rev. Marcus Dale, has a church school of about 100 students in New Orleans which meets in a building on the grounds of Wesley Chapel. The pupils are children of our Sunday-school and their parents belong to our church.

Wesley Chapel, New Orleans, has a double tenement, one story parsonage under roof, and they hope soon to complete and locate the pastor in one part of it and rent the other out so as to increase the revenue of the church.

The New Orleans Charity Hospital is an [illegible] institution, having at times [illegible] patients in it. It is said that the Louisiana [illegible] an annual donation of $40,000.

A Noble Charity.

The ladies are working earnestly for the Home for the Aged and Infirm colored people, of New Orleans. Mrs. Dale is tireless in her efforts and good success has so far been the reward of this unselfish and holy work. We commend this enterprise to the citizens of New Orleans without reference to color. We ask of the officials, and every one who has either means or influence to consider the work these ladies have undertaken, and if they deem it a work of humanity, which is needed to be done, and done at once, then we ask them to send for Mrs. Dale or any one of the ladies associated with her in this work, and hear from her what her plans are. Go with her and view the beginning made and aid her with such advice as superior culture and experience may enable you to give. We need not call upon the ministers of our own church in New Orleans to aid in this work, their visits as pastors among the needy, sick and poor people of this community has well and deeply impressed that need upon their minds. Ministers of all the churches are concerned in the success of this enterprise. It is not a work in this case especially authorized by our church. It is rather authorized by a sense of Christian duty and a regard for the poor and unfortunate. As such it has received the approval of several of our pastors and people here, and has the fullest approval of the writer as an editor, a man, a Christian and as a lover of his race.

A Tidal Wave of Grace.

A spiritual wave swept over New Orleans, Nov. 1st. At First Street Church the Lord moved the people in the morning, John Qualls was at his best. At Sixth Street Emperor Williams could not preach in the evening for the power that came down upon the people there. At Clinton Street, Stephen Priestly, preached at night and they had a grand time. At La Harpe Street, the Lord's supper was administered in the morning and it was a time of refreshing from the presence of the Lord. At Union Chapel M. O. B. Mason preached at 3 p. m. a good sermon to an appreciative audience. At Wesley Marcus Dale gave the sacrament to a host of happy souls.

The new pastor must have been encouraged by the very hopeful look of matters at Ames Church. Our German brethren were blessed with the same holy afflatus.

Z. T. Gayden, at Thomson Chapel, has enjoyed not only a revival of grace, but of finances as well. Simpson Chapel has no abatement of its spiritual interest, and Mt Zion is still the habitation of the Lord.

Alabama the Cotton Crop.

The present season begun with a good stand and a promising outlook for an abundant crop. It was calculated as the best prospect since the war. So promising was it that hope revived in the heart of many a discouraged planter who, for the past year or so, had been unable to do more than make ends meet and get out clear. Indeed a good many did far less than that. They came out considerably in debt although they tried earnestly and lost no time. But for some inexplicable reason it now turns out that notwithstanding that there is a large acreage and a good stand the weight is unprecedentally light, and the staple colored by heavy and continuous rains reducing the price of cotton. Instead of 1500 it will now require 1800 to 2000 pounds to the bale after ginning. To meet this apparent shortage a system of very rigid economy in the matter of living has been resorted to in many places. The prices of provision are high, and hence an increase of debt without the probability of early payments is an imperative necessity. The people have in a great measure subsisted upon milk, butter, and vegetables. This has predisposed them to malarial influences by weakening their general system. Hence there has been a general prevalence of chills, fevers, and pneumonia with typhoid symptoms in this region. The Tennessee river brings down and deposits in all this region a vast amount of poisonous matter to which the strength of stagnant lake is added. Money circulates with a good deal of conservatism and the working people look gloomy and out of heart. The one redeeming prospect is the grain crop. The corn is a good average, and this insures at least meat and bread at a fair price. At least such is the wish of consumers. The old legend about "heartless landlords" dies out as you go about on the farms, plantations they call them, of North Alabama, and inquire for them. The landlords would be very glad to take money rent at $3 per acre for cotton land in this country if they could get it. They take cotton and all risks of the season because they cannot get the money. In this country it will require an average of about three acres of ground to the bale of cotton, which at $3 rent per acre would make $9 as the share of the landlord to each bale of cotton made. A bale of cotton weighs from 500 pounds upwards. This year cotton will bring about 8½ cents per pound. So that the landlords share will be a little over one one fifth the crop in North Alabama, while the landlord in Southern Ohio will get one-half of the tobacco crop his tenant makes on land, which is restricted to the culture of tobacco alone. While in this country the farmer can have corn ground and a garden if he is inclined to do so. The garden they generally have, but a Southern farmer black or white generally estchews corn if he raises cotton. On the plea that he has no time for both. The colored people about Decatur, Huntsville, Burmingham, Montgomery, Selma, Mobile and Marion are doing well, and our church as usual is doing a great work among them. We spent a pleasant Sabbath Oct., 2nd with Rev. J. J. Holland, wife and Presiding Elder Lakin at Decatur. Our host was a member of the city council and a man well to do. Holland is an accomplished minister too well known to need introduction to us.

Demolished.

General W. B Shattno, of Ohio and Mississippi Railway, has practically demolished the publishers of the St. Louis Railway Register in his suit against them for libel. The Register people printed charges which they must have known were false, as they were gross imputations upon the character of a gentleman of known integrity, and the Register was promptly sued. Now the publishers cry peccavi and wish to settle, but General Shattuc prefers a public vindication in the courts, and he is sure to obtain it. The Register will find lying an expensive luxury in this instance.—"Current Fact." Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct 10th, 1885.

We are gratified above measure that we are able to reproduce this strong, but needless testimony in behalf of a most estimable gentleman.

Iowa Letter.

A RATHER COOL PROCEEDURE.

Adjourned quarterly conference met at Muchakinock Ia., Sept. 23 1885, with J. B. Teters, Presiding Elder in the chair and T. W. Bell Secretary. Official members passed were T. J. Marshall pastor in charge at Oskaloosa, J. N. Daniels and others. Official members present of Mt. Hebron Church, Muchakinock, were Joseph Hawkins, J. P. Johnson and J. H. Matthews The last three named were elected trustees of the Muchakinock Church, also directed to hold that property of the Methodist Episcopal Church to which it virtually belongs until the annual conference meets, after which or at which time a request will be made putting this property into the conference of the A. M. E denomination.

It is proper to say that the M. E. at Oskaloosa and Muchakinock have gone over to the A. M. E. There are a few left at Oskaloosa but the Muchakinock Church M. E. with Joseph Hawkins, J. H. Matthews, J. P. Johnson, L. Roberts, Frank W. Woodward, Samuel Franklin, Mrs. Mary Tate, Mrs. Polly Jefferson, Mrs. Bell Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Learcy all with families, have joined the A. M. E Church, and the first preacher of that side will preach here next Sunday. The property at Muchakinock will be no doubt turned over at the next annual conference as the church went over as a body.

The M. E. Conference loses this branch we think only by neglect on the part of superior official. It is said that the Elder comes once a year but instead some half cladded worm or unexperienced white man is sent as a proxy, etc. We are indebted to Mr. Bell, the Secretary, for the ruff of the above.—Virginia Critic Oct., 10, 1885.

There is no little effort being put forth to disintegrate isolated congregations of our church. It is this danger which we have seen and been of late trying to point out so as to avert it. This picture from Iowa may be and we hope is overdrawn. There should be no haste in passing over Methodist Episcopal property to any other denomination. But we think if possible the work of the presiding elder of the North Mission district of the missouri conference should so be arranged as to cover all Iowa points. Only a few days ago Bro. W. H. H. Brown of the St. Louis conference and ourself was discussing the possibility of what is now reported to have taken place in Iowa. If the church will trust us and believe us, we will not fail to reflect for it the true status of our matters in the colored work, about which we have the most direct and abundant sources of information. The language used by the critics correspondent is exceedingly unjustified.

Emancipation in Brazil.

A Rio De Janeiro, correspondent of the New Orleans Times Democrat, Nov. 26, says: "The emancipation problem in Brazil is nearly solved." A measure originally proposed to this effect has proven to be a failure. But a new one has been projected, which will immediately secure the freedom of 100,000 slaves and the entire slave population within the next 13 years. There are about 1,500,000 of this population, and unless there is great wisdom manifest in the new adjustment of labor interests, much confusion will ensue. Slavery never yet made men self reliant, and provident, and we fear that in Brazil will prove no exception to the rule. Chinese Coolies are being imported into the empire with a hope to thus supply a reliable class of laborers. And there is also a project to import and largely locate upon Government lands as freedmen a class of Africans known as Minas, who come from West Africa, and are highly prized for their splendid physique, endurance, and industry.

Brazil has also a class of mixed bloods, about 500,000 in number. But they take apparently very little interest in these slaves, being free themselves. They are known as Brazilieros. But they take as much interest in these unfortunate Brazilian slaves as the colored people of North America do so far we are able to see or hear.

White men can own but they can not work land in Brazil, and some plan of securing laborers who can will have to be adopted, and there as every where else it will come to pass that those who cultivate the soil will ultimately own it.

Why Not?

Why not begin with the approaching session and bring our wives to the conferences. They need to be come better acquainted with each other and to organize for social purposes. What better opportunity or time can there be for a beginning than at the coming conferences? It doubtless will be that on some Railroads they will meet with rude treatment, but even this can be endured for the sake of social improvement, for those who are the mothers of our children, and the light of our homes.

It may be that such a project will meet with discouragements from those who's duty it is to entertain the conferences, but this can be endured also. Let a man and wife be assigned to each house instead of two men, and then let more houses be secured, which can in most cases be very easily done, and the difficulty is overcome.

If our wives go more they will learn more, and every increase of knowledge will lessen the temptation to abandon them, for women who present superior attractions become better acquainted with society life. Happy homes are the bulwarks of the nation, and good wives are their sure foundation.

Why not begin this year?

Parliamentary Law.

One of the novelties introduced this year at Chautauqua was a course of six lectures on parliamentary law by Rev. T. B. Neely, D. D., of the Philadelphia Conference Chautauqua Assembly Herald thus refers to them: "This course has been successful and popular, and has proved a marked feature of the Chautauqua season.

The audiences have steadily grown as the course progressed, and the last audience was decidedly the largest.

Dr. Neely concluded his remarks amid applause, and after the last word many flocked around him and personally thanked him for the lectures he had delivered, not only for the information he imparted, but also for the clear and interesting manner in which it was imparted.

A desire has been expressed that these lectures be repeated next year at Chautauqua.

If they could be delivered in the the colored colleges, before teachers' conventions, and popular audiences throughout the country they would result in great good."

We Are Depending on You

Our friends, by many letter and resolutions have given us assurances of approval and support. That the SOUTHWESTERN has kept a steady eye on every interest of the church, and has boldly, some think too boldly, spoken for the interests of members especially for its colored members, will, we know be admitted, and now shall we have a protracted reality of the good will of our people by a large increase of cash subscribers within the next sixty days.

The paper will grow constantly in its interest and usefulness. Hence old subscribers should see that their subscription is properly renewed and paid for.

Gail Hamilton has just completed the task, now who will be the next to ride through the South in a palace car, take observations from the front window of a first class hotel, and return home to teach us how to solve this momentus and everlasting so called "Negro problem's. Step forward and take the witness box, please.

New Books from our Book Concern.

"Go Work," a book for girls, by Annie Frances Perram. New York, Phillips & Hunt; Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe, 1885. Price 75c.

This is a 12mo. vol., uniform in style and mechanical finish. The book has 25 chapters in 149 pages. The frontis piece represents a group of lovely children nestling very close to their mother, and on the opposite page is seen a quiet country home. It is a book for girls as they are in real life. Its characters are drawn from homes as they are. But from every home and every character is drawn a lesson of value to girls, for whom the book is only written, by one of them, and they ought to have it. We have not correctly estimated the all-absorbing question of the present hour, how to make our homes better, nor the deep interest taken in the subject, if this work fails to receive a cordial welcome into many thousands of homes, or to help all homes into which it gains a reception.

A WORD ABOUT THE EPWORTH HYMNAL.

The Epworth Hymnal is the outgrowth of a generally felt and oft expressed wish for a collection of hymns equally adapted to the services of the home, Sabbath school and the church. The compilers have kept this wish and expression well in view and the result is a collection that cannot fail to become very popular and of general demand. The make up of the book is neat, but in a style which permits the sale of it at a price unprecedentedly cheap for a work of such character. The early pages are occupied with a formula for responsive services followed by the Lord's prayer, Ten Commandments, Beatitudes and the Baptismal Covenant of our church. Thus it will be seen to approach sufficiently near to a ritualistic service for all moderate purposes, and yet steer clear of formalism. It is a valuable auxiliary for young pastors in the conduct of social meetings, and if brought into general use, as it should be, will remove the want of uniformity now so apparent in these services. It is not a substitute for our peerless church hymn book, but it is for the various collections of songs, which have been allowed to nearly supplant that book. It is ready for all occasions, and has the additional merit of being our own publication under the authority and sanction of the General Conference. Our pastors will we trust let this have due weight with them and order the book at once. Price single copies, 35cts, New York, Phillips & Hunt; Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe.

Schools and Colleges.

Seventy boarders are already in the halls of Central Tennessee College and the indications are the holidays will bring in many more.

The Rev. Marcus Dale, pastor of Wesley Methodist Episcopal Church, New Orleans, La., has been invited and consented to deliver a few lectures to the Straight University classes in theology. He delivered the first of the series Wednesday eve, Oct. 28, and it has been well spoken of by those who heard it.

Rudolf Schloff of Theology of Boston University an advanced class of eight are reading in German, with Professor M. J. Cramer, Luthardt's Christologische Bertrachtungen, as edited by Dr. William Nast. This is the largest class the school has had in the reading of German theology since President Warren resigned the work twelve or thirteen years ago.

The Congregational church has in the South 6 chartered institutions, 14 normal and graded schools, 36 common schools, 250 instructors and 8,823 pupils. The pupils may be classified as follows: Theological 96; law 67, college 52; college preparatory 113; normal 814; grammar intermediate and primary 7,681.

New Orleans University.

Rev. A. E P. Albert, D. D., will deliver a lecture before the theological class on Wednesday November 11, 1885, at 2 p. m., and all pastors and local preachers are cordially invited to be present at 1428 St. Charles Ave., and enjoy the lecture. A. F. HOYT.

Berea and Hampton Congregational colleges in Kentucky and Virginia are no longer reported by the American Missionary Society, they having become self supporting. Speed the day when Clark and Central Tennessee Universities shall join them in this honorable distinction. Charity is a good thing, but self support is a better one. To recieve a charity is a great blessing but not to need it, and to be able to bestow it is a far greater blessing.

Church Polity.

MR. EDITOR: "If a member pays his financial dues, but can not attend church, what may be done with such a member?—Subscriber.

Ans. Such a member must be borne with for a season, until a thorough and searching investigation of the whole matter can be had. Then should it appear that the hindrances are beyond, and by no fault or unchristian disposition of the member there must be much patience and a good deal of faithful prayer.

Occasionally such cases are to be met with in pastoral work and they require great steadiness to prevent any great hurt coming either to the member or the flock. Pastors should look to heaven and move only as God gives them light in such cases. Among our people, who are mainly dependent upon their service to others for support; it is not hard to imagine such cases. The main work we should think would be to make sure that they were real and not spurious cases, made to screen an unworthy member in his neglects of duty.

Under such circumstances we knew a pastor, who used to visit his members at the homes where they rendered services, and before leaving ask for the employers with whom he would discourse in a proper way about the religious concerns of their servant. In this way he found relief for several very stubborn cases.

Indeed, there are very few white people who will object to pastoral visits in right length and seasonable hours, being made to their help. Such visits never fail to help both landlord and servant, and we do not see why they are not more frequently made. Then, it sometimes happens that people unite with a new minister, and being members of him only, and not particularly interested in the church after his removal, they cease to attend, but but with an eye to future possibilities, pay up their financial dues. Such cases should, after a proper diagnosis, receive a full and unmitigated dose of the Discipline according to 1884.

Substitute for Calomel and Quinine.

Simmons Liver Regulator, purely vegetable, is equal in power to blue mass or calomel, but without any of their injurious properties.

"I have used Simmon's Liver Regulator and find it a most excellent medicine, acting like a charm on the liver. It is a much excellent substitute for calomel. Have tried it in several cases of bilious disorders, chills and fever, and find it effects a cure in a most satisfactory manner. Dr. J. H. BOWEN, Clinton, Ga.

The English Illustrated Magazine for November is a fit companion for all that went before it. Lady Sarah Banbury is portrayed as a frodtispiece, then follows an adventure in Afghanistan, New Castle on Tyne, London Common, Alcomb's Chance, Cheese Farming at Chester, Love and Fantasy and Aunt Rachel continued. Then Ornamental Friezes, Headings, Initials and Tail Pierces. It is a high class periodical always interesting and cheap. Price 15 cts per copy, Mc Millan & Co 112 Fourth Ave. New York.

There is now in press, at the establishment of L. Prang & Co., the enterprising art publishers, a large Souvenir Tableau of General Grant by Mr. T. G. Thulstrup, whose battle pictures in the war articles of the Century Magazine were so much admired by old veterans for their life-like truthfulness. The work shows in the centre a portrait of General Grant as he was known to his army in 1865, surrounded by vignettes representing his military career from West Point to Appomattox, Messrs. Prang have also in contemplation the publication of a series of war pictures by the same artist, which will be welcome to all, now that the animosities of the strife are forgotten, and the war has passed into history.

Outing for November is as usual promptly on hand and very readable.

Our neighbor States in Central and South America are receiving considerable attention just now at the hands of Harper's Magazine. In the November issue there will be a paper on "Guatemala," by O. J. Victor, illustrated by P. Frenzeny. The process of landing at San Jose, which is pictured as well as described, might well discourage the pleasure seeking traveller, who must climb from a tossing boat into an iron cage, which is hoisted by a dummy-engine to the level of the wharf, where its contents are unceremoniously dumped out. But the journey from the coast to the volcanoes is described as most interesting, through forests which are the native home of endless varieties of orchids, and the capital itself, five thousand feet above the sea, and surrounded by volcanic peaks of great height, is worth the trouble of reaching it. The writer highly extols the administration of the late President Barriers, of whom a portrait is given.

"I have used Darby's Prophylactic Fluid for years as a general remedy and especially for Colic. My wife was suffering agony from this affliction, she took ten drops in a little water and in five minutes she was perfectly well. "I have recommended it to ladies in pregnancy for Sick stomach and Colic, and it always cures them sooner than than anything else."—T. S. HICKMAN, Clinton Ga.

Why Baking Powders Spoil.

THE "ROYAL" ALWAYS FRESH, PURE, AND WHOLESOME.

It has been found by both practical and chemical tests that most of the baking powders, although they may possess a considerable amount of strength when first made, lose their leavening power, and become worthless, when a few weeks old. As is well known, the leavening gas of a baking powder is produced by the action of an acid upon an alkali, and this action is brought about through the influence of moisture. When, therefore, through imperfect processes of manufacture, the water, which is always present in the ingredients from which they are compounded, is permitted to remain in the finished baking powders, it causes the action of their elements to set in at once, so that when they come to be used they are found to have lost their strength to an extent corresponding with their age.

As the housekeeper has no means of knowing, when buying baking powder from the shelf of the grocer, how long it has been made and its consequent strength, some of the tests made by the Government chemists, showing the difference in strength between the same brands when fresh and when old, are given. From three to eight per cent of water was found in all the fresh samples except "Royal." To this fact, together with their imperfect combination, is to be attributed the loss of strength shown in all other grades.

Horsford's (Phosphate)	125.5	32.7
Charm (alum)	116.9	69.05
Cleveland's (contains lime)	110.3	61.2
Dr. Price's	103.3	53.08
Snow Flake, Groff's (contains lime)	101.88	52.
Pearl (contains lime)	93.2	47.5
Andrews & Co's (alum)	78.7	41.8
Bulk baking powder	75.	5.

*This sample, from the shelf of a retail grocer, was over five years old.

The remarkable fact apparent from the above is the perfect keeping quality of Royal Baking Powder, which it was found had practically retained its strength or leavening power, while all others had lost so much of their leavening gas as to be comparatively valueless.

This great superiority of Royal Baking Powder arises from the perfect purity of its ingredients, the extraordinary care in its manufacture, and the scientific principles employed in its combination. The articles used are thoroughly dried by heat before being compounded, by which the moisture is entirely expelled, and are so prepared and coated as to prevent the action of the acid upon the alkali prematurely, or except under the influence of both water and heat necessarily used in cooking or baking.

The Royal Baking Powder will retain its full strength for any length of time in all climates and under all conditions of atmosphere, and will be found, whenever used, to possess the full leavening power it contained when first made.

GIFTS.

"Oh, World-God, give me wealth!" the Egyptian cried.
His prayer was granted. High as heaven, behold.
Pyramids and pyramids the brimming tide
World-circling traffic roared through mart and street.
His priests were gods, his spice-balmed kings enshrined,
Set death at naught in rock-ribbed chambers deep,
Seek Pharaoh's race to-day and ye shall find
Rust and the moth, silence and dusty sleep.
Oh, World God give me Beauty!" cried the Greek.
His prayer was granted. All the earth became Plastic and vocal to his sense; each peak,
The lyre was his, and his the breathing might
Of the immortal marble, his the play
Of diamond-pointed thought and golden tongue.
A broken column and a lute unstrung.
"Oh, World-God, give me Power!" the Roman cried.
His prayer was granted. The vast world was chained
A captive to the chariot of his pride.
The blood of myriad provinces was drained
To feed that fierce, insatiable red heart.
Invulnerably bulwarked every part
With serried legions and with close-meshed Code.
Within, the burrowing worm had gnawed its home.
A roofless ruin stands where once abode
The imperial race of everlasting Rome.
"Oh, Godhead, give me Truth!" the Hebrew cried.
His prayer was granted; he became the slave
Of the Idea, a pilgrim far and wide.
Cursed, hated, spurned, and scourged with none to save.
The Pharaohs knew him, and when Greece beheld,
His wisdom were the hoary crown of Eld.
Beauty he hath forsworn and wealth and power.
Seek him to-day, and find in every land.
No fire consumes him, neither floods devour,

Statistics of Suicides.

GEO. L. CURTISS, M. D.

One would suppose at first thought there was no law governing suicides, but carefully compiled statistics show that there is some unknown and mysterious influence governing self destruction. The mode of committing this desperate act varies in years and localities in accordance with surrounding influences.

A recent editorial note on statistics of suicides, in the Sanitarian, contains food for thonght. It says, "In France, previous to 1845, the number of suicides by drowning was far greater than those by hanging, since that time hanging has become more popnlar. Throughout Europe hanging is evidently on the increase; this is specially trne of Russia, of Transylvania and Gallicia. It has generally been asserted that one-third of all the suicides in Sweeden are effected by means of poison, bnt M. Legoyt says that poisoning is no longer on the increase, but hanging is becoming much more frequent."

"Suicides by drowning have generally been more frequent dnring the warm months of summer; hanging and poisoning are preferred during the cold months of winter and spring." A plunge into ice-cold water is not a pleasant mode of going out of the world. Mid-winter ought to furnish a pleasanter mode than by water.

"Taking the period from 1872 to 1878, the total number of suicides in France by months is, 7 38 per cent. in January; 6.85 in February; 8.28 in March; 9.73 in April; 10.34 in May; 10.00 in June; 10.35 in July; 9.33 in August; 7.15 in September; 7.11 in October; 6.32 in November; 4.01 in December. In Paris, however, [illegible] to have [illegible] will be [illegible] whereas one would naturally suppose there would be the greatest number of suicides; there are the least of the whole year. The oscillation between June, the greatest number, to December, the least.

"In France full grown men generally hang themselves, young men shoot themselves in the head, and old men hang themselves. Women generally drown themselves, and this is true not only of France, but of all Europe, with, perhaps, the single exception of Russia."

Numbness of the Extremities Caused by Disordered Stomach.

Physicians have not failed to receive cases where there was a numb sensation at the extremities of arms as well as lower limbs similar to that caused by continnous pressure on a nerve. People advanced in life have supposed the sensation to be a precurser of paralysis and grave results. Dr. Saundby writes of this very pertinently. "I allude," says he, "to a peculiar unmbness and tingling, very similar to that produced by pressure on a nerve, occurring sometimes in one, and sometimes in both npper extremities; at other times it is present in both upper and lower extremities, or in the npper and lower extremities of one side of the body. This sensation of unmbness and tingling is more or less painful; it is accompanied by transient loss of power, is relieved by rubbing occurs distinctly in pasoxysms, is most apt to occur at night when it frequently distnrbs sleep, is sometimes said to be accompanied by blueness and coldness of the hand and narrowing of the caliber of the radial artery. In its minor forms it is more common in women, bnt the most severe cases I have seen have been in men; it occnrs with abont equal frequency in either arm; it is less frequently bilateral." It often attacks people beyond middle life, seldom, if ever, any one under 25 years of age. "It is distinctly connected with disordered stomach, and readily yields to treatment directed to this disorder." It is of no nse to direct treatment to the nerves or nerve centres; the seat of disease is not in these organs bnt in the stomach, which directly affects the nervous system.

Young men or middle-aged ones, suffering from nervous debility and kindred weakness shou d send 10 cents stamps for illustrated book, suggesting sure means of cure. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Resolutions Concerning Rev. Marshall W. Taylor, D. D.:

Whereas, Rev. Marshall W. Taylor, D. D., editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, and a member of the Lexington Conference, has spent some months within the limits of this the Louisville district; and,

Whereas, His duty as editor of one of the official papers of our Church call him from among us to his editorial chair in New Orleans, Louisiana; and,

Whereas, We deem it fit and proper to give some expression of our sentiments upon parting with Dr. Taylor, that he may not be in doubt as to the position he occupies in our hearts. That, when far away from us, about his Master's work, where clouds may come o'er his sky, where the insideous influence of climate may strike him down, where he has laid his loved dead, he may know of a surety that we are praying for him. It was a matter of peculiar pride and satisfaction to have the presence, labors and counsel of this honored son of the church in our midst.

A man of broad and generous sympathies, a highly cultured and matured inteliect, a student of books and men, he has been an incentive to the younger men, an adviser to the elders, a faithful servant of the church, an example to all. We cheerfully record our love for him and his devoted Christian wife, and pray that the great hand of the Church will be constantly about them in their Southern home.

Signed: Rev. W W Locke, presiding elder; Rev. James L Perrin, Rev. J Allen Ross, Rev. J W Russell, Rev. W S Rollins.

Adopted by a rising and unanimous vote, and its insertion in the SOUTHWESTERN requested.

Details of a remakable religious movement in Central Africa are reported to the State Department by the United States consul at Sierra Leone. An army composed of over 100,000 Mohammedan youths, and divided into three divisions, is operating throughout an extensive territory, under the commaud of a native named Samndu, who claims that he has been called of God to suppress paganism and open the the road to the coast. Thongh the movement is spreading the Mohammedan faith in Africa, it is important in that it opens up to commerce a large and populous territory.

The Colored Exhibition.

Jackson, Mississippi, Oct. 27, 1885.—The ceremonies of the opening of the Colored State Fair here to day were interesting. At twelve o'clock the booming of cannon in front of the Capitol was the signal for the assembling of the Capitol Light Guards and Hope Fire Company No. 3, with engine and reel. The companies, headed by the silver cornet band of the Gem Fire Company, acted as escort to Governor Lowry, and the procession proceeded to the Fair Ground.

PRESIDENT MONTGOMERY'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Isaiah T. Montgomery, of Warren county, president of the association, called the assembly to order and delivered an address. He alluded to the problem of the Negro in the United States and said that the Negroes had never been volnnteer immigrants, but had been brought here as slaves. He spoke of their increase in numders until they have attained one-eighth of the population of this grand Republic. He took great pride in the acknowledged advancement made by the Negro intellecually, morally, socially, politically and in an industrial point of view, and he believed that fairs and exhibitions of the kind generally tended to and promoted such advancement. He spoke in most endearing terms of the whole South, and warmly expressed his thanks and appreciation for the encouragement and [illegible] received [illegible]

At the conclusion of the address an eloqnent prayer was offered by Rev. C. O. H. Thomas, of Vicksburg.

GOVERNOR LOWRY OPENS THE FAIR.

Governor Lowry was then introduced and spoke at length on the good feeling that exists between the races in Mississippi, the general prosperity of the State and of the colored race, and congratulated them on the rapid material progress they have made and on the magnificent exhibit displayed in the agricnltural and indnstrial pursuits, and encouraged them to press forward with renewed efforts for greater success. In conclusion he formally declared the fair open.—New York Weekly Herald.

LESSON HYMN. 7.

Hymnal No. 379.

Depth of mercy! can there be
Mercy still reserved for me?
Can my God his wrath forbear?—
Me, the chief of sinners, spare?

I have long withstood his grace;
Long provoked him to his face;
Would not hearken to his calls;
Grieved him by a thousand falls.

There for me the Savior stands,
Shows his wounds and spreads his hands
God is love! I know, I feel;
Jesus weeps and loves me still.

TEACHINGS OF THE LESSON.

Where in this lesson are we taught:

1. The doom of the impenitent?
2. The true signs of repentance?
3. The infinite mercy of God?

THE LESSON CATECHISM.

(For the entire school.)

1. What did Jonah do when the Lord told him the second time to go to Nineveh? "Jonah arose and went."

2. What did Jonah tell the people of Nineveh would happen to that city? It would be overthrown in forty days.

   How did the people of Nineveh receive Jonah's preaching? "The people of Nineveh believed God."

4. What did they also do? "Proclaimed a fast."

5. When God saw that they turned from their evil way, what did he do concerning the overthrowing of the city? He did it not.

EXPLANATIONS.

The second time—This second commission to Jonah was like the first, and that it was similar implies that the prophet's disobedience had been forgiven. Three day's journey—It required that time to travorse the city. Yet Forty days—The limit of divine forbearance. The frequency with which the number forty is used in Scripture seems to indicate a perfect measure, adequate time, etc. Sackcloth—Coarse stuff, generally black, worn to show penitence or sorrow. Sat in ashes—In token of humiliation. Cry mightily—Pray earnestly. The violence that is in their hands—Repent of their great [illegible]. God repented—[illegible] are sometimes [illegible] in duty as an accommodation to imperfect thought. We must [illegible] that this was not [illegible] in the usual meaning of the word, because the forty days were given Nineveh for repentance, and, having repented, God was consistent in forgiving them.

Doctrinal suggestion—The conditions of salvation.

Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" perfectly and permanently cures those diseases peculiar to females. It is tonic and nervine, effectually allaying and curing those sickening sensations that affect the stomach and heart, through reflex action. The backache and "dragging-down" sensations all disappear under the strengthening effects of this great restorative. By druggists.

Marriages.

On Bellville circuit, Texas, September 20, 1885, Mr. Henry Henderson to Mrs. Ida Johnson, Rev. R. J. Campbell officiating.

Near the line of Washington and St. Tammany parish, La., Oct. 1, 1885, Mr. William Ellis to Miss Sarah Young, Rev. Buckeye Duffy, officiating.

A VERY NARROW ESCAPE—Yes, I had a very narrow escape. I was attacked with a violent cold, and alarming symptoms of consumption. One bottle of Dr. Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar entirely cured me. John H. Bewley, Smyrna, Del, Use Dr. Davis's Liver Pills.

Obituary.

Bro. Gillis Westbrooks died in Aberdeen, Miss., Aug. 25, 1885. He was one of the oldest members of our Church here, and for many years a class leader. A loving wife lingers behind in grief.

REV. P. JAMISON,

So Dry and Brittle.

"What do you suppose makes my hair so dry and brittle?" We suppose the glands which supply moisture to it need a stimulus. A bottle of Parker's Hair Balsam will do the business, and leave the hair soft and shining. There is no mistake about this. No oil, no dye. Restores original color and removes dandruff.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakens as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

The following is a partial report of the proceedings. It is condensed from reports given in the Central and Western Christian Advocates.

Secretary McCabe offered a resolution, which was adopted, to call upon the Church for $1,000,000 next year for missions. Another resolution was adopted that appropriations be made next year upon the basis of $850,000, exclusive of the provision for the debt.

A resolution to appropriate $360,000 to the mission work in the United States and Territories was adopted, and the committee proceeded to the work of making appropriations.

The first part of the afternoon session was devoted to a consideration of the various foreign mission fields, not for the purpose of making appropriations, but to give the committee a general idea of the wants of the fields. The representations of work in Europe and Asia were made largely by Bishop Hurst, who has just returned from the East. His words were generally of a very encouraging character. The prospects in Scandinavia, and particularly in Norway and Sweden, are very bright. Revivals have been numerous, churches been erected, and the pions zeal and benevolence of the people are marked. The work in India is very prosperous also.

Africa.—An appropriation of $2,500 was made at the disposal of the board, for the work in Liberia. An appropriation of $3,000 was made for the salary of Bishop Taylor. Under motion to make an additional appropriation of $1,500 for Africa, the money to be used at the discretion of the board, Dr. Curry made an argument in favor of establishing a mission in the Congo Valley. On motion of Dr. Craig the further consideration of the African mission was postponed for the present.

South America.—The budget asked for an appropriation of $35,075 for this mission. The sum was so large that much discussion arose, and pending the discussion the committee adjourned for the night.

The religious services of Friday morning were conducted by Rev. Dr. Rogers. By unanimous action of the committee, Bishop Foster was invited to speak on the outlook for the world's salvation, the address to be delivered in St. Paul's Church, at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

As soon as this matter was disposed of the committee resumed the consideration of the South American work. J. M. Phillips showed about what increase in appropriations can be made to the various foreign missions, provided the total increase to the foreign missions is to be about $52,000. Dr. Reid made interesting and instructive remarks as to the success of the mission in South America. Many have been converted there who have moved to other countries and are now active Christian workers, so that the results of the work in this mission are not to be determined by the figures which appear in any one annual report. The Church in Buenos Ayres contributed about $5,000 last year for the work in that city. Bishop Fowler stated that our Spanish work in South America began in 1867, the work before that having been confined to English residents. Dr. Craig was opposed to any increase of appropriation for South America because, in his judgement, the results of our efforts in that country do not justify it. After a long and earnest discussion a total appropriation of $23,075 was made for the South American mission.

Foochow.—The discussion of the appropriation to this mission was not very extended, and the sum was fixed at $18,585. The appropriations to all China are made in Mexican dollars, but this $18,585 is the probable amount in United States currency, the uncertain element in the case resulting from the fact that the value of Mexican dollars varies a little from time to time.

Central China.—Representations were made by Bishops Fowler and Merrill, and after considerable discussion an appropriation of $30,260 was made. The sum asked was several thousand dollars larger than this, but by cutting off items here and there, and placing the mission on the most econonomical basis that seemed possible, the appropriation was made as above noted.

North China.—One thing stated in the consideration of this mission was that there have occurred in it several true Methodist revivals. The work is flourishing in this mission, and as in all the other fields in China, the needs are larger than the resources which are available to supply them.

West China.—The sum asked for West China was so largely in advance of last year's appropriation, that many members of the committee could not see how the amount asked for could be wisely appropriated. It appeared that our missionaries at Chung King are living in a miserable place where their health is positively imperiled, and another home for them is a necessity. The sum appropriated was $11,258, with the understanding that the question of appropriating a sum of money for the erection of a hospital may be considered again before the committee shall adjourn,

Germany and Switzerland.—Dr. C. C. McCabe made a glowing representation of the work in this conference, and an appropriation of $24 600 was made. The people are supporting the State Church, and are doing all they can for themselves, although as a rule they are very poor. The money was given almost without discussion.

Denmark.—The sum given to Denmark was $10,760.

Norway.—This mission was allowed $14,805, and evoked no discussion.

Sweden.—It was moved to appropriate 97,076 crowns for Sweden. A crown is worth twenty-six cents and two mills in United States currency.

At this point, after a hard day's work, the committee adjourned.

The committee met at 9.30 Saturday morning, and the opening religious services were conducted by the Rev: Dr. Price. As soon as the minutes of the last session were read the missions of India were considered, and Secretary Reid read the statement of the sub-committee.

North India.—Bishop Hurst made extended and interesting statements concerning the work in this conference. The main feature of the year's experience has been revivals. The discussion was continued for some time, Bishop Bowman, Dr. Hatfield, Bishop Fowler, Mr. Goucher, Dr. Reid and Dr. Craig participating. The appropriation was fixed at $71,200.

South India.—Dr. Reid presented the budget for this conference, which asked for $18,915 for the work among the natives of India. Dr. Reid moved that $10,000 be appropriated to be used at the disposal of the South India Conference, this money to be used exclusively for the native work. He also moved that $2,500 be appropriated for the expense of outgoing missionaries. It was also provided that the South India Conference shall raise as much money as it uses from this appropriation of $10,000, dollar for dollar. Bishop Hurst said that some of the members of the conference would prefer to wait till the session of the conference before formally asking for this money, but they all desire the thing itself. Dr. Reid read a list of detailed "asking" for the various points at which labor is contemplated. Bishop Foss said the time and opportunity have now come to end a long controversy as to the work in the South India Conference, and he hoped there would be a cordial respoce to the request of this conference. Bishop Merrill was happy to respond to the sentiment of Bishop Foss. He made an argument at some length in favor of an appropriation for South India, but not so large as was named in Dr. Reid's resolution. He thought we ought not to open a new mission anywhere for twenty years to come, no matter how large our collections may become. Dr. Curry was glad to know that the committee was wiser this morning than it was on Friday afternoon when it voted about $80,000 in four votes, without an amendment being offered. He was in favor of discussion of all these propositions, and of an appropriation to the South India Conference. Bishop Hurst made a strong appeal in favor of the same thing. Dr. Hatfield regarded this request from the South Ind a Conference as proof that the self-supporting theory of missions among heathen people is impracticable. The Eurasian work has been successful, but the conference now proposes to engage in work among the native heathen, and must have missionary money for the purpose. Dr. Curry said he believed Bishop Taylor's plan is the only feasible one for capturing Africa, and that the English-speaking work in South India Conference has been eminently successful. The proposition to raise dollar for dollar, as before noted came from the brethren in India, various amendments and suggestions were effected, and Dr. Reid's resolution was adopted, and also a resolution appropriating $2,500 for outgoing and returning missionaries. In addition to this a conditional appropriation of $5,000 was made to build a church at Bombay, provided a special contribution of an equal sum can be secured from some other source. This action is about as important as any ever taken by the committee.

The committee then adjourned to meet on Monday morning, at half part ten, in St. Paul's Church, to listen to the lecture of Bishop Foster.

The American Missionary Society's report for 1885 shows 112 churches, and 119 missionaries of whom 89 are pastors 6,881 members of these 1,127 were added this year. It shows also that there are 10,569 Sunday School scholars. This is the strength of Congregationalism among the colored people in the South. It is a start but it looks somewhat lonesome along side of 225,000 Negro members, 25,000 churches, 1,011 pastors, and 165,000 Sunday School scholars, don't it?

The fiftieth anniversary of the landing of the Wesleyan missionaries in Fiji occured on the eleventh of October. In celebration of the event an illustrated Bible was prepared and sent out to the people. The returns from the island for the past year are as follows: Chapels and preaching places, 1,236; missionaries, 11; native ministers, 55; catechists, 40; teachers, 1053; local preachers, 1,785, communicants, 26,839; on trial, 4,659; Sabbath-school scholars, 42,651.—New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Mormons seem to be making an organized movement to gain proselytes in the States by sending out companies of elders, each company to have a particular district, and to work under the direction of a president. Such a company of elders came to Minneapolis the 1st of September. They have occupied a public hall several evenings, but the attendance has been very light, mostly Scandanavians, and only failure is thus far reported.

From the Districts.

La Teche District—Louisiana Conference.

REV. A. E. P. ALBERT, D. D., P. E.

LaTeche District conference being convened; the presiding elder in the chair. S. E H. Morant was elected secretary and J. F. Marshall assistant secretary. At the roll call about 40 answered to their names. Prof. Hoyt, from New Orleans, delivered an able address on the Sunday-school work, and Dr. Godman on the necessity of going to African and heathen lands. M. C. B. Mason, from New Orleans, and E. Lyon and J. W. Hilton preached able sermons; text: Christ came to save that which was lost; and a deep impression was left upon the people of Iberia; who declared that they had never known what Methodism was until now, after seeing the Bishop and hearing his encouroging words, and attending the district conferences and seeing such fine looking men as M. J. Dyer and William Smith, who were the largest in the conference. We were glad to see Mrs. Dr. Albert in our midst—may God speed her on her journey, and may her health improve.

Dr. Albert reports his district in a good condition; several churches are now going up, and will be completed before the annual conference. The pastors reported their work. Revs. Marshall, Dyer, Smith, the writer and other ministers, and the local preachers, presented the elder with a fine double-plated gold watch for his faithful work on the district, and about 3000 books were distributed among the different charges for the Sunday schools. All the pastors seemed to be glad to take as many as they could in their valises, and some bought bags and boxes to take them away to their charges. There was one who seemed too proud to pack and carry them, and he only took a few tied up in a white cord in his hand. Ministers ought not to be ashamed of anything but sin, and not be ashamed to carry a few books on the street. Oh, what a pity that he was so proud and would not take more books to those poor children who need them and are too poor to buy. God will frown on him who is too proud to do what is good for his people.

Mr. Editor, I wish to mention the following names in your paper of those who presented the church with ten new benches: Bros. Jordan and Richards, B. I. Jackson, Bell, Ford, Preyan, Lebean, Faris, Jack Johnson, Alex. Johnson, Harris, Davis, and Sister Davibson. May the Lord bless them. The church is now complete with seats, the ience white-washed, and the church and parsonage, and everything is looking bright for the future. The parsonage is painted in front and papered inside, and we can say that the New Iberia parsonage is next to Alexandria, for it is now completed inside and ont. When I arrived here the parsonage looked like a smoke-house; come and see it now; it looks like a palace compared to what it was in time past: Best of all 42 souls have been added to the church this year.

Jackson District—Mississippi Conference.

J. M. SHUMPERT, P. E.

The first district conference of the Jackson District, Mississippi Conference, convened at Bolton, Miss., August 20, 1885. Rev. J. M. Shumpert, presiding elder of the district, called the conference to order, and conducted the religious exercises. Rev. J. I. Garrett was elected secretary, and P. W. Baldwin and Simpson Jossel assistants. The following pastors answered to their names: E Collins, R B Anderson, J I Garrett, I W Davis, P H Davis, I S Thomas, A Davis, L L Shumpert, R McKelpin, E Graves, A McBeth, S Jossel, H Henderson and J W Little. The presiding elder reported the district to be in a good condition both spiritually and financially; he had visited every circuit and station on the the district. The pastors reports showed an increase in the membership. Every part of the district seemed to be alive spiritually; the Sunday-school superintendents reported the schools in a fair condition; the International Sunday-school Lesson Helps are used on the district. Rev. B. F. Johnson, of the Baptist Church, was introduced to the conference. The literary exercises were profitable both spiritually and intellectually, much to the edifying of the brethren present. Hon. L. K. Atwood, attorney-at-law, was introduced and delivered a fine address, which was full of good sound sense. Rev. A. H. Davis, of the Baptist Church at Edwards, was introduced to the conference; he made a short address. The district committees made their reports. The committee on benevolent apportionment apportioned to the several circuits and stations the following amounts to be raised by each: Brandon, $30; Bolton, $30; Canton, $30; Canton circuit, $15; Clinton, $29; Chunky, $14; Edwards, $20; Forest, $30; Hickory, $15; Jackson, $36; Jackson circuit, $12; Lake, $14; Madison, $12; Mayersville, $15; Morton, $12; Pelahatchie, $9.40; Trenton, $11; Rolling Fork, $36; Vicksburg, $36; Vicksburg circuit, $20; Steen's Creek, $11; total, $432.40.

Jackson was selected as the seat of the next district conference. The conference closed on Saturday, August 22, at 4 p. m. Many of the brethren said that this was the best time they had ever had at a district conference. The Lord's Spirit was manifested among the brethren. Benediction by Rev. Aaron Davis.

Greenwood District—Mississippi Conference.

In Memory of Gen. Grant.

DR. H. R. REVELS, P. E.

The mournful intelligence of the death of General U. S. Grant, which with lightning speed was sent over this great and wide spread country but a short time since, filled many homes with mourning and eyes with tears; and we, representatives of a part of the great M. E. Church, share with our fellow-citizens generally in lamenting the death of America's great son, statesman, heroic soldier and in every way amiable private citizen. As a man General Grant was humane, benevolent, kind and reasonable in every station which he occupied during his brilliant and useful life. His moral stamina was such that he never feared to speak and act against the wrong and in favor of the right. As a public servant, exercising civil and military authority, he was great in mind, generous and kind. One feature of his magnaminity was exhibited in his generous treatment of a conquered foe, and his great, wise and prudent efforts to restore to mutual confidence and friendly relations the people of the North and South, who had been divided and embittered against each other. As a public servant and private citizen his great aim was to harm none, but lead all from error and wrong and bring them to correct views and sentiments in regard to their relations to and dealings with each other as citizens of the same great and heaven favored country. As a leader General Grant was exemplary. In his pure life was found an exemplification of the strictest integrity, manly and Christian virtue. His large and generous heart was filled with tender, Christian sympathy toward his fellow-men, and especially toward the poor, needy and dependent. General Grant was a man of marked Christian humility. No man of any enlightened nation was more deservedly honored than was he by the people of the United States, and indeed the people of other countries vied with them in honoring him; and yet he was the same friendly, kindly disposed, familiar man and citizen that he was before such brilliant honors were heaped upon his name; and these honors, which he so humbly wore in life, will brightly shine upon his memory independent of the course of time.

Your committee together with this address, submit for your consideration the following resolutions:

Resolved, That while lamenting the demise of General U. S. Grant, we bow in humble submission to the will of our merciful heavenly Father and implore his grace to enable us to submit to any dispensation of his providence.

Resolved, That we extend our condolence to the bereaved family of the deceased, and that we will earnestly pray that they may be blessed and comforted by the grace of God in this dark day of affliction.

Huntsville District—Central Alabama Conference.

A. S. LAKIN, P. E.

The district conference of the Huntsville district convened in the Methodist Episcopal Church at Scottsboro, Ala., Aug. 13, 1855. Rev. A. S. Lakin, presiding elder, being unable to be present on account of bad health, Rev. A. W. McKinney was appointed chairman pro tem. The opening exercises were conducted by A. W. McKinney reading a part of Isaiah lx, lxii, and a part of Matt. iv and singing hymn 799, and prayers followed by A. Nichols, J. C. Sammons and E. D. Berns, in which earnest petitions were made in behalf of the presiding elder.

The secretary of the last conference called the roll; about twenty of the brethren were present and others came in later.

On motion of A. Nichols, M. M. McKinney was elected Secretary.

It was ordered by the conference that the hours for business: be morning session from 8:30 a m to 12 m; evening from 2 to 4 p m.

The following committees were appointed: To examine for license to preach; to examine local preachers in their four year's course of study; for admission on trial into the traveling connection; to examine for orders; on Home Missions; on appointments of local preachers and exhorters; on programme for the next district conference; on public worship; on Sunday schools; on temperance and tobacco; on singing; on state of the church, on excursions and Sabbath breaking; on education.

This session of the district conference was a very pleasant one. The conference took a firm stand for temperance; and some very strong resolutions were adopted against whisky, tobacco, excursions and Sabbath breaking. The influence of the conference is being felt in Scottsboro. We find some old tobacco users, who have been slaves to it for 30 years, saying, by the help of God, they will lay it down. May the Holy Ghost inspire all our preachers to speak against the use of tobacco.

The religious exercises during the conference were very impressive. On Thursday evening we had a sermon by E. D. Berns; and on Friday evening the missionary sermon by J. J. Holland. Saturday evening was given to literary exercises. Sermons on the Sabbath, Sunday-school at 9 a m; and at 11 the presiding elder preached; at 3 p m A. W. McKinney preached, followed by the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. At night A. Nichols preached. Thus closed the 19th session of the district conference of the Huntsville district.

Ohio District—Lexington Conference, Sunday-school Convention.

REV. J. F. K. MORELAED.

The Sunday-school convention of the Ohio district, Lexington Conference, convened at Rust Chapel M. E. Church, Oberlin O., at 9, a, m., Oct. 7, 1985, and was called to order by the Presiding Elder, Rev. Joseph Courtney. In the absence of the chairman (Prins status) Rev. E. W. S. Hammond, P. C., of Covington Kentucky, the Rev. J. W. Moreland, P. C., Maysville, Kentucky, was elected temporary chairman. J. F. Moreland, P. C., of Oberlin, O., was duly elected secretary. The programme was then taken up as printed (see SOUTHWESTERN Oct. 10.) But owing to the absence of several essayists, it was found necessary to reform the programme. Substitutions were made as follows,—On Origin of Sunday Schools" Wm. Brown for W. C. Echol's. On the "Model Sunday-School," Geo. E. Ransom for Wm. W. Heston. On "The Sunday at work," Jas. McCulloch, for Zole Ross. On "Qualifications of Officers," M. W. Taylor D. D, for Rev. E. W. S. Hammond. The following rules were then adopted —1st, 45 minutes be the maximum time for each thome divided as follows—15 minutes for reading, 30 minutes for discusion, of 5 minutes each, none speaking twice till all may speak. 2d That the hours of meeting be from 9 a. m., to 12 m, and from 2:30 p. m., till 4:30 p. m. Privilege of the floor extended to all. The convention then adjourned till 2:30 p m. The convention was called to order at 2:30, by the temporary chairman. The programme was taken up and Geo. E. Ransom proceeded to open the disonssion on "The Model Sunday School;" his remarks were practical, earnest and timely. Comments were appended by several members of the convention. A paper was then read by H. W. Tate, on "The relation of the Sunday School to the Church." This paper was thorough, instructing and inspiring. Discussion followed, the subject of Sunday School, equipments," was next presented, in a few extemporaneous remarks, by the secretary. Observations were added, Jas. H. McCulloch (our model Superintendent of Stenbenville O:,) presented (with his usual earnestness) "The Sunday School at work," subject reviewed by several members of the convention. The time having expired, some written communications from absent members were read by the presiding elder, the announcements made, adjourned till 7:30 p. m. Evening session, the convention was called to order at 7:30 p, m. The Rev. M. W. Taylor D. D., was introduced and delivered a thoughtful and highly instructive address on "Qualifications of Officers," of which the following is a brief synopsis. The "Qualifications of Sunday School officials" are 1st, Natural, 2d, acquired.

1. Natural; 1. Favorable birth; a, physical, no inherited weakness; b, Society; refering to home elevating companionship; c, Mental; evenly balanced brain, fondness for study; d, Morally, predisposed to piety; 11, Acquired; 1, Head; a, common school education; b, Collegiate rounding where practicable; c, Some professional training if possible, and d, Methodist indoctrination, 2, Heart; a, Evangelic religion; and b, A fondness for children. The exercises of the evening closed with a paper from J. W. Moreland on "The relation of the parent to the Sunday School," subject to brief review. The lateness of the hour robbed the convention of an excellent paper on "The influence exerted by the Sunday School for good," by Rev. Joseph Courtney, P. E. Dr. Taylor being smitten with one of his veins of humor tickled the unexpecting congregation out of $5.14 and was at last called to a halt. The benediction then closed the session of the convention. Its inspiring effects will be felt for many days. We find them most beneficial, and commend them to all sections of the church.

Letters from the Pastors.

L. J. S. Bell of Quitman, Miss., writes: "My circuit is alive spiritually and temporally, although with a hot fever. On the 9th we started a revival at Zion Chapel, one of my churches. I preached only three sermons, closed each with a fever. My exhorter held up my hands while the Lord came and blessed 10 souls as converts, 2 on probation, 3 backsliders returned. The church is all a blaze with the holy fire. The members say they never saw such a time before. We had one sermon from two local preachers of the A. M. E. Church. One sermon by Rev. A. B. Evans, pastor of the A. M. E. Church, near me, "Bless the Lord O my soul and forget not all his benefits." Pray for our success in their parts."

J. W. Robinson, Waco, Texas, writes: "The blessed old SOUTHWESTERN is getting better and better every day she lives, and I will say just here that I hope the day will soon come that she will be eargerly sought and earnestly read by 50,000 paying subscribers. Success to her, and long life to its blessed editor. I am closing one of the most successful years of all my toil in the ministry. This blessed people have responded to every appeal that I have made to them this year. August the 31st they gave the last cent on the $41 for missions. They next paid off their presiding elder, now they are struggling to pay off their pastor. I will see you at Austin and settle SOUTHWESTERN accounts."

W. Brooks, of Olive, Tex., writes: "This is a thriving little village of about 200 inhabitants located on the S. & E. T. R. R, 26 miles north of Beaumont. Through the kindness and courtesy of Messrs. Olive and Sternberg the proprietors of the saw mill here, I have succeeded in establishing and erecting a church that is second to none in the Huntsville district, when considering the size of this place. We have also a thriving Sunday School, with Miss. Annie Gains as Superintendent, assisted by an able corps of teachers. Our third quarterly conference held Monday August 18th, by Rev. A. J. Twiner from Beaumont, who preached a soul inspiring sermon from the 53d chapter of Isaiah and 14 and 15 verses. The power of God was felt mightily, making glad the hearts of Christians and causing sinners to quake and tremble. One child was baptized. Ours is the only church at this place and is destined at no distant day to be a first class charge. I am busy making preparations to meet the next annual conference in Houston Nov. 26th. Pray for us that God may still bless us."

N. Christmas of Giddings Texas, writes: "A few days ago we pitched a protracted effort, at the little brush arbor in the woods where it was so dusty that we named it ash-bank. Our meeting lasted eight nights, during which there was 6 conversions, 5 of which were added to to the church, also one from the Baptists came over to us. Be you assured both stewards and class leaders that your preacher in charge has felt his inability to accomplish anything on his regular work. I feel that Methodism here (East of Giddings) will in the near future be in a prosperous state."

Paul Douglas of Clarksville Tex, writes: "I have just closed a two weeks protracted meeting at Free Hope Church, 5 miles from Clarksville, which resulted in great good. We are happy to say, we had 28 converts, and 30 additions to the church. On the 9th of August, I baptised 21 adults, and 8 children. Since our meeting at Free Hope we have had a three weeks protracted meeting at St. Paul's Church in Clarkville; there we had 32 conversions, and 38 additions. On the first Sunday in September we have another large number to baptize. I am happy to say during the year one hundred souls have been added to the church. Aug., 22d the third quarterly conference was held, Rev. H. Webb Presiding Elder being sick in bed, Rev. H. Johns presided. We had a good time, on Sunday at 3 p, m., Rev. H. Johns preached a good sermon and administered the Lord's supper to 97. Collection for presiding elder $12.55, the church here is doing well, and we are looking for still better times. Pray for us.

A. J. Turner, of Texas, writes: "Our third quarterly conference was held on time. Rev. E. Lee the Presiding Elder. The brethren were on hand, and all rendered good reports and seemed to vie with each other in making the session a pleasant one. The elder preached to a good congregation; it was a grand and magnificent effort. He administered the Lord's supper to a goodly number and was assisted in the service by Rev. E. E. Makiell the pastor of the A. M. E. Church. Since I have been here 3 have been received into full membership and 1 on probation.

Letters From the Laity.

B. L. Hale, Wesley Chapel, New Orleans, writes: "Everything is running well at Wesley Chapel. Our pastor, Rev. M. Dale, is the right man in the right place. Every Sabbath morning he is at the prayer meeting; at 9 o'clock he is at the Sabbath-school teaching a class and lecturing upon subjects written out on the black board; at 11 a. m he preaches and at 3 p. m. he is at his post, at 7 p. m. he preaches again. Every Thursday night he leads a class; every second Monday he presides at a meeting of the trustees; and every Friday night he presides at the leaders and steward's meeting. Our finances are running fairly. Our new church, started a few months ago, is covered, weather boarded and painted. We are at present raising money to make another payment on our church, then we hope to have it completed."

Peter Veasly and Elix Smith, Alexaner City, La., write: "Rev. W. F. Smith, has been appointed pastor of this church since July, and has been carrying on a protracted meeting for two weeks; and 40 have joined the church, and the meeting is still going on. He preached one of the most interesting sermons last Sunday night that has been preached in Haven Chapel in a long time. He is greatly loved by by the community."

Mr. T. R. Morton, Middleton, Texas, writes: "Our pastor, Wm. Allen, has just closed a revival on Leona circuit, at the Two Miles appointment. Number of conversions, 36; 4 backsliders reclaimed; 30 joined our church, 26 of these converted, belonged to our Sunday-school. The Two Miles appointment is doing well spiritually and temporally. Our Sunday-school is certainly doing well at this point. Our pastor has the people aroused to build a parsonage at Leona, and if we continued on our parsonage will be in use by the Annual Conference. It will cost each member on the circuit about 25cts per head. I think our circuit will be able to come up with all of her assessments. Sister Howard, Houston, was with us on the 13th inst., and organized the Woman's Home Mission Society for us. I can say Sister Howard has done the sisters of this circuit a great deal of good. Our pastor, Wm. Allen will do a great work here if he can only stay with us two years. I can say the Lord has been with us this year."

Social.

On the evening of the 6th inst., a social evening occurred in the city which will long be remembered by the participants. The pesence in New Orleans of Mr. Alexander Adams and his accomplished daughter, Miss Leonora Adams, of Cincinnati, relative of the late Mrs. Ellen Dunn Burch, at whose house she died, was made the occasion for a social recognition, due these eminent examplars of an exalted standard from the Queen City of the West, under the auspices of Mr. George D. Geddes and his estimable lady, residing at No. 220 Erato street. A charming surprise was artistically arranged for the amusement of the distinguished guests from Cincinnati. The magic influence which obtains in the fashionable world was successfully exerted in marshalling representatives of the best society families in New Orleans to grace the occasion. At half past seven, there was a quiet gathering of the creme de la creme at the residence of Mrs. Frances Nelson, No. 368 Baronne st. After the usual congratulations and exchanges of cultivated communion, a phantom party was organized as an escort, headed by Strawbridge's band, and followed by a host of the elite of New Orleans. They proceeded to the residence of Mr. George D. Geddes, where Mr. Adams and his impressive daughter were honored guests. On the arrival of the party, Miss Adams was seated at the piano, in a somewhat tasty Mother Hubbard, amusing herself with some of the best selections. At the sound of voices and music she came to the door where she was greeted by a numerous and fashionably attired company, when she realized the fact that she had indeed been surprised, and was evidently delighted. The house of Mr. Geddes not being as large as his heart, he was unable to afford such accommodations within as the numbers required; but being a practical man, always ready in an emergency, he had his parlor hall across the street, immediately lighted, to which he invited the increasing company and the surprised guests. When all had assembled amid the glare of gas and the glittering of diamonds, Mr. and Miss Adams entered, modestly but richly attired. They were courteously and graciously received by one of the most select and cultured companies ever assembled in New Orleans. After the formalities of introduction and communion of general spirits, the sweet strains of every variety of music were harmoniously blended, the hall brilliantly illuminated, decorated with flags and festooned with garlands, in which moved a panorama of grace and beauty, presented a scene of animated grandeur and enchantment. The evening was pleasantly and profitably spent, and those present indulged in those amusements which give tone to society and character to individuals. The costumes of the ladies were rich, elaborate and fashionable; while the gentlemen were attired in the evening regulation dress. Never did the elements of the charmed circle in the Crescent City appear to better advantage; nor were honored guests ever accorded a more gracious reception. Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. and Mrs. Geddes for the manner in which they so successfully conducted the affair to the credit of the higher circle in the Crescent City; and special mention should also be made of the charming spirit infused during the evening's enjoyment by Miss Adelaide Nelson, a brilliant star in the charmed circle, to whom the representative of the SOUTHWESTERN is under many obligations for courtesies received. The following were among the many well known people present: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hobbs, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Gossitt, Mrs. A. A. Fayerweather, Mrs. Peter Lightfoot, Mrs. Oscar Dupny, Mrs. E. Townsend, Mrs. Tillie Gorum, Mrs. Selena Gray, Mrs. Wauburg, Mrs. Frances Wicker, Mrs. E. Shields, Mrs. Frances Nelson, Mrs. Fred Lopez; and Misses Adeline Nelson, Eliza E. Geddes, Pinkey Lawson, Geraldine Brady, Ellender Joseph, Mariah Wicker, Clara Isabell, Julia Johnson, Dela J. Townsend, Wilberina Lewis, Frankie Hawkins, Clara Boswell, Minnie More, Lizzie Lightfoot, Alice Boutin, Mary Cayou, Wauburg, Sarah Sneed, Minnie Kenner, Beatrice Bertell, Mollie Jones, Lou Drummonde, Hildreth Simpson, Emma Lopez, Albertine Baptist; Marie Robinson, L. R. Gordon, Mattie Gainey, Jennie Johnson; and Prof. A. P. Williams, Messrs. W. H. Gainey, Dr. J. T. Newman, A. B. Kennedy, James T. Cottrell, Wm. R. Boyd, Henry Grandpre, Charles Grandpre, Clem Williams, H. S. Baxter, Fred. Lopez, jr., Honore, Guilemet, Boutin, R. B. Hunter, Joseph Cayou, A. Garidelle, and W. B. Gamble, the able correspondent of the New York Freeman.

At a meeting of the Irish National League, held in New York, October 21, and presided over by Chas. A. Dana, of the Sun, $16,000 was subscribed to aid Mr. Parnell, in Ireland.

TRICKS ON THE TRACKS.

The Railway Review.

One who is accustomed to railway traveling can scarcely realize how much he is dependent for safety upon the engineer. Added to the responsibility of their station, engineers are also in constant danger of accidents caused by the tricks of jealous rivals.

This rivalry, it is said, sometimes prompts to the doing of utterly mean tricks. A Nickle Plate engineer after his very first trip was laid off because he had "cut out" all the bearings of his engine. He was re instated however, after he proved that some rival had filled his oiling can with emery. Another new engineer was suspended for burning out the flues of his boiler. Through grief at a loss of his position he died, and then a conscience-stricken rival confessed that he had put oil in the tank so that it foamed and showed water at the top guage, when in reality there was scarcely a quart in the boiler!

These intense jealousies, together with the terrible anxiety incident to their work, has a terribly straining effect on the nerve, and statistics tell us that, though Locomotive Engineers may look strong and vigorous, they are not all a hearty class. Ex Chief Engineer A. S. Hampton, Indianapolis, Ind., (Div. 143) was one of those apparently hearty men, but he says: "The anxiety, strain, and jolting came near finishing me." His sufferings localized in catarrh of the bladder, but he used Warner's safe cure faithfully for twenty weeks and now exclaims, "I am a well man." T. S. Ingraham, of Cleveland, Ohio, assistant Chief engineer, and other prominent members are also emphatic in its praise.

The Locomotive Engineers Brotherhood has 17,000 members and 240 divisions. Its headquarters is in Cleveland, Ohio, where Chief Engineer Arthur for twenty years has exercised almost dictatorial sway. It was organized in August, 1863, by the employees of the Michigan Central. It has given nearly two million dollars to the widows and orphans of deceased members.

The M. E. Church.

Woman's Home Missionary Society.

The fourth annual convention of the board of managers of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, held at Philadelphia, came to a close on the evening of Oct. 28. The enrollment committee reported the names of several hundred new members. Detroit was fixed upon as the place for the next meeting. Mrs. R. B Hayes, president, and all the other officers were re-elected. The committee on finance and mission fields reported appropriations for work of the coming year, as follows: Colored work in the South $29,248; white work in the South, $7,950; Indian work, $2,150; Chinese work at Puget Sound, $100; Spanish work in New Mexico, $1,050; Mormon work, $3,535; Hungarian work in Pittsburg, $500; Bohemian work in Chicago, $1,200; conference work $5,000; incidentals, $2,500; total, $54, 783. On motion of Mrs. Willing, the total appropriation was made $60,000, the difference to be expended in city missionary work. The committee refused to accept the resignation of Mrs. S. W. Thomgon as publisher of Home Missions.—Michagan Ch. Advocate.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Vincent, writes: "Abont 170,000 copies of the Good Tidings Day and Epworth Song Service were sent out for nse on 'Good Tidings Day,' Oct. 18. Orders for these services sent so late as to render it impossible for schools to receive them by Oct. 17, could not of course be filled. Next year we hope to mark the day—the third Sunday in October—by a good service, widely circulated, and by a liberal collection for the Sunday-school Union and Tract Society. Will preachers in charge put down on their books 'Oct. 19, 1886,' as 'Good Tidings Day?'"

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

There will be, in each number, a selection from our best standard poets suitable for recitation in school or circle. From time to time colloquies for Mission Bands, or for general school exercises, will appear. THE SOUTHWESTERN

MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D., Editor

THURSDAY, NOV. 19, 1885.

Judge Biddle, of Philadelphia, recently fined W. J. Gilmore, $100 for exhibiting indecent show bills. Upright judge. Give us more of them, and decency will be vindicated.

The interesting topic of "Faith-cures" will be treated "without gloves" in the December Century, by the Rev. Mr Schauffler, who has paid particular attention to the subject.

Brother, what have you done, what are you now doing, and what do you intend to do about that million for missions, and that quarter of a million for education in the South? Can't you push things and push them next Sunday?

It would be well for our friends to understand, when actually desiring the attendance of Methodist preachers at social assemblies, to consider that their convictions are entitled to some consideration. A hint to the wise is sufficient.

"I do not see how I can do without the SOUTHWESTERN and carry on my pastoral work. It is our help and aid. We need it in our churches, and can not do without it."—John H. Coppage, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Late service for Sabbath morning at church prevents people, who work from attendance. Pastors, for the colored people should always bear this in mind. The protraction of services until one or two o'clock in the day or 11 or 12 at night is wrong any way.

The Independent of Nov. 6, has two very interesting articles to us. One is, "The Race Problem Being Solved" by Prof. W. E. C. Wight and the other "Anti-Slavery Hymns" by Prof. F. M. Bird. Oh, how much these hymns had to do with arousing the spirit of freedom and bringing liberty to our land.

If Mr. George Geddes' fine hall in a remote locality is a nuisance to that neighborhood, what will the handsome new show house just now going up at the corner of St. Charles and Calliope streets, right in front of Ames Methodist Episcopal Church be? "Consistency, thou art a jewel."

Compliments of Rev. H. J. Wright, Louisiana Conference, we have before us the proceedings of the 17th annual communication of the M. W. G. L. A. F. and A. Y. M., held at Springfield, Ill., Oct. 9, 1885. A. L. 5883. Among the distinguished persons present was J. Henry Webb, G. M., of the Bahama Islands, and D. G. M., of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. It was a pleasant session.

A Welcome Visitor.

The African Methodist Episcopal Church Review for October is quite an interesting number. The papers on the "Life of Lord Lawrence, and its Lesson," claimants for territory on the Congo, and especially that of Dr. Lee on Theology is very superior in matter and manner, and will repay in useful information the price of a year's subscription. B. T. Tanner, D. D., managing editor, 631 Pine street, Philadelphia, Pa. Price, per copy, 40c.; per year, $1.50.

Keep up the Acquaintance.

Let no sin prevent you from praying. If you wilfully sinned only a moment before, so much greater is your need of prayer. If you become confused and ashamed to pray because you are so sinful, then what will you do? Do this, keep on speaking terms with the Lord, to do this, is to defeat and half beat Satan. What he wants is that you and the Lord should stop speaking in prayer together. Renew it by frequent prayer, and keep up your acquaintance with the Lord.

The North, Central and South American Exposition.

OPENING DAY.

The North, Central and South American Expostion opened on the 10th inst., with a civil and military display, and with ceremonies appropriate to the occasion. The highly creditable pageant, as it moved through the principal streets, was witnessed with pride by thousands of delighted citizens in holiday attire. Major C. B. Throckmorton, U. S. A., acted as Grand Marshal, supported by dashing aids. Among those conspicuous in line was Gov. S. D. McEnery and staff, Lieutenant Governor Knobloch, Cols. T. Generelly, T. A. Fariee, E. A. Ducros, F. Kennedy, C. A. Larendon, S. F. Lewis, W. H. Byrens, J. H. H. Hodges, H. W. Fairchild, W. P. Curtiss, R. W. Gillespie, H. H. Baker, E. T Loche and Major C. N. Phillips. The supreme court was represented by Chief Justice E. Bermudez and associate Justices F. P. Poche, Robert Todd, T. C. Manning and Charles E. Fenner.

The State officers, foreign consuls, Exposition managers, Federal officials, officers of the United States Army, State militia, City dignataries, fire department, Knights of Pythias, the navy, the Army of Tennessee, the Junior Eagle Benevolent Society, the Arthur Club, the Union Benevolent Association, the Larendon rifles, a colored military organization; and other distinguished guests were fully represented.

The parade proceeded by steamers to the Exposition grounds, where an immense concourse awaited its coming in the Music Hall of the Main Building. Upon its appearance, Prof. D'Aquin's band played the march from Faust, which seemed to be enjoyed, especially by the military magnates, who marched along the aisles to the platform, with the air of men who were proud of the opportunity to display their martial bearing. The ceremonies were well conducted and in excellent taste, especially the Exposition chorus of 500 voices of ladies and gentlemen.

Bishop Galleher, of the Protestant Episcopal Church diocese of Louisiana, then offered prayer. Appropriate addresses were made by Gen. S. B. McCounico, the President of the Exposition managemen; Col. J. B. G. Pitkin, Commissioner General, replied to the welcome extended on the part of the commissioners and exhibitors; Mr. Herbert D. Fairall, commissioner for Iowa, spoke earnestly on behalf of the State commissioners; Gov. S. D. McEnery made an excellent address of welcome, to which the Hon. J. V. Gaillotte, the mayor said "amen"; Senor Mathias Romero, Mexican minister to the United States, ably represented Gen. Porfirio Diaz, President of the United Mexican States, who found it inconvenient to be present; Rev. S. H. Werlein made an address with excellent effect, on behalf of the "Universal Peace Union;" and Dr. J. T. Newman, the only colored representative on the programme, closed the regular exercises in a masterly address, having for its object the best interests of both races and the material prosperity of Louisiana and the South.

Commissioner M. Rae, of Arkansas, in a very complimentary strain, called upon Major E. A. Burke, the first director general, of the Exposition of the past year, for some remarks, to which he replied in a happy vein, giving much cheer and comfort to those now engaged in the great enterprise. This closed the exercises which seemed to give general satisfaction. The Exposition will rapidly assume shape and make a fine display.

The Galveston Strike.

The labor troubles at Galveston have attracted attention because of two important features, viz: 1. The race antagonism it discloses; 2. The attempt to dictate to employers who they may take into their service or not. The white laborers on the wharf of the Mallory line of steamships were getting 40 cents per hour and 50 cents for extra work, and they struck for 50 cents all round. This was yielded temporarily, but disapproved by the company's authority. The men were promised an increase on extra work to 60 cents, but this did not satisfy them, and their places were filled with colored laborers. Afterward the white men desired to return but were refused because the company had promised the colored men to stand by them and not use them as a cat's paw for the momentary purpose. The number of men affected was about 150, and the Knights of Labor asked the Mallory line to reinstate them, which it refused to do, and a boycott was commenced that worked serious injury to the city and drove its commerce to other points. The boycotters asked for the removal of the Mallory line of steamers from Galveston, and are punishing a whole city for the purpose of working a revenge on one small company. In addition they asked the mayor to remove colored men from the police force of the city, which he very honorably refused to do, because they were all faithful and efficient. Some attempts at arbitration have been made, but, according to the latest advices, they could not agree to make a straight race issue and ask the Mallory line to discharge colored employes with whom it is well satisfied.

We have sympathy for honest measures to redress real grievances of labor, but there is nothing whatever in the conduct of the Knights of Labor at Galveston that does not call for condemnation. The concession to an organized and powerful association of dictation to employers who they shall employ when the terms are unsatisfactory to its membership, would be calamitous and destroy all freedom in business pursuits except such as the organization may choose to accord. The Knights of Labor at Galveston have made an attack on individual and corporate rights, and if they persist in their course their agents should be promptly met with every appliance of governmental power.

The colored laborers of Galveston have acted wisely and manfully. Their white brethren would do well to follow the example of the Trades Assembly of New Orleans which has united all laboring people for common ends, and makes a race issue both unnecessary and impossible.

A Center Shot.

Nast has in Harper's Weekly for Nov. 7 a cartoon which illustrates the true inwardness of the political situation in these times. A practical politician, in fashionable clothes, fronting a saloon, and with his back on public sentiment, stands with a bottle of whiskey in both hands extended outward. On their knees, wild with intimidation, are two men, one a free American of Hibernian and the other of African descent, who are eagerly grasping at the liquor which the politician hands them, at the same time saying, "vote as I dictate." But a man is peeping around the corner at the transaction who will yet be heard from on the subject.

Nast has struck a centre point. It is a fair illustration of either all the intimidation in this country or that which produces it.

The man around the corner is the Prohibition party, whether Nast designed him to represent it or not. And although, as in the picture, only a small part of his head is now visible, his whole body is rapidly coming into sight, and into mind as well.

Conference Relations.

Where is there a church strong enough to carry Bro. A. without being injured by it? This is an awful question, as every bishop and presiding elder can testify. Dear reading minister, examine yourself closely. Does this question apply, and will it have to be asked in your case. It is after this question has been asked concerning a brother from time to time, that the conference finally ask brethren to ask for a location. Inefficiency and secularity will as surely bring a man to this point. Both of these defects must be cured or the above results will all follow. To consider these matters is the work of the committee on conference relations. Let every minister see to it that there is in him nothing worthy of this committees efforts.

Bishop Walden in St. Louis.

Bishop Walden addressed the Methodist Preachers Meeting, in St. Louis, Monday, Oct., 12th. In the course of his remarks he recited some of his observations while holding conferences in the West. He deplored the great prevalence of Mormonism, but felt encouraged by the fact that large numbers of the Mormons were not practical polygamists. The fertility and productiveness of Western soil was a feature of especial attraction and pleasure to him.

The American Baptist, of Nov. 13, thinks that we are either short of matter or else take especial delight in punching Rev. Wm. J. Simmons, D. D., for his part played in the Worlds Exposition. We are innocent of any such intentions. As to matter we have not yet realized our need of more, but we are unconscious of any attempt to punch Dr. Simmons, except as that would grow out of references to public matters with which he might have an incidental connection. Personally we regard him as a man of some fine parts, and rather like him.

For the Southwestern

The Freedmen's Aid Anniversary.

The eighteenth anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid Society was held Nov. 6, afternoon and night, in Park Avenue Church, New York. Bishops Walden and Bowman presided, and gave brief addresses. The Fisk Jubilee Singers sang some of their best melodies. The Rev. Dr. J. M. King, the pastor of the church, gave an address of welcome, to which Bishop Walden responded.

The Rev. R. S. Rust, D. D., corresponding secretary, reported the past year's work, which gave many evidences of steady growth in the work of the Society in the South. The following comparisons with the preceding year will be interesting.

	Last Year.	This Year.	Increase.
Total receipts	$113 453 05	$143,753 53	$10,299 48
Conf collections	66 481.00	70 962.83	4,530 80
Expended on real estate	46 952.01	74 748 93	25,896.83
Total expenditures	$159,195,26	$174,752 53	$22,557,27

The excess of expenditures over receipts is $31,000, incurred by the purchase of the university grounds at Chattanooga.

In view of the financial depression throughout the country, it is especially encouraging that this Society should have an increase in its receipts the past year. The item of self-help among the students is important. Each year more is being received in tuition and room rent from the students themselves.

The General Conference, of 1880 and 1884, directed the Society to aid in the educational work among the whites in as far as possible without interfering with its work among the colored people. With the work of the Society thus enlarged its responsibilities have vastly increased. The appeal for a quarter of a million dollars a year to carry on the work is made because every dollar of that amount is needed.

The schools maintained and aided the past year are as follows:

	Schools.	Teachers.	Students
Among the Colored people	22	112	4,243
" " White "	18	52	1,709
Total	40	167	5,952

A complete showing of what our educational work in the South has grown to be since the war would include several other institutions, but only those are given which the Society has almost wholly sustained or to some extent aided.

In the work among the colored people most gratifying progress is seen. The students who go forth exret powerful influences for good among the people, and the thirst of the masses for knowledge shows no abatement. The Gammon School of Theology at Atlanta, through the continued benefactions of Mr. Gammon, will soon have a second large building, costing $27,000. Over 40 candidates for the ministry are now in attendance. Biblical classes are maintained in all the colleges. Meharry Medical College has graduated over 50 cultured Christian physicians, and 41 undergraduates are now in attendance. At Winsted, on Bayon Teche, La., two new buildings, costing $10,000, have been completed. The Hon. W. L. Gilbert, of Connecticut, has largely aided in this. This will be a first class seminary and a feeder to the university at New Orleans. At New Orleans a new square of ground containing three acres has been purchased on the principal avenue of the city. The school has been transferred to the new grounds, and is occupying the commodious buildings which were already there. The contract for a $30,000 college building has been let, and if friends will respond to the appeals for money the building will be ready for occupancy next fall. The industrial schools—in carpentry, blacksmithing, agriculture, etc.—in the central institution, are doing a most successful and gratifying work. The churches of our colored people are largely used as school houses. In Louisiana alone there are forty such church schools, in which are over 1,500 students. The teachers of these schools have largely gone out from our institutions.

The Society has in aiding schools among the whites pursued its wise policy of developing as rapidly as possible two central universities at Little Rock and Chattanooga, around which gymnasia of seminaries can cluster as feeders, and from which must go widespread and powerful influences touching every section of the South. The outlay for real estate in these two centers was wise, for only the best of sites ought to be had, and first-class buildings erected. At Little Rock in two years ground and buildings costing $47,000 have been secured. Of this citizens of the place have given $8,000. At Chattanooga 14 acres of ground were bought nearly two years ago for $31,000, and a building worth $40,000 will be completed next August. The citizens gave $15,000.

The aid extended to our seminary work among the whites has been pitiably small in view of its vast importance and needs. The Society has been forced to refuse aid in many places where a few hundred dollars a year would so supplement the effort of our heroic people as to establish a much-needed seminary.

As the foundation and crowning work of all a most gracious revival influence has pervaded all schools during the past year. Nearly every institution has been visited with special outpourings of the Holy Ghost.

The first address of the afternoon was delivered by the Rev. I. J. Lansing, B. D., of Brooklyn, who, in a plain and powerful manner, showed how the irrepressible conflict for the rights of our brother in black was yet upon us, and that God, who had thus far led, would only be satisfied with the complete emancipation of the Negro from the bonds of legal, political, and social caste.

The Rev. J. W. E. Bowen, B. D., a graduate of New Orleans and Boston universities, spoke both in afternoon and evening. He plead for the Negro, not because he was a black man, but because he was a man. The principal address of the the evening was given by Bishop Mallalieu, who made an eloquent and effective plea for more sympathy and money and wants. He paid glowing tributes to the heroism and success of our ministers and teachers in the South.

Gen. Clinton B. Fisk followed in one of his best speeches. He said of the Society and its management; "No million and a half dollars given by the Methodist Episcopal Church has yielded more in return than that given to this Society, and no benevolence of the Church has been managed with greater care or efficiency."

Dr. J. C. Hartzell was on the programme for an address, but had yielded his time to others, and was made happy in the privilege of asking for a good collection, which was promptly given.

Dr. Earl Cranston, of Cincinnati, pronounced the benediction.

OUR CHART.

The Freedmen's Aid Society, in the judgment of its friends, has done a wise thing in issuing a Chart, giving a "comparative view of illiteracy and educational facilities, North and South."

This Chart outlines the States and Territories east of the Rocky Mountains, and shows by statements and by colored cubes the fact upon which it treats.

It shows the actual illiteracy and the educational facilities of each State. It also shows the taxable wealth of each State, the sums invested in school property, and the actual annual sum expended in each for the support of public schools. It is also shown what has been done by the Freedmen's Aid Society since its organization.

The largest possibilities of this Society require the hearty sympathy of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and its full co-operation in the measures and plans adopted.

This essential need of the Freedmen's Aid Society has better promise of being met by the projection of this Chart than it could be in any other way. It seems impossible that this Chart shall have general currency among Methodists, and that it shall be fairly displayed by the ministers, and studied by our people, without producing a most profound impression—such an impression as a clear and vivid showing of an amazing array of startling and grave facts would be likely to produce.

It may be fairly assumed that if the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church can get the material facts bearing upon this subject fairly in mind, they will respond with adequate sympathy, faith, prayer, and money for all the demands this Freedmen's Aid Society may make upon them.

The Chart is printed on strong, heavy paper. It is three feet five inches, by five feet, making it of convenient size for use on the platform in Sunday-schools and in the churches. The size and form as well as the manner of its teaching render it easily seen in any part of an ordinary auditorium. It is divided into three departments. One covers the full face of the sheet. The obverse side is covered by the other two departments.

I. The broadside of the whole sheet contains an outline of the United States and Territorie east of the Rocky Mountains.

By cubes of different colors, the facts as to illiteracy and its extent are set forth, as also the amount of taxable property in each State; the amount invested in school property; and the money actually expended annually in supporting the public schools.

Each black square represents one per cent of the population, over ten years old who cannot write.

Each yellow square represents one million of dollars annually expended for public schools.

These squares can be readily seen: They instantly and correctly show how much illiteracy there is in a given State; how much taxable wealth; how much invested in public school property; and how much is expended from year to year for the support of public schools.

Many things are taught or suggested by this incomparable Chart. The poverty of illiterate States and the wealth of labor is shown to be more productive than unskilled. The Chart shows the relation of the common school to the support of public education.

It also enforces the duty of those favored with wealth and education to contribute freely to their means to aid in educating their poorer and illiterate fellow-countrymen.

And as this illiteracy is a standing menace to the safety the State and the liberties of the people, patriotism joins its plea with that of philanthropy and religion to urge Christians and patriots to assist in blotting out this crying evil.

By means of this Chart, it is easy to se, in any given State, or in all of the States together, how close and constant is the correspondence between little illiteracy and great wealth, and much illiteracy and little wealth. For example, in Iowa there are only four per cent of illiteracy, while there are four hundred millions of taxable property. Nine and a half million dollars are invested in school property, and four and a half million are annually expended for public schools.

In Georgia there are fifty per cent of the population who cannot write. The taxable property is two hundred million dollars. Only half a million dollars are invested in public schools. Six hundred thousand dollars are annually expended for public schools. Suppose we compare Ohio and Kentucky. In Ohio the illiteracy is five and a half per cent. The taxable property is fourteen hundred and fifty millions of dollars. Twenty-two million dollars are invested in school property. Seven millions and eight hundred thousand dollars are annually expended for common school education.

In Kentucky there is nearly thirty per cent of illiteracy. There are three hundred and fifty millions of dollars of taxable property, or about one fourth the taxable property of Ohio. Two millions and one hundred thousand dollars are invested in school property, and an equal amount is annually expended for common school education.

All this, as to every State and Territory in the Union on the Atlantic slope, is really seen by looking at this Chart and counting the different colored cubes, without stopping to add, subtract, multiply, or divide. It is at once apparent that where the black cubes are numerous the red and blue and yellow cubes are few, and so vice versa.

II. One half of the obverse side of the Chart are engravings of some of the institutions planted in the South by the Freedmen's Aid Society. In the upper left corner is the picture of the Gammon Hall, Clark University, Atlanta, Georgia. This is a large, elegant brick structure, five stories high. And this, with other views, shows that the Society is in the South to stay, and that it is wisely planning for the future. In the upper right corner is the engraving of Little Rock University (for whites). The architecture is chaste and elegant. This also is five stories high.

Central, in the lower tier, are engravings of the Central Tennessee College, and of the Meharry Medical College, in Nashville, Tenn. Rust University in Holly Springs, Miss; Wiley University, in Texas; Centenary Biblical Institute, in Baltimore, Md., are seen. In all sixteen school enifices are displayed; located in ten different States. Among these is a view of the Industrial Home, in Atlanta, Ga., sustained by the Women's Home Missionary Society. This part of the Chart contains also a map of the United States, taken from the official census map of 1870, showing by deeper or lighter shading, and also by tables, the illiteracy of the United States and where it is less and greater.

III. The remaining half of the obverse side of the Chart contains general statements of great value as to the following items namely:

1. The greatness of the work of the Freedmen's Aid Society, not only as to the area of its working, but also and eminently as to the nature and significance of its operations.

2. The tremendous problems involved in this whole question of illiteracy, and in the race and color caste questions awaiting solution through the school, the home, and the Church.

3. What has been done by eighteen years of successful work by the Freedmen's Aid Society.

4. What annual sum is now needed to meet the claims upon this Society.

5. How this amount may be raised.

6. How the Chart may be used to effect in raising the amount needed by the Society for its great work.

This invaluable Chart may be made most prolific of wonderful results by our ministers and people. The ministers should study it, and should set forth its various and most important lessons to the people of their charges.

Our people, and especially those who have means, and who want to be useful in large and effective lines, should carefully study and learn all the phases of this Freedmen's and of this illiteracy by means of this Chart until they have completely mastered those momentous themes. R. S. RUST.

Church Polity.

Mr. Editor, Please inform me what is the full meaning of the word Religion.—Subscriber.

Ans. 1. It means any system of faith and worship. The different religions in the world are very numerous, numbering many thousands. These may be reduced to four great classes, viz.: 1. The Jewish; 2. the Christian; 3. the Mohammedan; 4. the Pagan system.

2. The word is of Latin orgin, and it means "to bind fast." That bond or obligation and sense o duty which we feel from the relation in which we stand to a superior power. Specifically it is an acknowledgement of our obligation to God as our Creator, Preserver and Redeemer, accompanied by a feeling of reverence and love, and a consequent return of duty and obediance to him; duty to God and his creatures; practical piety; godliness, devotion, with the practice of all moral duties and obligations

"Age cannot wither it nor custom state its infinite variety." Flesh is hardly heir to an ache or pain which cannot be cured by using Salvation Oil.

AMERICAN BIBLE SOCIETY.—The stated meeting of the Board of Managers was held at the Bible House, on Thursday November 5th, 1885, William H. Crosby, Esq., Vice-President in the chair.

Grants of books were made for benevolent distribution in the United States and in foreign lands, the aggregate value of which was about $4,300, and funds to the amount of $1,100.

Three auxiliary societies were recognized in Kansas, three in Arkansas, and one in each of the States of Nebraska, Texas, and West Virginia.

The Methodist Women's Missionary Societies propose to open a training-school in Chicago to prepare pupils for all kinds of practical missionary work, home and foreign.

Pastry Without Butter.

The American pie has been subjected to more unjust abuse from foreign writers than any other of our distinctive products, if we except the recent tirade against the American hog. And yet we cannot say that it has been altogether undeserved, because of the villainous compound, thick, hard and heavy, that is too often made to do duty as a crust, and which by courtesy is called pastry. Light, tender, flaky and digestible pie crust and all kinds of pastry can be made most readily by the use of Royal Baking Powder without any butter, or with half usual portion, if preferred, or with a small quantity of lard or other shortening as desired. Pie-crust thus made is much more wholesome and digestible, besides being more economical and easier prepared. In addition to saving all the butter if desired, one-third the flour is also dispensed with, as the crust is rolled that much thinner, the leavening qualities of the Royal Baking Powder swelling it to the requisite thickness. If drippings or lard be used the Royal Baking Powder removes any unpleasant taste, rendering the crust as short, sweet and pleasant as if made from the finest butter. Those who know the appetizing qualities of the genuine home-made American pie will rejoice that by the aid of Royal Baking Powder in the pastry it can be made quite as digestible as it is delicious.

The total receipts for October were $34,802 39. The total issues of the Scriptures from the Bible House were 65,407 volumes.

In September, 1878, all London was astonished by a new departure in medicine—a beautiful application of Electro-Magnetic force, which positively cured headache, neuralgia, etc., in two to five minutes [we refer to Dr. Scott's Pure Bristle Electric Hair Brush). The people wondered, the doctors were dumbfounded, while the practical inventor was hailed as a public benefactor. This principle is now being applied by Dr. Scott with wonderful success to Belts and Corsets.

The Corsets do not differ in appearance from those nenally worn, as flat steel magnetoids are substituted for the ordinary corset-steels. They are all equally charged, differing only in quality and design. They are elegant in shape and finish, made after the best French pattern, and warranted satisfactory in every respect. Those who have tried them say they will wear no others. Most of the above applies equally well to the Electric Belt for gents or ladies.

Probably never, since the invention of corsets, has so large a demand been created as now exists for Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets and Belts. They are worn daily in over eight thousand families in the city of New York alone. For full information address Dr. Geo. A. Scott, 842 Broadway, New York City.

Miss Nellie Kent,

Wellington, Lorain county, O., writes, "Dr. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O., Gentlemen: I have been a great sufferer from chronic catarrh, bronchitis and neuralgia of the face. I have been taking your PERUNA for one month. The neuralgia and catarrh is almost well, and the cough is much better. I like your PERUNA very much."

C. E. Dupler, aged thirty-four years, of Equality, Illinois, had been affected with a chronic catarrh which he first discovered six years ago. In succession he lost his smell, taste and hearing. The disease was so malignant that it not only attacked the softer parts, but destroyed the bony partition of the nose and seriously affected the external parts. He could only hear a watch ticking by holding it close to his ear. He sufferd intense pain in the nose, from which green, dry clots of offensive odor fell. In this condition he presented himself to Dr. Hartman several months ago. He can now hear a watch eight inches from his right and six inches from his left ear. His taste and smell are again returning, and the external part of the nose is quite well. Few more grateful patients ever left a physician's office than Mr. Dupler. He said, "Why in the world was PERUNA not prescribed for me long ago?"

Cramps of the Stomach.

We have the privilege of reporting the following case. Those similarly affected can get the name and address of Dr. Hartman. The lady does not want her name in the papers. For a year, or years, (the writer does not remember the length of time,) this lady had cramps, the most fearful, of the stomach, every day and night, "which would be followed by that terrible weakness, which was something wonderful." The suffering and distress of this lady was indescribable and almost unendurable. After all the physicians and medicines had failed, and all hope had almost fled, Dr. Hartman was consulted, and from the first day of taking his PERUNA, the cramps and all bad feeling left her, and now for over a month has been entirely free from every symptom. A more thankful patient no doctor ever had.

Mr. Bogg, druggist, Charlestown, Kanawha Co., W. Va., writes: "PERUNA sells well here and gives good satisfaction. Customers speak well of it."

Dr. J. Anderson, Coshocton, Ohio, writes: "Your PERUNA sells well and gives good satisfaction. I consider it a splendid medicine."

DANGER SIGNAL.

When a person gives you counterfeit money he perpetrates a crime against the law and your pecuniary interests; but when he gives you an inferior and dangerous medicine in the place of one of recognized and well known curative properties he commits the blackest of crimes, for he conspires against your health and life.

"The New York Herald," Sept. 21, 1885, says: "To endorse a counterfeit medicine is to injure the manufacturer and the buyer, and the buyers will soon drop away from a counterfeited medicine that they find worthless. Manufacturers of counterfeit articles fail because they have not the experience and apparatus of the large manufacturer to produce the same curative results. The large manufacturers have the utmost incentive, while they are protected, to make their medicine as perfect and curative as possible."

For example, take the experience of Simmons Liver Regulator prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., of Philadelphia; their firm has devoted years of time, employed the most eminent chemists of the land, and spent thousands of dollars in bringing their medicine to the perfection it has attained. They expended a large amount of money in bringing it to the attention of the people, and its use has made Simmons Liver Regulator widely popular. In order to make money from the great reputation gained by this remedy, unscrupulous adventurers have gotten up cheap counterfeits, dangerous to health, and stick on these frauds a name closely resembling Simmons Liver Regulator, to deceive the unwary into buying their inferior goods.

FERNANDINA, Nassau Co., Fla.

"I have used Dr. Simmons Liver Regulator and always found it to do what is claimed for it. The last bottle and two packages did me no good and were worse than nothing. I see it is not put up by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and not genuine, and a waste of money to buy it. I would be glad to get the pure and genuine. Send me some from honest hands (with red Z and Zeilin & Co.'s signature on the Wrapper). The fictitious stuff sold will injure some one badly.

BENJ. T. RICH."

The genuine Simmons Liver Regulator has become the Faultless Family Medicine and has the endorsement of the thousands who have used it. If you want Simmons Liver Regulator see that the Druggist gives you the genuine, not something he claims is "just as good," and because he makes more off it.

ETHIOPIA.

BY MRS. MARTIN, COLUMBIA, S. C.

She's stretching forth her hands to Thee,
Her dark and swarthy hands;
With her sunny fountains cometh she
And with her golden sands;
With Obelisk and Pyramid
With Memnon's musio stone—
O, Thou will never her forbid,
But claim her as thy own.
By all the signs she'd have us see,
Responsive to thy will,
The time's own sure word of prophecy
She's going to fulfill.
Unseen, unveiled, redeemed and free,
Lord! she is coming unto Thee.

Yes every gracious sign proclaims
Her day of grace begun
That, through His name, that name of names,
Her heritage she's won.
That, 'mong the nations she shall shine,
A jewel rich and rare,
Gracing the diadem divine
Her blessed Lord doth wear.
That, merging from her long dark night
She, like the rising sun,
Tells us by the sweet dawning light
Her day, at last begun.
Forever and forevermore.

God speed her on! long, long the way
For her, has been prepared;
To turn her darkness into day,
Many have all things dared;
And counted all things but as loss,
So that they might proclaim
To her, the story of the cross,
And, to her, name his name,
Who brought salvation full and free
To every clime and race,
Who died for all that all might be Partakers of His grace—
Now that she has that gospel heard,
Oh, has it not her spirit stirred?

To move with all of christendom,
Who's moving to her aid,
Yes, rising to her strength she'll come,
Who long has erred and strayed;
She'll come to prove her ancient right
To culture and to art;
She'll come, what's more, unto the light,
That need of her great heart.
Yes, land, where grows the stately palm
And lordly lion roves,
For thee go up prayer, hymns and psalm:
Then, ancient land, God loves
Then, glorious land of ancient lore,
Praise God, the Lord, forevermore.

Domestic Hygiene.

Ears, and How to Care For Them.

GEO. L. CURTIS, M. D.

The following article upon ears, is from the pen of Wm. H. Curtis, M. D., a physician of Seymour, Ind. It presents valuable thoughts regarding care for the ears, as well as a very clear account of the structure of the ear. He writes:

The ear is a somewhat complicated structure, yet easy to understand, and thrice beautiful by reason of the harmony with which all parts work together for the accomplishment of the purpose of giving us one of the five senses.

The ear is composed of three parts, external, middle and internal ear. The internal, middle, and inner two thirds of the external ear are situated in the temporal bone. The outer third of the external ear is composed of flesh, skin and cartilage. The external part is either an ornament or disfigurement, and is called the Pina, and its various elevations and depressions bear names. Its shape is something like the bell of a horn so as to concentrate the sound waves and convey them to the drum-head with full force.

The lining of the ear is mucous membrane. In the external ear this membrane has many minute openings, which are the openings of the glands which manufacture the ear wax, of which we shall speak again.

The canal of the external ear is a simple channel about an inch and a quarter long, running in rather an oblique direction, so that it is necessary to lift the Pina and straighten the canal to be able to view the drumhead. A little below the center drumhead can be seen with the proper instruments, a bright, glowing spot, which is a spot of monitor as to the condition of the parts beyond; for if there is any trouble the bright spot can not be seen. This luminous spot is known as Umbo, and marks the place where the handle of the hammer, one of the three bones of the middle ear is fastened.

The drumhead is a complete partition between the external and middle ear. It may take on various kinds of diseases, and it is often necessary to puncture it to allow the escape of pus from the middle ear. The middle ear is an air chamber, and communicates with the back of the nose upper part of the throat by a canal called the Eustachian tube. Inflammations in the throat travel up this tube and cause trouble in the ear.

In the middle ear are three small bones, commonly known as the hammer, anvil and stirup, from their resemblance to these articles. These are fastened together like the joints of other bones, and from a chain, one end of which is fastened to the drumhead. Next the hammer is the anvil and just beyond is the stirup, the foot of which is fastened in an opening in the wall of the middle ear opposite the drumhead, the opening being guarded by a membrane. The foot of the stirup is not fastened so but it permits of a limited motion necessary to the conveyance of sound. The internal ear is the most complicated, and is composed of two structures, known as the semi-circular canals, three in number, and the cochlea, which resembles a snail-shell. The semi-circular canals and cochlea are filled with fluid and communicate by means of a sort of sack, common to both, also filled with fluid, which is in contact with the membrane across the opening where the stirup is fastened.

Passing from the brain is the auditory nerve, which when it reaches the internal ear breaks up into numerous minute filaments, which are distributed to the cochlea and semi-circular canals.

When a person speaks to you he sets in motion the air in front of of him, forming waves similar to those formed by dropping a pebble in the water. These waves roll on, until they reach the ear, when striking the pina they pass into the ear, and when the drumhead is reached, it is set to vibrating. The handle of the hammer being fastened to the drumhead, necessarily moves with the vibrations, and the hammer moves the anvil, and it the stirup, propelling the stirup against the membrane, across the opening on the side of the middle ear. As the membrane moves against the fluid on the other side an impression is made upon the seeds of the nerves distributed to it. These impressions are carried to the brain, and we hear.

On the rapidity or violence of the vibrations depends the degree of sound, being correspondingly fast or loud, or low and slow.

"The size of the ear, other things being equal, is no doubt the measure of its capacity or power as the organ of hearing, and are an indication of the development of these mental traits which are dependent upon the sensations received through it." A thin ear indicates hearing. This is illustrated in the deer and gazelle, whose ears are thin, and hearing acute. "Ears which are flattened and lie close to the head are more beautiful and higher in their indications than those that project." Large ears generally correspond with large hands, large feet and a large heart, while a small ear goes with small features and aristocratic sentiments. An ear with many elevations and depressions indicates delicacy and refinement. Our ears are generally of the shape that will best receive the sounds our voices emit. An ear with a broad upper part is a musical ear, and can but judge of the elevation, depression and intensity of sound. Shakespear, writes:

'The man that hath no music in himself,
Nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds,
Is fit for treason, strategem and spoils;

Various articles have been found in the ear, as grains of corn, pieces of slate pencil, flies and other insects. Any attempt to remove these foreign bodies often results in more harm than good. People have an idea that a forgeign body in the ear is like a wild beast accidentally let loose upon a civilized community, and must be hunted down at all hazards. Children do not usually push them in far enough to do any immediate harm, but the meddlesome interference of parents or nurses often causes trouble. Let the physician remove the foreign body.

Another tronble adults bring upon themselves. A person in the habit of pushing a pencil, hairpin or some such article to clean the ear of wax will generally impair the hearing. Why? Because every time such rude instrument is put into the ear, the ear wax is pushed backward into the ear. This repeated will cause a solid mass of hardened wax to press against the the drumhead, and deafness results. A few weeks ago I removed from a patient's ears about a thimble full of hardened wax, which had been accumulating for some time. Before the removal of the wax he could not hear the ticking of a watch pressed against the ear.

Ear wax has a purpose, as has every other secretion of the body. It keeps the parts pliable, prevents the ready admission of insects, and catches the flying air dust and prevents its falling on the delicate drumhead. When it has accomplished its office, nature throws it out as the jaws move, when it may be easily reached and removed by a dampened cloth. Never introduced pencils, pins, etc., into the ear

Keep the folds of the outer ear clean. They make good dirt reservoirs where disease germs may breed.

All About the Million.

Rev. M. S. Hard, Canandaigua, N. Y., writes: "I have $600 for missions. Our apportionment on the 'Million' was $400. We raised $315 last year."

Rev. J. W. Vernon, Kansas: "We are good for our proportion of the Million."

W. H. Myers, of Cheltenham, Pa., writes "Our Sabbath school children have raised yon the thirty dollars promised, by a Children's Festival on the church grounds, projected and carried on by children nuder twelve years of age."

If the Germans can, why cannot Americans give one dollar per member?

Let us take care of our own country. The field is the word. Bishop Foster says the Million-dollar shout saved the Missionary treasury from a decline upon the receipts of last year. Now the Church is thoroughly inspired for aggressive work.

"CURED BY LIGHTNING."

CURED BY LIGHTNING.

CINCINNATI, O., AUG. 25.—Edward Burge, a railroad man, has for a number of years been suffering with a paralyzed arm. When the storm came on Saturday evening he was out in his yard, and was about to pull up a bucket of water when lightning struck his arm. He attempted to move it, and to his great delight he discovered that the stroke of lightning had made his arm alive again.

NOW, WHY IS IT

That, after five thousand years of study and practice, physicians are still unable to cure each common ailments as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver and Kidney troubles?

Common sense convinces one that something must be wrong. Other branches of science, surgery, dentistry, etc., have achieved wonderful results, while medicine still remains to a great extent an experiment. Thinking people are exclaiming: Why all these injurious drugs? Why all these large bills and yet no cure? Surely the doctor ought to relieve me after his five thousand years of profound study. Can it be he is still groping in the dark? Let us take an illustration: Here is an ordinary headache, known to the doctor since Adam's time, and yet what physician in Europe or America can cure it?

Now if a physician, after all the knowledge his profession has acquired in five thousand years, cannot cure a simple headache, how can he undertake to cure the more serious disorders which affect the human family?

Recently the Press was filled with reports of the meetings of the New York County Medical Societies. They debated this:—In the case of a dying man, can one school cooperate with the other school to save the man's life? The decision was "no." Let the man die first, before either would yield. One venerable doctor with a very rich practice arose and denounced Allopathy as murder. An opponent equally famed, standing amongst the highest in his profession, got up and gravely assured the assembly that Homeopathy was the greatest humbug of the age.

Well, after this "showing up" of medicine, as reported in the papers, what are we poor ignorant sufferers to think?

In September, 1878, all London was astonished by a new departure in medicine,—a beautiful application of Electro-Magnetic force, which positively cured headache, neuralgia, etc., in two to five minutes (we refer to Dr. Scott's Pure Bristle Electric Hair Brush). The people wondered, the doctors were dumbfounded, while the practical inventor was hailed as a Public Benefactor.

We could fill pages with illustrations of the gross errors of medicine, and thinking people are desiring and awaiting a new departure in therapeutics.

One is now at hand, and it threatens before long to revolutionize the old experimental schools. It has been conclusively demonstrated in the hospitals of London, as well as in large private practice, that most remarkable cures attend the application of Electro-Magnetism to diseased parts of the body. Persons thought to be dead have been restored, and diseases heretofore baffling the best medical skill have yielded to a remedy which is believed to be the "Vital Spark" itself.

It acts immediately upon the blood, nerves and tissues, producing more benefit in a few hours than the doctor has given in weeks or months.

It has been well said, "electricity is the steam in the human engine which keeps it going and regulates its movements. It is the 'Vital Spark,' life itself, pervading all nature with power to kill or to cure."

DR. SCOTT'S ELECTRIC BELT. DR. SCOTT'S ELECTRIC CORSETS.

(Every mail brings similar letters.)

HOLLIS CENTER, MAINE, Aug. 29. I suffered severely from back trouble for years, and found no relief till I wore Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets. They cured me, and I would not be without them. MRS. H. D. BENSON.

NILES, MICH., Jan. 5th, 1885. Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets have cured me of acute dyspepsia, from which I had suffered for eight years. His Electric Hair Brush cures my headache every time. MRS. WM. H. PEAK.

PEORIA, ILL. I suffered from Kidney, Liver, and nervous troubles for twelve years. Dr. Scott's Electric Belt entirely cured me, after all other remedies had failed. His Electric Hair Brush has cured my neuralgia. C. W. HORNISH.

NEWARK, N. Y., June 1. Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets have entirely cured me of muscular rheumatism. It has also cured a severe case of headache and female trouble of eighteen years' standing. MRS. L. C. SPENCER.

BALTIMORE, MD. Intense nervous debility has been my trouble for years. Physicians and their medicines did not help me. I finally derived great relief from Dr. Scott's Electric Belt. L. H. MILLER.

Probably never, since the invention of Corsets, has so large a demand been created as now exists for Dr. Scott's Electric Corsets and Belts. They are worn daily in over eight thousand families in the city of New York alone.

If you have any pain, ache, or ill-feeling from any cause, if you seem "pretty well," yet lack energy and do not feel "up to the mark," if you suffer from disease, we beg of you at once to try these remarkable curatives. They cannot and do not injure like medicine. Always doing good, never harm. There is no shock or sensation felt in wearing them. There is no waiting a long time for results; Electric-magnetism acts quickly,—generally the first week, more frequently the first day, and often even during the first hour they are worn their wonderful curative powers are felt.

The celebrated Dr. W. A. HAMMOND, of New York, formerly Surgeon-General of the U. S. Army, lately lectured upon this subject, and advised all medical men to make trial of these agencies, describing at the same time most remarkable cures he had made, even in cases which would seem hopeless.

The Corsets do not differ in appearance from those usually worn, as we substitute our flat steel magnetods in place of the ordinary corset-steels. They are all equally charged, differing only in quality and design. They are elegent in shape and finish, made after the best French pattern, and warranted satisfactory in every respect. Those who have tried them say they will wear no others. Most of the above applies equally well to the Electric Belt for gents or ladies.

The prices are as follows: $1.00, $1.50, $2.00, and $3.00 for the Corsets, and $5.00 each for the Belts. We make these in drab and white only. They are sent out in a handsome box, accompanied by a silver-plated compass, by which the Electro-magnetic influence can be tested. AGENTS WANTED, LIBERAL TERMS. [Mention this paper.]

A man went into the country for a walk. He carried his overcoat on his arm, but finding it burdensome, hung it on a fence. Taking a card from his pocket, he wrote: "Do not touch this coat; infected with small-pox." He came back two hours later and found the card, upon which was written, underneath his warning: "Thanks for the coat; I've had the small-pox."

The druggist who hesitate now is lost for the winter. He should sling together some sweet oil and liquorice and bring out his cough syrup at once. Dr. B B's Cough Syrup does not pay him enough profit.

O how happy are they,
Who their Saviour obey,
And have laid up their treasures above!
Tongue can never express
The sweet comfort and peace

Jesus all the day long
Was my joy and my song;
O that all his salvation might see!
"He hath loved me," I cried,
"He has suffered and died,
To redeem even rebels like me."

2. What is said of Hezekiah? "He did that which was right."

3. What else is said concerning him? "The Lord was with him."

4. By whom was Samaria taken? By the King of Assyria.

5. What did the King of Assyria do when he had taken Samaria? Carried away Israel into Assyria.

EXPLANATIONS.

That which was right—Repudiating idol-worship. David his father—It was the Hebrew custom to refer to distinguished ancestry. Hezekiah was the son of Ahaz, but he was in David's line. Removed the high places. Destroyed the heathen altars on the hills. Cut down the groves—Thus destroying them as the secret resorts of idolaters. The brazen serpent—This had been carefully preserved as a memorial of God's goodness in the wilderness, but latterly it had been used as an idol; hence the king destroyed it. Called it Nehushtan—That is, a piece of brass—giving it this contemptuous name to signify that it was not a proper object of worship. None like him—None among the kings of Judah so righteous. Clave—Adhered. Rebelled against the king—Threw off the yoke of Assyria. Tower of the watchmen—posts of sentry. Fenced city—Strongly fortified. Because they obeyed not—Disobedience was the cause of their captivity.

Doctrinal suggestion—The reward of righteousness.

Obituary.

Bro. Henry Baker, Oct. 29, 1885, of typhoid pneumonia, at his home in Jeffersonville, Indiana. He was a most worthy and estimable citizen, an indulgent father, a kind husband and exemplary Christian. A wife and four children remain to weep for him. We know and loved him well.

Rev. Daniel James of the Mississippi Methodist Episcopal Conference, died at State Line, Miss., Sept. 6, 1885, in the 83d year of his age. His health had been feeble for the past six months, and his death was expected at any time. He was perfectly composed, and talked of the end to his daughter in a very feeling and pathetic manner. It was agreed between us that I should attend his funeral and he desired to be buried at Waynesboro. For the present he is resting in the cemetery at this place.

REV. P. BLUE, Pastor.

Geo. Edwards died in Lagrange, Texas, Sept. 20, 1885, after an illness of eight months duration. The night before his death he had all his family to retire and rest, for he would "soon be at home." He leaves a wife, two children and many friends to mourn his loss.

REV. W. H. MOSBY, Pastor.

Sister Louisa Phenix, late of New Orleans, and a member of the African M. E. Church, of that city, eldest sister of Sisters Lotta Phenix and Ellen Jones, prominent members of our Church here. The dear sister was perfectly blind, but she had an eye of faith in Christ. She left here shortly after the surrender, and was brought back a few months ago. She passed away Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, October 21, 1885, aged about 68 years. She leaves a host of friends to mourn her loss. H. J. WRIGHT.

A VERY NARROW ESCAPE.—Yes, I had a very narrow escape. I was attacked with a violent cold, and alarming symptoms of consumption. One bottle of Dr. Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar entirely cured me. John H. Bewley, Smyrna, Del. Use Dr. Davis's Liver Pills.

Schools and Colleges.

The New Orleans University has about 130 pupils, and more coming. Since Miss Ritchie's death no one has been supplied in her place, and the present force is greatly pressed. Prof. Hoyt has been in the South constantly since he came down a year since, and has kept his health perfectly. He is now hard and successfully at work. A number of gentlemen are engaged for a series of lectures which promise considerable interest. Drs. Albert, Gillett, Bishop Mallalieu, Dr. C. H. Thompson, with others, are down on the list.

Prof. G. H. Hill, of Tougaloo University, has lately been teaching at Durant, Miss. He had 180 pupils crowded into a house which is much too small for the purpose, and it is to be hoped that the school authorities will provide the needful remedy, that is, a larger building. The school was well taught, and closed with a very satisfactory examination and exhibition.

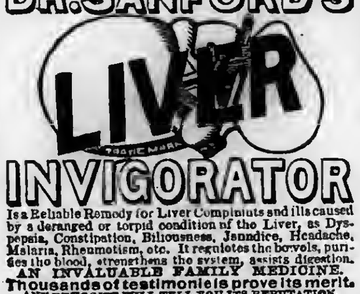
Kitchen Economy.

Interesting Tests Made by the Government Chemist.

Dr. Edward G. Love, the Analytical Chemist for the U. S. Government, has made some interesting experiments as to the comparative value of baking powders. Dr. Love's tests were made to determine what brands are the most economical to use, and as their capacity lies in their leavening power, tests were directed solely to ascertain the available gas of each powder. Dr. Love's report gives the following:

Name of the Baking Powder	Strength: Cubic Inches Gas per each oz of Powder
Royal (absolutely pure)	127 4
Pearce (alum powder)	125 2
Rumford's, phosphate, fresh	122 5
Rumford's, phosphate, old	32 7
Hanford's None Such, fresh	121 6
Rumford's None Such, old	84 35
Redhead's	117 0
Charm, alumn powder	116 9
Amazon, alum powder	111 9
Cleveland's, short weight	110 8
Sea Foam	107 9
Czar	106 8
Dr. Price's	102 6
Snow Flake, Groff's, St. Pan	101 88
Lewis's Condensed	98 2
Congress yeast	97 5
C E Andrews & Co's, contains alum	78 17
Hooker's	92 5
Gillies	81 4
Bulk	80 5

"In this report, the Government Chemist says: "I regard all alum powders as very unwholesome. Phosphate and Tartaric Acid powders liberate their gas too freely in process of baking or under varying climatic changes suffer deterioration."



Dr. H A Mott, the former government chemist, after a careful and elaborate examination of the various Baking Powders of commerce, reports to the government in favor of the Royal Brand.

Wonderful Healing Properties of

DARBYS PROPHYLACTIC FLUID

HEALING, CLEANSING, DISINFECTING. IN CASE -OF- Accidents.

For Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, etc., it is invaluable and gives instant and permanent relief. It immediately allays pain. Nothing is necessary but to apply it directly to the parts affected. It will keep down Inflammation, Gangrene or Proud Flesh, and in a short time will heal without applying anything else. This was fully proved in the military hospitals during the late war. It has performed astonishing cures both in the case of men and animals afflicted with chronic sores. It cleanses and heals obstinate Ulcers, Boils, Carbuncles, Erysipelas and running sores of every kind. It destroys the disagreeable effluvia, arising from Cancers, Abscesses, Ulcers and every kind of purulent discharge.

This is a good day to divide your bounty with the heathen, by contributing as you are able toward the million.

The Baltimore Conference Standard, enlarged and improved, with our genial friend A. R. Sheckley as editor, is at hand. We congratulate you.

Are all your near neighbors as happy as you are, or could by any little act of kindness, or word of sympathy increase their joy? Look into this.

All the anniversaries of the Church, so far held this year, were harmonious, full of enthusiasm and hope; and exhibited an increase over last year's receipts. This is a cause for devout thanksgiving.

Annual Church Extension Meeting.

The General Committee of Church Extension, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, held its annual meeting in Philadelphia, beginning November 12th, at 2 o'clock p. m, and continuing through the remainder of the week. Four anniversary meetings were held. In Asbury, Wharton Street, Tabernacle, and Mt. Zion churches on Thursday evening, Nov. 12th, at which addresses were delivered by the Bishops and others from abroad. A full report from the Board to the General Committee was submitted by the corresponding secretary, which included detailed report from the treasurer, for the year closing Oct. 31st, and in the anniversary meetings held in the evening, a consolidated statement of the report was read, as follows:

With accounts disbursed we have aided churches as follows:

By donations, with loans.....275
By loans, without donations, (including 1 college and 6 parsonage properties)..... 85
By both donations and loans...134

A comparison with last year shows:

Of receipts on General Account a decrease of..$14,120.63
Of receipts on Loans Fund Account, an increase of..... 6 413 47

And so a net decrease of receipts of..... $7,707.16
Of churches aided, an increase of..... 11

Continuing the policy of paying grants promised, only on condition that the people immediately interested shall first do what they can for themselves, and make the completion of the enterprises reasonably certain, we close the year with grants already made, on the conditions indicated, to 215 churches for

Donations of.....$33,575
And Loans of..... 42,700

$76,275

Besides these, we have applications on file not yet considered, from 41 churches, asking

Donations of.....$10,600
And Loans of..... 20,550

$31,150

Requiring in all.....$107,425

or the entire balance in hand of $49,781.38, and in addition thereto, $57,643.62, to give the amount required for donations and loans, as above.

And this, too, without provisions for new applications, which are coming in at the average rate of "two a day," or nearly sixty per month.

A comparison of this items entering into the Treasurer's report last year and this, shows:

Conference collections
Last year.....$108,759 60
" " this year.. 91,542 26

Revealing a decrease in this item alone of.... $17,217 34

Or $3,000.71 more than the entire decrease of our receipts on General Account, and more than double the amount of our net decrease. This decline in our Conference collections is especially to be deprecated, inasmuch as it involves the question of the general co-operation of our preachers and people.

The causes of it are easily discerned. The ill-advised rumor that passed through the last General Conference, and obtained currency throughout the Church, that "The Board of Church Extension had more money than it knew what to do with;' and in connection therewith, the transfer of our efficient field Secretary to the service of the Missionary Society, and the subsequent call for "A Million for missions," fully account for it. The only wonder is that it has not been greater.

The fact now before us abundantly show how unfounded was the rumor, so let us hope that with these facts generally known, our collections from Confeasences will be largely increased.

Notwithstanding this loss, we are still in advance of amounts received in any one year prior to 1883. We should have united effort by all our preachers and people to secure at least a quarter of a million for Church Extension. Symmetrical development is the law of healthful life, and while the Church needs and should immediately have a million a year for missions, it equally needs large increase for the support of every other department of its work. Thus "the whole body fitly joined together and compacted by that which every joint supplieth according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in love."

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES LONG, Treasurer.
A. J. KYNETT, Cor. Sec'y.

African Trade Movemment.

For sometme there has been a friendliness and interest developing itself among some of the thoughtful citizens of African descent in this city with regard to Africa. This interest found expression in a public meeting, on the 11th, inst., in the Sixth street Methodist Episcopal Church, where the condition and prospects of the dark continent were presented as an inviting field for Missionary operations and commercial advantages. There were seated upon the platform Mr. J. W. Pierce, the moving spirit in the affair, Rev. Morris Dyer, Rev. A. E. P. Albert, Rev. M. C. B. Mason, Judge W. T. Posey and Thomas J. Boswell.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. M. C. B. Mason, of the M. E. Church, who said: We pray Thee that not only may the thoughts which we shall utter move us while here, but that we may go out from this meeting devoted to the great work for the evangelization of Africa, and instituting and inaugurating a commerce between this city and that dark and benighted land.

Mr. J. W. Pierce presided, and on taking the chair said: We have assembled here to present to you to-night an important matter—a matter that will not only benefit this port; but it will benefit every colored man on the American Continent. We are here to-night to present to you the great continent of Africa, which at this time is attracting the attention of the civilized world. There is no important power in Europe to day that has nas not its explorers there, seeking to extend its trade with that rich and fertile land. We have special claims on the continent of Africa which no reasonable man would deny. We propose with your indorsement to present a petition to congress, asking for mail communication to the West coast of Africa. I believe that our people as well all in the Gulf States are heartily interested in this matter.

Mr. Pierce then in a forcible manner presented reasons and arguments for steam facilities and commercial enterprise between this port and the coast of Africa, which seemed to produce a favorable impression. Col. W. M. Burwell was introduced in a very flattering manner by the president. In his opening remarks he complimented the proposed movement; and then in a powerful and exhaustive argument, fortified with facts and statistics, demonstrated that the people of color are a necessity in the Gulf States; that the full development of these States depend upon the co-operation of the people of African decent, and that the prosperity of the whites of the South is involved in the success of the blacks.

A number of letters from prominent statesmen and merchants indorsing the movement were read, among whom are Hon. John T. Morgan, of Alabama, Senators Hale and Frye of Maine, Congressman Bontelle of Maine, Hon. S. J. Randall and Judge Wm. D. Kelly of Pennsylvania, Hon. H. W. Blair of New Hampshire, Hon. Wm. M. Evarts of New York, Joseph M. Brown, President of the Chamber of Commerce of New York and E. K. Converse of New Orleans.

An African association with good men and a business basis has been formed, a charter will be secured, stock issued, and a determined effort made to carry this movement on to final success.

At a meeting of the Colored Auxiliary Association, held after the funeral, the following resolutions, introduced by Mr. Louis A. Martinet, were adopted:

Whereas, the executive committee have learned with sorrow that an all-wise Providence has seen fit to remove from our midst the Hon. J. B. Gaudet; and,

Whereas, in his death the members of this committee have lost a faithful co-worker and a true and warm personal friend, and the community at large a valuable member;

Letters from the Pastors

W. Medlock of Mexia, Texas, writes: "The Groesbeck circuit and Mexia Mission came together in a camp meeting on the 29th of July, and our presiding elder met in our meeting. Sunday, Aug. 9 he preached a wonderful sermon for us which will be long remembered. He labored thus until my quarterly conference, on the 15th and 16th, and then we went to the camp ground, where our presiding elder preached a fine sermon on baptism; he was with us from the 9th to the 20th. We have the best elder we have ever had, and we all love him. Collection for elder $16.15. The result of our camp meeting was 41 converts, 15 of whom joined the Mexia work and the others the Groesbeck work. All joined the M. E. Church. My work is in a growing condition."

Rev. A. Lemons, of Pickens, Miss., writes: "Our third quarterly conference passed off quietly, and the reports showed the circuit to be in a prosperous condition. Dr. Revels gave the brethren a good talk in reference to the paper and I anticipate an increase in subscriptions. Here is a few names, and more to follow."

Rev. Wm. Bartley, of Midway, Texas, writes: "Our fourth quarterly conference was held Sept. 6-7; we had a pleasant time; Elder Smith held the quarter; the brethren of the conference were present with their reports. On Sunday the elder preached a pleasant sermon, after which he administered the Lord's Supper to 45. Wm. Allen preached on Sunday night, after which the doors of the church were open and two received into the church. Collection for the elder $10. We are thankful to say that the Lord has blessed us this year on Madison circuit. We have added to the church this year 28, and paid our church out of debt."

H. Dunlap, of Atoka, Tenn., writes: "My last collection at each one of my churches before our annual conference was, at Pleasant Grove, $63; at Atoka, $23; at Friendship, $22; total, $100."

Peter Dent, of Morgantown, Ky., writes: "Have just closed my revival at Indian Camp; we had 5 conversions, and 8 during the year. 11 additions to the church. Spiritually this work is on gaining ground. We have raised our benevolent money on this circuit. We preach in a school house at Morgantown, in a log house that was built by a debating society, and can only hold service at night when it is not raining or the wind is not blowing so hard as to put out our lights. At this point I have purchased a piece of ground, paid for it, and have the deed for the same, and we hope to commence building a frame church 24x36. We are trying to get the Bishop's money by the fourth quarter. It seems like the young people are very anxious for a new church here. I had a committee of four young ladies; they brought in their books last Monday morning, Miss Emma Smith had $11 25; Miss Mary E. Dent, $10.21; Miss Sallie Carson, $6.30; Miss Mary Kurkendall, $20 5. These young ladies worked faithfully, and they deserve great praise."

Rev. C. Miller, Central Alabama Conference, Shiloh circuit, writes: "We have had a revival here for about four weeks and the Lord has blessed us. There were about 20 souls converted to Christ, and the altar was crowded with mourners. Our beloved presiding elder, E. B. McCauley, was with us on the 20th and 21st, and preached three sermons which will long be remembered in this community. We are doing all we can to raise our missionary money."

Rev. W. H. Mosby, LaGrange circuit, West Texas Conference, writes: "Our fourth quarterly conference was held at Sandy Point, our beloved presiding elder, P. H. Cunningham in the chair. All the members were not present. We have 10 class leaders on this circuit; 4 classes reported: Class No. 1, 20 members, $5; No. 6, 20 members, $4.85; No. 7, 14 members, $1.25; No. 8, 15 members, $4.85. The stewards reports showed that they had paid the pastor $23.75 this quarter. On Sunday, at 11 o'clock a. m., the elder preached a grand sermon, and at 3 o'clock he preached again, from Eph. 2, at the close of which the sacrament was administered to 40; 2 children were baptized; 2 joined the church in the day and one at night. Collection for the elder $12.80."

J. W. Jackson, of Carlisle, Ark., writes: "Our wealthy members are Wm. Gardner, who owns 80 acres of land, two horses and mules, two milch cows, and 25 hogs; Mrs. Pauline Gardner, 80 acres of land, one cow; Mrs. Mary Thompson, 2 acres and 1 cow; Wesley Logan, 40 acres and one horse; J. J. Hewlitt, 12 lots, 2 houses and 2 mules; Mrs. Alice V. Jackson, 160 acres, 12 hogs, 1 lot and house. Of the congregation Mr. I. S. Rigney, 40 acres of land, 1 horse, 100 head of hogs; Wm. Austin, 320 acres, 1 horse, 1 mule, 13 head of cattle, 125 head of hogs; Capt. I. S. Rayford, 80 acres, 4 lots and the only first-class boot and shoe shop in town; Capt. Rayford is patronized by the best citizens, both white and black. Bro. George Berry, who is a member of our church and also district steward, is the monied man of our church, he made us happy last Saturday by presenting us with a set of perforated dining chairs."

Rev. Mack Henson, San Antonio, Texas, writes: "We have been sowing in darkness and in the light, oft times in tears. What shall the harvest be? I am unable to give a satisfactory answer. However, one thing is most certain—eternity will reveal the true and final result. With this fact steadily before me, I have endeavored to do my whole duty. In my retrospective sweep it appears that my defeats outnumber my victories, but I have the good conscience of having done what I could for the advancement of the Redeemer's kingdom and humanity. If I could forbear to write a few days longer I would be able to give financial statistics, but as our plans have not reached the culminating point I must see you later. The dengue fever, while not contagious but atmospheric, has reached nearly every family in my congregation and has had no good effect upon our financial plans. However, we are fighting on bravely, and intend so to do to the bitter end. Our membership, including converted probationers, numbers 223, notwithstanding the falling away of some. With this force it seems as though we could accomplish anything reasonable for so many Methodists to under circumstances. Among many things to be understood is the systematic plan of giving. The varying circumstances and condition of our people make it extremely difficult to carry out well concerted plans prescribed. However, too much precious time has been wasted in excuses. The idea with many of our people is to give, not according to ability, but according to feeling, and that is too often bad, otherwise it is sporadic. The 25 cent system has served its day, but many have not found it out yet; it has become a custom which takes precedence over our Disciplinary rule. Whoever inaugurated that system inflicted a serious blow to our plans, which guages the giving according to one's ability, which rule works best at all times, in all climes and among all people who possess the love and good grace to adjust their sympathies to the situation. Many revolt against the idea of being "taxed," as they say. It is no easy job to explain this matter where it has become incorporated into the souls of some people. If it was true that the Methodist people were "taxed" anywhere in her world-wide field, her communicants would be the best represented of any people to be found in Christendom, which, according to our idea upon that line removes at once the assumed cause for revolt. Our Disciplinary rule is simple and well understood by many, but some feign to be ignorant to get a chance to impose upon the church, and to violate with impunity their solemn vow made on their reception into full membership. To reform on this line somebody will have to sacrifice the friendship of some among us, as well as go short of a few stingy dimes that a dangerous friendship might master. Methodist people must maintain pure religion and give from pure motives, otherwise the curse and not the blessing of God will follow all such. Our last grand rally will be on the 22d of this month, at which time we trust that we shall succeed in raising $224 of borrowed money from the Church Extension Society, and $45 for late improvements, etc. There is a move to give a grand broom drill to make up $50.95 of back salary for the pastor of St. Paul's M. E. Church. You see that the end stimulates the desperate action. If death is eternal salvation, then let death come quickly. Mr. Editor, some people leave the Methodist Episcopal Church for the same reason that they cease to be subscribers and pay for the SOUTHWESTERN, and that is this: they never read or study it, therefore they soon tire out and cease."

From the Districts.

L. P. CUSHMAN.

Franklinton and Shady Grove circuit are both in Washington parish, and include a territory about sixty miles long, and forty broad, giving ample room for Bros. Gray and Connerly to work without encroaching upon each other's territory. On the Franklinton circuit Bro. Gray is doing a good work. He has three Sunday-schools with over 100 scholars enrolled; has received into full membership over 30; and will be able to report at conference a well organized circuit of over 50 members; three Sunday-schools and two or three good churches. No easy going man whose chief strength is in his digestive organs, need apply for this appointment.

We were kindly entertained by Hon. Mr. Brown, the high sheriff of Washington parish, and Major Thomas Bickham, a member of the M. E. Church, South.

Shady Grove is coming up out of the wilderness. Bro. Courtney is working hard. He does not belong to that lazy class, who think it heavenly in a minister to do as little as possible. He will be able to report at the next conference an increase in the membership; in the Sunday-school, and four churches.

The third quarterly meeting was a season of rejoicing with all of our people. Over thirty partook of the sacrament of the Lord's supper.

In nearly all of our churches we find about three classes who call themselves Christians: man made, self made, and God made. Two or three of the first or second class on the Shady Grove work have left the Methodist Episcopal Church, and gone over to the church that flourishes best alongside the water courses. "They went out from us because they were not of us." Peace go with them. Mere water logs are not of much use in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

These outer edge circuits some one must needs travel. The men sent to them are generally far off by themselves and alone, they have to contend with the many hard difficulties and sore trials, incidental to their fields of labor. Theirs is a life of itinerant seclusion.

Nowhere are the visits of the presiding elder more highly appropriate than to these outer edge brethren.

Soon after Bro. Gayden entered upon his work at Thomson's Chapel, he learned there was a debt of $379 upon the church, due August 26th; the person holding the claim demanding his pay, or the church. The people in their poverty did the best they could, but were only able to raise $31 25; this was a long distance from $379, the amount due, and it was feared that the church must go. The Lord came as a helper, and a friend advanced the money, took the claim and gave the people time to raise the debt. Help came from a number of sources; friends in the North sent $79 50; and brethren and churches in New Orleans aided as follows. A. E. P. Albert, D. D., $2; Clinton Street Church $1.10; Mt. Zion, $2.50; Haven Chapel, $3; Union Chapel, $10. The trustees have collected and paid over $105; in all there has been paid on the debt up to date $193.10. The Sunday school has more than doubled, and the regular congregations are good. But the Divine power is seldom manifest in the salvation of souls. This is not because the arm of the Lord is shortened so that He cannot save, it is not because there is not power with the most High. No better thing could come to this church than a real baptism of the Holy Ghost. The church needs it, and the parishionars around need it. Would God, that the windows of heaven might be opened and the "tongues of fire, light on us all."

Concerning Sunday-school Literature.

The Indiana district, Lexington Conference, during its last session in Terra Haute, Indiana, took the following action touching Sunday school literature:

Whereas, we have been much surprised and greatly displeased to find in the printed minutes of our conference, the advertisement of a private publishing house, in active antagonistic competition with our own Book Concern in the circulation of Sunday-school literature, among our own Sunday-schools, therefore,

Resolved, That it is the sense of this district conference, that the secretary of the Lexington Annual Conference did more than to merely transcend the rules of courtesy by publishing an advertisement for the publishing house of Mr. David Cook, of Chicago, Ill., without notice to or the consent of said conference, and in opposition to the spirit of resolutions passed by the same at its last meeting,

Resolved, That it is our duty as members and pastors to disregard said advertisement and in accordance with the letter and spirit of our own resolutions printed in the same minutes, to continue our earnest endeavors to circulate our own, and to supplant, remove and prevent the introduction, and use of any other than Methodist Episcopal literature in our Sabbath-schools. Signed.

The following is a report of the Committee on Singing, adopted by the district conference held at Scottsboro, Ala., Aug. 13, 1885, and requested that the secretary send a copy of the resolutions to the SOUTHWESTERN for publication:

Whereas, There is much improvement needed among our people in regard to singing. We recommend that each pastor get our hymn book and use it in opening and closing services; and thus teach the congregation to sing our hymns.

Resolved, That this conference condemn the singing of the many meaningless ditties practiced by our people, and that our pastors are requested to forbid the singing of them, as they are not worshipful and do not tend to the glory of God.

Resolved, That our preachers are requested to impress upon their congregations the superior advantages of using our hymns as printed in our Hymnals, and the singing of them as far as possible.

Resolved, That singing without observing the meter be discouraged and the people be incited to good and correct singing.

Letters From the Laity.

Mr. R. Noel, of Brenham Texas, writes: I am looking out for my people who have no homes in the South. We have public education, have several million acres of land set apart for perpetual maintainance of her free school system, and can we the Negro born stand still waiting for homes to be given to us? No, we must have our many organized colonies. Now is the time to form colonies to enable friends and relations to secure large bodies of land together so they may settle near each other, maintain good schools and churches with other social advantages. We are here in the South and without homes, our children must have homes, we can buy homes and let us do so.

Miss Leona Betts, of Galway, Tenn., writes: The Lord and the Bishops and the conference has seen fit to send us Brother J. W. Hall, and he was with us the 3d of Nov., and he preached a good sermon, he preached from Isaiah the 1st chapter, 4th verse; "Come now, and let us reason together saith the Lord, though your sins be scarlet they shall be as white as snow." Brethren pray for us that we may have a good time, and pray that this year may be a year of jubilee."

Miss Cornelia Hayman of Pleasant Plains Church, New Orleans, writes: "On last Sunday the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to quite a large number of communicants. The spirit of the Lord was manifested, and we were wonderfully blessed. Rev. W. P. Forest preached a glorious sermon, text 14 chapter St. Mark, 25th verse; which seemed to cheer the fainting spirits and caused us to go on with renewed vigor, seeking the rest that remaineth for the people of God. Backsliders were reclaimed, it is said that such a time has not been witnessed for several years. Everything is moving on nicely and the spirit of harmony prevails. On the first Sunday after the present pastor appointment from the conference here we found only 4 children in Sabbath-school, and now the number enrolled is 75."

Rev. H. W. Woodfolk of Green Hill, Miss., writes: This circuit has been in a lean condition for 3 years, and we have failed to have a pastor, but this year the Lord opened the eyes of the presiding elder and sent us a good beloved pastor L. W. Washington, Dr. H. R. Revels on account of his health failed to hold the second quarterly conference and pastor held it. Collection $12.50. On September 26 and 27 on account of the weather the Doctor failed to hold the third quarter and the pastor filled the chair. Collections $12.50, the conference was held at Tanglewood Church and the following sisters of the church Mrs. Nancy Crayton, Mrs. Sarah Williams and Mrs. Hannah Jackson, set the table and waited on the brothers. Paid pastor $90; gave the Lord's Supper to 100.

The following are comments on the SOUTHWESTERN by Bennett H. Forrest: "The SOUTHWESTERN published in New Orleans, La., in the interest of the Methodist Episcopal Church is truly a grand paper and has a large circulation, principally in the Southern States. It has news from different parts of the country, also "General Church News;" both ministers and laity are reported in its issues, and speak out for the truth firmly. Rev. Dr. M. W. Taylor is editor. I don't believe a better selection could be made by the General Conference. He is an honor to his race and church, and deserves much praise and merit in his editorials, in its weekly issues. God grant that every effort that is sent forth may result in much good and scores be added to its circulation, also too much praise can not be said of E. Bentley, who is rendering double and timely assistance to that paper, the grand old SOUTHWESTERN."

A. A. Adair, Livingston, Texas, writes: "I have just closed a series of protracted meetings, held at Livingston, Moscow and Kickapoo, met with grand success. Livingston 32 additions to the church; Moscow 26, and Kickapoo, 12. The Lord has poured His spirit out upon us here for which we are all very thankful. When I first commenced work here I found no records of the church at either of the above named places. There was a book here but only 16 names registered on it. I had to call the church together and find out who and how many members we had, commencing from Isaac Smith's time. After so doing I made out the record very well. The members are badly scattered over the country, some in Louisiana, some in the Western part of this State. The new additions make a very good membership here. When I first came to the work every thing was very dark, and there was a great deal of wickedness being carried on. The first three weeks I had to saw oord wood for a living, and had to contend with numerous unpleasant things. Now the church has revived, and the people's mind is brightening and they put their trust in God. We have made but little progress toward improving church property, but hope to this fall. Very little has been collected for missionary purposes. Some of the people have been suffering for the necessaries of life, on account of failures in crops last year, but this year the prospects are fine and I expect to accomplish much good."

Mr. Henry B. Pemberton, of Marshall, Texas, writes: "Rev. R. H. Harbert has been pastor here for two years, and has spared no effort in laboring night and day for the good of his church and people. He not only preaches and teaches the people on the Sabbath, but their children on week days. Bless the Lord for such a man. His success is particularly shown by the affection with which the young people regard him. In the Sabbath-school and the public school he has ever been active in winning souls for Christ, and in elevating both young and old. Through his energy a new organ has been purchased recently by the Sunday-school, and the singing greatly improved. The official brethren are working to raise all his salary before conference. I would not forget to speak of his wife; Mrs. Harbert is a fine Christian woman, always making the parsonage a pleasant place for intelligent and social meetings. Our pastor has recently organized a Young People's Prayer Meeting, which meets at 11 o'clock, just after Sabbath-school. We have a choir, of which Mr. J. C. Boisseau is organist; Mr. S. S. Reid, Secretary. These meetings are proving a success in strengthening the young converts and drawing them on. The Sunday-school is progressing rapidly and the church is growing in grace and in the knowledge of our God."

Rev. H. Dupre, of Auburn, Ky., writes: "Our second quarterly meeting was held on the 12th inst. We have just closed a two weeks meeting. God blessed our labors with 10 conversions and 14 accessions; baptized 9. My work is alive."

It Should be Generally Known that the multitude of diseases of a scrofulous nature generally proceed from a torpid condition of the liver. The blood becomes impure because the liver does not act properly and work off the poison from the system, and the certain results are blotches, pimples, eruptions, swellings, tumors, ulcers and kindred affections, or settling upon the lungs and poisoning their delicate tissues, until ulceration, breaking down, and consumption is established. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" will, by acting upon the liver and purifying the blood, cure all these diseases.

Wise Words Wisely Spoken

At the late W. H. M. Society's anniversary Drs. A. G. Haygood, J. M. King and J. H. Vincent delivered addresses of which brief extracts are given below.

That of Dr. Vincent entirely expresses our conviction, touching the application of charity. A child fed on milk will very likely learn to want it and always expect it, but it is better for the child to wean it. They may be sincere but are not the most useful friends of the Negro who persist in postponing the weaning time all the while calling for more milk. There is no surer way to perpetuate the contempt into which slavery and caste has brought the Negro than to continually present him as an object of charity. The Negroes make the wealth of the country by labor, they need wise counsel, helpful advice, friendly legislation, that is, legislation which shall not discriminate against them, and with this and true religion, if let alone, they will solve the problem. They need money but they will only learn its use by earning it themselves.

THE SPEACHES.

Dr. King.—There are two methods of helpfulness in this department of organized and agressive work for God and womanhood. Consecrated substance and consecrated personal effort.

Dr. Haygood.—He spoke especially of the colored people in the South—their condition, needs, and the methods of doing them good. He spoke strongly in defence of religious life. Notwithstanding the crudity of their theology and the extravagance of their emotions, "conversions" among them are, for the greater part, genuine. Their morals are very much better than ever before, and steadily improving.

Speaking of the case of the Negro at school he said this chapter in his history during the last 20 years was marvelous—there is nothing like it. One million colored children are now at school, and more than one million colored people can read. He gave some remarkable figures concerning the educational work among them.

As to their home life, he said there is a steady improvement. He spoke at length of the increasing virtue, taste, and noble ambition on the part of colored maidens and mothers, and praised highly the peculiar methods of the Woman's Home Missionary Society.

Dr. Vincent—1. We need to employ the domestic power—good homes in which children are taught obedience, in which the rights of servants are respected, in which such an atmosphere prevails the grocery boys and others who come even to the back-door and deal with the family fancy that the angels of harmony and love must live in that house. We need to help other homes; to build up homes among the lowest classes, and to promote in them cleanliness, care of childhood, wisdom and patience. Therefore, I believe in the "Woman's Home Missionary Society."

2. We need to employ the social power—not patronizing the poor, not leaving tracts at front doors; not calling with professional seriousness and probing the family with conventional philanthropic catechism. We need informal, neighborly, sympathetic visitation; mothers going to see mothers to talk about and pray for "our boys;" young ladies going to help young girls by winning confidence and sympathy, and going also to teach mothers at home that the labors of the public school might be supplemented as in good, high toned, Christian families they are supplemented. We need hand-grasp, heart-throb, mutual sympathy. [illegible] in the "Women's Home Missionary Society."

3. We need to employ the power [illegible] in honest occupation. People [illegible] work, not money. Not [illegible] friend. The friendship [illegible] enough to find work [illegible] people to do. Our homes can make more work for the needy people than they do. Our villages and cities can make more work than they do. There is no end to the devices which may be adopted to help people who want to help themselves. Therefore, knowing as I do, the spirit and aims of the noble society I give these hurried, but heartfelt words, in its behalf. [The italics are ours.—ED.]

A Sunday-School Convention.

The Sunday-school Convention, called to meet at Jefferson, was opened Wednesday night, with a sermon by Rev. H. Webb, presiding elder, text, Exodus 2-9: followed by Rev. R. H. Harbert.

[Two pages of copy, giving the proceedings of first day's session, were misplaced by our printer, hence we can not give report in full.]

Convention adjourned to meet at 9 p. m. The presiding elder appointed W. Wesley director of the meeting at night. Prayer by Bro. Grant; song 229; adjournment.

Night Session.—W. Wesley presiding. Devotion by DeWitt Frierson; song 193, by choir. Essay on Sunday-schools as a missionary medium, by Miss Ester Green, which was well prepared and read. Sunday-school and Tract Society, by H. Webb, with discussions, which was very interesting. Collection then being taken to the amount of $2 60. This night session was an anniversary of the societies of the church, which was well attended and much interest shown; the exercises were interspersed with excellent singing furnished by the choir of Marshall.

Friday Morning Session.—At 8:30 a. m., the teachers of the convention met in a teachers meeting conducted by R. H. Harbert. The meeting adjourned after a few remarks by the presiding elder, after which opening of the Model School. Devotions by R. H. Harbert. Model school in session half an hour; adjourned. Convention reassembled, the presiding elder in the chair. Minutes of previous session read and adopted. An essay on the use of the blackboard in the Sunday-school by Miss Marina Roberts, discussion on same. W. M. Jackson, on teachers' meeting, with discussion. An essay on how to interest the infant class, by Miss Susie Nash; discussion. Papers for the Sunday-school, by H. Webb, presiding elder, which was listened to with great interest, after which the list of nominated officers was read and elected, as follows: Rev. Wm. Wesley, B. S., President; Rev. DeWitt Frierson, Vice President; Henry B. Pemberton, Secretary; Miss Susie Nash, Treasurer Committee on Programme, Rev. R. H. Harbert, Freeman Parker, S. Reid. Programme continued. The importance of music, by R. H. Harbert. How long should a Sunday-school session be held, by DeWitt Frierson. It was voted that the convention tender a vote of thanks to the pastor and friends of this charge for their benevolence. It was moved and seconded that the committee on programme together with the Secretary furnish the SOUTHWESTERN with a copy of the outline of the convention. Prayer by Rev. W. Wesley; hymn 204; benediction by Rev. H. Webb.

Each session of the convention was well attended with interest. Convention adjourned to meet at the call of the President with due notice.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

Mrs. Mary Ann Thomas.

REV. J. H. STANLEY AND W. H. EVANS.

Death of Sister Mary Thomas, the wife of Rev. George W. Thomas the pastor of Gunn's Chapel, M. E. Church. She was born Aug. 23, 1862, in Estill county, Ky. She died at the age of 93 years and 19 days. She was the daughter of Rev. Andrewson and Mrs. Caroline Cowford. Her father was one of the pioneers of Lexington conference, of the M. E. Church. He was ordained at Harrodsburg, Ky., by Bishop Scott.

Sister Thomas was schooled at Berea College and she was a school teacher. She was also one of our best Sunday school teachers and workers among the children. She is a great loss to both church and Sunday school. Her place will be hard to fill.

While at Berea College she joined the Berea Church, and was baptized by Rev. John G. Fee, in 1881. She went to Falmouth, Ky., on the 11th day of December of the same year to teach school. She was soundly converted to the Christian faith under the pastorate of Rev. G. W. Thomas, at his residence, and and joined the M. E. Church in 1881.

She was married to Rev. G. W Thomas at Mount Vernon, Ky., April 4th, 1882, Rev. J. Stanley officiated.

She was the mother of two children, John M. and George W. Thomas, the latter died Aug. 8th, 1865; the death of her child added to her afflictions and she continued to grow worse.

Sister Mary departed this life, September 11th, at 1 o'clock p. m., in full triumph of victorious faith in Christ Jesus. Her last word to her husband was: "It is all right between the Lord and I." Her funeral was preached in Gunn's Chapel, September 13th, 1885, at 2 o'clock p. m., by Rev. J. H. Stanley. Rev. W. H. Evans opened the service by reading the 90th Psalm, and 1st Corinthians, chapter 15th. Rev. A. Jamison announced hymn 970, commencing thus: "Why do we mourn for dying friends," and he addressed the throne of Grace in prayer. Then Rev. J. H. Stanley proceeded to preach the funeral service, from the text, IId Corinthians, 5th chapter, 10th verse: "For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ."

His discourse was very appropriate and gave satisfaction to all who heard him. Rev. H. H. Lyttle closed the service with very interesting remarks.

The congregation was very large who came to pay the last tribute of respect to Sister Thomas. She was a Christian lady, whom all could love. Her body sleeps in No. 2 cemetery, by the side of her baby, while their spirits rests together with God in heaven. She left behind her a husband and one child; father, mother, two brothers and eight sisters, and mother-in-law to mourn her death, but their loss is her gain. "Blessed are the dead that dieth in the Lord, they rest from their labor and their works do follow them."

Charity and Politics.

ESTHER T. HOUSH.

National Supt. Press D part't, W. C. T. U

It was in the autumn of 1880 that a woman evangelist had charge of a mission church near one of our large western cities. She was chosen by the people, and they built a church for her, where she labored most effectively, gathering about her two hundred members, and conducting all the services of the sanctuary that were permitted by the rigid rules of the mother church. She did some things too, not in the usual catagory of minister's lives, for she was not only a homekeeper, but with her own hands all that was necessary for the comfort of her husband and five sons.

Seven weeks before the presidential election, she began a series of meetings in another church, four miles distant from her home, preaching twice every day through the week, and in her own church twice every Sabbath. A friend furnished the conveyance, and she drove back and forth—a ride of sixteen miles a day. To one who asked how she managed to accomplish so much, she answered simply:

"Very easily. I rose early, prepared breakfast, did up the work, arranged things for dinner, went to church, preached, came home, and when dinner was over, rested and mended clothes until time for evening meeting. There was so much joy in the service, I never thought whether I was tired or not."

Three weeks before election, after this month's incessant labor, she began nightly meetings in her own church. The political fever was at its height; every mass-meeting threw new fagots on the blazing heap. Every thing seemed destined to be swept away: religion, resolutions, neighborly kindness, forgotten in the bitter party animosities. Quietly, peacefully, this brave woman kept on her way. No longer having a horse furnished—for horses and principles were alike confiscated to the campaign—she walked the mile and a half to her little church, where, however loud the yells of political men outside, the song and sermon went on. Men of all parties belonged to that church—Republicans, Democrats, Greenbackers. When a political meeting of their creed was held, the members attended. No notice was taken of their absence. By and by they began the evening at the campaign meeting and closed it in the praise meeting. At the close of the service on the Saturday evening preceding the election on Tuesday, she said in an earnest voice:

"I have held meetings every evening these three weeks for a purpose. You have listened to many political speeches; now I will make you one."

The men looked from one to the other with an expression of "I wish she wouldn't." But though she rightly interpreted the meaning of the glances, she continued:

"I know that you represent all political creeds, yet you have never heard a word from me respecting those beliefs. It is not necessary, to make you a political speech, that I should tell you what I believe in regard to politics. There are subjects of more vital importance to me than who is elected President of the United State; interests at stake in these times of election, more valuable than any you have heard discussed at any mass meeting you have attended."

A look of relief went about the room, and nods were exchanged as much as to say, "Thought she wouldn't go back on us."

She stood silent a moment, and her tones were full of tender feeling:

"There are many reformed men among you. I know how hard you are trying to be true to your pledge amid all the temptations spread about you. Or you I make one loving request: Go to the polls on Tuesday and vote like the Christian men you are! Vote as you believe God whom you serve would have you vote! Don't stop to talk! The time for talking is past; the time for action has come. To you who are bitter in your animosities towards your opponents, I have an added request to make: "The morning of election day read carefully and prayerfully the thirteenth chapter of I. Corinthians. In the spirit of this blessed truth, go to the polls like free men and cast your ballot!"

"I never heard such a political speech as that," they said as they crowded about her to say good-night.

When the election was over, this dear woman counted her flock, and not one was missing. Many said to her, "I didn't know politics could be so much like religion; that chapter on charity kept coming in my mind all the time I was at the polls, and when Neighbor Brown cast in a ballot that killed mine, I could have shaken hands with him anyway!"

Dear reader, this story is no fiction but truth. And because of the beautiful lesson it teaches, we begged permission of the historian to tell it to you. Could such a spirit prevail, how soon might it be that vox populi, vox Dei!

For the Southwestern.

Garden of the Gods—Colorado.

BY L. W. ELKINS.

Southwest from Denver, and crawling slowly but surely to the land of Montezuma, is the Denver and Rio Grande railway. This road lies along a pleasant country up the Platte river and Plumb creek, across the divide, the water shed of the Arkansas and Platte rivers, north and south, down Monument creek and Monument Park, a wonderful grove of spiral conglomerate works which the erosions of time have worn with fantastic shapes.

I left the railway train at Colorado Springs, and spent a day of unmixed pleasure rambling through the far-famed Garden of the gods. It is so named from its grotesque and gigantic works thrown into fantastic shapes by the convulsions of nature, and worn by the elements during countless ages. On every hand are masses of sandstone, white and red; some rising to great height, and all dipping more or less to the west, and scattered in picturesque confusion. The chief point of attraction is the beautiful gate that opens into the garden proper, and through which is seen one of the most magnificent sights man ever beheld. The opening is perhaps fifty feet in width, and on either side stand huge piles of sandstone rising over 300 feet; in the centre of the gateway is a pillar thirty feet in height, and away beyond, miles and miles away, stately Pike's Peak, with here and there a bank of snow upon its cold gray sides. Of course a pre-emptor's cabin near at hand mars this splendid scene, and on the rocks are glaring black letters announcing that John Smith's stereoscopic views are the best in the world, and that some new-fangled soothing syrup will put babies to sleep quicker and make them sleep longer than any other nostrum in existence.

These little things fall upon one's rhapsodies like a wet blanket, but they testify to the Yankee's presence and business instincts. The tradition of the rocks is interesting. It is said that this was once, the abode of Jupiter, he who from high Olympus flung the bolts of wrath down upon the world that before his exploits and conquests in the Grecian Archipelago, he lived and ruled in this beautiful garden, and that here the forces of the gods met in battle strong, and hurling these rocks at each other, caused them to assume their novel shapes.

Those who are familiar with the locality will take you to Jupiter's cave, and also to the great hollow in the rocks, where the beautiful Venus was wont to perform her matutinal ablutions.

The lovers of the beautiful and novel in nature can here spend hours in contemplation of these interesting objects, with new attractions constantly coming into view, and objects of scientific interest rising to the observation. There is scarcely a limit to the changing scenes caused by every turn amongst these curious rocks.

Lost Friends.

We make no charge for publishing these letters from subscribers. All others will be charged fifty cents. Pastors will please read the requests published below from their pulpits, and report any case where friends are brought together by means of letters in the SOUTHWESTERN.

MR. EDITOR: Bro. Charley Brown says that you found his people who had been gone ever since 1867. My name is Kizzi Ortry. I belonged to William Ortry in Monroe county, Alabama. His sons were Jefferson and Alex Ortry. My husband is Colonel Ortry, and son Ambrose. My daughters are with me, Tina and Elisa Ortry. Eliza's brothers are Bob and John Ortry and Edy Denson. I left them about 31 or 32 years ago. I want to find all my people, especially Bob and John Ortry. Address Kizzie Franklin, Garland City, Arkansas. 4t.

MR. EDITOR: I wish to inquire for my brother, who was owned by Dr. David Broadnax, named Jas. Wm. Pinelton. He was sold in Powder Horn in 1856 or 1857 when we were leaving Louisville, Ky., for Texas. His mother, Maria, was then called Maria Broadnax and step-father Austin; brothers, Jacob, Joseph who was called Tody Young, and George. Address, Geo. H. E. Fields, Bellville, Texas.

MR. EDITOR: I wish to inquire for my father and sister. I left them 30 odd years ago in Pike county, Miss. My father was named John Williams; sister Jane when I left her; I have learned since that she was sold to one Wells. The last time I heard from them they were in Pike county, Miss., this was in 1881. I hope all the preachers will read this all over the State of Mississippi in the pulpits. Address Amanda Adams, Eylan, Texas.

We Found His People.

Rev. Charles Brown, Garland, Ark., writes: "Your paper has done so much for me; it has found my people for me in Crawford, Miss., the adjoining county to me. They have been gone from me since 1867, and your paper brought them in sight of me Oct. 22, 1885. I find that some of them are dead. Mr. Editor, my friend, I am under a thousand obligations to you for your kindness to me. I have one subscriber who wants to take your paper; she says she thinks it can find out where her people are, who have been away from her for 35 or 40 years. I will do all I can for your paper. May the Lord bless you."

Tennyson's "May Queen."

Who knows but if the beautiful girl who died so young had been blessed with Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription," she might have reigned on many another bright May-day. The "Favorite Prescription" is a certain cure for all those disorders to which females are liable.

A great number of German teachers propose to come to America this year. The high salaries of leading musicians here have tempted them.

An effect existing without a cause is an impossibility; tickling in the throat, huskiness of the voice, violent coughing, etc., are the effects of a severe cold. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup cures the cold at once and removes its serious effects.

THE SOUTHWESTERN

MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D., Editor

THURSDAY, NOV. 26, 1885.

Have you any thing to be thankful for?

A prominent citizen of St. Louis, congratulates Dr. Newman on his magnificent address at the Exposition on opening day. The gentleman concludes a glowing letter of praise with these words. "But suffice it to say that your speech was the speech of the day."—J. P. B.

The reign of Nero was a protracted carnival of cunning cruelty and duplicity such as the world never witnessed before or since his times. His mother, brother, wife, tutor and most successful general fell by his connivance. Incest joined to flagrant debauchery, a freedwoman and an adulteress rose to supreme influence with him.

"Truly justice fled to brutish beast

Fowler and Warren at the Golden Gate.

Bishop Fowler has increased the high estimate in which he was previously held since his extensive presidency among the conferences. He with Bishop Warren will dedicate Simpson Universal Church in San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 29. Bishop Warren will be attended by his family.

We Demur.

We have not aimed to be "censorious" when speaking of colored men's conventions, as the Freeman of Nov. 14th seems to think. We do not know in which of its several significations the term is applied to us, but we disclaim its proper application to anything we have said on the subject of such conventions in any sense. The right of the people without reference to color, to peaceably convene and express their views or their grievances is a blood bought heritage of American citizenship; which ought to be enjoyed by every citizen throughout the length and breadth of our land. But we maintain that conventions should be absolutely in the interest of the people, and not to further individual ends.

European News.

War in the Balkans means a general war in Europe if not settled by diplomatic mediation.

Russia will be found sustaining Prince Alexander. While England may be found holding the shield for King Milan. Germany and France will come in on opposite sides, and in the midst of a general melee. Ireland may slip off her chains and be free.

The sick man at Constantinople takes no particular risk since he holds Territory in Europe which at once became the bone of general contention if out of his grasp. It is likely that diplomacy will soon intervene and determine the whole matter.

Our National Thanksgiving Day.

It is a time honored custom with us in this country, to observe one day in the year as a day of National Thanksgiving, as it was in ancient Rome, and other countries before us.

In this way we give national recognition to the Christian religion, and acknowledge our dependence upon the guidance of an inscrutable Providence.

It announces our national faith in the Biblical postulate that "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof."

The idea of a thanksgiving day suggests a review of the occurrences of the year, in order that the incidents peculiar and beneficial to us, which have occurred in its progress eternity ward may be studied.

Each of its joys or sorrows have come to us in the form of a bestowment or the deprivement of some coveted blessing and is a proper subject for quiet and devout consideration. Hence the manner of observing this day naturally suggests itself, in two forms.

The first is religious, the second charitable and humane. For its religious observance all families in the land should assemble in the best room of the home or place of their residence, and after calmly talking over the events of the year, relative to their affairs, profit by impressing upon their minds its lesson. Then they should assemble at the appointed place and join with their neighbors in a public confession of faults and in making acknowledgments of national mercies.

Blessings for ourselves should bring sympathy for the bereaved, and charity for the less prosperous portion of our fellowmen.

The minister's duty on each annual thanksgiving day is to point out the blessings, which has crowned the year, and direct the attention of the fortunate to the places, and condition of the less fortunate portion of their fellowmen.

Then if it is such a fast as the Lord has chosen. there will be banqueting and good cheer not only in the splendid mansions of the rich, but for one day at least by their charity and loving care the same sunny joy will be transferred to the cottages of the poor, the schools, hospitals, prisons, and asylums included.

Shall this Thursday, November 26th, be such a thanksgiving day? If not, why? What say the pastors and people of the Methodist Episcopal Church in every place to this? What say Christians and good citizens in general to it?

Shall we have a day of real blessings and solid joys brought home to every individual in this land or not?

There are many reasons why we should have it. The first is, God has blessed our nation very greatly. What is a nation but an aggregation of individuals? So that national are but an almost infinite extension of individual prosperity.

As a nation we are at peace with all men. No bloody wars or conquering armies have invaded our borders or wasted our blood or treasure.

A great depression in business has spread itself throughout our manufacturing and commercial centres. But God has smiled upon our farms and their productions have been in fair comparison with any year of the past, so that though business is dull and large fortunes are not being rapidly acquired, still there is a steady legitimate volume of trade a growth of wealth, and withal a plenty of seed for the sower and bread for the eater.

Here is ample cause for devout and heartfelt thanksgiving.

As a church, we were never more prosperous than now. We have learned to depend upon the Lord, and ask largely of him and lo! a million of dollars nearly, has been poured into our lap. Thus are we better prepared to enforce his claim, whose right it is to have "The utmost part of the earth for a possession and the heathen for an inheritance." Tramp, tramp, hark, the sound of advancing forces through Africa, China, Japan, India, and isles of the sea!!!

If we are blessed in our going forth to the nations, we are also blessed in the habitations of our own land. $120,000 for Christian education is asked, and expected for use in the South. Revivals are heard from on every side and every interest is advancing; as with us so with all about us.

Hence here is great cause for thanksgiving. "Praise God from whom all these blessing flow."

The colored people have reason to look with wonder, and amazement as they consider the mighty strides of progress they have made upward.

They should profit by past experience, and thanking God for good already attained and with hasty strides march on to future good.

To noble minded white people, or all sections of the country, and in a ratio increasing in the South in proportion to the better understanding and acceptance of new inter race relations there, are the black people of our whole country placed under a firmer debt of gratitude.

The advent of a new political regime in the nation has not been a misfortune to the Negroes, because by it their status as citizens being conceded, has become an irrevocable fixture. Here is another cause for thanksgiving. Then let whites and blacks vie with each other in returning thanks to the Giver of all good for His bounty.

The Bishops.

Six of our Bishops are now, or will within the next 60 days be in the Mississippi Valley and Gulf regions, viz.: Mallalieu in the Central South, followed by Bowman in Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas. Foster in the South-west through Texas to the Empire of the Cactus. Andrews in the South-east among the palmettoes, oranges and everglades. Ninde among the pine, herring and F. F. V's., Fowler in bellicose South America, and Harris among the chivalry of Kentucky and the ice of Missouri. Mr. Philips of 805 Broadway, New York, will go toward the Southeast, and Dr. Hunt of the same firm will scan the line of battle in this latitude. Who shall say that we are not assuming collossal proportions in this land of perennial suns and fadeless flowers.

Welcome each and all of you; come soon and abide long. Our hospitality is as genial, constant, and exuberant as our climate. We shall be glad to see you, each of you herein New Orleans.

If in your heart you find the way clear, remember and say a cheerful hopeful word for the SOUTWESTERN. It incessantly thinks of you, making mention of you in prayers. Brethren see to it that these elect and precious servants of the most High sent among us on the Lord's business, have evey care and comfort that their health and the church's prosperity requires.

The Conference Prayer Meeting.

It has now become a general rule unwritten, but made so by usage, to spend one half an hour in prayer meeting before commencing conference business each morning. Our observation has been to the effect that more ministers by far stand about the doors, lobbies, vestibules and yards of the conference rooms during the service, than there is who go in and participate in the worship. Now it appears to us that this custom of a half hour service ought to be engaged in by all, or that all should be freed from it, that is, if ministers dont intend to attend this service they ought to vote against it, when the proposition to make such an order is pending. And we believe a vote in favor of it binds the minister to be present at the service. We think each conference needs such a service, but we know that by reason of the small interest taken in them, they are less useful than they otherwise would be. Which conference will be the first to correct this wrong practice of absenteism?

Colored Baptists in New Orleans.

There are little and big, 50 colored Baptist Churches in New Orleans, and vicinity.

About 40 of these have pastors, but there is probably 150 or 200 colored Baptist preachers regular, and licentiates, who make their home here. The average membership of these churches is about 50 each or about 5,000 colored Baptists here, which is one in 142 30 of the whole Negro population of the city.

It is so common to hear the Baptists spoken of in a light or disparaging way, but they too are helping to solve this Negro problem.

The colored Baptists are doing a great deal of good in New Orleans. Their work will show a good deal of fair ability. They understood that it was a ground hog case with them; that they had to burrow or die, and that is the thing for all people to learn more fully.

They went to work and built 50 churches of some sort, the same sort as the Methodists and others generally have. Then their men took charge of the people and did the best they could with the education slavery in the South and proscription in the North had given them.

To their aid came true white men and women, such as Professor Traver and Miss Hannah Steadman, to help in educational lines, to guide, and teach, strengthen and in this way uplift them. They have a good school, a prosperous newspaper, and the work of school appears in the person of such talented gentlemen as Revs. A. S. Jackson, S. T. Clanton, John Marks, who have charge of large public interests among them.

The Baptist Women's Home Missionary Society has three excellent lady helpers at work here, and they are very busy. Their lines are among the Negroes, and their motto "co-operate with the pastors."

Miss Steadman, is of Evansville, Indiana, and comes of right royal stock. It only requires a look to show that she is here for Christ's sake. She is, for all the world just such another as that choice woman, our own Josephine Cowgill, whose loving labors are invaluable to the poor and ignorant of this city.

Of the Baptist churches here the Common Street is first in importance and after it comes the Sixth or Felicity Street, of which Rev. John Marks is pastor. This is a fine structure, it is of wooden material, Gothic style, with rear rooms, baptistery, gallery and tower, all complete except sealing. Cost of lot $1,500, of building and furniture $6,500, of which $900 will yet be to pay.

This is a monument to the industry of the members as every dollar was raised by them.

In the morning, of Sunday, Nov. 8th, we talked to 135 children and 23 adults in the Sabbath-school here. The superintendents and teachers have proof enough in the readiness of their pupils, with the lesson that their work has been faithfully done.

At 11 o'clock the same morning, in the same house we preached to 200 persons.

Bro. Marks is a talented working young man, who has mettle, manhood, and a high regard for colored men, whose efforts has made them fit for leaders of their people. He has, we should think, a bright future ahead and wish a prosperous voyage toward it. All such men will be needful in working out a successful future for the Negro race.

There is plenty of room for these people to work, and us with them in this city, and then leave much work undone.

The next thing we need is a Pan denominational alliance of colored ministers in here, organized for the purpose of bringing about moral, and social equality among the colored clergy in this city. We should be glad to confer with every pastor in the city on that subject.

The Faith Home, an asylum for indigent colored people has been put underway by our Baptist citizens here also, and of a late effort in its behalf the Daily Evening Chronicle of this city makes the very generous and highly esteemed mention:

THE FAITH HOME.

A Colored Institution for the Aged and Its Friends.

The colored people are nearly all members of numerous benevolent organizations, which they conduct and maintain with credit to themselves and profit to the community. The poor and friendless are cared for, who otherwise would demand a large share of public charities.

At the corner of Pitt and Robert streets, a Faith Home for the Aged has been established. The Board of Trustees are Geo. W. Walker, S. T. Clanton, John Marks, H. White and A. S. Jackson, ministers and members of the Baptist denomination. With a good supply of faith under the care of their spiritual advisers, the trustees occasionally made a call for other substantial elements for maintenance of the worldly existence of the inmates. The Calanthe Literary Circle, organized September 6, 1884, consented to deliver a programme of choice music, recitations and dramas last Tuesday evening, at the Rev. John Marks' church, on Felicity street, near Laurel, for the benefit of the Home, and by a note from the manager, we learn that it was in every respect a grand success. It was as follows:

The More Excellent Way.

The following strikes us as being the most manly, and dignified, and at the same time a most commendable proceedure. It has not been our good fotune to notice emanating from any young colored Republican politician anything like it since Mr. Cleveland's advent. There may be and we do not say that there are not, other instances of like honorable deportment on the part of such politicians who have been so situated as to accept or decline a tendered office; but we have not heard of one. If there is one or a hundred such cases we should be glad to report them, for they reflect honor upon the race. Mr. Martenet has a future and he can afford to suffer defeat with his party, for a season with any inconveniences that such a course may bring to him. His time and reward is sure to come.

Mint of the United States, at New Orleans, La., Superintendent's Office, Nov. 9, 1885.

Sir—You are hereby notified that your appointment as assistant book keeper has been approved by the director of the Mint, to take effect from the 11th inst.

Very respectfully,
G. Montegut, Superintendent.
L. A. Martinet, Esq.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 11, 1885.

Dear Sir—Your valued letter of the 9th instant notifying me of my appointment as assistant book-keeper in the Mint, to take effect from this date was received yesterday.

In reply I have to say that after due consideration I have concluded not to accept the situation, preferring to devote myself to the practice of the law.

Also, I am a member of several political organizations, and it seems to me that in accepting, if I wished to live up honestly to the civil service views of the present administration, I would be compelled to resign from these organizations or otherwise remain passive or inactive in politics: whereas, I prefer to preserve entire freedom of action and act or take such part in politics hereafter as I may choose or see fit to do.

For these reasons I must decline to accept the situation so kindly offered, and beg leave to express my high sense of appreciation of your favor and to tender my sincere thanks for the same.

Yours very respectfully,
L. A. MARTINET.

Hon. G. Montegut, Superintendent United States Mint, New Orleans, La.

"The conduct of Mr. Martinet, present Treasurer of the Republican State Committee, reflects great credit upon him, and it is at the same time a stinging rebuke to those Republicans who are clinging to the willows of office and occupying places that Democrats have a legitimate right to expect. It will be remembered that Mr. Martinet took a very active part in behalf of Congressman Gay, in the last campaign, and it is fair to presume that the position he has declined was offered him at the instance of Mr. Gay, who, in that manner, desired to show his appreciation of the services Mr. Martinet had rendered him. Mr. Martinet, no doubt felt that by accepting the place the motives which actuated him in the last campaign might be misconstrued, and that he could not, with propriety, hold an office under a Democratic administration without abdicating his political views and ceasing to give to his party that active support that every citizen who takes an interest in the conduct of party affairs, feels in duty bound to extend."—Capitolian Advocate, La.

The Missionary Committee.

We have already given our readers the details of the work of this committee for the foreign field, with the statistics for both the foreign and domestic work. We should have given all the proceedings in full, but our space is too limited to allow it.

The committee performed its task thoroughly and the church will be pleased with the result.

The call for a million was favorably received, and so generally responded to, that there was made a much larger, than usual, appropriation, stimulated by the belief that the church is now ready as we believe it is to largely increase its annual contributions for missions.

Of one thing the careful reader, and observer has already informed himself, and that is, that there is manifest and growing disfavor to the continuance of these appropriations to domestic missions which have been for a long time largely if not mainly supported by the society.

Not wishing to be drawn into a discussion as to our white work in the South, since it is not in the nature of things that we should have a great amount of information as its wants. but accepting it for the reasons given, then we say with the utmost freedom, that we believe that after a certain number of years, say five for example, that churches should be left to their own resources, unless the reasons for different action were very obvious and easily explained.

It is not our judgement that missionary aid should be curtailed in any section of our church, but that it should be largely restricted to missionary work and especially directed to the development of new work.

Toward this policy we are certainly tending, and we hail the tendency with profound satisfaction. Its effect cannot be other than beneficial to the extent that so far as the colored people are concerned it will stimulate their growing capability to help themselves.

The Rev. W. H. Wardell, writes that he is quite sure that fifty of the churches on his district will reach the Million dollar line, and expresses hope concerning the others. What a blessed thing it would be to see the New Haven district thus respond to the call for advance.

Books From our own Book Concern.

MERILL'S DIGEST — Porter's Compendium of Methodism, Sherman's History of the Discipline, Baker on the Discipline, Henry and Harris, Ecclesiastical Jurisprudence furnish quite a field for information in their line. And one felt very well prepared for any demand with these at hand, nor ever dreamed that another work was so needful to complete and supplement the work in all its phases that the foregoing had so still begun. We say supplement and complete their work, for the book before us does not propose to succeed them. They will still be as needful as before, and this one in addition to them. Bishop Merrill is a clear thinker, a close reasoner, and a man who can come as near expressing himself in monosyllables as any one we know. And in all three particulars the book in hand partakes of the character of its great author. The subject upon which it treats is both familiar and full of interest to every Methodist, especially every Methodist preacher, and more especially every one who is just entering the pastorate. It is a digest of Methodist law. It is is a 16 mo, 277 page volume easily handled or carried in the coat pocket. The binding is oh hand gold resembling very much our new Discipline in all things but size. The arrangement is simple and the references easy. The contents are divided into two parts. Part 1st contains "Our judicial administration." Under this head he gives five chapters, viz: Conference Membership, the Ministry License and Ordination, Boards and Committees, and ritualistic matter. Then comes part 2nd "Judicial administration." To this he gives six chapters as follows: 1. The Administrator; 2. Amenable cases; 3. Testimony; 4. Preliminary investigation; 5. Church trials, and 6. Appeals. Then follows an appendix of notes and formulas. Nothing we can think of is wanting to complete the work the author had in hand. We should think there would be a demand for the book. It answers a great many of the questions put to us by pastors, many of which have been answered in this column under the head of "Church Polity," and we are gratified to know that it generally sustains them. The book is not only convenient and handy, but it is cheap, the price being one dollar only. We do not hesitate to recommend it heartily and an excellent help in the administration, and accordingly say. For with its [illegible] for "the administration is correct, [illegible] method of getting [illegible] properly. [illegible] & Stowe, Cincinnati; Phillips & Hunt, New York.

Methodist Episcopal Periodicals.

Vol. V..No. 4 "Manual of the Methodist Episcopal Church," has been received at our office. It is among the most useful, valuable, and those of our periodical literature, which we always hasten to read and never without immediate profit, and deep interest. The October number contains 44 pages of well edited matter. It relates to the Missionary Society, Sunday-school Union, Tract Society, Board of Church Extension and the Board of Education. It completes a volume in four numbers of 304 pages, which can be neatly bound together and furnish thus a book of constant use for reference. We have said before, and now repeat it; no pastor does himself justice, who fails to secure, read, and supply his members with this work. Free to pastors on application; and 50 cts per year to others. Edited by Rev A. J. Kynett, D. D; published by Phillips & Hunt, New York; Cranston & Stowe, Cincinnati.

The "General Minutes" of the spring conferences for 1885 are at hand. Published by Phillips & Hunt, New York; Cranston & Stowe, Cincinnati. It is a book of 222 pages, comprising a list of effective bishops, minutes of conferences, and missions, death roll and obituary of deceased members, statistical tables, a general recapitulation of statistics and alphabetical list of preachers and the plan of Episcopal visitation, arranged in alphabetical list and chronological order. All for $1. The fall conferences are always issued in a similar volume, making a complete history of Methodism as it is. We feel sure that besides his superior knowledge of its work and vastness, each minister would take a deeper interest in the church and its work, if he would get this volumn annually, and carefully study it. The Methodists will be no better till they read more. Let our preachers begin the reading; and begin at our General Minutes.

The Minutes of the last session of the Cincinnati Conference make a pamphlet of 100 pages. They are published by the conference committee, edited by the secretaries as they properly should be, are printed by Cranston & Stowe, of our Book Concern. The gentlemanly secretary has laid us under renewed obligations for the excellent copy he has furnished us. We were pained to note the death of Revs. James F. Chalfant, Andrew Murphy, Milton G. Baker, Jesse M. Robinson and that young minister of rare genius John N. Irvin. Rev. O. W. Drees and Felipe N. Cordova, were transferred to Mexico. Good taste is displayed in the class of advertisements admitted, so that none of them infringe upon the publishing interests of our church. For this we commend the action of the publishers to the secretaries of several of our colored conferences. A pretty full biography is properly given and from the 127th to the 145 pages is devoted to a detailed report of missionary collections. The work is well done in all its parts.

Five Hundred Young Men and Women Wanted for Wiley University.

REV. R. H. HARBERT.

This University is just opening, The teachers have just returned from a pleasant and restful vacation. They appear vigorous and are entering their work full of zeal and hope. Students from the South and West are arriving. We wish to say to our ministers both in the Texas and West Texas Conferences, arouse your people, stir up the whole of your parishes, find us five hundred young men and women, have them start right away. Ignorance is now a crime so many of our young people are contented with it. Other young men and women not as promising, rise from their sides to usefulness and happiness, while they remain inactive. As ministers it is our place and duty to try to save these young people, not only by citing them to Jesus Christ, who saves from sin, (a glorious and blessed privilege,) but we should constantly point them to the colleges and universities which save them from intellectual darkness and gives them a Christian education. I call upon all my friends in the West Texas Conference to tell our young people that we have a college in Marshall ten years old, and from it have gone graduates and students who are making their mark in life. Instead of going to schools of other denominations, attend your own schools. We have students from Austin, Goliad, Oakland, Columbus, (Houston, and Galveston, these two are in our conference, and I meant to mention only those places in West Texas Conference.) Calvert. Ministers let your congregations know of our Wiley University. Excite, incite, and have the young people come on. There is room. We want to save the young people. Any one desiring information or catalogue of the University, mail a card to the President or Secretary of Board of of Trustees. We hope that this school year we shall have a grand representation from our sister conference.

Hot Bread Made Wholesome.

The Royal Baking Powder possesses a peculiar merit that is not possessed by any other leavening agent. It provides bread, biscuit, cake, muffins, or rolls which may be eaten when hot without inconvenience by persons of the most delicate digestive organs. With most persons it is necessary that bread raised with yeast should lose its freshness or become stale before it can be eaten with safety. The same distressing results follow from eating biscuit, cake, pastry, etc., raised by the cheap, inferior baking powders that contain lime, alum, or other adulterants. The hot roll and muffin, and the delicious hot griddle cakes, raised by Royal Baking Powder, are as wholesome and digestible as warm soup, meat, or any other food.

Another greatly superior quality possessed by the Royal Baking Powder is that by which the preservation of important elements of the flour is effected in raising the bread by the mechanical operation of the gas without fermentation. Yeast, and all baking powders that produce the leavening gas by fermentation, as is well known, destroy a portion of the nutritive elements of the flour, and particularly those which are the most healthful and the greatest aids to a perfect assimilation of the food. The Royal Baking Powder, while perfectly leavening, retains without change or impairment all those elements which were intended by nature, when combined in our bread, to make it literally the "staff of life."

No leavening agent or baking powder, except the Royal Baking Powder, possesses these great qualifications.

OUR BEST.—The Methodist Review has made steady progress forward and upward all the year. It has occupied every inch of the widened sphere it has been permitted to cover, and we say of it that though all have been good the last is better. The contribntions are good, the editorial and reviews are strong and of course very erudite. Dr. Curry has a place all to himself in review journalism from an evangelical Christian standpoint. The Review should have a doubled list of subscribers with which to begin the new year. Phillips & Hunt, New York. Cranston & Stowe, Cincinnati, publishers.

This famous work, perhaps the most important scientific treatise of the present century, is now being published at such a price as brings it within the reach of all readers. It will be completed in four numbers of the Humbolt Library of Science of which the first has now appeared, to be followed by the second on Nov. 20, and the third and fourth at intervals of one month. The price of each of the four parts is 15 cents, and they will be sent to any address, postage paid, on receipt of that amount in coin or in postage stamps.

A Summer in the Rockies By Anna E. Woodbridge, author of Jessie and Ray, or recreations in Natural Histoay. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe. New York, Phillips & Hunt. Price $1, 16 mo. cloth and gold, 339 pages and 20 engravings. It is a good book to give a young friend as a Christmas present. It has a chapter on Christmas, and that alone in its helpfulness to a family who desires to get the best use of a Christmas at home, is worth the price. It is a romantic story of travels in the Rocky Mountains told in a facinating, we had almost said in a captivating manner. Railroad riding and Donkey riding, wild mountain scenery and pleasant converse with deeply interested young people, make up the contents. All young folks will like them both for its matter and manner.

Phil Vernon, and his School Masters. A story of American school life. By Byron A. Brooke. New York, Phillips & Hunt; Cincinnati; Cranston & Stowe. Price $1 Phil Vernon is a fiction built on a ground of fact. Its design is to show that the schooling of a boy is the contact he has with life as it is found in field and farm, on land and sea, in doors and out, everywhere is the school room, and everything a lesson and a teacher. The author dedicates the work to his son. it is a 12mo., 21 chapters, 274 pages, with several attractive illustrations, and finished in cloth and gold. We regard it as a timely continuation to the ever increasing stock of pure literature; useful and devoted to the right culture of boys girls and youths.

As far as in us lies we propose to eliminate all things irrelevent to the claim of the Negro for recognition, sympathy, and aid upon the merit of his manhood and humanity alone. Gains upon any other grounds would be ultimate losses to us.

OUR NATIVE LAND.

J. E. WRENFORD.

Lord, while for all mankind we pray,
Of every clime and coast,
Oh hear us for our native land,
The land we love the most.

Our fathers sepulchers are here,
And here our kindred dwell;
Our children, too—how could we love
Another land so well?

Oh guard our shores from every foe,
With peace our borders bless,
Our cities with prosperity,
Our fields with plenteousness.

Unite us in the sacred love
Of knowledge, truth, and thee;
And let our hills and valleys shout
The song of liberty.

Here may religion, pure and mild,
Upon our Sabbaths shine;
And piety and virtue reign,
And bless our native clime.

Lord of the nations, thus to Thee
Our country we commend;
Be thou our refuge and her trust,
Her everlasting friend.

Domestic Hygiene.

GEO. L. CURTISS, M. D.

The house we live in will either be a place of health or disease. It can be made in every respect a place of health, by the careful observance of the laws of sanitation. Dr. Sheehan, health officer of Rochester, N. C., has an excellent paper on "House Sanitation," in The Sanitarian, from which I copy: "A house over a damp site is never healthy. The ground moisture is continuously striking up the walls, and through cellar bottoms improperly constructed, and the inmates suffer from frequent attacks of catarrh, neuralgia and rheumatism, Consumption is now regarded, in a large measure, as due to the same unsanitary condition. Dr. Buchanan sums up English experience—"That wetness of the soil is the cause of phthisis to the population living upon it, and this proposition may be affirmed generally, and not only of particular districts."

"The ground water theory of typhoid fever has been affirmed and maintained by Pettenhofer and others. A high mortality ratio from from zymotic diseases prevailed along the old water courses of New York City, which in process of time had been filled in and built over.

"That group of symptoms described as malaria, is most often found in city houses, whose foundation walls and cellar floors are made damp and foul by leakings from cisterns, improperly constructed drains, privy walls and cesspools. Numerous cases have come under my observation. A few to the point:

1. A neighbor's drain joined the house drain under the cellar bottom; obstruction at the point of junction, an escape of water for a number of years into the ground. The inmates were frequently attacked with malarial symptoms.

2. A neighbor's privy wall, situated close to the foundation leaked into an adjoining cellar; inmates frequently ill with malara, diphtheria and other diseases.

3. A Similar experience detailed me by a certain physician. He was forced to leave his house in order to shake off malaria.

4. In many houses cisterns are still maintained as relics of the past; the water is not used, but is allowed to stagnate and overflow into a drain, or to leak into the ground. The people are located over a miniture marsh, and suffer frequent attacks of malaria. If a house is to be healthy, the ground, water and moisture must be excluded from the inmates.

"Subsoil drainage will remove water, and dry areas [illegible] the walls will help to remove moisture. Two royal stables Munich, with the same arrangements as to stalls, feeding, attendance, etc., suffered very unequally from fever. In the one, the ground water was five feet below the surface, in the other two and one half feet, which was the unhealthy stable when it was drained so ground water was as low as other, it became equally as healthy.

"Soils will hold much water, besides what is absorbed by the morter. "This wet will be continuously striking up into the walls by capillary attraction. Dampness from this source has often been traced up thirty feet in height above the ground. If therefore, dampness and disease from ground water and moisture are to be kept out of the dwelling, courses of impervious materials houldbe placed in the wallsabout one footabove the level ofthe ground, or above the rain water splash.

"The cellar bottom and side walls should have a coating of material pervious to moisture and ground air. The cellar, as ordinarily constructed, is little better than the ancient dugout, excavated out of made earth containing in cities garbage, dead animals and all sorts of waste, mixed with ashes and road scrapings, which, according to Liverpool experience, is purified of its organic impurites in not less than three years, foul and disease producing emanations escape into the house above, drawn upwards by the suction of the fires which, in our climate, are more or less active for nine months of the year. During the winter, when frost and a covering of snow hinder the escape of ground air outside the house, a large amount escapes in doors, and the supply is drawn horizontally for many feet from beneath leaky cesspools, privy vaults and imperfectly constructed drains and sewers. In Rochester, for the past two winters, the health authorities have noticed an increase of of diptheria as soon as the ground and the street opening into the sewers have been covered for some time with snow.

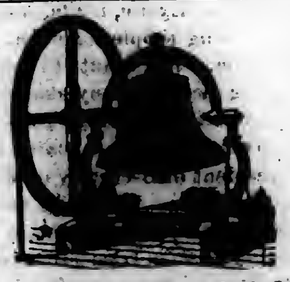
"Ground air in itself, and free from the impurities imparted to it by the filthy habits of men, is not devoid of poisonous qualities. The large amount of carbonic acid it contains, sometimes renders it irrespicable at no greater depth than thirteen feet below the level of the ground.

"Pasteur has discovered the germs of fowl cholera in the ground around a body dead from that disease, and believes these germs capable of developing the disease in the living animal. Yellow fever and cholera, it is stated, are developing from specific germs which escape from cemeteries. The germs of typhoid fever escape into the ground air and water, and subsequently into the air of houses, and into wells from leaky cesspools and draines. Petenkofer estimates that the sandy, porous soil of Munich is contaminated by ninty per cent of the contents of its numerous cesspools. Where does typhoid fever prevail to a greater extent than in Munich? Perhaps in rural life, where so called sewer gas is absent, if our country practitioners would seek for the causes of diptheria, typhoid fever and other zymotic diseases in specifically contaminated ground air and ground water, less would be heard in way of opposition from that source to the germ theory of disease, and to the dangers of sewer gas poisoning. Sewer gas is nothing but filth gas, and it is found in the country and village as well as in the city.

"All are familiar with the out breaks of typhoid and typho malarial fevers along streets in which old sewers are being enlarged and deepened. Last year, (1883) in Rochester, an evidence of diptheria occurred in a locality where the street sewer was being cleaned.

"A case of diptheria was brought to the attention of the health officer in a man who had been excavating and removing the earth from a site on which a house had stood for many years.

"The permability of soil to air and gases is shown by the rapidity with which illuminating gas passes for long distances from leaking mains into cellars. Pettenkofer reports poisoning from this source, the gas having escaped twenty feet. In Rochester I have known gas to pass forty feet through the ground, and to drive the inmates out of the houses. As courses of slate, asphalt, sheet lead, citrified stoneware and glazed bricks are necessary to keep ground water and moisture from striking up through the foundations; so must imperious coating be despersed over the cellar bottom in order to exclude ground air, polluted as it most frequently is, with organic effluvia and specific disease germs."



Look well to the house you live in.

Sore Throat.

Is partially favorable to the contraction of Diphtheria. Heed the warning and use Darby's Prophylatic Fluid. It at once allays the inflammation of the throat, subdues the pain and gives permanent relief. It promptly and effectually destroys all contagion and diphtheritic germs. It is a safeguard against Diphtheria, and should be used on the first symptoms of sore throat as a gargle.

LESSON HYMN. S. 7.

Hymnal No. 728

What a Friend we have in Jesus,
All our sins and griefs to bear!
What a privilege to carry
Everything to God in prayer!
O what peace we often forfeit,
O what needless pain we bear,
All because we do not carry
Everything to God in prayer!

Are we weak and heavy laden,
Cumbered with a load of care?
Precious Savior, still our refuge,—
Take it to the Lord in prayer.
Do thy friends despise, forsake thee?
Take it to the Lord in prayer;
In his arms he'll take and shield thee

Time—B. C. 713.

What added years were promised him?
What assistance should he receive?
What remedy did the prophet use?
With what effect?
What further sign did the king desire?
What choice of signs did the prophet give him?
Which did he select?
At whose prayer was this sign given?

3. A King's folly, v. 12, 13.

What foolish confidence did Hezekiah show him?

Interesting Newspaper Statistics.

There is no better way to judge of the success and prosperity of any section of country than to examine the newspapers published in that section—as they are successful and prosperous, so is the country and neighborhood in which they circulate. As the reports of the Census Bureau are issued but once in ten years, it can be readily seen that if we were obliged to depend on them alone, we would lose much valuable information and time, and would only receive our information after it had been rendered almost useless by its age. Thanks to private enterprise and capital, however, we are able to keep ourselves posted from year to year on the data of the press throughout the country. Of these private enterprises none is more relied upon or of more value than that of Edwin Alden & Bro's American Newspaper Catalogue which is published each year by that push ing firm of Advertising agents. According to this catalogue just published there are in the United States and the British Provinces a total of 16,105 newspapers and periodicals, of which 15,368 are published in the United States and 737 in the British Provinces. They are divided as follows: Dailies, 1,411; Semi-Weeklies, 188; Tri-Weeklies, 64; Weeklies, 11,567; Sundays, 426; Semi-Monthlies, 356; Monthlies, 2,010; Bi-Monthlies, 40; Quarterlies, 141.

A comparison of last year's Catalogue with this shows an increase in the total number of papers in the United States and Canada of 1,303. This increase is shared by nearly all the States and Territories, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina and Utah alone showing any falling off in the number.

DANGER SIGNAL.

When a person gives you counterfeit money he perpetrates a crime against the law and your pecuniary interests; but when he gives you an inferior and dangerous medicine in the place of one of recognized and well known curative properties he commits the blackest of crimes, for he conspires against your health and life.

"The New York Herald," Sept. 21, 1885, says: "To endorse a counterfeit medicine is to injure the manufacturer and the buyer, and the buyers will soon drop away from a counterfeited medicine that they find worthless. Manufacturers of counterfeit articles fail because they have not the experience and apparatus of the large manufactorer to produce the same curative results. The large manufacturers have the utmost incentive, while they are protected, to make their medicine as perfect and curative as possible."

For example, take the experience of Simmons Liver Regulator prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., of Philadelphia; their firm has devoted years of time, employed the most eminent chemists of the land, and spent thousands of dollars in bringing their medicine to the perfection it has attained. They expended a large amount of money in bringing it to the attention of the people, and its use has made Simmons Liver Regulator widely popular. In order to make money from the great reputation gained by this remedy, unscrupulous adventurers have gotten up cheap counterfeits, dangerous to health, and stick on these frauds a name closely resembling Simmons Liver Regulator, to deceive the unwary into buying their inferior goods.

FERNANDINA, Nassau Co., Fla.

"I have used Dr. Simmons Liver Regulator and always found it to do what is claimed for it. The last bottle and two packages did me no good and were worse than nothing. I see it is not put up by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and not genuine, and a waste of money to buy it. I would be glad to get the pure and genuine. Send me some from honest hands (with red Z and Zeilin & Co.'s signature on the Wrapper). The fictitious stuff sold will injure some one badly.

BENJ. T. RICE."

The genuine Simmons Liver Regulator has become the Faultless Family Medicine and has the endorsement of the thousands who have used it. If you want Simmons Liver Regulator see that the Druggist gives you the genuine, not something he claims is "just as good," and because he makes more off it.

Fraternal sympathy and bonds of love:

Like Jacob's flocks his watchful care ye prove;
Led by his rod of guidance ye may move

The Importance of a Better Preparation for the Ministry Among the Colored Preahers of the South.

REV. R. W. KEELER, D. D.

Dean of Theology in Central Tennessee College.

The time has come when the colored ministry of the South must be better preparted for their work, For many years the people to whom they preached were very ignorant the great mass of them unable to read. This was no fault of theirs. Twenty-five years ago it was a penitentiary offence in many of the Southern States to teach a black man his letters. It is true, a majority of them are still unable to read, but education is spreading among them.

Public schools are now provided for them, many private and denominational schools are springing up all through the South for their education. The Methodist Episcopal Church alone, has, through our excellent Freedmen's Aid Society, twenty-one institutions, patronized, mainly, by them, and has taught 100,000 colored people. These 100,000 who have been taught in our schools have taught, at a low estimate, a million of their own race; many of whom are in turn teaching others.

The other leading denominations, are vying with us in this great work. Many of the Southern States are providing free schools for the colored population, the expense being borne by the State.

While the facilities for education are being multiplied, and are coming within the reach of all, it is gratifying to know that our colored people are very much interested in this matter of learning.

They are availing themselves of these facilities to an encouraging extent. Very, many of them are acquiring the rudiments of an education.

Because of these facts the dark days of ignorance and superstition are beginning to give way to a brighter era that is to dawn on this race in the near future.

Great masses of their young people, and many of the older ones are beginning to read, and to think for themselves, many are receiving the broad and liberal culture of the college curriculum, and professional schools. The instances are not few, and are multiplying, where some have worked themselves up, since the emancipation proclamation, into a broad and generous scholarship that takes its place beside the best scholarship of the dominant race. It seems almost marvelous to see what has been done in the last twenty years. Then, the desire of this race for learning, with the facilities already furnished, and they are constantly increasing, will distribute the rudiments of an education throughout the great body of the Negroes of the South in the near future.

These facts create the demand that the ministry, that is to preach to this people and guide their spiritual life, must be better prepared for their work than formerly.

When the people were all ignorant an uncultured ministry could exert an influence over them, but as they become educated, unless the ministry keep pace with them, it will lose its hold upon them. An [illegible] and progressive people [illegible] respect an ignorant, [illegible] ministry. The [illegible] we must turn [illegible] directly to this important part of our work. 'Tis true something has been done in this field, but the results are by no means commensurate with the demands. The church is specially called upon by these demands to make more liberal provisions for the education of the colored ministry oft he South. The trustees of Central Tennessee College, in endeavoring to aid in meeting this demand have organized a Theological Department as a part of their college work. The privileges of this department, are furnished free to those students who attend the institution and are preparing for the ministry.

This is the most direct and practical way to meet this great and growing demand of our colored ministry. The students who are in literary institutions have neither the time nor the money to take a theological course after they have gone through college. They must have facilities for theological students while in their college course. To deprive them of this, is to deprive them of theological training altogether. Such a department in our colleges does not interfere in the least with the the regular theological school. It rather prepares the way for it, by giving an outline of theological institution, thereby awakening a desire on the part of the student for a more complete course, where it can be reached. But hundreds of our colored preacher will never be able to reach the regular theological institute. So that the limited instruction which they get while pursuing their college studies, will do much towards relieving the present great lack of training for their special work. A partial preparation is better than no preparation at all. If there be now and then one that can take the full course, we will rejoice with him in his great privilege, and insist on his getting all the advantage of the regular theological institute. But this opportunity is not given to the great body of our colored ministry; yet, they all need some help to enable them to continue to lead the people as preachers should. We are enabled in this way to reach all those who can make any preparation whatever for their work.

But let our young preachers, and those who are looking forward to the ministry, be impressed with the fact that they must be prepared for their work to meet the requirements of the increasing intelligence among the people. Once the dumb ass could "open its mouth and rebuke the manners of the prophet," but the days of miracles are past, and we must meet the new condition of things and prepare for our work, if we would succeed.

Mrs. Ann Green.

MISS. JOSEPHINE COWGILL.

In New Orleans, La, Sister Ann Maria Green, wife of Rev. Henry Green, departed this life, Nov. 15th, 1884. Aged 52 years. Sister Green was born in Maryland in the year 1833. At the age of 14 years she gave her heart to God in the Catholic Church, 3 years afterwards she united with the Methodist Church at Wesley Chapel, New Orleans, where for some years Rev. Henry Green was her class leader and afterwards became her husband. Sister Green was a model Christian, and during the 17 years of her married life she faithfully shared the joys and sorrows of an itinerant life—"The heart of her husband did safely trust in her." The beauty and excellency of her every day Christian life were felt and acknowledged by all who knew her. Her deeds of charity were many, but done in quietness and best known to Him, who will one day say to her. "I was naked and ye clothed me, hungry and ye fed me."

Her last sickness was short and accompanied with much suffering, her affliction was disease of the heart. As soon as brought down upon her bed she seemed to realize that her earthly pilgrimage was drawing to a close, and said to a dear sister, who was faithfully watching by her bedside, "Sister Chapman, I can't stay with you long, I must go home to heaven, I want you to take my husband to your home and care for him while he lives."

On Sabbath morning her minister, Rev. Qualls, bowed beside her in prayer, after which she shouted alond the praise of God, saying, "Glory halleluiah! I'll soon be home with Jesus, and my dear father, my mother and sisters, who shouted their way to God through the Catholic Church, glory halleluiah!" It was very evident to her devoted, and sorrow stricken husband that her end of life here was near, and in a prayer of silent agony he bowed by her bedside, then rose up and kissed the silent lips already sealed in the silence and coldness of death. The spirit that had so tenderly and loving cared for and cherished him had now taken its flight. Thus on that bright and beautiful Sabbath morning while church bells were ringing, calling God's people on earth to their places of worship, at that sacred hour, the spirit of our dear, saluted sister was called to "come up higher." She had faithfully served out her term of probation in the church militant and is now transferred to the Church triumphant.

On Monday, at 2 p. m. the funeral services were conducted at her residence, as she had given directions, Revs. Qualls, Cushman, Lyons, Mason, Hudson, Albert and Forest, took part in the services, and then the body of this dearly loved mother in Israel, with the sweet and appropriate words on her bosom, "At rest"—was borne to her long, last earthly resting place. Her last words were "Glory, halleluiah!" Her last end was peace and visions of the glorified.

"Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past,
The battle's fought, the race is won
And thou art crowned at last."

New Orleans, La.

Rev. John Seay.

REV. J. BRADEN, D. D.

This father in Israel was born Oct. 9th, 1794, and died Feb. 8th, 1882, at his home near Lebanon, Wilson county, Tennessee. He never married. In a letter dated March 10th, 1868, to a friend, he says: I embraced religion on Sabbath night Aug. 20th, 1850, at Old Ebenezer, Wilson county, Tenn. I hope I shall never forget that blessed night when God for Christ's sake spoke peace to my soul. I joined the Tennessee Conference in 1821, and traveled eight years—the happiest days of my life. Since the war I have preached very little, I thought it most advisable not to engage in the rebellion, and for that reason many of my warm friends treated me very coldly, but I think their prejudice is subsiding. I am now engaged in building a church on my land for the benefit of the colored people. I hope to finish it this summer. I intended to have a Sunday school and every day school taught in it. I am building it at my own expense. I do not ask any man to pay a dollar." He was among the first preachers who preached in Memphis. His circuit extended over the territory now occupied by nearly a whole conference, and his appointments were nearly a day's ride apart. The roads were blazed through unbroken forests. He has told the writer that he had often rode a whole day without seeing a human being. He was thoroughly converted to temperance when the Lord pardoned his sins. In a letter written on his 90th birthday, only a few months before his death, he wrote to Rev. Dr. J. B. McFerrin: "In my early days it was almost a universal custom to have intoxicating drinks at all gatherings, house raisings, log rollings, etc. I never heard any preacher oppose the custom. I thought it right, and in the winter of 1820 I started a distillery, and ran it three months, and made some excellent whiskey, as some thought. A Baptist preacher was one of my best customers. But the same year 1820 I attended a camp meeting at Old Ebenezer, when at the altar I was enabled to believe, I arose to my feet and shouted, glory to God! I went from the meeting a changed man; I was fully convinced that a man could not be a Christian and a whiskey maker at the same time,—impossible. I abandoned the still house at once. gave the house to Jack, a colored preacher, he preached for years in it. One year while I was on my circuit, my brother William had a large crop of tobacco on hand, and he took the church and filled it with tobacco, and one day or night, it caught fire and was burned up, house and tobacco. Thank the Lord for that that was the end of my house. I believe I was the first man in the State, as far as know, who resolved that he would not permit whiskey to used at his gathering, house raisings, log rollings, etc." Brother Seay was strongly opposed to the use of tobacco, he wrote in this same letter: "I attended the Tennessee Annual Conference of the Church South in Lebanon. I believe I never saw as much tobacco used by preachers, as was used by the preachers of that conference, except the Baptist association perhaps that was a little more filthy; from the bishop down, a majority used the filthy weed. The house was not fit for a decent person to sit in. I said to Brother Plummer who had charge of the conference, "If your conference will organize themselves into a temperance society, and take the pledge to abstain from all intoxicating drinks and tobacco, in all its forms, I will give them a check for $500" For some cause it was not accepted. Bro. Seay recognized the fact of his stewardship for God. He had long planned to give all his property to the church for benevolent purposes, and executed a deed in 1883 to the trustees of the Tennessee Conference of the M. E. Church of all his property in Lebanon, and left by bequest at his death, his home place to the Church South, and to the M. E. Church the other half of his farm, about 114 acres. In 1867 the quarterly conference to which he belonged, in the Church South, refused to pass his character, because he had received and entertained the preachers of the M. E. Church. In consequence of this he, presented his certificate of location to the Tennessee Conference of the M. E. Church at Shelbyville, and was placed upon the supernumerary list, and his last request was that his name might remain at the head of the list, and be called from year to year. He lived a very retired life at his home to which he was closely confined for over three years, as the result of a fall which injured his hip. He was an extraordinary preacher at camp meetings, and an earnest seeker after the souls of men, at all times. He was a slaveholder, and lost his slaves at the emancipation of slaves by the State, but he never seemed to feel otherwise, than that God had wrought a great deliverance for the country, the whites, and the blacks in giving the slaves their freedom. The freedmen had no truer friend nor more ready to relieve their needs. He was a man of great integrity, scrupulously honest, a great friend to the poor, a strong helper of the Negro, a true lover of preachers, and a devout Christian. His end was in great peace.

REV. STEPHEN P. BELL.

This preacher of the Gospel was born a slave in St. Mary's Parish, Louisiana, in 1853, and died in Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 1st, 1885. He early embraced religion and devoted himself to duty as a Christian. He was licensed to preach, and evidenced more than ordinary ability. He entered the Central Tennessee College in 1879 and devoted himself to the study of the English branches and theology. He was an earnest student. He was admitted into the Tennessee Conference of the M. E. Church and received several appointments, attending school whenever his duties could allow. His last appointments were McMinnville and Brentwood. He was beginning his second year on this latter work, when he was called home. He acted as a pastor, and as a director of church work. As a preacher he had few superiors among the young men in the ministry. He was finishing the theological course in the college, and would have graduated in May in this course. God called for him before he received his college diploma, for his work on earth was done.

Letters from the Pastors

Rev. D. Shelly of Fortson, La., writes: "I have ended protracted meeting with 21 converts and 44 probationers of whom several came from other churches to us. We received altogether 92 members this year. We have also raised $36, and ordered lumber to erect a new church."

Rev. H. J. Wright of Nachitoches, La., writes: "Rev. J. F. Marshall of Alexandria, and Rev. M. J. Dyer of Booneville, held the following Sunday-school meetings: Monday Sept. 7th, Natchitoches; Tuesday, 8th, Campte; Wednesday 9th, Robeline; Thursday 10th, Marthaville; Friday 11th, Pleasant Hill, and returned home. Monday night they were on time, notwithstanding it rained, we had a good crowd present. After the usual opening services, with Miss Cornelia Mason at the organ, and after an introduction, Brother Dyer spoke upon the mission of the Sunday school and its relation to the church, and Bro. Marshall upon the "good results and the way to promote its success," and the pastor upon "the progress, its work and needs." Thirty-five asked the prayers of the church. Bro. S. S. Wright failed to put in his appearance or any answer therefor. They were with us on Tuesday when Bros. Marshall and Dyer preached to a good house on the subject of "love." A collection of $5 was taken for the brothers. These meetings assist the pastors, the superintendents, the Sunday-schools and all interested.

Rev. F. White, of Princeton, Ind., writes: "The Church is receiving new life, and promises fair for a great ingathering of souls. The Sunday-school is in a more prosperous condition than usual, the attendance on yesterday being 49 scholars, 3 teachers and 6 visitors. Bro. John Maguiany is the superintendent, Miss Katy Tyler teacher of the infant class. Our church has been made to wear a new appearance by the ever faithful friends, a carpet and new set of chandeliers adds to her appearance greatly. We hope that the Lord will bless our efforts."

Rev. J. R. Carnes, of Goliad, Texas, writes: "At a grand Mother Goose entertainment given by the lady and gentlemen officials of the Mt. Pleasant M. E. Church, at Goliad, Friday and Saturday evenings, Aug. 21-22, we raised $50 10 clear of all expenses, and everybody was well pleased. They intend to repeat the effort in a few days. They aim to raise money enough to pay their church out of debt, and pay their pastor also. Your pastor's prayer is that they may succeed. On Sunday, Aug. 23, we had a Children's Day service, the exercises being both interesting and entertaining. Essays and other appropriate addresses were the crowning features of the day. The exercises were opened by an appropriate address by our Superintendent, Mr. A. B. Whitby, after which responsive sentences, etc. The following took an active part in the services: Miss Ella Bearfield, organist, Mr. J. F. Herd, essay, subject Sunday-school; Miss Mollie Lott, essay, subject, What I live for; Miss O. A. Bearfield, essay, subject Children's Day; Miss Lee Straw, essay, Miss M. Mitchell, dec.; Arthur Lott, Esq., Miss F. J. Billups, essay. The missionary, Bro. [illegible], delivered the address at the closing of the services. Master [illegible] delivered the opening address of the afternoon service. Miss Russell, vice Mrs. W. H. Bosley, [illegible] our church [illegible] Avis. This [illegible] has been made to the public will [illegible] to Sunday services. I will tell you: the pastor was absent on Children's Day, and the Sunday-school superintendent thought it best to wait until he arrived; he arrived and the day set for the third Sunday in July, and he was again unavoidably detained in Corpus Christi, by high water; so the fourth Sunday in August was set, and we have had the services. The first Sunday in August the writer was in Alleyton, at Bro. Coggswell's appointment, attending the funerals of his wife and child. He found the brethren on the Columbus district alive to their work; over 300 conversions on the district this year. I met with that West Texas Conference warrior, Rev. P. M. Carmichael, presiding elder of the district. He is looking fine, hale and hearty, and speaks as if he is confident of gaining the front missionary financial rank this year. Bro. Carmichael is a worker, and preacher. No presiding elder has made a better showing than he has since the West Texas Conference organization. The conference has ministers in it much older than him, but none more earnest in labors, far-seeing and commanding in ability. This man is a giant in our conference and his services as a presiding elder is indispensable. He is attracting attention everywhere throughout his district as a worker and a preacher, even the white people anxiously attend his quarterly meetings. Truly this young man has won for himself the confidence of the conference and those who advocated his appointment as presiding elder. The Lord look upon us and give us more like spirited, cultured, conservative men throughout our conference, is the prayer of the writer. I am glad here to inform the many readers of the SOUTHWESTERN that we have others coming in the person of such young men as the Revs. M. Smith, J. T. Gibbons, Silas Harvy, W. Reed, A. M. Mason, E. Henderson, W. H. Mosby and others."

Rev. A. Lockhart, of Milford and Chambers Creek, Texas, writes: "Autumn is here with its faded leaves, and the farmers are busy gathering their crops, and our presiding elder, W. H. Davis, is making his fourth round. I wrote on the 20th of June that our school house was burned. Milford membership was small, 38 on the entire work, and very scattering. However, the pastor, finding no official members to counsel and plan for the up-building of Christ's kingdom, the writer went to work and organized class meetings and prayer meetings were kept up until June 30th, in which the following named gentlemen at Milford, whose wives were members of our Church, viz: T. Thood, John Wright, T. McFadden, Alex. Sims, D. C. Carter and others, went forward, bought lumber on time, the church lot being purchased, and by August 30, 1885, a house 20x30 was built; and the writer opened a protracted effort, and the result was 9 conversions and 7 from other churches. Our presiding elder, W. H. Davis, held our third quarterly conference and spared no time but worked like a hero for the Master. Our benevolent assessment is $15 this year, and all in sight. Received in full connection this year, 18; probationers, 16; at our two Sunday-schools, average attendance, 100; Sunday-school journals taken, 7; Bereans, 24; Beginner's leaf, 6. We met the trustees and those men who built the church at Milford on Oct. 7, 1885, raised $70 and paid the church out of debt. The preacher who comes here next year will have a better time, I hope, financially and spiritually."

Rev. D. Miller, of Hawesville, Ky., writes: "My circuit is spiritually and financially alive, and I am having a good time. Rev. A. Booker, our presiding elder, was with us on the 15th and 16th of this month, and held our second quarterly meeting, and we had an enjoyable time. At night he preached and the church was wonderfully revived by his rousing sermon; after which the Lord's Supper was administered to 73 members. Collected $19. Now a word for our class-leaders. Bro. Alonzo Miller, Wm. Grimes and S. R. Nickerson are extraordinary class leaders and good, trusty stewards. Bro. Frank Landers will do better after he is married; Bro. John Butler is a good talker and the best collecting steward on the district. Stephen Miller is a good leader and a useful recording steward, who reads and loves our church law. So we are moving on grandly; we have built a new parsonage, furnished it with heavy furniture, and on the night after moving therein I was surprised by a large number of members and friends, led by Mr. John Butler, Mrs. Jane Grimes and Mrs. E. Linthecon, who left us a cart load of provisions."

H. J. Wright, Natchitoches, La., writes: "We are now in the midst of an interesting protracted meeting, with 26 anxious souls at the altar. Some of the prominent persons of our congregation are in this number. We have had five deaths in two days. All Saints' Day was observed here among all denominations quite extensively. The failure of Rev. Dr. Albert to fulfill his appointment here on the 30th, in behalf of the Exposition was a sad disappointment to both white and colored, as an expectation of a treat was at fever heat."

Rev. E. Harris, of Vernal circuit, Miss., writes: "I found no church at the camp ground, but in a few weeks we will have one for the camp meeting. We have added to the church 60 members. The work is in a good condition. On the 5th and 6th of September Rev. W. McDonald, presiding elder, was with us and held our third quarterly conference at the camp ground, about 27 miles west of Moss Point. The elder preached one of those good old sermons, and administered the Lord's Supper to 30 souls. We are trying to build up the cause of Christ on the Vernal circuit.

Rev. W. M. Stevens, of Waelder and Peach Creek circuit, Texas, writes: "I had a protracted meeting after getting the church aroused, and it resulted in many souls being brought to the marvelous light of the Gospel. From this our work seems to move forward; even the Sobbath-school became more prosperous in every particular. During the winter and spring we had with us our much beloved teacher, Mr. H. W. Pope, who took an active part in developing the cause of our Sunday school. He was our public school teacher. On the 29th of July we pitched a camp meeting. In the onset there seemed to be quite a dissension among the brethren, but in the midst of opposition, by the help of the Lord, it seemed that all hinderance was removed, and after battling with Satan ten days the Lord wonderfully blessed us with the conversion of 23 souls, and of this number 21 joined the Methodist Episcopal Church. The whole number was baptized, 16 by pouring and 5 by immersion. During our camp meeting we were blessed with the assistance of our beloved elder, Carmichael, and Rev. E. E. Cooper, who rendered faithful service during their stay. Financially speaking I have been very short all the year, but as cotton is in a lively state, it increases my purse. The benevolent money has about all been collected. I expect to go to Austin with every dime of what I can raise when the annual conference meets there. We are preparing to prepare our new church with new altar and new seats by the fourth quarterly conference. The SOUTHWESTERN is highly prized in this section of country. May it do much good in propagating religion among our people."

Rev. S. S. Stone, of Lawrenceville, Ills, writes: "I want to inform you of our quarterly meeting. We had a good time. The elder, C. Jones, was with us and preached an able sermon. Rev. H. Knight was with us. We raised $26. The outlook is good; the church is in a good condition."

Rev. F. Harvey, Mansfield, La., writes: "The Lord has blessed us here; times have been tight, but he has so far brought us through. We have put a new fence around, and a new pulpit in the church; we also have a new altar and carper. Now we are going to work for the "million for missions." I have 12 new members. We had a grand district conference, and we raised $86 10 here."

Rev. R. Weaver, of Hawkins, Texas, writes: "I have had a very good time this year in winning souls to Christ, but money matters have been very bad and are yet. This leaves me hard at work for the missionary cause, and, the Lord being my helper, I shall raise my assessment, and I hope every brother of the West Texas Conference will do the same. But please remember I have not forgotten the SOUTHWESTERN. I shall do my best for it. My fourth quarterly conference was held at Hawkins, Sept. 5 6, by Rev. Geo. W. Smith. He was on time, and he gave us a grand talk about our duties in all parts of the church work. On Sunday he preached a noble sermon that reached the sinners' hearts; many of them gave the elder their hands, with a promise to return from their sins. A large number of members partook of the Lord's Supper. Collection, $3.15."

Rev. A. J. Pickett, of New Iberia, La., writes: "We are all hard at work here temporally and spiritually. The members of St. James Chapel are nearly all making crops of cotton or sugar, and some of them have both on their own farms. The crops are good and the outlook very cheerful. Bros. J. A. Richards, Superintendent of our Sunday-school, and Rev. E. B. Richards are of those who have both sugar and cotton. One stalk of their cane weighed 10 pounds and is nine feet long. They have a patch of cotton which is to be appropriated to meeting the expense of getting the pastor to conference. They call it the Monroe cotton We are all doing what we can for the Gilbert-Haven School of Theology."

Rev. T. M Tompkins, of Watson, Indiana, writes: "We have not been very prosperous in money matters this year, but otherwise we have had a good time. The following figures will tell our work: Adults baptized, 14; conversions, 20; added to the church, 35. The Sunday-school is growing fast; we have four teachers and a good organ. Our new presiding elder gives satisfaction in every respect. We hope to step up to the million line here."

Rev. G. W. Cannon, of Soddy circuit, East Tennessee Conference, writes: "My first quarterly meeting was held Nov. 21-22 by the presiding elder, Rev. E. Provine, with a fair number of the members of the conference present. For the first time in the history of this circuit the quarterly conference was held in Soddy. 17 persons each paid 25 cents, one paid 50 cents, others paid smaller amounts; total collection $6.32. The presiding elder preached three sermons which left a lasting impression on the congregation composed as it was of the different denominations in this village. 150 persons partook of the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. We have commenced raising our benevolent collections. Pray for us."

Rev. R. B. McAlpin, of Clinton, Miss., writes: "We raised $19 on the Clinton circuit for benevolent purposes; on the 11th I raised $11.50, and on the 18th $8.25; so I now have all my benevolent money collected. The following persons were on my soliciting committee: R. B. Williams, 70 cents; Fannie Henderson, $2.60; Mary E. Coats, $2.45; Cora Luckett, $3 05; Mollie Williams, $3.20. Rosa Bird; 35 cts.; Katie Hooker, $4.30; Green Mickel 55 cents; Mary Jane Adams, 10 cents; Joseph Holie, 25 cents.

Rev. A. J. Turner, St. James M. E. Church, Beaumont Texas, writes: "Our church at this place upon my coming to it seemed to be in quite a low state, caused I suppose by too frequent a change of pastors. I am the fifth preacher sent here this year. Beaumont is a city of about 2500 inhabitants located on the west bank of the Neches river, and accessible by rail North and South, and East and West, and is the county seat of Jefferson County. There is three other colored churches in this place besides our own, viz: A. M. E. Church; Live Oak Baptist, and East Mt. Olive Baptist Church. When I arrived here I found the church in quite a dilapidated state, the members being scattered, etc. I went in the name of Christ, and in a short time I gathered in the lost ones and by the help of God revived their drooping spirits, and thanks be to His Name, we are once more on the march. We have a neat and comfortable church which at every service is filled to its utmost capacity, by an attentive congregation. Our Sunday school is also in a fine condition, with Miss A. L. Martin as Superintendent, assisted by S. E. Pipkin. We have a fine organ also."

N. Toole, Daieville, Miss., writes: "My protracted meetings commenced on the 1st Sunday in August, at Lockhart, 4 joined the church and one on probation, had no conversions. My next meeting was at Dalevilie, here we met with some success, the Lord made Himself present as he did at Lockhart. We had about 50 to join in all, 10 or 12 were happily converted, among them was John A. Bell, a brother to Rev. L. J. S. Bell, and I want him to know it. Leaving Daieville after the 3d Sunday, Monday night found me at Ebenezer, we were engaged here until Friday night. Here we also had a good time, 2 joined the church, but we were hindered by the rain, which continued to fall during the week. I met Prof. J. H. Brooks, of Meridian, who was teaching a public school there, and Bro. S. Brown of the same city, a local preacher who helped me in my meetings there. I believe we left an impression among the people. Leaving that place the fourth Sunday found me at Snowden's church, (Mt. Olive,) 300 or 400 persons were present to hear the funeral sermon of Bro. Toney Griffin, a member of our church. We met here 3 days, 30 joined us here. God blessed our labors. Our white friends took a great interest in our meeting. 15 were happily converted to the Lord. I am trying to raise all the money I can for benevolent purposes. I am raising another new church on my work."

Letters From the Laity.

Mr. J. D. Sharber, Indianola, Texas, writes: "I spent 5 days in the early part of August, visiting the parents of Dr. G. J. Starnes, of Goliad, and making acquaintances. They are old "Tennesseeans," and being from Tennessee we found plenty to talk about. After returning to Victoria, I took the train the next morning bound for Galveston, to visit my aunt, Mrs. C. A. Wilkins, whom I had not seen since she was married, by Rev. J. Braden, in Central Tennessee College, Nashville, Tenn., in 1880. There was little attractiveness on the way, to one who is somewhat used to scenery, the extensive prairie land and numerous cattle grazing thereon, except the city of Houston, the future metropolis of Texas, and other small towns of note, Edna, Wharton and Richmond. The latter is the county seat of Fort Bend county, Texas. The colored people are in the majority in this county, and wisely use it by electing such as are worthy of their race to fill many of the county and district offices, and in addition send a representative to the Texas Legislature; thus demonstrating to the whites their fitness to govern and to be governed. After ten hour's ride I'm in the Island City, Galveston, Texas, and soon after myself and baggage are deposited in the residence of my uncle, Dr. J. H. Wilkins, corner Ninth and Broadway. After a hearty hand shaking and greeting, etc., I retired to bed, which had been prepared by my aunt, and rose early, after a pleasant night's rest, to better see them. After rising the first thing to be seen was the additions to family, Tommie, Percy, Willie and the baby not named. Bright promising little boys. After nearly two week's pleasant stay and riding around with the Doctor to see his patients, making acquaintance with some of the best families and society people of Galveston. Dr. Wilkins is doing well, stands high among the people and bids fair to do well. Dr. E. B. Ramsey, of Houston, Texas, a class mate of Dr. J. H. Wilkins, paid the Doctor a visit, while I was there. He spoke of much sickness, and being kept busy. Texas agrees with Dr. Ramsey and family. Doctor make it your home, Texas need men of yours and Dr. Wilkin's pluck, honesty and intelligence. I left the city on the 1st inst., to resume my work of teaching in Indianola, and opened on the 7th. I have a good attendance and am moving along nicely. There are only 2 colored schools in the county. The other at Lavaca, is taught by Miss Fannie F. Ellis, of Victoria, a young lady, who is a graduate of the Normal department, of Central Tennessee College, in class of 85. This is her first school, and I understand she is making quite an impression on the minds of the people among whom she labors. Success to you Miss Ellis.

Miss Mary M. Stevens, Steubenville, O., writes: "Latimer Chapel has had some hard struggles, but as she has her foundation on the solid rock of Christ Jesus, she yet lives, and enjoys the blessings of God, and we have great cause to believe that if we continue to labor in the right way that by and by she will flourish as the bay tree planted by the river side. Rev. W. H. Brown is our pastor now. I have been taking your paper for very near one year and have found it the best and most interesting paper I ever read, and the more I read it the more I enjoy it. I am glad to know of our race so rapidly elevating itself. I believe that there can not be found any where upon the face of the globe another race that can surpass us. I am glad of my accomplishments, but am far behind my brother and sister, who have accomplished so much in life, yet I am glad that I am a member of such a race."

From the Districts.

Okolona District—Mississippi Conference.

REV. D. A. WILLIAMS, P. E.

I have closed my third round for this year, holding in person 81 conference.

The Okiona district has 28 appointments, and a part of them are a long the line of the Mobile and Ohio railroad, from Crawford to Corinth, and the Illinois Central railroad from Aberdeen to Sturges and the interior lays from 16 to 30 miles from any railway. We have to make our way to these points in a wagon, as no common mule or horse would be able to carry us and do much good afterwards.

Mr. Editor: As we have said nothing this year, and but little now I hope you will allow me space, so that each brother will see his name in print; you know how it will help us, presiding elders.

West Point is in charge of Bro. Richard Snell, who was very acceptable to the people, and who has proved a successful pastor and church governor. The Lord has greatly blessed his labors by the conversion of a great many souls, and additions to the church. The people of West Point are greatly in need of a house to worship God in, and our enemies, the African Methodist Episcopal Church are strongly against us, and take great pleasure in sowing dissension among the more illiterate class, of our church members, and continues to make war against our church. Our people are willing to have a new church, and the words white masters are spoken at us daily. Any assistance that could be donated to this charge would be thankfully received and faithfully applied.

Union Grove is in charge of Bro. T. W. Davis, who reported at the third quarterly conference one hundred and fifty-five souls added to the church this year. Bro. Davis is a young man who bids fair to make one of our most able Methodist preachers, and is greatly beloved by all who know him. His work lies from 10 to 25 miles East of the Mobile and Ohio railroad, in a portion of the finest farming lands in Monroe county.

Webster is in charge of Mr. Wm. Gatewood, who is doing a grand work and is generally successful as a pastor and a builder. He reports his work spiritually in a good condition, but financially poor, and his support is but little, so much so that his family are compelled to hire out to make a living, but he has stood to his post like a Methodist preacher.

West Point circuit is in charge Bro. John Everett, who has stood at his post with very little to subsist upon. The circuit is poor and quite extensive in area, but the Lord has blessed them this year in adding many souls.

Bridges is in charge of I. M. Thomas, who is doing an excellent work, for the Lord has blessed his labors with many precious souls who have been awakened and brought to the light and glory and love of God. Our property is improved on that work. He has begun to organize a church at Artesia with a splendid outlook.

Aberdeen is in charge of B. J. Griffin, who is at his post and doing a good work for the Master's kingdom. Good results, and is much loved by the people. We pray that God may bless him in all his labors.

The charge of Bro. James Hall has labored under very discouraging circumstances on account of his afflicted family, and himself and family have been confined to their bed, the entire year; but we are glad to say that in spite of his surroundings, he has been able to do much work, many precious souls have been converted and added to the church, and he is to be commended for his faithfulness to his charge. Mississippi Conference will have completed their church which was commenced last year, by the late L. B. Griffin, a house will ever live in the hearts of the members of the Mississippi Conference, and the people of Starkville, who knew him until the wheel of life was stopped by death. Bro. Hall has had two very successful revivals resulting in more than 100 conversions and one of the most successful was out of 47 conversions 33 of these were men of the town of Starkville, 6 or 8 of them leading members in the public schools. Starkville is a junction for the Mobile and Ohio and I. C. railroads and the work is not sold by the preacher.

Starkville circuit is in charge of Bro. White, and is one of our best in its size. The work is blessed with the presence of the Holy Spirit. A number have been converted and added to the church, and generous collections have been made. The people are generally poor and Bro. White with the assistance of the Okolona circuit will have little financial Bro. B. H. S. in charge of the many Bro. Ferguson's appointments of the Conference is a junction for the Mobile and Ohio railroads and the work is not sold by the preacher.

Macon

HE SOUTHWESTERN

MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D., Editor

THURSDAY, DEC. 3, 1885.

Sixty students have been ostracised from Ohio Wesleyan University for attending theatres. The old Roman Payne is like a mountain of steel in the firmness of his purpose to guard the morals of his wards. Amen!

The press of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, are sounding the key note 150 missionaries for China. Ours is calling for a Million for Missions, and both should have that for which they are calling. Give, and go, are the watch words in order now.

Mr. W. H. Vanderbilt has nearly completed on Staten Island, N. Y., a mausolenm which will cost from $250,000. Thus will he defeat the possibility of post mortem troubles on account of his body such as occurred in the case of Mr. A. T. Stewart.

Among the contributors to the Chautauqua for December, may be mentioned Dr. J. H. Vincent, Edward Everett Hale, Dr. A. A. Livermore, George Alfred Townsend, Charles Barnard, Bishop Marat, G. Brown Goode, William Weaver Wilkinson and President B. H. Wheeler.

A discussion of war reminiscences is now progressing between Dr. Simmons and Col. Lewis. There was the first regiment of United States colored troops raised, in South Carolina or Louisiana, is the form of it. Simmons had the best speech in the American Baptist and it looks like he has the argument, but Col. Lewis says his next beating will put Louisiana on top. We can wait, and if needed say a word later.

The following special course of sermons to young men, by Rev. John J. Reed, pastor of St. Paul Methodist Episcopal Church, Cincinnati, Ohio, are quite interesting and noteworthy: Oct. 11, Sermon before the Society. "Phillip's Work or God's Committee of One." Oct. 12, The faithful young man. Oct. 13, The decided young man. Nov. 1, The diligent young man. Nov. 8, The devout young man. Nov. 15, The discreet young man. Nov. 22, The young man dissipated and doomed.

Quite a number of ventures in journalism are announced by the sudden appearance of new visitors at our sanctum. But we must apply the good old Methodist rule, and take them on probation. After the same journal proves its ability to live by making three successive arrivals in our office we shall give it a notice. In some instances we have printed notices of new papers which had finished their course before our notices were in type.

Predestination.

Eph. II. The predestination of this passage of Scripture, is such as can be understood by understanding the law of "Cause and Effect." God had ordained, that certain effects shall infallibly follow certain causes.

Wickedness and righteousness are causes, and their respective effects are reprobation or acceptance by our heavenly Father. But man is constituted man, that by his will, he may elect either of these causes; but after such election or choice, he cannot change the effect.

Only righteousness, in the churches, will be saved, and rejects unrighteousness, so that the predestination in this text and [illegible] Paul's day, is now.

Editorial Perambulations.

IN THE SUGAR BELT.

From the Crescent City to Bunkie, where Dr. Albert is holding a model plantation quarterly conference, with Rev. Morris J. Dyer, three miles from the railroad station, is 164 miles over the Texas Pacific road.

The road is rough enough to keep me "ever mindful and fearful of death" to be sure.

Bro. Albert is not here, neither is Bro. Dyer, or the expected vehicle for transportation to the church at Boonsville, so with one good, and wishful look at the many little cheerful cottages, wherein dwell lighted hearted and happy, a people whose souls know no care, whose creature wishes are well nigh all supplied, we roll on to Alexandria, 32 miles further, where we shall spend the Sabbath with Rev. J. F. Marshall.

The country all along this section of the above railroad is devoted to sugar culture; with here and there just a little bit of cotton, still less corn, and at considerable stretches swamps and dense cane brakes.

The sugar mills are in full blast, for it is delightful weather and the very highth of the cutting season.

On every plantation scores of men, women and children, not one white one among them, are to be seen cutting; piling and hauling the cane. The air from fields and mills is charged with the most delightful saccharine odors.

The land is inexhaustible for fatness, and so is the malaria for its death dealing affect on white men in all these flats.

Almighty God has divided this country into heights for whites and delta for blacks; freezing the blacks out of the former, and burning the whites out of the latter, thus he gives and keeps each in his given place.

The lesson is mutual help, since mutual dependence of each of these peoples upon the other.

ALEXANDRIA.

Here we have a good church, of course a frame. Louisiana has not gone beyond that yet, excepting Wesley and Ames churches in New Orleans. It is a nice frame though, with the conventional tongue and grooved stained board ceiling, flourishing in this country where pine and cypress abounds in wasteful prodigality.

Rev Israel Thomas is the pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church here, whose congregation will soon have a new house. Union Baptist is older and larger in membership. George Washington is the pastor. We have a good parsonage, with five rooms neatly furnished, a large front veranda, airy rooms, plenty to eat, and it is to be hoped no need of a missionary appropriation, but fully ready to aid in raising a million of dollars for those who do.

Bro. Marshall is in high esteem with his people, a man of versatile culture and we should think quite fit to succeed in the presiding elder ate of this district, which has a change this year.

Rev. R. T. Lonis, the pastor, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, at Port Gibson, Miss., returning from a prospecting tour in Northern Lonsiana, Texas and Arkansas, in behalf of 250 families of Negroes in Mississippi, who propose to come West of the river and settle in the low lands where the soil is richer and more productive in sunshine, cotton and sugar, met us here. The project meets no apposition in Mississippi, and has been accepted and greeted with profound favor in the States named where large parcels of land has been contracted for as follows: In Louisiana, Rapides parish, 5,000 acres, on both sides of Red river; Natchitoches parish, La., 8,000 acres, every alternate section donated. Arkansas, Little River and Grand counties. 10,000 acres; Texas, Brazoria and Matagorda counties; 10,000 acres, at from five to ten dollars per acre. And of these lots 10,000 acres have been accepted by Mr. Louis and he says some of the emigrants will move early in the spring and others in the fall.

So we are solving the problem. Free labor is putting its self where it obtains the best returns for its toil, making the States richer by reason of the increase of production, and healthier by so much as they clear up the jungles and cultivate the abounding swamps of this region.

SUNDAY ON RED RIVER, LOUISIANA.

It is Sabbath morning and our church bell is ringing the call to early prayer meeting. Pastor J. F. Marshall and Rev. R. T. Lons are gone, but the greater part of Alexandria is still abed.

The morning is clear and balmy, the sun is rising bright and beautiful, May has tarried in the lap of November. The fragrance of pine, rose, delicate pink, cream colored, of honey suckles in bloom, of winter pinks, buff and white; of geraniums and batchelor buttons, load the air resonant with its burden of songs, exhortations and prayers which enters our chamber adjoining the church and awaken us from sleep.

Family worship over, the Apostles creed is repeated, Miss Blanche Pierre, age 15 and Miss Liatta Marshall, age 6 years, leading and the rest joining.

Under the guiding genius of Mrs. Alice M. Marshall, every want has been anticipated, every comfort provided, and every detail of suberb housekeeping arranged.

Over the mantle is suspended an illustrated certificate which sets forth that on Jan. 16, 1868, at New Orleans, La., Rev. Christopher Hunt united in marriage Rev. J. Franklin Marshall to Miss Alice M. Smith. Revs. James Hayward and J. W. E. Bowen, witnesses.

"Marriage is honorable in all and the bed undefiled." So believing they have hung aloft this evidence of it. On either side of the certificate were large fresh arranged boquets, and a large painting of Dr. Revels, is suppended on the wall, with smaller ones of several others.

At breakfast, dinner and supper the table groans beneath its weight of rare delicacies. Mrs. Jennie Mitchell, wife of Alto Mitchell, Esq., aided in serving and supplying it. Mr. Mitchell is a freeholder in good circumstances, owning two houses worth in all $2,500. He is an active official member of Murray Street Church, Bro. Marshall's charge.

Miss Alice Thomas is superintendent of the Sunday-school, and very efficient. The church is neatly furnished, a fine piece of statuary representing Christ annointing the eyes of a blind man, furnishes a centre piece for the pulpit.

Our day's work consisted of a visit to Pineville, and an address in Macedonia Chapel, to the Sunday-school, Rev. Travis Larkin, pastor. 59 persons were present, 40 children and 19 adults. This is a neat little frame, not quite finished, well located and adjoined by a country owned by the colored people.

Pineville is separated from Alexandria by Red river, and both towns, with the country, bury their colored dead, who belong to our church there. The Baptists have one of their own.

We next lectured the Sunday-school in Alexandria, which prolonged their session until our arrival.

It was rally day and $51 05 was the result as follows: morning collection, $4; evening, $7.35; afternoon, $38.35; by the classes as follows: No. 1. George Coleman, leader, $3.50; No. 2. Warren Ezell, leader, $2,55; No. 3. Edward Powell, $8; No. 4. Asa Garrett, $6 05; No. 5. Susan Barksdale. $5.15; No. 6. Alto Mitchell, $4.45; No. 7. Adam Barksdale, 50cts: No. 8. Cora Armstead, $3.10; and No. 9. J. F. Marshall, $5.05. Besides this eight new and one renewed subscriber was taken.

The services were good and the audiences large. The day was as well spent as it was bright and cheerful.

These people need only confidence in themselves and faith in God, all other things they have for happiness if they will use them. There was 75 children, and 45 adults in the Alexandria Sunday-school, and at the afternoon hour, John William Henry, infant son of Frank and Fanny Pipes, by the editor were baptized. He was two years old. All around, Sunday, Nov. 22d, was a day of rejoicing in Alexandria.

England and the Irish.

Mr. Parnell, the Irish agitator, is a separatist—that is he urges the separation of Ireland from England as a solution of the Irish problem and the end of agitation. In this view some members of Parliament agree with him, which, upon anything like a party vote, are the balance of power and quite sufficient to make trouble and impede legislation at all times. The new ministry find themselves assuming the direction of the government under serious difficulties and increasing complications. It looks as if Great Britain had already had her last king; or otherwise as if the King of England is destined to wield the sceptre over a greatly contracted empire.

As a rule American Irish and Negroes are so like in many indns. trial pursuits that they agree in very few public sentiments. But we do not see why England should longer charge herself with the guardianship of these people in Ireland any longer. If they are incapable of self government they will sooner demonstrate their incapacity by being charged with that duty. And if they are competent for self-government it is unjust and oppressive for England to violently impose a foreign government upon them. We believe in freedom and self-government to all men, and in the extension of aid to all who need and request it.

Just From Our Book Concern.

The Children's Museum. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe; New York, Phillips & Hunt. Price not given.

The Children's Museum is a collection of sketches, stories and poems, illustrated with numerous engravings. There is not one dull page in it. It is the first, brightest and best on hand for the holiday season. Every child who sees it will want it, and those who have it will read it and be better and sweeter and happier for it. It is a book, no, the book for small children, who can read a little and who will be greatly aided by its clusters of big, life like pictures. The reading is in short, nice sketches, and poems with pictures on almost every page, and there are 162 of them in an 8m. volumn. "The Finding of Moses" is a beautiful picture; "Our Cats" is amusing; "The Angel Appearing to the Shepherds" is a gem of a picture, which calls up Christmas memories. But to see one little fellow astride another's back, riding on the floor, will make any boy laugh and grow fat.

Then there is "Bim's Dog," a fine shaggy fellow, who looks straight at you till you almost see his ears move and hear him growl. But the evening prayer both as written and illustrated, are exceeding all in beauty. If persons want to please and improve their little ones all at the same time, and at the least cost, they should send for this book.

The Right to Sell African Land.

Col. Wauvermans, President of the Royal Georgaphical Society, of Antwerp, has written and published a history of the Republic of Liberia, from the earliest to the present times.

In this work the question "Can indipendent chiefs of savage tribes cede to private citizens or companies the whole or part of their States, with the sovereign rights which pertain to them?" is answered in affirmative.

The book was written at the instance of Leopold II King of Belgium.

In these days of commercial bustle, and of territorial extension and aggrandizement such a decision of the question is a strategic necessity and might be expected, under the axiom of "where there is a will there is a way." But in the past when Liberia proposed to acquire an extension of territory in this way, the question was decided to the reverse of the view now taken.

We think it Liberia has the troops and the arms she should march into the interior and seize whatever is useful there in the name of God, Africa and the Republic, and that she should answer any officious European querist as to her procednre with a charge of solid shot.

Church Polity.

MR. EDITOR—Ought members of the church play croquet and cards, or give and attend candy stews or candy pullings, or sing such songs as "Old Tab," etc.

YOUNG CHRISTIAN.

Answer—Supposing that you mean should a Methodist Episcopal Church member do the things you mention, our answer is:

1. They should play croquet very sparingly, if at all. It should never interfere with any hour of study, worship, church service, private, or public duty. It should not be allowed to rest upon the mind except when engaged in it, nor be made the theme of social conversation at any time or place except when the game is being proposed or played. It should, when played by church members, be between boys alone or girls alone. Under these rules, checks and guards it may be a useful diversion from care and study, and an innocent exercise to those who have no other means of taking exercise after indoor sedentary labor.

2. Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church should not under any circumstances play cards. It is a game of chance, it suggests schemes and plans of ascertaining that which is legitimately unknowable to the player until the game is decided, namely, what is in his opponent's "hand." These schemes and plans are grounded in a laxness of morals expressed, in gamblers parlance, by the word "cheat." But since the very inspiration to do this cheating is the game itself, it follows that the game tends to immorality, because cheating is immoral. Therefore, a member of the Methodist Episcopal church should not play at games of cards. See Dis. 1884, page 133, par. 233.

3. Candy stews or candy pullings are not offensive to any order of our Church in themselves, and if there is nothing associated with them which offends either the good conscience of the doer or the Discipline of the Church, then our members might with propriety give to and attend them within proper limits. These limits are as follows: 1st. A Christian boy or girl should not attend a candy stew or any other entertainment without the consent of their parents or guardians, if they are within consulting distance. 2. Christians should not attend such things when given by persons who are either practically or theoretically opposed to Christianity. "One of the more particular duties of church membership is that of Christ and seeking the intimacy of friendly society among themselves." Dis. 1884, p.p. 222-223, par. 403. They should neglect no Christian duty to attend them.

4. Singing such songs as "Old Tab," is not any part of a Christian's duty, nor of any value to him. Negro minstrelsy has always been very popular, but never very useful, and, to us, never very entertaining. The Church advises against lightness and such singing as is not in the name and to the glory of God. Your conscience, if good and tender, will revolt at the cruel mockery of involuntary ignorance characteristic of such songs. We judge that you ought not to sing them, but that instead of them you ought to buy our Hymn Book, learn our hymns, and sing them. If you cannot find means to buy the revised and latest and most costly, buy an old or a cheap edition of our own hymn book, for sale at any of our book houses, and then learn and sing the hymns. Singing is a considerable part of Christian worship, but what are we worshiping when Christ is not in the song we sing?

Philadelphia means a city of brotherly love; but those who anticipate a sojourn in its capacious precincts, and expect the brotherly greeting that the term naturally suggests, had better be sure that not one drop of Negro blood courses in his veins.—Delaware Conference Standard.

For the SOUTHWESTERN.

How to Live Like A Christian.

REV. S. S. SMITH, WEST TEXAS CONF.

First it is not enough to say that I am a Christian. I must act it by coming up to every duty; and to be a Christian I must be consecrated to God, soul, body and mind; for a Christian should be perfect in love.

While it is a commandment of God, "Be ye perfect as your father in Heaven is perfect;" therefore, to be a true servant of God, we must live true to ourself, true to our fellow men and true to God.

In the Scriptures we have the command that, "If any man will be my disciple, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me." Therefore no Christian, or child of God can have this world's goods or pleasures, and be a servant of God; for he or she must deny himself of the pleasures of this world, and be resigned to the will of God, who says, "If you love me, keep my commandments."

And to do this we must be fully consecrated to God daily and hourly. Showing that we are willing to be lead by his hand in every demand of the Spirit of God; so we may say, "Thy will be done, thy kingdom come," in whatever condition we may be, that is what thy kingdom come means.

The will of God is, that we should be submissive; and should we fail to keep the commandment of God, we will miss the design of God.

He has designed that all should be delivered; for in the commandments it is written, "Love the Lord [illegible] all thy heart, with all thy soul and mind, and thy neighbor as thyself; for on this hangs all the law and the prophets.

A Doubly Good Work.

All people who eat are indebted to the Royal Baking Powder Company not more for having perfected and prepared a leavening agent that is pure and wholesome beyond a question than for the exposures, so boldly made, of the numerous impure, adulterated and injurious articles that are sold under the name of baking powders, bread preparations, etc., in the community. In making these exposures the Company has, of course, made itself the target for all sorts of counter attacks, but the solemn af these attacks has been perfectly understood by the general public, and by their very virulence have served to more prominently call attention to the good work of the "Royal" Company.

Food frauds of the usual class, such as wooden nutmegs, chicory coffee and watered milk, although they are swindles in a commercial sense, are often tolerated because they do not particularly affect the health of the consumer. But when an article like baking powder that is relied upon for the healthful preparation of almost every meal is so made as to carry highly injurious, if not rankly poisonous elements into our daily food it would seem to be the duty of the press as well as of the criminal authorities to take cognizance of it.

In the fight for pure food made by the "Royal" Company some time ago, when its guns were particularly trained against the alumn baking powders, it was noticed that the most trustworthy scientific authorities were emphatically upon its side. So in the recent contest with the lime and other impure baking powders the result has proved that every statement made by the Royal Baking Powder Company, both as to the purity of its own and the adulteration of other baking powders of the market, was fully authorized by the most competent chemist and medical authorities of the country.

In this contest two facts have been pretty conclusively settled in the minds of the public—the first, that the Royal Company has found the means, and use them, to make a chemically pure article of food, and the other that the average baking powder, no matter how strongly endorsed by "commercial chemists" is an exceedingly doubtful preparation.

Pure baking powders are one of the chief aids to the cook in preparing perfect and wholesome food. The recent controversy in the press has left it no longer a question with those who desire purity and wholesomeness of food what baking powder they shall use.

A VERY NARROW ESCAPE.—Yes, I had a very narrow escape. I was attacked with a violent cold, and alarming symptoms of consumption. One bottle of Dr. Davis's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar entirely cured me. John H. Bewley, Smyrna, Del, Use Dr. Davis's Liver Pills.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; It produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

DANGER SIGNAL.

When a person gives you counterfeit money he perpetrates a crime against the law and your pecuniary interests; but when he gives you an inferior and dangerous medicine in the place of one of recognized and well known curative properties he commits the blackest of crimes, for he conspires against your health and life.

"The New York Herald," Sept. 21, 1885, says: "To endorse a counterfeit medicine is to injure the manufacturer and the buyer, and the buyers will soon drop away from a counterfeited medicine that they find worthless. Manufacturers of counterfeit articles fail because they have not the experience and apparatus of the large manufacturer to produce the same corative results. The large manufacturers have the utmost incentive, while they are protected, to make their medicine as perfect and curative as possible."

For example, take the experience of Simmons Liver Regulator prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., of Philadelphia; their firm has devoted years of time, employed the most eminent chemists of the land, and spent thousands of dollars in bringing their medicine to the perfection it has attained. They expended a large amount of money in bringing it to the attention of the people, and its use has made Simmons Liver Regulator widely popular. In order to make money from the great reputation gained by this remedy, unscrupulous adventurers have gotten up cheap counterfeits, dangerous to health, and stick on these frauds a name closely resembling Simmons Liver Regulator, to deceive the unwary into buying their inferior goods.

FERNANDINA, Nassau Co., Fla.

"I have used Dr. Simmons Liver Regulator and always found it to do what is claimed for it. The last bottle and two packages did me no good and were worse than nothing. I see it is not put up by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and not genuine, and a waste of money to buy it. I would be glad to get the pure and genuine. Send me some from honest hands (with red Z and Zeilin & Co.'s signature on the Wrapper). The fictitious stuff sold will injure some one badly.

BENJ. T. RICH."

The genuine Simmons Liver Regulator has become the Faultless Family Medicine and has the endorsement of the thousands who have used it. If you want Simmons Liver Regulator see that the Druggist gives you the genuine, not something he claims is "just as good," and because he makes more off it.

WE WANT THE EARTH

to yield bigger returns to our subscribers during 1886 than ever before, and accordingly are putting still more brains and money into the American Agriculturist, English and German. The great staff of editors, who, headed by Dr. George Thurber, have kept it at the front for twenty-five years are now re-enforced by Chester P. Dewey, D. D. T. Moore, and Seth Green. Every number of the periodical is packed with invaluable hints, suggestions, and information for Farm, Garden and Household, together with nearly One Hundred Original Illustrations of Live Stock, Fruits, Flowers, Tools, Appliances, etc. Every number is richly worth the subscription price.

The 10th volume of the United States Census last year said, "The American Agriculturist is especially worthy of mention, because of the remarkable success that has attending the unique and untiring efforts of its proprietors, to increase and extend its circulation." But we now propose to enlarge its sphere, and add to the hundreds of thousands of homes in which the American Agriculturist is read, and revered as an old time friend and counselor. We are accordingly enlarging the and adding other features, so that it is to be, from this time onward, essentially a Home Periodical, as well as being devoted to agriculture and horticulture. And this is done without increasing the price of subscription. But furthermore, every person who immediately sends us $1.50, the subscription price, and 15 cents for posting book, making $1.65 in all, will receive for the rest of this year and likewise all of 1886, and either the American Agriculturist Family Cyclopædia, 700 pages and 1,000 illustrations, issued last year, and brought down to the date of the American Agriculturist Law Book, just published, and a compendium of everyday Law for Farmers, Mechanics, Business Men, Manufacturers, etc., enabling every one to be his own lawyer. A large volume, weighing one pound and a half, elegantly bound in Cloth and Gold.

For 1886.

An Independent Republican Newspaper.

THE NEW YORK TIMES is the best American Newspaper. It prints all the news that is worth printing, and by a liberal use of money and brains secures variety and interest for its columns without sensation or humbug.

The news is the bone and sinew of a newspaper, but while laying before its readers the news of the world by telegraph every morning, THE TIMES provides also for their further pleasure and profit, correspondence, stories, and literary miscellany of a less transitory value. It watches carefully and faithfully records the drift of discussion upon topics that engage the attention of thinking men, and notes the world's progress in science, theology, education, legislation, literature, art, invention and discovery. Its political news is notably full and accurate, and no voter, Republican or Democrat, who takes an intelligent interest in public affairs can afford to be without it. THE TIMES is an earnest advocate of civil service reform, and in estimating the worth of candidates for public office it places personal fitness above party zeal. As an independent Republican Newspaper it has a growing constituency now and an increasing satisfaction in its work.

The WEEKLY and SEMI-WEEKLY edition of THE TIMES contain all the current news condensed from the dispatches and discussions of the daily edition, besides literary matter, and conscientious opinions upon agricultural topics by practical farmers, full and accurate market reports of prices for farm produce, live stock, etc., and a carefully prepared Weekly Wool Market. No other New York newspaper so completely meets the wants of country readers.

EVERLASTING TO EVERLASTING.

Psalm 103:17.

The mercy of the Lord
Was the subject of the singer.
Were the theme be loved the best,
He had known that mercy long,
Could he me sure or defy it?
Oh! no mortal could describe it,
But he sought to tell the wonder
And the worth of it in song.

As for man, his days are numbered,
Like the grass that fills the meadow,
A little while he flourisheth,
And then he fades away;
Like the early mists of morning,
Like a short and soon told story,
Like a swiftly flying arrow
Is his transient life-day.

But our God liv eth forever,
And his love is as enduring,
As the poet found no words
That could utter all he meant.
For God's mercy has no end'ng,
And he found it at its beginning,
'Tis an aye abiding mercy,
And it never can be spent.

So he wrote, "From everlasting
And again to everlasting."
Common words, but who can fathom
The deep mystery they hold?
Ah! the mind gets tired of guessing,
And the dreams thoughts can not picture,
And eternity alone
God's great mercy can unfold.

We may see it manifested
In the moor and wood and river,
In the golden glow of sunset,
In the corn we lith of the land,
In the homes of all the people,
And the common joy and gladness,
But no language can express it,
And no heart can understand.

Then let no one dare to measure
Of restrict this bound less mercy,
And let every heart take comfort,
And the timid ones be strong;
No creature is forsaken,
Each shares the Father's mercy,
And the lowest and the weakest
Should take up the psalmist's song.

O Love, thou bottomless abyss,
My sins are swallowed up in thee!
Covered is my unrighteousness,
Nor spot of guilt remains on me,
While Jesus' blood, through earth and skies,
Mercy free, boundless mercy, cries.

By faith I plunge me in this sea;
Here is my hope, my joy, my rest,
Hither, when hell assails, I flee;
I look into my Savior's breast;
Away, bad doubt and anxious fear!
Mercy is all that's written there.

Texas Conference.

REV. I. B. SCOTT.

FIRST DAY.

The Texas Annual Conference of the M. E. Church convened in their 20th session on Thursday, Nov. 26, at 9 a. m, in Mt. Vernon Church, Houston, Texas, Bishop R. S. Foster, D. D, presiding. Devotions were conducted by the Bishop. He prayed fervently and impressively for God's blessings upon the deliberations of the conference. The roll was called by the secretary of the last conference. Rev. C. Luster reported deceased. C. C. Minegan was re-elected Secretary, and Thomas Cole, Recording Secretary. R. H. Harbert was elected Statistical Secretary, and I. B. Scott re elected Treasurer.

The usual committees were appointed. Bishop Foster made remarks relative to the fact of his having presided over the Texas Conference just ten years ago. He expressed himself as very grateful to God that he had been spared to return on the very year he was due here according to the custom of the Board of Bishops.

The Bishop certainly has made a good impression on the Conference, and a pleasant session is anticipated. Many present remember vividly his powerful sermon when he was present ten years ago.

Dr. Sanford Hunt, of the New York Publishing House, was introduced to the Conference. He said he did not desire to speak until the editor of the SOUTHWESTERN had arrived. Shortly after this the editor, Dr. Marshall W. Taylor, walked in and was heartily greeted by the brethren. Their addresses were postponed until the afternoon session on Friday. The usual committees having been appointed, bar of the conferenne fixed, necessary announcements made, &c., the conference adjourned.

SECOND DAY.

Friday morning, after the customary season of prayer, Bishop Foster called the Conference to order at 9.30 o'clock. Minutes of previous session were read and approved.

Rev. F. C. Moore, presiding elder of Houston district, reported. The report evidenced marked improvement at several points. The characters of the following effective elders passed: R. R. Roberts, P. Morgan and O. Watrous.

Rev. Edward Lee, Huntsville district, reported his work as being in a prosperous condition. He said he had taken in five new counties. His character passed as did the character of Wm. McKenzie and H W. Wilson.

Dr. Marshall W. Taylor, editor of the SOUTHWESTERN came forward and addressed the conference. He referred to the work of the SOUTHWESTERN in changing sentiment, on vital questions relative to the Negro race, in refuting error regarding both the Church and the race, and in silencing the enemy on many points which hitherto he has discussed unmolested. The Doctor's address was well received. The Texas Conference may not do all it should do for the SOUTHWESTERN, but it certainly appreciates [illegible] tries to prove it by [illegible] for the paper than it [illegible] before.

[illegible] spoke of the publish[illegible] of the SOUTHWESTERN [illegible] the publishers in[illegible] it from now on on a [illegible]

ence being again resumed Elder G. W. Smith, of Palestine district, reported, and his character passed, also the character of P. G. Brown, C. C. Minnegan and Tenola Edwards. The class for admission into full connection was called forward. The Bishop's address to this class was plain, practical and forcible. On motion of Dr. Taylor the Conference tendered him a vote of thanks for his fatherly words.

On motion L. Burton, H. Dixon, C. W. Campbell, A. Thomas and T. Cole's characters passed and they were continued on trial that they might bring up their studies for the second year. At this juncture the Revs. H. L. Trapp, J. E. Edwards and J. W. Willard, of the A. M. E. Church were introduced as fraternal delegates, bearing greetings from their conference now in session in this city. Being within five minutes of the hour of adjournment, the Bishop announced that it would be impossible to hear the committee's address, therefore the conference arranged to hear the address on Monday.

I. B. Scott, V. M. Cole and C. C. Minnegan were appointed to bear the fraternal greetings of this Conference to the Texas Annual Conference of the A. M. E. Church in return.

THIRD DAY.

The character of B. Fisher, C. Moore, T. J. Hogan, J. Jones, Wm. Brooks, Scott Conly and Wm. Bartley passed, and they elected to deacons orders.

John Baily was requested to ask a location at next conference.

Prof. Hoyt, of New Orleans University, addressed the Conference relative to the Gilbert-Haven Theological Seminary, of New Orleans. He handled his subject well and impressed the conference favorably, and, on motion of Rev. I. B. Scott, a vote of thanks was tendered him.

Presiding Elder H. Webb reported his district in good condition. His character passed as did that of L. Woodward, Taylor Moore, P. Donglass, W. Wesley, R. H. Harbert and V. M. Cole. A committee of inquiry was appointed in the case of J. Jackson.

Rev. W. B. Pullam, presiding elder of the Navasota district, made his report. His character passed, and also that of M. Reddick, J. K. Loggin and J. L. Smith.

The following brethren were elected to elders orders: W. H. Logen, Freeman Parker, Aaron Alexander and Frank Gilmore. Deacons: L. J. Hogan, Scott Conly, Wm. Bartley, Calvin Moore.

The anniversaries were well attended and full of interest.

The Sunday services were of a decidedly impressive character. Dr. A. S. Hunt preached at Mt. Vernon in the morning and Bishop Foster ordained the deacons. In the afternoon Dr. Sanford Hunt preached a clear and strong sermon in Trinity Church after which the Bishop ordained elders.

At night Bishop Foster preached to a great audience of colored and white people in Trinity Church, from Romans viii, 18. He emphasized the dual nature of man, discouraged epicureanism on one hand and asceticism on the other, and clearly set forth the importance of spiritual culture and religious development. It was, in simplicity and all other qualities, a sermon of high cast, forcibly, clearly and beautifully conceived and expressed. It was suited to the audience, who heard it with gladness, received it with profit, and will remember it as an incitement to holier and better living.

The editor of the SOUTHWESTERN preached at Mt. Vernon at 3 p. m., and at night the anniversary of the Woman's Home Missionary Society, under the direction of Mrs. Isabella Howells, was held there.

FOURTH DAY.

Conference was called to order at 9 a. m. by Bishop Foster. After the season of prayer the conference proceeded to business.

Dr. A. S. Hunt addressed the Conference in the interest of the Bible Society.

Dr. Morris and Samuel Allen were made effective.

Frank Gray, L. J. Hogan, Scott Conley and Wm. Bartley, were admitted on trial.

On this day the Bishop delivered another of his interesting and practical addresses to the conference. The Conference was enabled to distribute among the preacher's widows and superannuates $375.

Conference adjourned to meet again in the AFTERNOON.

This session was spent mainly in routine business. The committee in the cases of H. Johns and A. Taylor exonerated them of all presented against them.

J. B. Shackleford, P. G. Brown, John Guess, A. Harris, O. Watrous and L. Woodward were granted a superannuary relation. I. B. Scott and B. M. Taylor were continued in this same relation.

Resolutions touching the SOUTHWESTERN, complimentary to Bish of Foster, Dr. Sanford Hunt, and the people of Houston were adopted. The journal of the present session was read. Bishop Foster addressed the Conference most impressively, after which he fervently prayed and then read the appointments.

The next session is to be held at Huntsville.

RESOLUTIONS.

On the Southwestern.

Whereas, The SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE is an indispensable visitor to our homes, bringing, as it does, the very information we need to show us the doings of our great Church, and especially among the colored people; and

Whereas, It is so ably represented on its editorial staff in the person of Rev. Marshall W. Taylor, D. D.; be it

Resolved, That we, the members of the Texas Annual Conference, indorse all that Dr. Taylor has said touching those things that are for the advancement of Methodism among our people.

Resolved, That we pledge ourselves to secure all the cash subscribers possible, and that we recognize in Dr. Taylor an able editor, a fatherly counselor, and a man qualified in every way for the honorable positions he holds.

Concerning Bishop Foster.

Whereas, The Presidency of Bishop Randolph S. Foster in the 20th session of the Texas Conference has proven to be a great benediction to its members and a decided benefit to every interest of the Church committed to us as a conference; therefore,

Resolved, That we greet Bishop Foster upon his return to us with sentiments of grateful Christian love and esteem.

Resolved, That we rejoice in the preservation of his life, health and usefulness, and have been greatly benefited, enlightened and edified by his presence and work in our midst.

Resolved, That we shall ever remember and revere him, and pray for his health and safety while engaged in his abundant and ceaseless labors; shall constantly hope and look forward to his return to us again.

Resolved, That we personally and unitedly thank him for the counsel he has given us from time to time during this conference.

To Dr. Hunt.

Resolved, That the presence of Dr. Sanford Hunt in our Conference has been a great favor to us, and his speeches before the Conference have greatly strengthened us in our purposes to do more than ever for the publishing interests of our Church.

Resolved, That for Dr. Hunt personally and officially we entertain sentiments of the highest esteem, and hope he or Mr. Phillips may be able to pay us annual visits.

To the People of Houston.

Resolved, That our thanks are hereby extended to the kind-hearted citizens of Houston and our churches for the generous and painstaking entertainment they have given us.

For the Southwestern.

Obedience to Sunday-school Teachers.

MISS HATTIE M. MOORE, AGE SEVEN YEARS.

My friends, this implies doing what you are told to do, and let those things alone that you are told to let alone. Keep the seat that your teacher gives you. Sing the songs that they tell you to sing, pray the prayers that they teach you to pray. Read the books they direct you to read, and read the chapters they point to you. We should not whisper, laugh, sleep, fight, nor do anything that our teacher would not like for us to do. Then, my dear Sunday-school mates, let us be good to our teachers and to each other, and we shall have the smiles of our Savior while we live and his loving power when we come to die. My dear teachers, Sunday-school mates and members of the Institute, and friends, and my dear parents pray that I may live a good life, and make a good Christian girl, and accomplish a great deal for the Lord, and die in peace with all.

Cleveland, Tenn.

Mangold, $1; Mr. Britton, $1; Miss Sarah Hill, $1; and a great many more gave a dollar who we can't mention at this time.

J. W. Jackson, of Carlisle, Ark., writes: "My third quarterly conference was held Sept. 26, and 27. All of the brethren were present with good reports, most of them written. The Presiding Elder Rev. O. H. Smith was with us and made our hearts glad with his advice to brethren about their duty in regard their benevolent collections, and their imperative duty to the noble "SOUTHWESTERN." The Sunday school at Hazen, where the conference was held, is in a flourishing condition. Bro. J. J. Rowell is the Superintendent here, Lesson Quarterly is the Bible commentary, and is the medium to understand who is an excellent teacher, and a good Christian we can who does follow his Master—the Lord of all. At Hazen we have built a new church, which will seat a crowd of over 0200, and all paid except $40, and this is not due until the first of November. Rev. Charles Ryker, of Cummingsville, Ohio, writes: "Quite a number of conversions [illegible] the Lord enabled me to find my sister and one child, in the bounds of Brother J. M. Nevil's church. Finding myself growing worse, I then took the relatives whom I had never seen before and come back to Texas, and the inroads made upon me, kept me very sick up to the first of October, five full months partly up and partly down, during five gloomy months the Lord helped me to pull down the old tabernacle in part, and rebuild anew. We now have as fine a church as there is among the colored people in this city, but we have been able to sell it yet, and when it is completed it will out shine any other in this city of colored people. It is very wonderful to see how we have changed it. To satisfy yourself call by and take another look and make yourself glad, as I am feeling very glad that the Lord has blessed me in doing this, and has made me pretty well in health again, and now I am preparing for the conference. Bro. R. Roberts has been doing a good work, and Bro. F. C. Moore has made his fourth round and presided at every quarter here in peace and harmony, meantime laboring diligently to establish an orphans home at Harrisburg, Texas. Sister I. Howells has been in the city several days working up the Woman' Home Missionary Society, which had been defunct for some years. She also labored to awaken the people to the fact of establishing an industrial school at Harrisburg, and being persuaded that she had accomplished everything necessary to put this work on foot, she left on the 27th rejoicing in God her Savior. May she live long to do these good things for the Master and build up the female race. Brethren, let us help strongly in these benevolent enterprises. Dr. J. H. Wilkins is still gaining in notoriety as a physician, and is acknowledged by same of the prominent physicians of this city to be one of the best doctors in the city, and in truth he is a good one. Like the rest he has his bitters and sweets, but still goes on.

Rev. F. White, of Princeton, Ind., writes: "The Lord is pouring out his blessings upon the labors of his servant this year. We think the church property will be lifted out of debt. There has been a vast improvement made on the house, and this is not all, we have had a number of additions to the church. We began a protracted meeting two weeks ago, and we are expecting a grand success. The members are becoming greatly interested. Though the devil is on his march, yet Christ is on our side. We are pleased to say that this year we have the right men in the right place, for he has done us a grand service this year, and he is greatly beloved by all, and highly respected by the members of First Church."

S. C. Harden, of McMinnville, Tenn., writes: "I rebuked my new work Oct. 30, and found the leaders and members earnestly and hard at work for the Master, trying to keep the work in order for the new preacher, and when I arrived a good crowd of members met me, and immediately I informed the people that my wife was 200 miles from me, and to bring her most things would cost me $16. They said she must come, and in 10 days they were ready for me to move and a house and provisions all furnished, and a hack at the depot to carry her out one mile to where we found the location a nice little parsonage. My people want preaching, with good children, it matters not how many children the preacher has if conference sends him they want them all. The people only want the preacher to let them know his and his family's needs. Bro. J. H. Cowgur, the former pastor, has many warm-hearted friends here who were sorry to give him up."

Rev. Charles Ryker, of Cummingsville, Ohio, writes: "Quite a number of conversions [illegible] ing with the pastor and his family, and left a handsome donation. The church is advancing to the front, and the members anticipate a good time this fall in the revival."

Rev. C. W. Ivey, of Mashulaville, Miss., writes: "To raise our missionary collection people expect to be here from 15 and 20 miles. We are praying for a good time. Our protracted meeting will commence on the 5th Sunday of this month. Up to date I have had 15 converts at my protracted meeting."

From the Districts.

Holly Springs District—Mississippi Conference.

REV. J. C. ECKLES, P. E.

The Holly Springs district conference which was to convene in Batesville, Miss., on the 5th Nov. for certain reasons was changed from Batesville to Holly Springs. Notwithstanding the change was not known until Monday evening, Friday Nov. 6th, 40 member of the district conference were present. A preliminary meeting was held on Thursday evening, according to circular programme, in which the pastor of Asbury extended a hearty welcome to the conference, which was responded to by the presiding elder.

Rev. B. L. Nevils preached an interesting sermon from the text, "Ye are the light of the world."

On motion, a nominating committee was appointed to nominate all standing committees. At 9 a. m. on the morning of the 6th, as above stated the roll was called, and the conference proceeded to business. The standing committees were nominated and confirmed. The presiding elder read his report, he had had a severe attack of malarial fever but by the assistance of the pastor has superintended the work of the district, which was in a continnal state of improvement, revivals have been in every charge and circuit, and good will existed throughout the district. The report was received and adopted.

From the reports of the pastors we learn, that several new churches were being, and had been built, and most of the old churches and parsonages had been repaired, and some of them very elegantly; that there had been near 300 conversions and accessions.

More local preachers reported than usual, all had been faithful, and done good work. The district stewards' report showed the temporal affairs of the district to be as good as could be expected; the class leaders' reported all the charges spiritually alive and well attended.

Rev. W. H. Scott, a local preacher was supplying a work in the Tennessee conference, and was recommended to the annual conference for ordination.

E. C. Comer, S. J. Boon and M. M. Langston were granted license to preach.

The business was interspersed with eloquent and interesting literary and religious exercises.

Revs. J. C. W. Smith and J. W. Windbush, of the C. M. E. Church, were introduced to the conference; also, Rev. A. W. Taylor, of the Baptist Church.

Sunday service, at 11 o'clock, the house was filled and the pastor conducted the love feast services, his was a meeting of great spiritual power, and enjoyed by all. After sermon, Rev. A. D. Payne, preached a thrilling and interesting sermon, to as many as could be jammed into the church. Text, Matt. 27-22, "What shall I do then with Jesus which is called Christ." At night Rev. C. M. White preached an able sermon to the great joy of all our old people, after which Prof. W. W. Keeper explained the Freedmen's Aid Chart and a collection and subscription was taken for this cause, cash, $20 and subscription over $70, but by conference we expect much more than this.

A [illegible] was adopted [illegible] the administration of our [illegible] and also thanking the [illegible] of Holly Springs for [illegible] Other [illegible] were adopted which space forbids my mentioning.

At a late hour of the night the district conference adjourned to meet at Oxford, Miss., the day on which the annual conference meets.

Letters from the Laity.

S. B. Jones, Jackson, Miss, writes: Rev. J. M. Shumpert, our beloved presiding elder was with us and preached the sacramental sermon, Sunday, September the 6th, and preached at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and at 8:30 o'clock at night to a very large congregation. In his graceful way, administered the sacrament to 136 members. Bro. Shumpert's words were like apples of gold in plotures of silver. His illustrations were beautiful. Bro. Shumpert, on the Jackson district has won his way to the hearts of every body, both white and colored. We surely witnessed the divine spirit in our midst, especially around the sacrament table, for many members of the Mt. Helm Baptist Church communed with us. After which Bro. Shumpert took a collection to the amount of $22.25, and on the Tuesday night following we had one of those good old Methodist love feasts, and they will surely realize the manifestation of the Holy Spirit. Bro. L. L. Shumpert is our pastor, and is doing good work. We are now trying to raise means to build a parsonage. We very often raise money by giving church festivals. We gave one last Saturday night, but in consequence of rainy weather there were not many in attendance, but we realized $16. We would like very much to hear from our predecessors, Elder D. A. Williams and Rev. J. W. Parks, both of whom were intimate friends of the writer, although we have no correspondence. Mr. Editor, please continue to send the SOUTHWESTERN to my address; my subscription is very near out; I will send the money very soon. I only subscribed for it for a short time, but I like it very much indeed, it is very interesting, and I can not possibly do without it."

Rev. H. H. Lanier, of Bowerton, Miss., writes: "Rev. H. A. May pastor, with the assistance of Presiding Elder W. McDonald, of the Gulf district, Rev. M. Hunter and H. Brown, of the Baptist Church, has been holding several very successful protracted meetings. Several have been to the mourners' bench. Each has preached awakening sermons, and the quarterly conference following hard upon these culminated in quite a revival. Twenty-four received the communion, $16.50 was collected, and a brief but thrilling address from the presiding elder closed the meeting. We thank God for the gift of such ministers as Bro. May and Elder McDonald. We also thank the brethren who so generously aided us."

Our Church.

The Voice of the Bishops.

The Board of Bishops unanimously approves the appeal of the Freedmen's Aid Society for $250,000 a year. Here is the action:

In view of the greatly enlarged work committed to the Freedmen's Aid Society by the General Conferences of 1880 and 1884, the society has found it necessary to ask for $200,000 a year to carry forward the work of Christian education among both the white and colored people in the South. The necessity of acquiring property, erecting buildings, and inaugurating and maintaining a system of education so vast, calls upon every pastor to secure the full amount asked from his church. Our churches and members of large means are affectionately reminded that this society offers an opportunity for special gifts that shall permanently confer upon multitudes of Gods poor the blessings of Christian culture, and prevent their perishing for lack of knowledge.

How shall we raise this $250,000 a year?

With the help of every presiding elder and pastor it can be easily done. In the first place, every conference has received its apportionment on the bases of $150,000.

The Discipline, par. 322, directs each Annual Conference to apportion to the charges. If any have failed, then the presiding elders can attend to it, so that each pastor will know just what he is asked to raise. What we plead for, and what we think fair to ask is, that this cause have a specific presentation to every congregation in the Church and the people be allowed to give as their hearts prompt them. If more than the apportionment is raised by some churches it will make up the deficiencies of others.

One hundred thousand of the quarter million must be raised from individuals and churches of large means. This will come—thank God, is coming. Mr. Gammon, of Chicago, adds $13,500 to former generous gifts for Gammon School of Theology at Atlanta, Ga. Mr. George Griswold, of Jay, N. Y., in his old age, gives $2,000, with his blessing, for God's poor. Others have given, and still others are planning to give. Will not our pastors take pains to have the merits of this work brought to the attention of those who have a mind to do liberally for the Lord?

If any presiding elder does not know the apportionment of his Conference we will be glad to inform him.

USING THE CHART.

Many letters testify to the great value of our lithographic chart in helping the pastors to raise their apportionment.

The Rev. J. T. Gracey, of Rochester, N. Y., says:

I like your chart, I took it into my Sunday school last Sunday, and made a lesson of it for eight minutes, asking the school questions which they readily answered at sight from the chart. But what especially pleased me was to see groups of scholars gathered about it and studying it for nearly a half hour after the school dismissed. I believe in this sort of "eye-service."

The Rev. W. H. Wardell, presiding elder, New York East Conference, says:

I consider the presentation of this chart to our congregation as of itself an eloquent appeal that American citizens, and much more, Methodists, must heed. I wish you much more than what you ask for.

Remember the chart is sent to any pastor asking for it, and who will say he will raise his apportionment. If any pastor hesitates to make this pledge, and will say that he will make an open straight appeal to his people for our cause, he shall have the chart. Any individual giving $5, and desiring it, will receive a copy of the chart.

Hoary Methodism.

The one hundred and nineteenth anniversary of the birth of American Methodism was celebrated at the John Street Church, the first in America, which was dedicated by Philip Embury on October 30, 1868. It was in the fall of 1776 that the first Methodist exercises were held at Philip Embury's house in Barrack street, which is now Park place. The altar rail in the Sabbath-school room of the present church edifice is believed to have been used in the old church as early as 1785. The clock is also a relic, though it still keeps accurate time. The services consisted of a union love feast at 9 a. m.; preaching services at 10:30 a. m., presided over by Bishop W. L. Harris, of New York, the sermon being by Bishop O. H. Fowler, of San Francisco, and a platform meeting at 2:30 p. m., the addresses consisting of historical sketches and reminiscences and eulogies on the work of the church and its shining lights. At the evening service the sermon was preached by the Rev. J. H. Vincent, Corresponding Secretary of the Sunday-school Union.—Christian Nation.

Our Mission in East Tennessee.

REV. D W. HAYS.

The work within the bounds of the East Tennessee Conference needs expansion. Much has already been accomplished in this direction but it is evident that no small amount of earnest effort, wisely directed, must yet be put forth before the utmost limit is reached. We occupy a fine, healthful region of country remarkable for its mild climate, fertile soil, rich minerals, thrifty towns and hospitable people. Lying around us here are possibilities the development of which, now under way, will wonderfully increase the size of our population at no distant day. A great many colored people are flocking here from different sections further South seeking employment both on the farms and in the various industries operating in the towns and cities. To all these settlers, old and new, however widely scattered and destitute, our church has a mission. Around them she must throw her arms and bestow the aid for which they looked elsewhere in vain. She must not only gather them into the folds, others who rely wholly upon enthusiasm and noise can do that; she must go a step farther and train them into an higher experience of holiness, into broader views and better ways of every day life. In a word she must foster them. Here let me remark that it is the imperative duty of those of us who believe the Church of our choice is better equipped for this work than are other ecclesiastical organizations, to evince for them a more intense interest and to labor with more unflagging industry in speeding it forward. We must study how best to adapt our appliances to the altered phase of things, and be ready to avail ourselves of any new idea or agency that seems calculated to make success more easy and certain. We must be enterprising in the best meaning of that term. We can not afford to cling to old ruts however venerable and convenient to a mind accustomed to dreaming and indolent routine. Let others repeat old sermons, sing their songs of "doleful sound," hold the forts won by the valor of heroic men gone to their reward, and keep up the one "Sunday in course" over their circuits, but for the members of the East Tennessee Conference there is, doubtless, a more excellent way. We must adopt an enlightened, far reaching and comprehensive policy that will commend itself to the most intelligent person on the outside. What are some of the things required in order to place the work on a basis of self support, and to greatly widen its circumference? I will endeavor to answer in as few words as possible. Let the reader bear in mind that my remarks are intended to apply strictly to our territory, other fields will probably demand other modes of treatment which those upon the ground will, in due time, look after.

The consumption of liquor in this country is officially reported by the authorities at Washington as amounting to 66,156,[illegible] gallons of spirits, 19,185,953 [illegible] of fermented liquor, and 20,500,345 gallons of wine. Estimating the population at about 58,000,000, the average consumption appears to be about 1.2 gallons of whiskey for each person yearly, over 10.25 gallons of beer and .35 of a gallon of wine. The quantity of beer consumed appears to be about 595,000,000 gallons. In other words, the people of this favored land drink about two gallons of liquor to every bushel of wheat that they consume—striking fact for our temperance friends.—New York Tribune.

A Pioneer's Apology for African Methodism Reviewed. First Paper.

REV. L. M. HAGOOD, LEX. CONFERENCE.

In the year 1867 there appeared a book written by Rev. Benjamin T. Tanner, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, "An Apology for African Methodism for the benefit of all concerned, or more especially, for and in behalf of the African Methodist Episcopal Church." Which he had a perfect right to do so far as apology is concerned. As if afraid some one might object, or from modesty, he securely screens himself behind the examples of Quadratus, Aristides, Justin, Martyr, et al. Since the spirit manifested in the book has been a potent factor in the furtherance of the cause, the disintegration of many of the congregations in the Methodist Episcopal Church, as well as the blinding wind storm that has brought confusion, consternation and discord, as well to many Christian homes within our bounds.

"By their fruits ye shall judge us, if not by our words, at least by our works." We propose to do this in as fair and candid manner as the case in hand will warrant. I see that some one has suggested the idea of revising this "Apology." Before this is done it seems natural that the contents of the marvelous edition should be examined, and then perhaps the reviser will be more able to see what ought to be expunged and what should remain. Like the biographical sketches, I suppose all the remainder should be expunged. Many people in this country do not yet know there is such a book extant, many who know of its existence have never seen it. But throughout the connection I presume it is looked upon as one of the confessional books of the African Church. It must therefore serve a purpose in the estimation of some one in that church.

There never was a book written that served its purpose, and the intention of an author better, that we have seen. The perpetuity, the stability yet remains, and the aggressive spirit exhibited in many lines of the Church is due to the influence of the principles inculcated in this book. The spirit of such a spirit, as such a book is calculated to engender in the class of people for whom it was ostensibly written, being cast toward our church, I propose to state a few facts that should be known by the children of our church, at least. A family misunderstanding is always to be deplored, but even here some forbearance ceases to be a virtue. From its origin in 1816, at Philadelphia, Pa., until to day this church has never had a better friend than its mother. Indeed, a good mother is the best friend possible in this world. Our own Bishop, J. M. Walker, speaking of "Our work in Liberia," and their Bishop Payne, of "Our Missions in Africa and Hayti," before the Cincinnati Conference not long since, [illegible] it is my intention to [illegible]. At page 14 of the Apology, Dr. Tanner says: "It is asked why we write this?" He answers: "That the members, and especially the younger and more ignorant, may have somewhat to answer those who would disparage them on account of their birth as well as their choice." This is why we write. At page 37, ibid, he says: "Let our Saviour's rule 'By their fruits ye shall know them' to the A. M. E. Church. Let her fruits be brought forth that they may be weighed." Having referred to this we proceed. [illegible] the impression has taken hold of many colored people in this country [illegible] and selves; that it is destined to be the asylum of all intelligent colored people in this country; that it has done more to benefit the colored man, spiritually, morally, financially and socially than any other church, we propose using the Gospel rule and bringing forth the balance of truth and weighing the thing before saying, yes that's so. There, of course, can be no objection to our inquiring as to the cause of the rapid growth of this church and to its past and present record. The claim of the church, is that it has a larger membership, wider influence and more intelligence than any other body of colored people in the country. Now as to how this will appear in the sight of Jehovah we cannot now stop to say, for if it suits them we certainly have no objections.

Wayside Thoughts.

MRS. SARAH WILLIS KELCH.

We are prone to think wealth has charms unfelt and unseen in poverty; that its attractions are more irresistible than those that spring from poverty; but sometimes one lesson in human life, one sketch of its ever passing scenes, one picture photographed on our memory's page, will reveal the fact that greater depths of the heart are stirred by influences born of the soul's devotion to truth and right, sweeter and stronger than wealth with its cold, frigid numbers, answering to dollars, can do. When a great man dies the nation bows its head in grief, and the wail of mourning is heard, the requiem is sung, and the air grows dark with floating crape; the eloquent tongue and ready pen everywhere proclaim the virtues of the departed one, but we go on our way, no tear of ours bedews the sod where sleeps the nation's honored one, though in our pride we may rear the monumental marble until it kisses the clouds above, we have not given the homage of the heart, left there the insigna of love, the silent tear, most eloquent only, as did our blessed Master at the humble tomb of Lazarus.

This was our train of thought as we sat one sultry day in September beneath the ample shade of maples that surrounded the home of one whom we had long known and loved, but now lying in the cold embrace of death, cofined, ready for the grave. No tie of blood bound us together, but a tie stronger than blood can create or friendship weave made her a sister to us all—the blood of Jesus. It was an humble home and plain, and pinching want had many times been the unwelcome guest that sat beside that board and had left its impression all around, yet there was an ineffable charm about it all; for a Christian woman, one with whom Christ deigned to dwell, had been prisoned here by affliction's relentless chains, and here the door of glory opened, and through it the redeemed soul winged its eternal flight. Who thought of her poverty that day as the rich and poor, the cultured and ignorant, the belle in her dainty garb of fashion, the old colored woman stooping with age, all a motley crowd, letting fall the tears in tender sorrow for one whom we all loved? We said, in vain to struggle for riches when a godly life is thus honored in death. That home, to us who knew her, hallowed by her presence, has a halo of glory surrounding it, and we tenderly regard it as Bethel, for beneath her head was the rock of affliction away from her Father's house, in the waste, howling wilderness, the ladder was let down, one end in heaven resting against the Father's throne, the other touching this home, upon which ascended and descended the angels, and which enabled her to sing so exultingly the song of the redeemed, and making that death breathe forth sweeter perfumes than ever exhaled from earthly bowers. There is a realm within us over which the sordid sceptre of wealth has no sway, and its slumbering hosts of sacred feelings give back no echo to its call, but when Christ in the heart of one of his lowly disciples dwells among us, there is a spontaneous outpouring of the heart's purest love, and we can not tell why, but still we love them. Why should we crave wealth? It can not wring from the eye the sweet tribute of a tear or the voluntary offering of one heart. Let us live the life of Christ, and, like our sister, we may go with coffers empty, and hands that never felt the touch of gold, but go mourned, because each one whom we knew felt that they had lost a friend.

Words to Young Men.

REV. W. S. LANKFORD.

"Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth, and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thine heart and in the sight of thine eyes; but know thou that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment." Ec. 11, 9.

Youth is the glee time of life, not necessarily sinful glee, but the good and hearty elevated life that starts one right for this world and the glorious world beyond. The Young Men's Christian Association has for its chief object the salvation of wayward young men, seeking to direct their attention to Him who is able to "lead them in a safe way" and make their lives both beautiful and glorious here and hereafter. Young man, what is your life? Are you laboring in every possible way to prepare yourself for usefulness on earth and happiness in heaven? Are you on the side of right or wrong? It matters but little what the position of wrong doing is, when once taken it is liable to be pursued. It is hard for thistle seeds to find a fruitful lodgment on a farm, but, when started they soon they will overrun the whole field. So, when a young man becomes poisoned with error, he consents to do or believe a wrong thing and then pursues it. If he swears a single oath is not enough; if he disbelieves the Bible he must avow it; if he scoffs at religion, the thing must be repeated, and if he is careless about his company, like the floating logs in the river, he will find plenty on either side to impel him on. In a long journey finger boards to point out the right road may be very useful. So a young man amid the avenues of life needs often to be pointed out the right way. When rightly directed he will do well if he takes heed. Seldom are mistakes discovered until after they are made. When a young man wishes to do a thing that looks at least plausible he is loathe to give it up, or believe that it is unwise. And, with many, under such circumstances, to desist is almost out of the question. Habits are a power, whether for good or evil; and they are not easily acquired, neither are they easily removed. Few, however, are aware of this fact until a living experience teaches them its true character. Most young men lack the right kind of courage. Many have courage to do wrong, but few have courage to do right. To stand up for principles and practices, noble and true, requires metal of a god-like character. Daniel the prophet had this. Kings, nobles or princes could not turn him to do what he believed to be wrong. "Give me liberty or give me death," said Patrick Henry, and "the man struck is the man to cry out," said the great Irish patriot, Daniel O'Connell. Young men need courage to denounce and shun evil, and at the same time demand justice and defend the right. Dr. Benton, of Fisk University, in his annual sermon before the Congregational Association now in session in this city, remarked that while the schools of the church had labored earnestly to cultivate the heart as well as the brain of the colored people, it was a fact that there were many educated "black" rascals in the country calculated to curse rather than bless the race. My heart responded and said, yes and many educated "white" rascals are forced upon the defenceless colored people, as teachers and otherwise, who are better calculated to curse the race. I admire the spirit and practice of the Congregational church in the work of education, and trust that that the day will soon dawn when colored men, thorough graduates of Oberlin, Fisk and other colleges of the denomination will be honored as presidents and teachers in such schools as are specially designed for the education of the colored people. The prevailing idea of so many well disposed people with equal educational advantages must forever be considered and treated as a lot of overgrown children, is simply preposterous.

Young men let your motto be "Excelsior," both in morals and literature. Raise your standard high, and bear in mind that "eternal vigilance" is the price of true wisdom. As the ore produces the metal for gold coin, so it is the heart, melted, toned and shaped, that makes the true man. Thousands and tens of thousands of young men mistake this point. The heart may be cultured as well as the head. Yea, it should be. Every affection of the better nature should be turned into the channels of good moral culture. Usually it is not true that the narrow, selfish and the mean make giants in wickedness. Many of the worst young men have hearts full of noble impulses. Nevertheless they are carnal. Hence a need of reform. And often, when reformed, they make the noblest men in the world. Young men hear, heed! Brains, eye, ear, heart, hand and foot you may now put under contribution to save yourselves and others. God will help you, the Holy Spirit will help you, and all good men and women will help you to stand in the hour of strongest temptation.

"A prudent man foreseeth the evil and hideth himself, but the simple pass on and are punished."

Why Baking Powders Spoil.

THE "ROYAL" ALWAYS FRESH, PURE, AND WHOLESOME.

It has been found by both practical and chemical tests that most of the baking powders, although they may possess a considerable amount of strength when first made, lose their leavening power, and become worthless, when a few weeks old. As is well known, the leavening gas of a baking powder is produced by the action of an acid upon an alkali, and this action is brought about through the influence of moisture. When, therefore, through imperfect processes of manufacture, the water, which is always present in the ingredients from which they are compounded, is permitted to remain in the finished baking powders, it causes the action of their elements to set in at once, so that when they come to be used they are found to have lost their strength to an extent corresponding with their age.

As the housekeeper has no means of knowing, when buying baking powder from the shelf of the grocer, how long it has been made and its consequent strength, some of the tests made by the Government chemists, showing the difference in strength between the same brands when fresh and when old, are given. From three to eight per cent of water was found in all the fresh samples except "Royal." To this fact, together with their imperfect combination, is to be attributed the loss of strength shown in all other grades.

Andrews & Co's (alum)	78.7	41.8
Bulk baking powder	75.	5.

* This sample, from the shelf of a retail grocer, was over five years old.

The remarkable fact apparent from the above is the perfect keeping quality of Royal Baking Powder, which it was found had practically retained its strength or leavening power, while all others had lost so much of their leavening gas as to be comparatively valueless.

This great superiority of Royal Baking Powder arises from the perfect purity of its ingredients, the extraordinary care in its manufacture, and the scientific principles employed in its combination. The articles used are thoroughly dried by heat before being compounded, by which the moisture is entirely expelled, and are so prepared and coated as to prevent the action of the acid upon the alkali prematurely, or except under the influence of both water and heat necessarily used in cooking or baking.

The Royal Baking Powder will retain its full strength for any length of time in all climates and under all conditions of atmosphere, and will be found, whenever used, to possess the full leavening power it contained when first made.

MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D., Editor

THURSDAY, DEC. 10, 1885.

At the last session of the Pittsburg Conference Bishop Campbell said he would give no African Methodist Episcopal preacher who did not pay his account at the Book Concern. How would that rule work applied nearer home?

They went for Davenport and the President for Hill, that divorces them and leaves Mr. Cleveland free to "turn the rascals out" without further infringement from the "Mugwumps." How will the latter now dispose of themselves?

It is reported that quite a number of Virginia Negroes voted the Democratic ticket, at least for Governor, in that State, and the National Free Press, of Washington, D. C., congratulates them for it.

If newspapers make strong declarations concerning individuals they must be prepared to prove them in view of a possible libel prosecution occasionally. Citizenship brings important responsibilities and teaches the necessity of keeping and defending a good name. Moderation and truth is the motto.

We shall need $100,000 to measure clear up to the Million standard for the year 1885. Will all those who subscribed at the recent sessions of conferences please send in the money without delay. The time is short.—C. C. McCabe, 805 Broadway, New York City.

If our own people who have the power to impede would clear the track, give us the right of way and put our ideas of handling this Negro work into practice. We should not only find comfort in our Southern work, but be able to return a half-million Negro members and ten thousand subscribers to the SOUTHWESTERN in 1888.

Our Rabbis "have eyes but they will not see" that their efforts to bring about a revival of the old spirit of Judaism are simply wasted and because misdirected.—Hebrew Standard.

Editorial Perambulations.

Having concluded a visit of the most pleasant and interesting character at Alexandria, we are once more seated in a comfortable coach on the Texas & Pacific railroad bound for Shreveport. Bowling along at the rate of 19 miles per hour we rolled into provincial Natchitoches, where Rev. H. J. Wright is busy saving souls, is 12 miles from the latter point. As the train stops we peep out of the window into the beautiful moonlight and wish something would permit us to give him a call, but onward we go. Now we shuffle along passing Mansfield, the battle-field of Pleasant Hills not far away. Of the sturdy valor evinced by the contestants in this obstinate engagement, the national cemetery at Alexandria gives ample evidence. Now we sweep into the high lands of North Louisiana, and soon enter Shreveport. This is the headquarters of the Shreveport district and the residence of that prince of good fellows, Pierre Landry. There is about 12,000 population here, and perhaps 7,000 are Negroes. They have many homes, stores, shops and other business enterprises on foot. There are eight colored peoples' meeting houses here; four are Baptist, and the fifth one of that persuasion is projected. There is one African, one colored and two Methodist Episcopal Churches here. Our best church is St. Pauls, of which Rev. Samuel Davage, pleasantly remembered in Springfield, Ohio, is pastor. It has nearly 300 members, and is the popular church of the city. Next is St. James, of which Rev. T. G. Montgomery, late of First Street, New Orleans, is in charge. Here are over 100 members, and they have been earnestly working this year to free themselves of debt, with pleasing prospects of success. Bro. Davage was so unfortunate as to be crippled by an unmanageable horse lately, and is still confined to his room. We faced a good audience here and then went forward the same night to Marshall, Texas.

Shreveport is the chief leading post of the North Louisiana Cotton region. It has several nice churches and other handsome buildings. The situation is high and naturally healthy. Red river and Caddo lake drains it. Two standard and a narrow gauge railroad connect it with the gulf, Northern Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas and the western regions. Bro. Landry has no lady in charge of his affairs, but Bro. and Sister Gayles, his host and hostess, did all that heart and a good appetite could wish in the matter of entertainment. Bro. Montgomery is similarly situated, his family being in New Orleans, but three distinct knocks from without, given at 2 o'clock in the morning, were promptly answered by the same from within, and he did not linger long after the sound had died away. Like Elder Landry, he bade us a hearty welcome. What was lacking in Elder Davage, by reason of his lameness, was well supplied by his graceful lady, so that in all respects we had an agreeable reception.

Like all other Southern cities Shreveport abounds in benevolent societies. It has also two well-trained bands of music, and one colored weekly paper. Here, too, we are reminded of the brevity and uncertainty of human life. A trusted and beloved local preacher had passed away, and in common with a great concourse of mourning friends we joined our own words of sympathy and condolence to the bereaved. Bro. Landry conducted the ceremonies, aided by Bro. Montgomery and ourself, in St. Pauls Church and at the grave. There were sixteen carriages, the Knights of Pythias and a silver cornet band.

From Shreveport to Marshall, [illegible] is 40 miles; we made the trip [illegible] two hours. At 4 o'clock in the [illegible], seated in a good carriage, [illegible] found ourself at the door of [illegible] parsonage. Fortunately Elder Harbert is at home, and we have not only the pleasure of his company here but also through to the seat of Conference, together with President N. C. Clifford, of Wiley Methodist Episcopal University and Revs. Freeman Parker and Scott Conley, to Houston. We are soon housed, rest two hours and then, after just such a breakfast as Sister Harbert can prepare, we start out for a survey of points interesting to a stranger. There is much of interest and importance in Marshall to be seen, and we are determined to see it. First we take a look upon Bro. Harbert's school in the church. Here we find 120 pupils busy at work, and talked to them awhile. Next we find ourself in company with Bro. Harbert in a carriage and dashing through the city in search of the other city schools and colleges. We come to Prof. S. S. Ried's school, where more than two hundred bright eyes soon were gazing upon us. This school is well managed by Prof. Ried, principal, and Rev. L. M. Luke, pastor of Bethesda Baptist Church. Prof. Reid is a steward, class-leader and Sunday-school teacher of our church. Leaving this we soon came to the third public school taught by Prof. F. W. Grose, graduate of Bishop Baptist College, and assisted by his wife. They manage nicely and from the good order and system to be seen one would judge them to be up in their profession. We leave the children here, as in the other schools, some ideas for thought and start for Bishop Baptist College. Here we find two large four-story brick buildings, one for the ladies the other for the gentlemen, and a large brick mansion occupied by the president, Prof. Culver. We were courteously received and shown through the recitation rooms and the buildings by the president. Dr. Abner, a colored gentleman, is one of the teachers here. The ladies building is just finished and occupied. It is a thing of beauty. The rooms are furnished nicely and have all the appearance of a home. Things are in good order here. After finding out some facts which may appear later, we drove off to our own Wiley University. Arriving there teachers and students were found at work. We looked at the different rooms in the following order: Prof. Clifferds where we found, not the Professor himself, but his estimable and courteous wife who was happily relieving her husband of some of his great work. She certainly is a lady possessing many qualities adaptible to the work she has chosen. We have a look into the adjoining rooms where we find Prof. Coleman busy at work with a class in Algebra. From the lateness of the hour we had to only glance at them there and pass up stairs to Miss Wilder's room. She was intensely interested in her work; while looking on and enjoying the recitations in came Prof. N. D. Clifford, President of the University; he seemed glad to have us with him, and had the bell rung, the students called and seated in the beautiful chapel. There we were forced, in truth, (for we had promised not to say anything more) to speak to the intelligent looking students. They are getting that culture here which is calculated to make them great and noble hereafter. We are very much pleased with the entire plant here. The situation is suitable to future growth, what has been done already has been intelligently done considering the future. The faculty seem to be engaged in this work for the work's sake. Prof. Clifford impresses one with the loftiness of the reflections and purposes by which he is swayed. The students here are not paid to talk up the school by any sort of questionable procedure, but are made to love it and the faculty because in it they find friends and a home.

Returning to the parsonrge we find Sister Harbert has provided all things essential to a fitting finale to the labors of the day. After dinner—late enough for supper, because we were too busy to take it sooner—we spend a little time with friends and pass into the church where we preach to a large and, it seemed, an attentive audience. The day closed upon us with five speaches and one sermon delivered to more than 500 children and youths, 20 teachers and 500 adults, from the time we got out in the morning. Our interests have been greatly advanced here by the combined labors of Bros. Harbert, Webb and Clifford. All things are harmonious, cordial and united, hence all our interests in Marshall are advancing. But we must leave for Houston. More anon.

Hon. T. A. Hendricks.

Hon. T. A. Hendricks, resident of Indiana, and Vice-President of the United States, died suddenly Nov. 25th, in Philadelphia, Pa. Mr. Hendricks was very highly esteemed as a citizen and a neighbor by those who were his nearest acquaintances. In Indiana, no man since the days of the great war Governor, Morton, seemed to hold a firmer grasp upon the popular heart than he. He was a determined partisan and a most skillful political leader. He possessed many virtues, and was eminent in in the counsels of his party. The country justly laments his death as that of a tried and valued citizen.

Two Sunday-School Agents in the South.

Dr. J. C. W. Coxe, of Iowa, is in Texas visiting the conferences in the interest of the Sunday-school Union, by an arrangement between himself and Dr. Gillette, who is busy attending conferences in the Southwest. We understand that hereafter Dr. Gillette's field well be in the Southeast, and that Dr. Coxe will permanently resume the charge of our Sunday-school interest in the West and Southwest. It was a pleasure to meet Dr. Coxe in this country in this new capacity. He is a man of fine parts and level headed, as most men from Iowa are. He has no Utopian theories about the Negro, and those he has are so simple and just that he can as freely express them in the South as elsewhere. The colored people were well pleased with his visit among them, and paid him very many compliments. That we shall have two Sunday-school agents in the South shows the expansion and growth of our Sunday-school interests here.

Dead and Forgotten in a Year

A Popular Book at a Popular Price

Outline Study of Political Economy. By George L. Steele, L. L. D. Principal of the Wesleyan Academy, Wilbraham, Mass. New York: Chautauqua Press C. L. S. C. Department. Copyright by Phillips & Hunt, 805 Broadway, New York. Price 60cts.

This is a neatly prepared work. It contains 188 pages divided into four books and XI chapters. Each chapter is divided into paragraphs indicated by figures in bold black type and with a running index at the head. The subject is discussed under four grand heads, viz. Book 1st. Production. 2d. Consumption. 3d. Exchange. 4th. Distribution. The arguments are clear and well stated. The words are those with which the masses are familiar. It is so composed that it contains a great deal in a little space and deserves to be called "Multum in Parvo." We cannot too forcibly urge this little volume upon the attention of the colored people of the South. Political economy is a subject which should at least obtain an elementary acquaintance at once, and there is nothing in print which will serve to better purpose as a text book than this work of Dr. Steele's. This is a timely, popular, and useful volume. Those who buy will be well repaid.

Church Polity.

MR. EDITOR—Has a Methodist Episcopal pastor the right to admit any person to full membership in our Church under six months except in such cases where persons came to us well recommended as members in full connection with other Methodist or evangelical churches?—SUBSCRIBER.

Answer—He has not. Baring the exceptions given in your question, all persons uniting with our Church must be admitted on trial, and remain at least six months on probation. The rule applies alike to penitents and converts, there is no difference in this respect. The Church demands practical proof of a member "that his fruit is unto holiness," that it may know the end is everlasting life. See Discipline 1884, p. 35, part 1, chap. 2, par. 48, sec. 3. Baker on the Discipline, revised edition, p. 28, chap. 1, sec. 2, par. 4. Merrill's Digest of Methodist Law, p. 36. Bishop Turner, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church seems inclined to the view that only penitents are admitted on probation. Methodist Church Polity, p. 127.

Schools and Colleges.

New Orleans University.

REV. GEO. W. WELLS.

The calendar of the new University for 1885 and 1886 is certainly an improvement upon the old. It is the most complete calendar that has appeared to the public for approval or disapproval. It is, in truth more in keeping with the work that a university proposes to do. During the Presidency of Prof. J. S. Leavitt and H. N. Tailor, thorough work was done, nothing superficial. We are glad to see that our Alma Mater is again put on a solid university basis, and lifted from a public school grade. Not one of the Freedmen's Aid schools in the South can do grander work and accomplish more in the education of the Negro than the New Orleans University. New Orleans is the great city of the South. What Boston is to the East in the intellectual and commercial world, New Orleans will be to the entire South—the Athens. As students from the far West and extreme North go to Boston, so will the students of the race throughout the South come to New Orleans to complete their studies, and to fit themselves for the professions. The course of studies outlined for the New Orleans University must attract the attention of the thoughtful public. The location of the school, its organization, the classification of studies all indicate progressive thought, and is indicative of the future greatness of New Orleans University. The faculty is able; we speak particularly of Miss Virginia M. J. Riche, who is scholarly and talented, eminently fitted for the teachers vocation. It is to to regretted, however, that a greater number of the "Alumni" of our schools are not found in her faculties. Why not employ more? Then our schools would become a stimulous to the poor student to do more thorough work. A good number of promising boys and girls are found throughout the State in the public schools who would go abroad to school if encouraged. The University ought to be the intellectual indicator in each charge. Erequent talks upon our University by the pastor, especially from each city and village pastor, would result in larger attendance at our University.

Rosedale, La.

[The Miss Richie referred to above we quite all that the writer claimed for her. Since he wrote she has ceased to labor for her people on earth, and has united with the redeemed in heaven.—ED.]

Central Tennessee College.

REV. J. A. W. MOORE.

Brethren, visit Central Tennessee College and see what our young men and women are doing. Just step in one moment and hear the law class recite; in this department you will find young men who will in the future be an honor to the Negro race. Just happen in to hear those who are to receive diplomas this year. You will find in that class Wm. Daniel Lields, who will be a leader of his race; a man whose standing is unsurpassed by any where he lives. You will find belonging to the same class Miss Key, who is in every respect like her father, quick to see into those problems which appear to be hard, and in every respect a true representative of her race. Bro. Key, who stands in the lead of the Tennessee Conference, one who has been honored twice as her representative in the General Conference. When the next vote is taken for one to represent us you will find the name of H. W. Kee frequently spoken of. We will not forget Miss Moore, one of the Central Tennessee singers, who has charmed thousands by her musical talents. You must step in and see the boys in black setting type in the printing department. You will find a neat little paper of four pages, printed once a month in this department. We want five hundred dollars to aid our young men to keep abrest with the times. I am a subscriber for that little paper for several reasons. First, I expect to see from among these boys men who will be considered among the first on the journalistic stage, and, second, we need more able editors; I want to see more editors like Marshall W. Taylor, D. D. Brethren, don't forget that paper which you should suqport with all your might. This is your first chance to show yourselves men to be felt as a race. You can stop and see how the girls are taught cooking, washing, ironing and sewing. A man can find a wife at the Central Tennessee College who can cook, sew, wash, iron, play the piano or organ. No more heavy biscuits to eat, no more sky-blue shirts to wear, no more dirty cabins to be kept. We have young girls to attend to the domestic affairs. I heard a lecture given by Dr. Taylor on "domestic relation." I shall never forget five points in that lecture, time will not allow me to mention. I can only say to Dr. Braden and his able corps of teachers: continue to fight ignorance, superstition, intemperance and immorality and you shall have my prayers. I can safely say that Central Tennessee College is a temperance institution. Hold the banner up, Doctor, and move the men and women. I can only speak for Friendship Circuit, she will do her part in raising the five hundred dollars.

The Georgia Conference.

REV. JAMES MITCHELL D. D.

The conference opened November 19th. Bishop Mallalieu in the chair. The session was noted for harmony and energy of action. Among the acts of the conference we number a forward movement on the subject of education. We have but two small seminaries in working order in this conference, Elijay and Mt. Zion. A movement has been placed on foot to enlarge Elijay, by the addition of a boarding hall for the use of young ladies, and Bishop Mallalieu nobly lead in securing a subscription of $300 for that purpose. He is a perfect expert in that kind of work, and has wonderful organizing and executive ability. We secured about $2,300 of the needed $3000. The following are the appointments for the year. I am glad to be able to report a slight increase to the forces of our struggling conference.

The greatest consolation to one growing old, is the improved surroundings which comes with age, experience and wisdom. Of this fact by the appearance of the new Seed Annual of D. M. Millions of people, gardening both for profit and pleasure, have found ever increasing satisfaction and delight in using their seeds. Every one desiring seeds of the highest type and best quality, should secure their annual. It is sent free on application.

A correspondent of the London Times says that notwithstanding the cholera stricken condition o Spain, the next few months will see several thousand packages of fruit consigned from that country to the United Kingdom every week, notably nuts from Barcelona, lemons from Valencia, and grapes from Almeria, these last being packed in barrels filled up with cork dust. Thousands of packages of Spanish fruits and nuts will also reach our ports during the next few months, and there is no way of discovering how many cholera germs may come herein this manner.

"In no previous year of our history", says the Nashville Christian Advocate," have revivals been more general or characterized by more spiritual power. All parts of the Methodist Church South have, in a greator or less degree, shared in the blessing. So far as our fallible human judgment can determine, these revivals have not been of the superficial and transient sort; they have been the genuine work of the Holy Spirit, and therefore we may hope the fruit will abide. It is yet too soon to estimate the net numerical increase in church membership. It is thought by some that it will equal that of the Centenary year which was over 35,000 souls.

The SEVENTY-SECOND VOLUME commenced with the Number for December, 1885.

It is the purpose of the publishers to make HARPER'S MAGAZINE for the new year of unprecedented interest. HARPER'S WEEKLY.

A JOURNAL OF CIVILIZATION AND A PICTURE HISTORY OF OUR OWN TIMES.

Subscription per Year, $4.00.

The THIRTIETH VOLUME will begin with the Number dated January 2, 1886, issued on December 30, 1885.

HARPER'S WEEKLY justifies its title as "A Journal of Civilization" by reflecting, with steadily increasing fulness and accuracy, the progress of civilization, and by embodying as well as by recording the continuous advance of American literature and American art.

It presents, in faithful and graphic pictures, the noteworthy events of the day, portraits of men of the time, reproductions of the works of celebrated artists, cartoons by eminent [illegible] satirists, and humorous illustrations of the ludicrous aspects of social and political life.

Besides the pictures, HARPER'S WEEKLY is full of good reading. It always contains instalments of one, occasionally of two, of the best novels of the day, with fine illustrations. Its short stories are bright and entertaining. Poems, sketches, and papers on important topics of current interest by the most popular writers, and columns of humorous and personal paragraphs, make it interesting to everybody.

As a family journal, the care that has been successfully exercised in the past to make HARPER'S WEEKLY a safe, as well as a welcome, visitor to every household will not be relaxed in the future. The ultimate influence of the subjects treated in its text and in its illustrations is not less considered than their immediate public interest. It is conducted in the belief that such scenes as would be repulsive or brutalizing to persons witnessing them cannot form fit subjects for literary or pictorial representation.

PRESS NOTICES.

A thoroughly able, instructive, and entertaining journal for the household. Its general news is well selected, its editorials are judicious and vigorous, its stories are of high interest, its moral tone is unexceptionable, and its illustrations are as famous as they deserve to be.—Congregationalist, Boston.

BOUND VOLUMES.

The last Three Annual Volumes of HARPER'S WEEKLY, in cloth binding, sent by mail, postage paid, or by express, free of expense (provided the freight does not exceed one dollar per volume), for $7.00 per volume.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

AN ILLUSTRATED JOURNAL OF FASHION, INSTRUCTION, AND DOMESTIC ECONOMY.

Subscription per Year, $4.00.

The NINETEENTH VOLUME will begin with the Number dated January 2, 1886, issued on December 18, 1885.

HARPER'S BAZAR offers a host of brilliant attractions designed to interest every member of the family circle. It combines the choicest literature and the finest illustrations with the latest fashions, the most useful household knowledge, and all the arts that make home attractive. Its weekly plates of the latest Paris and New York styles, with well-fitting patterns, and descriptions of the materials and styles in vogue, enable ladies to save many times the cost of subscription by being their own dressmakers. It spreads the changes of fashion throughout the land. Its articles on household matters are from the best sources, and are eminently practical. Its papers on social etiquette are of the highest interest. Much attention is paid to art decoration, and exquisite embroidery designs are published, from the decorative art societies.

The literary excellence of HARPER'S BAZAR is beyond dispute. Its serial stories are by acknowledged masters of fiction. Its pithy editorials are marked by good sense, and its short stories, poems, essays, and other matter are the best of the kind. Not a line is ever printed in its columns that could offend the most fastidious taste.

The fine art illustrations of HARPER'S BAZAR, from the best native and foreign artists, form a marked feature of the journal, as do the bright, humorous cuts which have won it the name of the American Punch. No pains or cost will be spared to maintain the high standard of the paper.

PRESS NOTICES.

HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE.

A SIXTEEN-PAGE ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

Subscription per Year, $2.00.

The SEVENTH VOLUME commenced with the Number issued November 3, 1885.

The position of HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE as the best juvenile weekly is firmly established.

It is a miscellany of the choicest reading for boys and girls, and it contains the best literary and artistic work anywhere to be purchased.

Every line is subjected to rigid editorial scrutiny in order that the paper shall contain nothing harmful, and that it shall be an effective agency for the mental, moral, and physical education of its readers. Its stories have all the dramatic interest that juvenile fiction can possess, without anything pernicious. Its articles on scientific subjects, travel, and the facts of life, are by writers whose names insure accuracy and value. Its historical stories, biographical tales, etc., present attractively the most inspiring incidents in history, and in the early lives of notable men and women; in every number appear stirring poems, amusing rhymes, and ingenious puzzles, and occasionally articles on embroidery, and other forms of needle-work. Papers on athletic sports, games, and pastimes have their place, while fine pictures by the foremost artists and engravers lavishly illustrate its pages. There is nothing cheap about it but its price.

That HARPER'S YOUNG PEOPLE fulfils the requirements of young readers is proved by its large circulation in this country and in Great Britain, and this circulation is a scarcely less emphatic testimonial to the fact that it has won the approval of parents also. Pastors, teachers, and the press are united on this point, with parents and children.

PRESS NOTICES.

It deserves a place in every home blessed with children, whose lives it will make better and brighter with its weekly visits.—Zion's Herald, Boston.

This bold venture in the field of juvenile literature has proved a victory. . . . It deserves a welcome at every fireside.—REV. J. H. VINCENT, D.D., in the Sunday-School Journal, N. Y.

It continues to lead the weekly publications for youth.—The Living Church, Chicago.

A sort of necessity in juvenile life. . . . So firmly has the little weekly magazine taken hold upon its readers that one can scarcely conceive of the time when it was not.—N. Y. Evening Post.

LESSON HYMN. S. H.

Hymnal No. 313.

Our sins on Christ were laid;
He bore the misery we did,
Our ransom-price the guilty paid
In groans and tears and blood.

To save a world, he dies;
Sinners, behold the Lamb!
To him lift up your longing eyes,
See mercy in his name.

Pardon and peace abound;
He will your sins forgive;
Salvation in his name is found—
He bids the sinner live.

Obituary.

Sister Angelica Bates, one of the most faithful of church workers, and widely known all over the conference for her good deeds and acts of kindness, died Thursday, Nov. 26, 1885. She was born in Tennessee, and came here a live score years before the war. About 12 years ago she united with the Valence Street M. E. Church, then under the pastorate of Father Scott Chinn, whom she now joins on the other shore. She soon distinguished herself here as an earnest Christian worker, and was foremost in every good cause for the uplifting of the Church. She began the work of grace in her own heart first, and soon, by her earnest prayers her glowing Christian character and sincere trust in God, her husband, who now survives her, was led to Christ and united with the church. Thus united in heart and spirit they labored together in the vineyard of the Lord. Hers was indeed a Christian home where the weary itinerant might rest. Many a time have we heard from her sweet pastor words of gratitude and thankfulness in remembrance of special acts of kindness, care and Godly advice to them. Two years ago Sister Bates united with Haven Chapel M. E. Church and soon won the affection of all. She was appointed leader of class No 3, which position she held with credit to herself and honor to the church until her death. Kind hearted and generous to the poor, faithful and true to the church, she will be missed by all. Her class has lost a faithful leader, the church a true, liberal minded member, the community an earnest Christian lady, her husband a loving and faithful wife, but heaven has gained a jewel. Thus one by one the veterans of the cross are called away to that sweet land of rest whose shores are never beaten by the chilly waves of trouble and disappointment, whose atmosphere, devoid of the malaria of sorrow, breathes forth brightness, and whose inhabitants, free from toil and care, rejoice forever.

Dear Bro.—Please say in the next issue of the Southwestern that Rev. S. S. G. Turner, late pastor of Kynett M. E. Church, LaGrange, Ky. Louisville district, Lexington Conference, has been suspended from all ministerial and church privileges, until the next session of the Lexington Conference.

W. W. LOCKE, P. E.

Notice.

Dear Brothers and Sisters and Friends, hear my cry and respond to it. I have a little company of Sisters and two Brothers, which number 24 in all. We have no church to worship in, and ask one and all to help us. We have one acre of land paid for. If you can give but one dollar we will be thankful for that, and will publish same in the SOUTHWESTERN that you may see it. Send it by Postoffice Order or Registered Letter to J. F. R. W. Summerville, Hartsville, Tenn. You that have a house, think how bad it is to be without a house to meet in to worship God. I hope no one will refuse to help us.

Why Baking Powders Spoil.

THE "ROYAL" ALWAYS FRESH, PURE, AND WHOLESOME.

It has been found by both practical and chemical tests that most of the baking powders, although they may possess a considerable amount of strength when first made, lose their leavening power, and become worthless, when a few weeks old. As is well known, the leavening gas of a baking powder is produced by the action of an acid upon an alkali, and this action is brought about through the influence of moisture. When, therefore, through imperfect processes of manufacture, the water, which is always present in the ingredients from which they are compounded, is permitted to remain in the finished baking powders, it causes the action of their elements to set in at once, so that when they come to be used they are found to have lost their strength to an extent corresponding with their age.

As the housekeeper has no means of knowing, when buying baking powder from the shelf of the grocer, how long it has been made and its consequent strength, some of the tests made by the Government chemists, showing the difference in strength between the same brands when fresh and when old, are given. From three to eight per cent of water was found in all the fresh samples except "Royal." To this fact, together with their imperfect combination, is to be attributed the loss of strength shown in all other grades.

Horsford's (Phosphate)	125.5	32.7
Charm (alum)	116.9	66.05
Cleveland's (contains lime)	110.8	61.2
Dr. Price's	103.3	53.08
Snow Flake, Greff's (contains lime)	101.88	52.
Pearl (contains lime)	93.2	47.5
Andrews & Co's (alum)	78.7	41.8
Bulk baking powder	75.	5.

*This sample, from the shelf of a retail grocer, was over five years old.

The remarkable fact apparent from the above is the perfect keeping quality of Royal Baking Powder, which it was found had practically retained its strength or leavening power, while all others had lost so much of their leavening gas as to be comparatively valueless.

This great superiority of Royal Baking Powder arises from the perfect purity of its ingredients, the extraordinary care in its manufacture, and the scientific principles employed in its combination. The articles used are thoroughly dried by heat before being compounded, by which the moisture is entirely expelled, and are so prepared and coated as to prevent the action of the acid upon the alkali prematurely, or except under the influence of both water and heat necessarily used in cooking or baking.

The Royal Baking Powder will retain its full strength for any length of time in all climates and under all conditions of atmosphere, and will be found, whenever used, to possess the full leavening power it contained when first made.

The Savannah Conference.

PROF. W. P. THIRKIELD.

As the members of the Savannah Conference met in Asbury Church, Savannah, on the morning of December 3d and sung, with spirit, the old conference hymn,

"And are we yet alive,
And see each others face."

They had reason for profound gratitude, because their ranks had not been invaded by death during the past year. What providence and love!

"Glory's praise to Jesus give,
For His redeeming grace."

It is a reason of congratulation that we are permitted to meet in this city, a place rich in histrionic memories to all true Methodists. Here it is that our loved and honored Founder labored on American soil. The very spot where he preached is pointed out; the very streets were pressed by the feet of John Wesley, as he went to and fro in his pastoral work. From these shores he took passage in the vessel in which he was to experience that conviction of sin, which caused him to cry out: "God sent me to America to convert the Indians, but who shall convert me!" His work trials and failures in this place were a part of that train of providences that were preparing him for a work that has resulted in converting thousands even in this city and in filling the world with mil[illegible] Methodists.

The tenth annual session was opened at 9 o'clock, Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, presiding. J. B. L. Williams opened the services by reading the xv chapter of St. John. Dr. C. O. Fisher read the opening hymn, and F. M. Jones led in prayer.

J. B. L. Williams was elected secretary and R. T. Adams assistant.

C. O. Fisher was elected statistical secretary.

After the presentation of various papers and the appointment of the usual committees; an impressive and earnest address was made by Bishop Mallalieu. He spoke of a visit to this city 29 years ago and the great changes that had occurred since then.

Dr. Cranston was then introduced and gave a practical and instructive presentation of the origin, growth and success of the Methodist Book Concern. He was followed in the same line by Dr. Fisher.

In answer to question 20, J. B. L. Williams, presiding elder of the Atlanta district, had his character passed and reported his district. His report is commented on as an unusually fine paper, and represented the work of the district as being in a progressive state. Several new churches have been built and others much improved. The spiritual work has been encouraging; the character of his elders were passed and good collections were reported.

R. T. Adams reported the Macon district. His report was encouraging. There has been growth and improvement all along the line. After passing the characters of his elders, the conference adjourned to meet at 4 p. m. for a statistical session, and was dismissed by Rev. M. B. Saulters, of the A. M. E. Church.

The afternoon session was presided over by Dr. C. O. Fisher, and statistics and benevolences were reported to the various committees, and the session was adjourned by Dean Thirkield pronouncing the benediction.

The second day's session was opened by a prayer and services conducted by R. B. O'Neil. Bishop Mallalieu, after a fervent prayer, continued the work of yesterday, by calling for the minutes of the previous day. A communication from the Freedmen's Aid Society gave $600 as the amount apportioned to this conference for next year.

Rome district was reported by Dr. Fisher as being in an improved condition on the advance in general work and in benevolent collections,

F. M. Jones reported the Savannah district. Some improvements have been made, but he deplored the small number of conversions in this section, as hard to be accounted for.

In answer to question 18 the characters of George Standing, R. M. Taylor and J. H. Owens were passed, and their relation continued. J. J. Elsby and R. L. Black had their relation changed from supernumerary to superannuated. B. H. McCain had his relation changed from supernumerary to effective elder, and Harrison Stricklin and Anderson Talmage were located.

Jackson Walker, superannuated had his character passed. The following were continued in the first class of deacons, M. M. Alston, Warner Hill and David Wood.

President E. O. Thayer made an earnest address on the cooperation of the conference members. The institution was reported as being in a flourishing condition.

CONFERENCE GLEANINGS.

The opening sermon on Wednesday night was given by Bro. Lacy, before a good audience.

Friday afternoon was given to our indefatigable Sunday-school agent There was a good attendance; the excellent address was warmly received; the practical suggestions did much good; the brethren are thankful for the aid given to our Sunday-school work by our great connectional organization.

Our conference sessions are held in Asbury Church, that has been entirely refitted and beautified at a cost of $400, through the labors of the pastor, Bro. C. K. Wright.

Sitting by Dr. Fisher, one evening in Asbury Chapel, he placed his hand on the wainscoting about the pulpit above and said: "I nailed these boards on with my own hands. When I began the work here, we had no members South of Augusta, now we have many good church buildings and a large membership."

We need now-a-days some of this Pauline missionary work out in many sections that are not supplied with church privileges. Years ago Dr. Fisher did much hard work in planting the Methodist Episcopal Church through this part of the State. The brethren honor him for honorable service.

Our conference improves each year in personal appearance. It is growing in strength; greater care is being exercised in receiving candidates, and our examining committee are becoming more strict in the passing of men through the courses of study.

THIRD DAY.

The devotional services were led by C. T. Roberts, Bishop Mallalieu being in the chair. The case of J. H. Randall, who, at the last conference session, was suspended for one year, was presented by his presiding elder. This case was referred to a Committee on Conference Relations, together with the case of A. J. Gill. An appeal from J. H. Vanderpool, a local deacon, was referred to a committee of investigation.

On motion the Conference appointed Wilbur P. Thirkield, Robert T. Kent and R. Bigham, as Committee on the Dedicatory exercises of Haven Industrial Home. The following had their character passed and were continued in the second class of deacons: G. W. Merriwether, George Arnold, Benjamin Boston, William Hopkins, Jacob Jackson, Silas C. Gay, Jesse B. Allen and George W. Lamar were elected to elders' orders. J. W. Naylor was referred to the Committee on Conference Relations. W. C. Bryant, A. B. Allen, S. A. Beanford, Edward West, R. B. Hinesman were advanced to the second year's course of study. after the report of the Examination Committee. A. M. H. Evans, William Young, R. S. Stacey, J. W. Fisher, Abram Gibson, Willis Sagoes were continued in the course of studies for the first year. In answer to question 5th, Wade H. Brown, C. H. Newton, C. T. Roberts, appeared before the bishop and were addressed with force and solemnity on the duties and work, the fidelity and consecration required for the Christian ministry. They were then elected to deacon's orders, and admitted to full connection.

The Rev. H. P. Meyers, agent of the American Bible Society, was introduced and addressed the conference in the interests of that Society.

Rev. Wilbur P. Thirkield, Dean of Gammon School of Theology, was present and addressed the conference on the necessity of an educated ministry for the rising generation, and on the design and work of the Gammon School of Theology, which is now attended by quite a number of our ministers.

Question 10 was called, and Henry M. White, from the Atlanta District, and Isaac Harris, of the Rome District, were recommended and elected to deacon's orders.

The Conference then adjourned. Rev. H. P. Meyers pronounced the benediction.

SUNDAY SERVICES.

The conference Love Feast was led by R. T. Kent, and it was an occasion of spiritual joy and refreshment. At 11 o'clock Bishop Mallalieu preached a sermon of power and pathos, from Acts 19, 2, on the "Gift of the Holy Ghost." The congregation was greatly moved, and the services ended with a season of consecration and prayer, in which all the ministers joined together with the members and a number of penitents. The class of deacons was then ordained. At 2:30 p. m., Brother Francis preached, and the service closed with our impressive rite of ordination to the eldership.

From this service the ministers and congregation adjourned in a body to the Haven Industrial Home to join in the service of dedication. The beautiful, large and well-arranged home, with its three parlors, opening with folding doors into the central hall, was filled to overflowing. The service was opened with an anthem by the large company of girls and young Misses who are now in charge of the devoted and competent teachers, the Misses Lewis, Baldwin and Keeley. The large company then joined in the Lord's Prayer, led by Bishop Mallalieu, after which the Bishop gave some appropriate remarks on the suggestions of the occasion, the appropriateness of the name of Haven for such a memorial, and his warm interest in the enterprise. He then introduced Rev. Wilbur P. Thirkield, who gave an address appropriate to the service of dedicating the Home to the purpose of Christian education and the training of young women to go forth as teachers of the sacredness of home life. He said that every such teacher will be an inspiration to her race, and every pure home raised up will be a preacher of righteousness and of the beauty and blessedness of purity in home relations. Elder R. T. Kent then followed, referring to the work of Bishop Haven and expressing his abiding interest in this enterprise for which he had prayed, and for whose prosperity he was willing to labor.

Rev. J. B. L. Williams, presiding elder of the Atlanta district, was then introduced and spoke in very appreciative terms of the work of the Woman's Home Missionary Society. The training of such homes as this was sure to bring about a brighter day for his people. He heartily indorsed the work and promised his co operation.

Postmaster Wilson being present was presented and made a brief talk encouraging the Christian people to united work for their race in education and moral reform. The services were then concluded by Bishop Mallalieu, who offered a fervent prayer of consecration, dedicating the Home and its work to Christ and the Church.

The evening sermon at Asbury Church was preached by President E. O. Thayer, a large congregation being present. During the day the other churches of the city were filled by members of the conference.

FOURTH DAY.

The devotional services were led by Edward Lacey. Reports from the conference stewards and the various committees were then presented. Jacob Naylor, W. C. Lynch and J. H. Randall were granted locations.

Various resolutions were then presented and adopted. R. B. O'Neil, from the Macon District Conference, was admitted on trial. James Adams, an elder from the A. M. E Church, had his orders recognized, and was admitted to full connection. E. D. Gradins, a deacon from the C. M. E. Church, was admitted on trial. L. J. Preston was readmitted. The report of C. O. Fisher, statistical secretary, was then read, showing in many points a commendable advance in membership and benevolences. The main footing are as follows: Probationers, 2061; full members, 1,335; local preachers, 261; churches, 182; parsonages, 31; benevolences—missions, $625; Church Extension, $170; Sunday-school Union, $77; Tracts, $58; Freedmen's Aid, $242; Education, $130.

Griffin was fixed as the seat of the next conference. The standing committees for next year were ordered to be appointed and published three months before the conference session.

Bishop Mallalieu then gave an impressive address appropriate to the occasion, before reading the appointments. After the appointments were given, the Bishop announced what he called the "old battle hymn of Methodism," "A Charge to Keep I Have, a God to Glorify," which was sung with spirit. After prayer and benediction the conference stood adjourned.

CONFERENCE GLEANINGS.

A new district has been formed, called the Griffin district. We understand that there was general unanimity in the selection of Bros. Upshaw and Watts as the new presiding elders. They are noble men and successful workers, and they will bring energy and ability to their new tasks.

J. B. L. Williams, whose term of eldership ended by limitation, has given a term of devoted and successful labor to the Atlanta District. He is beloved by the brethren and, admired for his firm and courageous stand for the right every time. He will graduate from the Gammon School of Theology next June.

A new mission chapel at Sandfly, a suburb of Savannah, has been built through the efforts of the teachers at Haven Home. It is a beautiful building, and was dedicated by Bishop Mallalieu on Monday afternoon.

Quite a number of the ministers of this conference; stationed at or near Atlanta, are taking advantage of the fine opportunity for theological training offered at the Clark University School of Theology. While not neglecting their stated work, they are making commendable progress in the knowledge of theology and in preaching power.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON TEMPERANCE.

The following report on temperance was unanimously adopted by the Savannah Conference, and was ordered to be read at the temperance mass-meeting at Savannah, and to be printed in the papers. Certainly the brethren of that conference give no uncertain sound on this great issue, and take advanced ground on the question of temperance prohibition:

We believe intemperance to be the great enemy of mankind. It brings more suffering to man than war, pestilence and famine, the other great scourges of mankind, combined. It is a curse to the individual, the home and the nation. It is the prolific parent of all crime in the calendar. It destroys reason, overthrows the sense of responsibility, turns men into brutes. It causes wounds internal, external, eternal and incurable. It wastes the substance of men. It impedes the progress of the church. It is the persistent foe of progress, and arrays itself against all moral reforms. The effect of liquor on parents and their offspring are alarming. The operation of the laws of heredity which visit the iniquity of the fathers upon the children to the third and fourth generations are awful in their consequences. The poison of rum is getting into the blood of the race. It is poisoning the chanels of inheritance Disease, idiocy, insanity and the drink crave are thrertening our people and demand speedy and decisive action against the traffic. In face of these threatening perils,

Resolved, 1. That we, as ministers of God and helpers of humanity, pledge ourselves and our church to earnest and uncompromising work against the traffic in every form.

Resolved, 2. That we promise to faithfully follow out in our practice and preaching, the principles laid down in our Discipline, believing that both science and experience unite with the Holy Scriptures in condemning all alcoholic beverages as being neither useful nor

Rev. H. J. Wright, Natchitoches, writes: "We have just closed a four weeks' protracted meeting. We had the aid of Rev. Taylor, of the Kansas Conference, who brought his wife. Brother and Sister Taylor are exemplary Christians, who do not take any stock in the caste to do. They are a sweet and smooth couple who are ashamed of nothing but sin. God bless them. We had the assistance of Rev. R T Louis, of Port Gibson, Miss., of A. M. E connection, and Bro Horace Brown, of Allen, La., but no one else save our own brethren. We had 87 mourners at the altar; 65 came up and asked to be prayed for, which made 152 who desired an interest in our prayers; 56 joined on probation, 27 were reclaimed. The church is alive so far as the spiritual condition is concerned, but up to date our finances are very low. We have received to date, all told, $204 75. Our fourth quarter takes place on the 5th of this month. Rev P. Landry, our elder, is looked for with much delight."

Rev. M. Smith, of the Cunningham and West Point circuit, West Texas Conference, writes: "Our fourth quarterly conference was held at Winchester. The presiding elder, C. L. Madison. The conference passed off nicely. The elder gave the brethren a good instruction on the duties that should be carried out by the leading men of the Church; he did it in a calm tone of voice, and the way was made plain to the sight of all. I hope they will never forget it; hang it around their necks and 'n their hearts and hearts. The elder was with us long enough to preach us three soul-stirring sermons, and every one of them seemed to go to the hearts of the people. In the midst of the good sermons that were preached we finished the old church claim which was $62 for this year. The book is out and we are sorry. The Church Manual.

The representatives of our publishing and benevolent work met as a committee of publication of the Church Manual, in the Mission Rooms, N. Y, Wednesday, Dec 2nd. There were present, J. M. Phillips, D. P. Kidder, J. M. Reid, J. H. Vincent, J. M. Freeman and A. J. Kynett. The action of the General Conference of 1880 and 1884, providing for the publication of the Manual was carefully considered. Dr. Kynett was appointed managing editor for the ensuing year and was instructed to carry out the action of the General Conference, providing for the publication of the Manual, in every part, and especially to see that each department shall be represented in each number. Dr. Freeman will have charge of the January number, and Dr. Kynett for those following. Hereafter each number will contain an original article on general benevolence, and the freshest information concerning each branch of our benevolent work prepared by the officers in charge of each respectively.

Women's Work.

Sisters Baxter of Alexandria, and Holden of New Orleans, La., recently organized a Home Missionary Society, with 23 members, and two Mission Schools with 37 pupils in one and 14 in the other. So writes Bro. S. Green, from Evergreen, La., July, 28.

Bishop Taylor's party numbered forty three. Of those one died in Africa, and one on his way home. Ten have returned home; six from fear, three from sickness; and one, Dr. Johnson, to get reinforcements for a Quaker mission. The health of the remainder is good. Most of the party have gone into the interior.—Central Methodist.

Missionary Work in New Orleans.

MISS JOSEPHINE COWGILL.

In the year past, nine months, ending with June, I made over 3600 visits among the poor, held 300 religious meetings, wrote over 500 letters, besides street work and some attention given to schools. The principal part of my time has been given to work among the lowest and worst class of humanity among prisons and dens of vice and infamy. In these places I find the greatest number of that class of persons that Christ came to save-sinners, and in these places have seen tears of bitterest regret and penitence, and in these same places, thank God, I have seen penitent faces light up with the joy that comes from a knowledge of sins forgiven, and peace made with God. Since June, my summer months have been spent in Ohio, where I was engaged in temperance, missionary and revival meetings.

In August I attended a camp meeting at Lancaster, Ohio, where hundreds of souls were made to rejoice in the precious and wonderful salvation of Christ, and where I received a gracious two fold answer to prayer, first in a special divine annointing for Christian work, and secondly, in receiving means to relieve the crying wants of some suffering ones who had been pleading for help. At the close of our W. H. M. Meeting on the Camp Ground, a stranger came to me and placed a twenty dollar bill in my hand, saying, "I give you that for your plain dress." But I felt that God had moved him to this act that I might answer the cries of some far distant suffering ones. Thanks be to Him, who in answer to prayer does "exceeding, abundantly above all we can ask or think."

On the 20th of October I left my home in Northwestern Ohio for a trip in the East to attend the annual meeting of our W. H. M. S. and from there to return to New Orleans.

It was a beautiful summer like morning, the trees were arrayed in beautiful autumnal colors and all nature seemed happy. My soul said "How can I keep from singing?" So hoping the noise of the moving train would prevent my music from disturbing others, I began to sing. But soon the conductor came to me and with a look of concern on his face inquired where I was going, I answered that I was going to Philadelphia to attend a missionary meeting and from there would go South to engage in missionary works and that the thoughts of this made me very happy. A little incident by the way which shows the need of missionary work in traveling as well as elsewhere, was at a depot where a poor little girl with a bruised face came in, I inquired how she had been hurt, and she answered, "O I was helping my mamma and fell down, and I went to school to day and the girls called me 'skinned rose.'" And you took it good naturedly did you? I inquired. She answered "O yes, I fought them."

As accounts of our W. H. M Meeting in Philadelphia have already been published, I will, in my next letter, give some account of my ocean trip to New Orleans.

Letter from the Queen City

L. A. D.

We visited last evening the Harrison Street Mission, and found we were just in time to hear the commencement of one of their interesting monthly meetings. The Mission is devoted to moral culture, and the enlargement of the Christian graces in all its endearing forms. The school, as such schools generally are, is made up of both children of the cultured and the illiterate. While some of the children are models of good behavior, others make us blush, for their ways would shame a traveling circus. Still we never heard a murmer of complaint from their superintendent, Mr. Ehrgott. If we were called upon to name some of those who are meek and lowly, following Christ, bearing all things for his sake, we would not hesitate in naming Albert Ehrgott, Elmer H. Craver, Miss Barnard and several other true Caistian workers in this mission. To Miss Barnard is due the good that has resulted and is resulting in the school and at home, she with the others named, never tiring in the good work. Miss Barnard's face is as the sunshine, and her voice is like music. At their monthly meetings different subjects are chosen, sometimes it is Burmah, China, and other places where the missionary work is living and growing. When countries are chosen as a subject, the manners, customs, minerals, and products are discussed, in the form of prose and poetry, distributed amongst the scholars, thus the children are brought into early knowledge of things that shall be as enduring and as broad as the universe. Last evening the subject discussed was the Freedmen; interesting extracts were read from the letters of Mrs. Jones, Miss Davison and Miss Rogers, Missionaries in the South, showing the progress of Mission work in that section, the good that was being done, and the many things that are still needed, both in money, time and culture. Near the close of the meeting Longfellow's beautiful poem "There is a reaper whose name is death" was read; the poem is beautiful and the reader added a new charm by her fine introduction. Mrs. Myers sung the hymn "Is my name written there," the hymn being a favorite of Beulah's, one of the Missions scholars who died several weeks ago. Beulah was a bright active child, remembered for the grace she showed in repeating prose or poetry. The Mission has on its memoriam for this year the names of Pearlie, Annie, Hattie and Beulah, and underneath the memoriam is inscribed, "For of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." O, how true, how the sorrowing heart should be comforted, and the thoughts arise to Heaven and Heavenly things. Beulah was the youngest child of our dear friend Laura F. Travis. Mrs. Travis was almost overcome by her bereavment, Beulah being not only her youngest but her pet and comfort. Our friend has the sympathy of a large concourse of friends, as was attested by the large quantity of floral offerings and other loving acts. We hope God in his mercy may heal the wounded heart, and help the sorrowing mother to say from that very heart, "For of such is the Kingdom of Heaven" Allow us to wish success to all of God's Missions now and all through the coming year.

The results of the elections for the new British Parliament excite general surprise. It was confidently expected that the Liberals would return a large majority of the members and be restored to power. They, however, lost ground in the English cities and boroughs, and if they secure a majority it will be small, so that Parnell with his Irish members will hold the balance of power, which he will use for the promotion of his own purposes. Mr Gladstone was returned member from Edinburgh by the unprecedented majority of 4 634. But his controlling prestige is weakened if not broken, and Britain will lose the guidance of the grandest statesman of our days.

The Morning Dress.

It is said that a lady's standing in society can easily be determined by her dress at the breakfast table; an expensive showy costume indicating that the wearer has not yet learned the proprieties. But no one need be afraid of being called "shoddy" if her loveliness is as apparent by day-light as at the hops. Perfect beauty is never the attendant of disease, above all, of those diseases peculiar to women, and which find a ready cure in Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." Price reduced to one dollar. By druggists.

In Madagascar, where as late as 1857, nearly 3 000 people were put to death for adhering to Christianity, there are now 1,200 Churches and 71,585 communicants. The native Churches during the past ten years have given nearly $1,000,000 for the spread of the Gospel. The Queen has pronounced against "high licence." In a recent proclamation she said," I cannot consent as your Queen to take a single cent of revenue from that which destoys the souls and bodies of my subjects."

The New York Times

An Independent Republican Newspaper.

THE NEW YORK TIMES is the best American Newspaper. It prints all the news that is worth printing, and by a liberal use of money and brains secures variety and interest for its columns without sensation or humbug.

The news is the base and core of a newspaper, but while laying before its readers the news of the world by telegraph every morning THE TIMES provides also for their further pleasure and profit, correspondence, stories, and literary miscellany of a less transitory value. It watches carefully and faithfully records the drift of discussion upon topics that engage the attention of thinking men, and notes the world's progress in science, theology, education, legislation, literature, art, invention and discovery. Its political news is notably full and accurate, and no voter, Republican or Democrat, who takes an intelligent interest in public affairs can afford to be without it. THE TIMES is an earnest advocate of civil service reform and in estimating the worth of candidates for public office it places personal fitness above party zeal. As an independent Republican Newspaper it has a growing constituency and an increasing satisfaction in its work.

The WEEKLY and SEMI-WEEKLY edition of THE TIMES contain all the current news condensed from the dispatches and correspondence of the daily edition, besides literary matter, discussions upon agricultural topics by practical farmers, full and accurate market reports of prices for farm produce, live stock, etc., and a carefully prepared Weekly Wool Market. No other New York newspaper so completely meets the wants of country readers.

safe, and regarding "voluntary abstinence from all intoxicants as the true ground of personal temperance, and complete legal prohibition of the traffic in alcoholic drinks as the duty of civil government.

Resolved 3. That we believe the local option prohibitory laws of our state to be right, wise and practicable. Right, because the Supreme Court of the United States has over and over again confirmed the right of the State to prohibit; because the right inheres in us as citizens, the right of protection; because prohibition is based on principles of common law and justice; right because the facts of heredity and the crime, pauperism and moral subversion of society by the rum traffic, not only justify but demand its prohibition. Wise, because it treats the rum traffic as other crimes against society, not dignifying it with protection, but branding it as a public enemy and putting the seal of ignominy upon it; wise, because it strikes at the root of the evil and is wholesome in its educative influence upon the young. Practicable, because in more than one hundred counties of this State, we have seen that prohibition does prohibit.

Resolved 4. That we condemn mere license and regulative laws as wrong in principle and a failure in practice.

Resolved 5. That we rejoice in the great victory just gained in the redemption of our State. We feel that it calls for renewed encouragement to unremitting work in all of our cities and towns to rid them of this curse.

Resolved 6. That we shall labor upon this subject from our pulpits, work for total abstinence reformation among our people, and in every contest take a firm and unequivocal stand in favor of laws for the abolition of the rum traffic.

News in and Around Cape Palmas, West Africa.

REV. DANIEL WARE, OF LIBERIA CONFERENCE.

The day after the adjournment of the Liberia Conference, the Bishop and myself made a hasty run up the St. Paul river; he as far as Mecklinburg and I, as far as my daughter's, at Millsburg, laying by over Sabbath at Virginia, where the Bishop preached and solemnized the matrimonial rite ——Stevens, of Cape Palmas—— Watson, Virginia, St. Paul river.

Monday morning, the American minister, Hon. J. H. Smyth, pursuant to previous engagement, called and took us up the remainder of our journey. Thursday on our return trip, we halted at White Plains, to survey the ruins of what was once a thrifty, large but poorly managed mission station. The whole place is completely in ruins.

Seeing that this would be, in the course of a few years hence, the inevitable result of things, I offered to buy the premises when Bishop Haven was out here, for I was homeless; having been a hard itinerant from 1860, up to the time of my joining the Liberia Conference till then, and have been ever since. Dr. Reid's declaration to the contrary, notwithstanding. My terms were liberal as any poor itinerant could make. Bishop Haven regarded them so, and hence himself seceded to my proposal, and spoke favorably of in it to the Board. But the Buga bugs (?) had the preference.

Being in feeble health, I did not feel justified to resume the laborious work of the St. Paul river district. I took therefore a supernumerary relation, under the sanction of the Bishop, who is a very humane man, with a heart full of gushing sympathy, and I with him ran the Liberia coast, as far South as Sinoe touching at Bassa.

It was very doubtful whether the Nubia (Capt. Davis, a captain, all Liberians love very much for his kindness and gentlemanly bearing towards passengers) on which we had embarked, would touch Cape Palmas. I therefore ticketed for Sinoe. There the Bishop, after spending the greater part of Tuesday preaching twice, and ordaining as he had done at Bassa, left me.

Spending eight or ten days with the brethren here, preaching and lecturing, I proceeded on my way to Cape Palmas, for which place I had started, to give temporary relief at least to Bro. Harmon, who had the misfortune last year to break his leg. On my arrival I learned that the Nubia touched here, and that the Bishop had spent five days rendering the most effective service.

A glorious revival was in progress, the general church in a light blaze, Bro. Harmon "hip te-hop" on his broken leg, sometimes with crutch and stick, sometimes with crutch only, sometimes neither crutch nor stick, so hot was the fire. This revival has no parallel in the history of this place, in the memory of the oldest citizen. Results 73 converts, 60 of whom joined us.

I am now in temporary charge of this church, where I shall possibly remain until conference. My health is still feeble, dyspepsia in its most virulent form, all the concomitants of this disease are mine; death at times it seems would be a welcome visitant. Is there no relief from this living death? If there is tell me!

Bishop Taylor left here on Sunday on the Biapa, where he rejoined his company, fellow missionaries, and proceeded on his way to the Tushelange country. South Central Africa, via.: St. Paul D' Loanda, the scene of his future labors. May God bless him in his noble work. I am told by those who witnessed it, that the meeting between the Bishop and his coworkers was most touching.

The reception hymn was:

"All hail the power of Jesus' name.
Heaven came down"

Surely this work cannot fail because God is in it. Every missionary is a hero. They have gone out baptized by the Holy Ghost, under the eye of the Holy Ghost's church.

In March I visited Koblokeh, a Grebo town at the mouth of the Cavalla river, intending to ascend it as far as Wehbo; but my health broke down so completely, that friends advised me to return to the settlement.

While at Koblokeh, I delivered a couple of discourses on the subject of "Witches and Witchcraft." In these two discourses, the best thinking minds in Greboes acknowledged the clearest elucidation and exposition of the subject they had ever heard. I took occasion to refer to the death of one of their townsmen, who had died at sea, and of which they had just heard for the whole town, was then in one general wail, and lamentation. Every such event is the occasion for calling a "Grand Devil Palaver," of consulting the "Grand Devil" or "medicine (witch) doctor" as to who has committed the crime. Then somebody or possibly four or five persons, must atone with their lives, by drinking "Sassy-wood" for this supposed witchery. I referred also to the unsettled state of the weather, and the irregularities of the season. This also is a matter of "witch doctor" reference.

I told them that the same weather prevailed all over the country, throughout all tribes, from Cape Mount to Cape Palmas, and that it would be difficult to tell (if it was the work of witches) to which set to attribute it, to those at Cape Mount or those at Cape Palmas.

My arguments were unanswerable, and as the result nobody has been called to answer either for the death of the man at sea or for the unsettled and unfavorable weather.

The king, soldier king; his right hand man, and his princes, and nobles, thanked me, and urged me to repeat my visit and preach for them again. My health has been very feeble ever since my return, which, together with the duties of my charge, has made it impracticable for me to repeat my visit. I hope to do so however, before my return to Monrovia, and to extend my visit as far a Wehbo.

The Greboes have become to my mind the most interesting tribe on the coast, and the field eminently ripe for harvest. Simply because the Protestant Episcopal Church took hold here more than 30 years ago with bull dog purpose, to master what they had taken in hand, cost what it might of life or money. How different has it been with us here and in every other place, in Liberia, where we have wrought. Scarce anything we have done has been thorough, except it was to put down and pull up; put down when the work has been in a binding or fruit yielding condition.

These Greboes are now loud and constant in their calls for Christian teachers and missionaries. (American-Liberians). Protesting as strongly against those of their tribes who have been located among them as missionary teachers and preachers.

1. Because I suppose "a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country, and among those of his own household."

2. Because many of them, perhaps are rather timid in assailing many of their customs and principles, which are in antagonism to civilization and Christianity, and thus appear to tacitly countenance them. This greatly weakens their influence, and nullifies the good effect their religious teachings would otherwise have upon the tribes.

At Koblokeh is where the unfortunate Frances Gross was burnt to death by the natives, during hostilities between themselves, and the Greboes in 1875.

They so far regret this act of savage barbarity, that the tree to which he was bound while the devouring flames curled around and above his head, has been cut down. Enclosed is a small piece which I chipped off from this tree.

A renewed call comes to me today, now three months since I was there, urging me in the most earnest manner to repeat my visit and preach to them; but the weather is very inclement and my health is still feeble, so that I dare not yet venture, anxious as I am to do so.

Two or three Christian settlements on the Cavalla river, among these savage tribes, at proper distances from each other, composed of healthy and industrious, Christian families, would do very much to facilitate the breaking up (or down just as you prefer,) these old diabolical antagonisms to the cause of Christian civilization, and suffering humanity.

Mission Stations do but comparatively little in this direction to what good Christian settlements would do, because the former are on such a meager scale, and again, because in the main, the general status of the operatives, precludes the possibility of anything beyond a drag-along. In connection with the Christian settlements a few industrial schools, on at least a medium scale, would in my opinion be of telling effect upon these numerous, and truly interesting tribes.

Africa Indorses Us.

The Southwestern Christian Advocate

Among the colored exchanges we receive from the United States there is none whose appearance we hail with greater pleasure than that of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, published at New Orleans, and edited by Rev. Marshall W. Taylor, D. D., a Negro of undoubted ability and loyalty to the race.

Dr. Taylor is a prominent minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church [white] of the United States. At their General Conference, held in Philadelphia in 1884, Dr. Taylor was proposed for the office of Missionary Bishop, but he declined the honor on account of delicate health. The Rev. William Taylor was then elected. (Bishop Taylor stopped here in January last on his way to the Congo country where he is now carrying on operations of which we have conflicting accounts.)

The Conference then elected Dr. Marshall W. Taylor to the editorship of the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE, one of the official organs of the church. He is the only Negro in America who holds such a position. His election is an expression of the confidence of his church in his ability and integrity, his Christianity and common sense.

Thus far his paper has more than justified the appointment. The people with whom by race he is identified have reason to be proud of and thankful to him for persistent and fearless advocacy of their right to be—and and their duty to remain physically what the God of Nature saw fit to make them.

He not only rejects all race compromises but all dubious appellations into which a disloyal spirit,—comprehensible in caste-ridden America—takes refuge from the odium supposed to attach to a people whose "previous condition" was one of servitude.

He uses the word Negro in his paper not only with no squeamishness nor mental reservation, but contends for its use against all the insinuations which a race prejudice makes against it. The race in Africa approve the word and see no other which as a race definition would not have to be further defined when the intertropical races of the continent are to be described. The discriptive term for a race is that which most easily or least ambignously desribes the majority.

In regard to Africa and the relations of the colored people of America to it, Dr. Taylor is sound. Considering that he was born in exile and has never been away from the overshadowing and blighting influences which hamper the growth of the Negro and darken his perception, it is surprising that he sees things so clearly and is able to contend so boldly for the integrity and manhood of his people. It is strange that he differs so widely from the mass of his colored countrymen who confound race extinction with race improvement, and seem so curiously incapable of the simple process of reasoning called putting two and two together.

Dr. Taylor is fortunate in having as his presiding officer and coworker in the Southwest the new Bishop Mallalieu, who though of the dominant race, is strongly in sympathy with the views of the Editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate. May their bow abide in strength for Africa there and the greater Africa here!—The Methodist Herald and West African Educational Times, Freetown, Sierra Leone, West Africa.

Let American Negroes read the above and learn how the Negro at home feels about the position maintained by the SOUTHWESTERN. But for that matter there is only one view to take upon the subject by Negroes everywhere. There is no lack of men to look after other races. God has assigned us to the services of the black race.

Books and Current Literature

This famous work is now for the first time brought within the reach of all readers. It is to be completed in four parts, 15 cents each, or 60 cents for the entire work. It is well printed from large, clear type, on excellent paper. The lowest price of this work hitherto has been $3.

Littell's Living Age for 1886. The frequent issue and closely filled pages of Littell's Living Age enable it to present with satisfactory completeness as well as freshness what is essential to American readers in the best periodical literature of the day. This literature covers a constantly broadening field and now embraces to a greater extent than ever before the productions of the most eminent writers in all departments of knowledge and literary work. The Living Age was therefore never before so valuable, so convenient and so important as now; as with it one can easily and economically keep abreast of the best literature of the time. The prospectus of this magazine for 1886 is worthy the attention of all who are selecting their reading-matter for the new year. Reduced clubbing rates with other periodicals are given and to new subscribers remitting now for the year 1886 the intervening weekly numbers are sent gratis. Littell & Co., Boston, are the publishers.

THE BI-MONTHLY METHODIST REVIEW.—It has been humorously remarked by some one, probably the present editor of the Methodist Quarterly Review; that no editor of the Quarterly Review had ever been promoted to the Episcopacy, probably because the varied and scholarly attainments requisite for a successful fulfillment of the duties of that editorship left no higher place into which one might be promoted. But the marks of deep learning and the vigor of mind displayed by the present editor of that periodical in the editorial miscellany, especially his "Few thoughts on some of the side questions" of Dr. Winchell's paper on "Anthropomorphism" indicates that he retains a good deal of the primeness of manhood yet. The September Review to which we now refer is a good one. It should come into large circulation, but from its high scholarly character we do not know, though its form is somewhat popularized, whether there is any higher place than its editorial chair. That still seems to be the goal.

MADAGASCAR AND FRANCE,—with some account of the Island, and its people, its resources and development. By George A. Shaw, F. Z S. London Mission, Tamatave; with a map and illustrations from original sketches and photographs.—American Tract Society, 150 Nassau St. New York. Price $1.50. The author, Mr. Shaw, was for better than 13 years a missionary in Madagascar, and in that capacity has had a fair chance of knowing what he states is true. As an Englishman he will for political if not for reasons more commendable, be sure not to warp his views unduly favorable to the interest of France who is the old time rival of his country. While for other reasons he will be likely to give Madagascar only that which by force of merit she justly commands. Everything relating to that country and its people are now eagerly desired by the public. Mr. Shaw with this in view has undertaken to convey in one 12 mo vol., of 443 pages, cloth and gold cover, all the desired information. The country, its products, and adaptability for foreign enterprise and commerce; and its people, their character, habits, and advance in civilization and Christianity, are the subjects upon which he dwells, and their treatment is both perspicuous and fresh. He enlightens and pleases by the force of what he says, and the beautiful style in which he says it. Our author is at a good bit of pains and hard labor to find a tangible theory for the origin of Madagascar other than African, but his endeavor in that particular has neither the merit of originality nor success. Indeed he hinges all and surrenders everything to a tradition that the Malagasy are the successors and exterminators of a race of Africans in Madagascar. But this theory mostly grows, it is patient enough, out of a wish that it might be rather than any reliable data proving that it is so. He ingeniously explains away the strong indication of African origin which is found in a similarity of language, by a supposition that Madagasy adopted the language of their African victims. A thing never done by a conquering people but once, if then. But he is willing that black Malagasy of the delta should be accredited to the African race, only anxious is he to rescue the Highland Hovas. There is very little doubt but that all of them are of Africo Arabian extraction, and that by virtue of their high latitude, and salubrious climate remote from the tanning effects of the Delta malaria, the Hovas have both bleached and polished comparatively. Indeed if it were clearly established that they were of Malayan origin, it only removes the need of proof one step backward, for it remains to be satisfactorily proven that the Polynesian was originally not an African. These dark colored races both in Polynesia and Madagascar doubtless have many many strains of African blood. He shows not only the animus, but also the wantonness of the late French invasion of the Island, and has altogether written a most interesting book.

Revival Notes.

I. W. Horton, Jefferson, Ky., closed my meeting—result, church greatly awakened. 11 conversions, four joiners from other churches and 16 baptized this year.

The Lord is in this place since August last. 12 persons have joined our church at Gunns Chapel and quite a number have been converted to the Christian faith, and others at the altar seeking peace, and the good work goes on. "Praise God from whom all blessing flow."

General Church News

Through the zealous labors of Signor Luigi Capellini, the soldier evangelist in the Italian army, more than 1,000 soldiers have left the Church of Rome during the last thirteen years and been admitted as members of the Evangelical Military Church.

Total receipts for October were $34,802 30. The total issues of the Scriptures from the Bible House were 65,407 volumes.—Bible Society Record.

The agent of the London Religious Tract Society, in Japan, furnishes a very encouraging report of the prospects of religion in that country. He says, "Nobles, commoners, and priests are all diligently studying the doctrines of Christianity. We hope that within the next ten, or, at the most, twenty years, Japan will be a Christian country."

COMING HOME.

Oh brothers and sisters, growing old,
Do you remember yet
When we came in the shade of the rustling trees,
When we came our household met?

Do you know how we used to come from school,
Through the summer's pleasant heat,
With the yellow fennel's golden dust
On our tired little feet?

How sometimes, in idle mood,
We loitered by the way;
How we stopped to the road to gather flowers,
And in the fields to play;

How, warned by the deepening shadows fall
That told of the coming night,
We climbed to the top of the last, long hill,
And saw our home in sight?

And, brothers and sisters, older now
Than she whose life is o'er,
Do you think of your mother's loving face
As you look from the open door?

Sighing for the changing things of time;
Lies low;
Some dear lifting smile was hid from us
In the distance long ago.

And do we have come to life's last hill,
From which our weary eyes
May almost look on the home that shines
All tranquil in the skies,

Oh, brothers and sisters, as we go,
Till let us move at one,
Hand in hand together keeping step,
Till the march of life is done.

That the Father who waited for us here,
Perhaps a smile on each,
May welcome the little band of paradise
Whose children's coming Lost.

Man's Natural Tongue.

The Medical and Surgical Journal has the following curious article. Some years ago a society of emi Paris discussed the language would speak if never Great Catholics that the He would be spoken in One scientist that some form would be Twenty differ was decided to test committee was the experi peasant deaf and first in the Alps hearing chil The re instructions to these may neigh bor, the circumstances surrounding the experiment were favorable.

Years rolled on and many of the members of the society lost sight of this interesting experimen. Some members of the committee died, and there was great danger of the results of this wonderful test being lost to the world. Fortunately, two of the members of the committee kept faithful watch on the case, and when the children were six years old, brought them, with their nurse, into a meeting of the "savants." Every member was on tiptoe of expectation as to the result. Not one word could either of the children utter, their only form of language was a wonderfully good immitation of the crowing of a cock, of the coddling of a hen, or the bleating of a sheep. The predictions of science were totally upset by a practical experiment." It is probably true that we have no natural language, or natural tongue, but it is also true that we have a "Mother tongue."

The Ten Laws of Health.

This is the title of a book recently written telling how diseases are produced, prevented, and purports to be a family guide to protection against epidemic diseases, and dangerous infections. The book has a big job on hand to do all that perfectly, but it does do much work well. "The ten laws of health" are good. "1. Thou shalt breathe a pure air, 2 Thou shalt have adequate and wholesome food and drink. 3. Thou shalt have adequate outdoor exercise. 4. Thou shalt have an adequate and unrestrained covering for the bed. 5 Thou shalt not interfere with the natural cause of reproduction. 6 Thou shalt dwell in a climate for which the constitution of the body is adapted. 7. Thou shalt engage in pursuits which do not cramp or overstrain any part of the body, or subject it to irritating and poisonous substances. 8 Thou shalt practice absolute personal cleanliness. 9 Thou shalt maintain a tranquil state of mind and secure adequate rest and sleep. 10. Thou shalt not intermarry with near blood relations."

In the treatment of rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, tic douloureux, semi cranio, sciatica, etc. Salvation Oil should be applied to the parts affected and thoroughly rubbed in, so as to reach the seat of the disease. It kills pain. Price 25 cents a bottle.

English entomologists are excited over the addition of a new butterfly to the British fauna, making a total of 65 species. The species is Lucena argiades, a common dweller in Southern Europe.

DANGER SIGNAL.

When a person gives you counterfeit money he perpetrates a crime against the law and your pecuniary interests; but when he gives you an inferior and dangerous medicine in the place of one of recognized and well known curative properties he commits the blackest of crimes, for he conspires against your health and life.

"The New York Herald," Sept. 21, 1885, says: "To endorse a counterfeit medicine is to injure the manufacturer and the buyer, and the buyers will soon drop away from a counterfeited medicine that they find worthless. Manufacturers of counterfeit articles fail because they have not the experience and apparatus of the large manufacturer to produce the same curative results. The large manufacturers have the utmost incentive, while they are protected, to make their medicine as perfect and curative as possible."

For example, take the experience of Simmons Liver Regulator prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., of Philadelphia; their firm has devoted years of time, employed the most eminent chemists of the land, and spent thousands of dollars in bringing their medicine to the perfection it has attained. They expended a large amount of money in bringing it to the attention of the people, and its use has made Simmons Liver Regulator widely popular. In order to make money from the great reputation gained by this remedy, unscrupulous adventurers have gotten up cheap counterfeits, dangerous to health, and stick on these frauds a name closely resembling Simmons Liver Regulator, to deceive the unwary into buying their inferior goods.

FERNANDINA, Nassau Co., Fla.

"I have used Dr. Simmons Liver Regulator and always found it to do what is claimed for it. The last bottle and two packages did me no good and were worse than nothing. I see it is not put up by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and not genuine, and a waste of money to buy it. I could be glad to get the pure and genuine. Send me some from honest hands (with red Z and Zeilin & Co.'s signature on the Wrapper). The fictitious stuff sold will injure some one badly.

BENJ. T. RICH."

The genuine Simmons Liver Regulator has become the Foulless Family Medicine and has the endorsement of the thousands who have used it. If you want Simmons Liver Regulator see that the Druggist gives you the genuine, not something he claims is "just as good," and because he makes more off it.

PROHIBITION IN ATLANTA.—After a very exciting temperance campaign, the Prohibitionists carried the city of Atlanta and Fulton county, Ga., by a majority of 226 votes in a total vote of 8,000, the largest ever polled in the county. The license men made a hard fight, but they were opposed by the ministers and the women, who worked nobly, and the honest men who voted the day.—New Orleans Sugar Bowl.

CONGRESSIONAL.—The following table shows that, in spite of the steady increase in the number of bills introduced in Congress, the number which became laws has fallen off, with the exception of the last two Congresses, when a very unusual number of private pension bills were passed:

The obstacles in the way of independent legislation in the House have largely contributed to this result, the "Bowman bill" only securing consideration by being made a "special order" after suspension of the rules. In fact, with the exception of what is known as the "Thurman Funding bill" of the Forty fifth Congress, and the "Dead Bigamy bill" in the Forty-seventh, no public measure of considerable importance has been given consideration in the House in what is called the "regular order of business" since the passage of the "Holman bill" authorizing legislation on appropriation bills, and those bills were as the Speaker's decisions only appeal from burial [illegible] the Committee of the Whole [illegible] the House of the Union by [illegible] of Speaker Randall [illegible].—The Current.

GOLDEN TEXT.

He, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters. Isa. 55, 1.

LESSON HYMN. S. H. Hymnal No. 356.

The Spirit in our hearts,
In whispers say, "Sinner, come."
The bride, the Church of Christ, proclaims
To all his children, "Come!"

Let him that heareth say
To all about him, "Come!"
Let him that thirsts for righteousness,
To Christ, the fountain, come!

Yes, whosoever will,
Oh! let him, by repent,
And humbly drink the stream of life;
Do as he bids him come!

Time—A. D. 730.

Place—Jerusalem, King of Judah, Assyria, Egypt.

Persons—Isaiah, Hezekiah, Sennacherib, Tirhakah.

Connecting Links—Between this lesson and the last, Hezekiah has become king, Sennacherib has invaded Judah, and Hezekiah has been sick and recovered. Between this lesson and the next, Hezekiah has received the ambassadors from Babylon, and Isaiah has foretold the Babylonish captivity.

Lesson Plan—I. The Invitation. II. The Reasons.

I. The Invitation. Ver. 1. Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters. Ho—Hebrew, hoy—a cry to attract attention. Every one—Jew or Gentile, rich or poor, bond or free. That thirsteth—Spiritually, for God, for righteousness, for holiness. Come ye to the waters—Christ is the fountain of living waters. Jer. 2, 13. He is the water of life. Rev. 22, 17. Ye that have no money—the poorest might enjoy them. Buy and eat—Not in the sense of purchase, but of ownership. Buy wine and milk without money—indicating still richer blessings. Sure mercies—The covenant mercies of God. Given him—that is, Christ as the son of David. A witness—Christ was the assurance of God's favor, one to confirm the promises God had made to the fathers. Nations that knew not—Referring to the in gatherings of the Gentiles. While he may be found—Showing a limit to probation. Void—Empty—showing that as rain and snow do not fall from heaven uselessly, but only return thither after having accomplished a beneficent purpose, so God's word has a fruitful mission.

Doctrinal Suggestion—The universality of salvation.

An old physician had placed in his hands by a returned Medical Missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Catarrh, Asthma, Bronchitis, Colds, etc., after having tested its wonderful curative powers in hundreds of cases, desires to make it known to such as may need it. Bread Without Yeast.

It is a well known fact that bread made without yeast, if eaten before it becomes stale, ferments again in the stomach, producing indigestion and numerous other complaints. Bread raised with Royal Baking Powder, instead of yeast, is entirely without this defect; but on the contrary, is one of the most effectual preventives of indigestion or dyspepsia. By the use of Royal Baking Powder the saccharine properties of the flour, which are destroyed by fermentation with yeast are preserved, and the bread is made more nutritious. Ten per cent. more bread is baked—because of this saving—from the same quantity of flour.

The Royal Baking Powder will also make sweet, white bread from an inferior quality of flour, a property possessed by no other leavening agent. Thus, much flour that is dark in color, or from other causes is considered below the finer grades and therefore much cheaper, can be utilized and turned into a perfectly sweet and wholesome bread. Nor can bitter bread ever result from the use of too much, or more than the required quantity, of Royal Baking Powder, as whether used in small or large quantities, its properties are in each case equivalent. They always neutralize each other.

Bread made in this way does not require mixing over night, but may be prepared ready for the oven in a few minutes; an advantage that will be readily appreciated by every housekeeper.

C. JONES.

160 Howard st., Indianapolis, Ind.

Notice.

To the ministers and members of the Jackson district, Mississippi Conference, of the Methodist Episcopal Church:

Dear Brethren—The second session will convene in the Methodist Episcopal Church in the city of Jackson, at 10 o'clock, Saturday morning, Jan. 30, 1886. A full attendance is earnestly desired and expected. The benevolent collections must all be fully raised. Don't fail this time, brethren; by any means our part of the million for missions should come.

J. M. SUMPERT, P. E.

Notice.

The second district conference, of the Greenwood district, will be held at Durant, Miss., commencing Friday, January 29, 1886, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. The members of the conference are urgently requested to be present at the hour above designated time, with their reports neatly prepared for inspection.

Candidates for license to preach, admissions, orders and local preachers for examination, are expected to be present at the opening of the conference. Each pastor of a charge in this district is required to collect and bring to conference the amount assessed to his charge as a part of the million dollars for the support of the missionary cause of the M. E. Church. In connection of the transaction of the business of the charges, the conference will extensively engage in the discussion of eccles astical law and those parts of our Discipline, a knowledge of which is so essential to pastoral success, and as, under the circumstances, this exercise will be more profitable than any other in which we could engage, we request the brethren to prepare it.

The Following Explains Itself.

LaGrange, Ky., Nov. 19, 1885.

Rev. Marshall, W. Taylor, D. D., Editor SOUTHWESTERN:

Dear Bro.—Please say in the next issue of the Southwestern that Rev. S. S. G. Turner, late pastor of Kynett M. E. Church, LaGrange, Ky., Louisville district, Lexington Conference, has been suspended from all ministerial and church privileges, until the next session of the Lexington Conference.

W. W. LOCKE, P. E.

Notice.

Dear Brothers and Sisters and Friends, hear my cry and respond to it. I have a little company of Sisters and two Brothers, which number 24 in all. We have no church to worship in and a house and all to help us. We have one acre of land paid for. If you can give but one dollar we will be thankful for that, and will publish home in the SOUTHWESTERN that you may see it. Send it by Postoffice Order or Registered Letter to J. F. R. W. Summerville, Harrisville, Penn. You that have a home, think how bad it is to be without a house to meet in to worship God. I hope no one will refuse to help us.

J. F. R. W. SUMMERHILL,

New Orleans District Conference.

The New Orleans District conference will convene at Mallalieu Chapel on Sixth Street, in New Orleans, Thursday, Jan. 28, 1886, at 9 o'clock a. m. The pastors will please notify the local preachers, exhorters, stewards and class-leaders and Sunday-school superintendents to be present. The Annual Conference meets Jan. 27. Let every pastor push his appointment for Missions, Freedmen's Aid, Church Extension and all other causes earnestly. Let us have a great work in the great work of salvation.

L. P. CUSHMAN P. E.

Gratefulness.

Mr. H. Sampsel, Ottawa, Kansas writes: "DR. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O.—Gentlemen: I have suffered for seven years; have tried everything and many physicians, and all have failed. I went to Pittsburgh, and while there fell on the street, my breath seemed to leave my lungs, and numbness overpower me. I determined to give PERUNA and MANALIN a fair trial. I used four bottles of each, and my trouble left, never, I hope, to return. I left Pittsburgh three weeks ago for Kansas, and thought, as I was going to a new country, I had better take a bottle of MANALIN with me, on account of bad water, etc. I arrived here with one-half bottle. I found one of my friends in a pretty bad condition. The doctors were treating her for chills and fever. I did not know what her trouble was, though I persuaded her to use the MANALIN. She did so, and the first day she was up doing her work. Now this seems strange, but it is, nevertheless, a candid truth. She used it all, and has never had cause to lie down during the day since she took the first three doses."

A Case that was Pronounced Incurable.

Miss C. C. Peck, 714 Jackson street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "DR. S. B. HARTMAN & Co.—Gentlemen: I take great pleasure in stating to you the benefit I received from your valuable PERUNA. I have been suffering for about fifteen years with a severe cough and bronchitis (so the doctors call it). I was treated by different physicians, and spent considerable money for different kinds of patent medicines, but received no benefit whatever. Dr. Fox, of this city, claimed I had consumption, and there was no hope for me ever getting better. I was so bad that I coughed almost continually. Mrs. Henry Ellis, a friend of mine, induced me to try your PERUNA. I am happy to say I began to notice a change after I had taken my second bottle. I took eight bottles in all, and now I feel like a new woman. If it hadn't been for PERUNA I think I would be in my grave now. It is a wonderful remedy, and I recommend it to all my friends."

Messrs. Baker Bros., Mt. Vernon, O., write: "Your PERUNA sells well. Customers speak of it as being a good medicine."

Mr. Daniel R. Spry, Portsmouth, O., writes: "I have a good trade in PERUNA. It sells well and gives satisfaction."

West Texas Conference.

N. HILL MIDDLETON, M. D.

The thirteenth session of West Texas Conference met in Wesley Chapel, at 9 a. m., Bishop R. S Foster in the chair. The Bishop read the 14th chapter of St. John, after which was sung the hymn beginning "Come ye that love the Lord;" followed by the administration of the Lord's supper to some 75 ministers and visitors.

The conference roll was called, and forty-one members responding. On motion B. F. Smith was elected secretary and Dr. N. Hill Middleton, assistant. J. Foster, statistical secretary, with C. P. Westbrooks, assistant. H. Swan treasurer and M. Henson, assistant.

The usual conference committees were duly appointed. Drs Hunt, of the Book Concern and Coxe, of Iowa Conference, representing the Sunday-school Union, were introduced.

The several districts were taken up and the characters of presiding elders, C. L. Madison, G. W. Richardson, P. M. Carmichael and W. H. Davis were passed. All of whom reported a gradual progress in every department of the church.

At 3 p. m., Thursday Dr. Coxe held the Sunday school congress, lecturing to some length on general Sunday-school work. Among some of the things the Doctor said were these:

1. The Sunday-school was not a place simply for ladies or little children. Some call the Sunday school the nursery of the church, if a nursery, then the nurse must be present as much so as the nursed. Some call the church an army; if an army, then all should come out on dress parade, from the general to the last private. A teacher in order to be a true teacher, must study harder than his pupils.

The Bible should be kept open and in the hand of the teacher and pupil, while in Sunday-school, and thus aid in awakening the conscience to God.

In teaching people who cannot read, you must be patient, gentle, wise and skillful; you should never under any circumstances employ unconverted persons as teachers, and if you can get no other, then let pastors teach themselves.

The teachers with the superintendents and pastors should hold weekly meetings to study the lesson, and thus exchange ideas and thoughts on the lesson, adopting the best presented. The Bible class should study the same lessons as the junior and intermediate classes.

Pastors in preaching should often use the golden text as a text.

Dr. Taylor of the SOUTHWESTERN has been here during the whole day moving quietly among the pastors with book and pencil in hand, looking after the financial interest of our paper. He and Dr. Hunt represented the paper fully. Dr. Taylor said that among the many things that the paper had done was meeting squarely the color line; the settlement of the question as to whether or not the colored man, in America, should be styled "Afrieo-American," "Colored," "Negro," "nigger" or "Negro" and the adjustment of the question of amalgamation—the worst thing to think of as the means of settling our social relations. The Bishop commended our editor highly for the stand he took on these questions through the columns of the SOUTHWESTERN.

Thursday, 730 p. m., a fine audience assembled to greet Drs. Hunt and Coxe, who in an excellent way put before the people the work of the Missionary Society, discussing what has been done, what is being done, and what the church hopes to do, in evangelizing the world through this agency.

A collection was taken and something like $10 given to the cause.

Friday, 9 a. m., the conference entered into its general work and went on faithfully until 12:30 p. m. Friday afternoon was given almost wholly to committee work.

At 7:30 p. m., an excellent audience assembled in an educational meeting to be addressed by Drs. N. Hill Middleton and J. C. Coxe. Dr. Middleton's address will appear in the SOUTHWESTERN. Among other good things Dr. Coxe said that he believed in denominational schools in which each denomination can prepare its own workers, and not teach a Baptist in a Methodist school or a Methodist in a Baptist school. The National Congress may in time pass the bill that has been before it from time to time for national aid for education, but the church cannot afford to wait, the condition of the nation calls for immediate action. Shame on the color line drawn in our schools, there will be soon a time when this line will be obliterated entirely and the races will be educated together.

The grand old John Wesley Church has been true to her colors. No halt in her color, for she would be untrue to John Wesley and Gilbert Haven, did she act otherwise than just and true. Yes, I believe in denominational schools, for then we know what kind of teachers go into our schools. Prof. Dart, president of West Texas Conference Seminary, presented at this point the local claims of the seminary, stating that the trustees had on hand something like $3,000, as a building fund, and they would like to have it increased as early as possible that the building may commence. A collection of $25 was taken for the seminary.

Saturday, 9 a. m., the conference resumed its labors and continued until 11:30, when Dr. Hoyt, of New Orleans University was introduced and delivered a grand and stimulating speech to the conference, drawing a natural picture of his life while in charge of a circuit in the beak regions of Michigan. Telling our preachers that their December is as pleasant as May, as compared with the hardships and sufferings he and his dear wife experienced in an old open cabin, through whose roof the twinkling stars would peep, and through whose walls the Northern winds would howl, making it actually necessary for him to put his candle in a bushel in order to keep a light.

This had an encouraging effect. On calling the class for admission, the Bishop delivered a soul stirring appeal which we hope to produce in part in the SOUTHWESTERN.

At 3:30 p. m., Saturday, the time was given to the W. H. M. Society, when Mrs. C. P. Westbrooks read an excellent paper on the work of the society, which tended to inspire a new desire to do more active work at home, in making the household beautiful and attractive. Another paper was read by Mr. G. W. Richardson, showing the effective work done by her as corresponding secretary, of the society in Texas.

Dr. Hoyt made a flourishing and highly commendable speech on the work of the society, as also did Prof. C. P. Westbrooks.

At 7:30, p. m. the Missionary sermon was preached by Rev. E. E. Cooper, who used Luke 10 chapter and 2d verse. Bro. Cooper reviewed the work of the Missionary Society and dwelt at length on the work still to be done in foreign lands, and presented to his attentive audience, some means of accomplishing this great work.

Sunday morning, after the sun had risen in all its grandeur and splendor, and while the birds carroled forth their songs of praise to the Creator of all things, everybody, it seemed, had directed their steps toward Wesley Chapel, to attend Sunday-school under the supervision of that active and model Superintendent M. G. W. Wilson. There were, in attendance 167 pupils, who contributed $5 65 At the close of the Sunday-school the Chapel was soon filled to overflowing, and still they came, until there was not even standing room, all had come, as Dr. McFerrin, of the Book Room, of the M. E Church, South, expressed it, "to hear the great preacher."

At precisely 11 o'clock, Bishop Foster arose, while silence prevailed, every body anxious to catch the first words of the matchless "preacher" and pronounced hymn 161, prayer was offered by Dr. McFerrin, then the Bishop read a portion of Cor. 15th chapter, beginning at the 35th verse, after which hymn 1. was sung. The Bishop then for one hour and fifteen minutes preached from the 3d chapter of St. Paul to Timothy, 16th verse. The sermon will be given in the SOUTHWESTERN. After the sermon the following ministers were ordained deacons: M. C. Cavenas, G. J. Starnes, P.V. Crawford, Joseph Holden and Solomon Scrugge.

Sunday, 3:30 p. m., Rev. W. H Logan, of Texas Conference preached, which was followed by the ordination of the following elders: S. W. Harvey, J. A. Hall, J. T. Gibbons and John Brawley.

Sunday, 7 p. m., the chapel was literally packed—every available seat being occupied, some sitting on the platform of the pulpit, some on the floor, some in the windows, some in others laps—all to hear a sermon from the entertaining Iowa man, Dr. J. C. W. Coxe, who delivered a stirring discourse, to the delight and edification of all who listened.

Monday, the 7th: 9 a. m., the usual conference work was resumed and continued until 11 o'clock, when a memorial service, in honor the deceased members, Larkin Cooper, Cæsar King and Elijah Nesbit, were held. Biographical sketches were read, by Mack Henson and H. Swann, all of which will appear in the columns of the ADVOCATE.

The sum of $170 was distributed to the widows and orphan children of deceased preachers.

Victoria was elected as the seat of the next session. Bro. J. W. Robinson offered a resolution to the effect that each charge in the West Texas Conference, be apportioned according to membership, a certain amount to be collected and reported by each presiding elder; said amount to go into the building fund of West Texas Conference Seminary, which was adopted.

Elder Richardson was authorized to communicate with Dr. D. P. Kidder touching the collection taken on Children's Day during the present conference year. At this point the several reports were made. The statistical report showed a general increase all along the line. The following on recommendation of the Bishop was passed unanimously.

Resolved, That all the conference examiners be requested to procure and study the books which they will be expected to use in the examination of candidates, and that they demand good examinations on the part of those applying, the local preachers' course being the standard.

The following presented by Bro. Henson, was duly passed upon:

Resolved, That the Conference proceed at once to organize a society to be known as the Mutual Aid Society of the West Texas Conference.

Resolved, That "all ministers may become members by paying the sum of $1 and may hold said membership, by paying $1 per year. All deceased ministers' wives, sons over 12 years, and daughters over 15 years may become members, by paying 50cts, and an annual fee of 50cts.

The object of said M. A. Society is for the better support of the widows and orphans of deceased ministers.

Resolutions thanking the Bishop and Dr. Coxe for their presence and counsel, and praying their return; resolutions thanking the people of Austin, for their hospitality and kindness; a resolution, thanking the secretaries for their service; and one commending the course of the SOUTHWESTERN, and pledging a hearty support were duly passed

Austin Conference.

REV. HARVEY WEBB.

The conference is composed of fifteen English preachers and seven Swedish.

The Swedish work is growing and seems promising, and this conference has set it off in a separate district under the hand of P. A. Lublin.

The English work was divided into three small districts, and the presiding elders being also pastors.

The conference was grandly entertained by the people of Austin, and a good revival spirit prevailed all through, Bishop Foster made his home with the writer, who resides in Denton, and a royal guest he was. Dr. J. C. W. Coxe, D D. agent of our Sunday-school Union was present, and made a fine impression on the conference. Prof. C. W. Campbell, of Houston Seminary, who located at the Texas Conference at his own request, was re admitted to this conference, and released from the school.

The benevolent collections passed the million line, and were far in advance of last year, while the membership had fallen off, and several points were dropped.

Bishop Foster left to night for Fort Worth, where he will lecture Tuesday night for the benefit of the Texas Wesleyan College, and then departs for Mexico. Long may he live to bless the church with his wise council and grand preaching. Dr. Cox will visit Marshall, Wednesday and Thursday, and then go to New Orleans.

Letters from the Pastors

O. H. Taylor Musson, La., writes: Rev. Stephen Priestly our presiding elder, always true to his appointments, was on hand for the holding of our third quarterly conference. The business of the quarter was in fine trim, reports from pastor, stewards, trustees and class leaders showed that the church is alive at this place. Sunday-school is getting along finely. Children's Day was observed and we collected $2 75. Bro. Sherman Smith is the superintendent of this School at Shiloh, and a useful young man in the church. We are striving to build a church at this point. The trees and the houses of Hon. Wm Harris and Mr. John H. Davis have been a blessing to the people. The members and the friends of the Methodist Church are determined to have a Methodist Episcopal Church at Musson. Their subscription list taken at the quarterly conference shows that the people mean what they say, as we Methodists generally do. C. A. Taylor, $5; Rev. S. Priestly, $2; John H. Davis, $5; O. A. Taylor, $2.50; Samuel Collins, $1.50; James Yerger, $2 50; Benjamin Pool, $2.50; Edward Neal, $2.50; Frank Thomas, $2 50; Isaac Hamilton, $2; Dan Scott jr. $1; Dan Landry, $1; Benjamin Franklin, $1; Sherman Smith, $1; Thomas Barrow $1; Hankless Mulmore, $1; Thomas Williams, $1.50; Mrs. Louisa Handy, $1.50; Robert Woodard, $1; Mrs. Zillia Scott, $1.25; Mrs. Louisa Hamilton, $1; Mrs. Mariah Hamilton $1; Mrs. Emeline Bines, $1; Mrs. Emeline Wilson $1; Mrs. Ann Dotson $1; Mrs. Ann Given, $1; John Iveo, $1; Mrs. O. A. Taylor, $1; Mr. Chas. A. Taylor, jr., 25 cents; Miss Mary J. Taylor, 25cts; Miss Leaner Murphy, $1; Mrs. Susan Yerger $1; Miss Roberta Barney, $1; Mrs. Caroline Hayes.

Rev. W. H. Scott, Sallis, Miss., writes: "We had a good time on Children's Day; the little lambs were merry, and our prarade was a happy affair to both old and young. Our programme consisted of songs and dialogues well rendered. The following contributed 25cts.: W. Harmon, Kissi Brown and Thos Stingly, Mrs. G. A. Tyler, Miss Unger, A Wise, J. E. Clark, Miss M. J. Andrews, Adaline Harmon, Allen Ashley, Sister C. Clark, Jesy Farrow, Miss Martha Clark, Robt Cashman, Benj. Sallis, H. Sallace, Miss Olivia Harmon, Miss Stingley, Hannah Harmon, J. G. Williams, Eliza Williams, Mrs. E. J. Davis, J. H. McClintock, and two white gentlemen; W. H. Scott 50cts; Mrs. Amanda Scott, 50cts; others gave from 5cts to 15cts each, making our total collection $6.

Rev. M. H. Hunter, Ponchatoula, La., writes: "Our third quarterly conference was held on the 14 15 of Nov. and the Lord was in our midst. The day was one of spiritual interest. At 9 o'clock a. m. the Sunday school met; at 11 o'clock a. m. preaching and sacrament by the presiding elder; also, preaching at 8 o'clock p. m., by the presiding elder. Some of the most prominent white people of Springfield came out to hear our presiding elder preach, as they highly esteem Bro. Cashman at this place. Having closed our meeting at Springfield we left for Ponchatoula, a distance of seven miles, which we reached at 7:30 p. m. Here we had a very good united crowd. The [illegible] were greatly strengthened while he was delivering a soul stirring sermon to his attentive hearers. At this place we are greatly in need of a church edifice, as we have none now. At present we are holding our meetings in an old two-story hall which is very inconvenient for the purpose. Rev. L. P. Cashman, the presiding elder, is using every effort to have us put up our new church before the meeting of the conference. He [illegible] on his way to [illegible] Sunday and [illegible] spoke upon him. [illegible], we are hard

Rev. A. D. Payne, of Grenada, Miss., writes: "Having set forth some time ago the spiritual condition of this charge in its particulars, will just say now that it is still good, and speak of its temporal affairs in general. We found here a great need, as may be found at other places, of improvements upon church and parsonage property, and the need on the former was much greater than that on the latter. The parsonage as we found it was a house of four rooms, two front and two shed rooms, but only one of these was in good repair. The house was built on the old flat roof style, with a stack chimney in the middle, and the shed rooms so wide and flat that the rain rendered them unfit for use, now the roof has been taken off, chimney taken down, also the shed rooms, the house sawed in half and moved eight feet apart, for a hall, new roof put on, and an ell put on for a kitchen and dining room. This was begun in summer, the poorest time of the year, and to encourage the people to give, I promised to publish the names of all who gave as much as one dollar. They are as follows: R. Ratcliff, $2; C. L. Marshall, $50; Wm. Brown, $1 50; L. Pulliam, $2; Annie Bowman, $1.25; Lue Whips, $1.50. Each of the following $1; A. D Payne, R. Alverro, R. Brown, J. B. Golden, W. H. Golden, J. E. Evans, M. Gause, Eliza Dudley, L. Smith, B. Fitzgarald, E. Payne, G. G. Leonard, M. T. Cooper, Lue Marshall, Martha Turner, Terpy Travis, Mrs. Edwoods, E. Roseman, E. Ratcliff, Sallie Russell, Mollie Watkins, R. Graham-F. Sanford, Mrs. Melton, Mrs. Hallcraw, M. J. Burk, J. Carl, J. Wright, S. Duncan, S. Harroll, P. Bynum, E. Fitzgerald, H. White, Rebecca Gray, T. Anderson, M. Johnson, Celia Lee, T. H. Gause, F. Hardy and Johny Seals. The money thus raised and by other means for the above named improvement, amounts to a little over $200. The parsonage is now spacious and neat. Brethren let us improve our property."

Rev. Nathan Connon, Handsboro, Miss., writes: "This circuit is in a prosperous condition spiritually and temporally. Handsboro church is doing well; we have added some full members to the church, our Sunday-school at this place is a lively Sunday-school with Bro. A Boyd, superintendent, and Bro. A. L. Hart, at the front. At Biloxi M E. Church, we had a protracted meeting and added 9 to the church; the good brethren and sisters went to work and filled the church with new seats. Biloxi is doing well. Our Sunday-school is in a growing condition. Ocean Springs M. E. Church is doing better than it has for some time. We have built a new fence around the church and bought a new church record and new Bible; 20 joined the church. Turkey Creek M. E. Church is alive. This little church has bought new chandeliers for the church. The Sunday-school is in a prosperouse condition."

S. S. Wright, Campte, La., writes "We commenced a protracted meeting in the 8th month of the year and closed September 15th, with eighteen converts and eight reclaimed I am glad to say the Lord is on our side; it seems that I can hear him say, "go forward; forward! there is no danger, I am with you, always and will be until the end." Notwithstanding, we had that humble and able minister of God with us on the 3-4 of October, 1885, and we had a time of refreshing by his masterly management in the pulpit I ask that the Lord bless him where ever his lot may be. I am glad to say and I have had a sweet time this year; the Lord bless you Bro. Landry, and your household. Collection for elder was $20.50, which makes the total amount due him, this quarterly conference, $46.40. I shall soon have every dollar for the SOUTHWESTERN. The Sunday-school is looking up. A part of our million is on hand."

L. P. Brown, Deer Brook, Miss., writes: "The first and second quarterly conference reports spiritually good, but financially dull, but our third quarter was held September 17th. Rev. J. Campbell was on time and on hand promptly. The elder gave a long and extensive talk upon missions, and the brethren seemed to take courage to do a better work for the Master. At night he administered the sacrament of the Lord, 16 came forward and communed with us after which a collection for the elder was taken and resulted in $18.15. Brethren, the good work is still going on and many are being saved."

Rev. J. H. Smith, Lake Providence, La., writes: "I think that there will be found enough work in the Church for old and young members, when they attend to all their duties: first, prayer meeting, Sunday school, preaching, class meeting, the sacrament and visiting the sick, and taking care of the widows and orphan children."

Rev. B. F. Smith, Dallas, Texas, writes: "A new parsonage was commenced on the 10th of March, and was ready to move into by the 23d of April. The building is a neat one, with three rooms, two, 12x14, one, 14x14, it is built something in the shape of the letter T, and is worthy of note, I will say, second to none in the bounds of West Texas Conference, and it has been very neatly furnished, according to the plan of the Discipline, and is insured for $600. This has been a year of unusual hard times, but we have managed to make the monthly payments very promptly. On the first of March, we commenced with a subscription list, to raise the money for building. It will be remembered the last report showed that a membership of 105, but I have only been able to find 84. The following are the contributors Quincy Clark, $6; Charles Good, $4; Sinthia Freeman, $4 50; Lizzie Henry, $3; Mary Jones, 3 50; John Cooper, $6; Peaches Ector, $4 50; Mattie Good, $3 50; Lucy Simon, $3 50; Jane Lucas, $2; Millie Tanner, $2 50; Kate Williams, $3; Missouri Hall, $2 50; Ellen Walker, $2 50; Laura A. A. Allen, $4; Sallie Cooper, $5 50; Joe Veal, $2; Lue Cooper, $3 58; Amanda Johnson, $3 50; Nathan Williams, $3; Hannah Jones, $3 25; Charity Strawder, $2. The following are those who have not been so mindful of their duty: Wm. Watkins, 50cts; Isom Terry, 5cts; Catherine Turley, $1; Laura Watkins, 50cts; Lewis Kimble, $1 50; L. Jones, $1 50; Jim Walker, 50cts; Sister Green, 50cts; Frank Marrat, $1. This shows that 34 out of 84 members are able to contribute to the enterprises of the church. The unpaid debt is $189, the total was $345. The Lord has blessed us with 5 conversions, and 6 accessions to the church. My other appointment is at Fort Worth. It will be seen from the report of last conference held in Waco, that there was 48 full members and one church, valued at $600. I have visited the above places one Sunday in each month. I find we have no church there, or property of any kind, I found some fifteen members, the most of them are at a little station 9 or 10 miles East of there at Handly. We have one acre donated to us by the citizens, and also have a neat little house erected on the ground. This will give us a grand opening to all that section of the country."

Letters From the Laity.

Mrs. E. A. Roberts, Brenham circuit, writes: "The fourth quarterly conference, was held Nov. 7-8 with Rev. W. B. Pullam, P. E. in the chair. Rev. W. H. Jackson, our efficient pastor, was on hand with his officers, who made very good reports, which showed success. Both years of Bro. J's labor have added great success to the church, also he has been principal of our public school. As all know, Elder Pullam does preside skillfully, and to the satisfaction of all. Sunday was a grand day, and will live long in the hearts of the people of Pleasant Grove M. E. Church. The elder preached a wonderful sermon, from the 11th chapter of Isaiah and 10th verse. It was a refreshing time. At night we also had a grand time. Collection for presiding elder $9 30 Our pastor paid $2, upon the million for missions. The regular committees made right favorable reports By littles our circuit improves each year since Bro. Jackson has been our pastor, in the whole it is growing spiritually and financially."

Several members at Clifton, Tenn., write: "In memory of the Rev. E. M. Mason, late pastor of the Clifton circuit, who died the 24th of August, 1885, at Brownsville, Tenn., at his post in full triumph of the faith he had in Christ. whereas,

Bro. E M. Manson was loved by all of the members of this circuit, the people of Clifton and the community in general, for his manly Christian character of heart, and enjoyed the good will of all; therefore be it,

Resolved, That we, the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Sunday-school that was led two years by the Rev. E. M. Manson so successfully, we mourn the loss of our dear pastor and teacher that we found so true to us. In him we found a man of God and a leader of man in the higher sense of the word.

Resolved, That we deplor his death, but we bow in humbleness to the will of God.

Resolved, That we sympathize with his dear wife and son in their bereavement.

Resolved, That we highly appreciated the life and labors of the Rev. E. M. Manson, who served us so faithfully on this circuit for two years.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the SOUTHWESTERN, for publication. James Robertson, H. Hardeu, M. B. Mayberry, Matilda Matthis, A. Hughes, committee.

H. Richardson, Columbus, La., writes: "I came here on the 8th of August, and found the frame for a church, badly damaged and almost rotten by the weather. Since then we have the walls up and the roof on, and the bill for the lumber for seats and flooring. I circulated a subscription and recived some nails and $6 50 in money. I have preached several time to good congregations, and have two members, and a good Sunday school, numbering 12. Two subscribers to your paper. I expect to finish the church by conference. Most of the people here are Baptists, but I think we can organize a church, nearly all the white people are Methodists and they encourage and help us and will do more when they see the church is soon to be finished, for they say there has been money collected that was not used for church purposes."

Joseph Nelson, Thornton, Miss., writes: "The land has been given us, and we have the title etc., to one-half an acre, and desire your publication. It lies 6 miles above Isohula lake on the Yazoo river, one mile from Thornton. We have 17 members here. The lot was given us by Peter James, and I contributed $1 for a good deed and title. Trustees, Joe Nelson, Cage Slack. Robt. Fullilove."

From the Districts.

Presiding Elder's Annual Report—Palestine District, Texas Conference.

REV. G. W. SMITH, P. E.

Dear Father and Brethren—I am really happy to be blessed by the Lord with an opportunity of reporting my year's labor on the Palestine district. Taking everything into consideration I do not think there is any need to complain, although this has been an exceedingly hard year, owing to the long drouth which visited our part of the State for two successive years. Notwithstanding the scarcity of money the work has, I think, done moderately well. Bro. Williams, at Jacksonville, has done a good work this year, and is now making preparation to move to the city. Heretofore the nearest appointment we had to Jacksonville was eight miles.

Bro. Johnson, at Mineola, who was transferred to this conference last year from the Arkansas Conference, has done good work. He has built a new church. On the whole, he has done good work for the Master, no withstanding the great opposition he has had to contend with.

Bro Brown, at Fairfield, has also been at work like one who expected to get his pay in the end. He has been instrumental in taking about forty members into the church, and has also a project on foot for another new church and parsonage.

Bro. Whiting, at Cotton Gin, has money already raised, and, I think will have a new church at that place by February. There has also been an addition made in members.

Bro. Edwards, at Hopewell and Shiloh, has also been earnestly at work; he has purchased an acre of land at Shiloh, and has plans arranged for building a church immediately.

Bro. Bartley, a local preacher, who was supplied on Madisonville circuit, has done a grand work this year, He has also procured an acre lot, and is making arrangements to build a new church at that place.

Bro. Horn was sent to Sabine and Shelby, but owing to hard times and poverty of the people, I was compelled to give him charge of San Augustine also. The people in those two counties are greatly mortgaged, therefore they have been unable to do what they otherwise wanted to do for the church. Notwithstanding the hard times Bro. Horn has done a grand work both spiritually and financially.

At Palestine there has been some improvements such as a nice fence around the property and a new chancel added to the church, and are now making preparations to put in two new stoves.

On Palestine district, owing to the failure at that place, there has been nothing done, on account of the people moving away from that community; I then changed Bro. Minnegan to Crockett circuit.

Crockett circuit has also had to contend with the hard times, but there has been some few additions to the church this year. There has been two lots of four acres each purchased in a good location to build upon.

On Leona circuit there has been a little increase in membership, but Bro. Allen, by some means has not done so well at this place.

Bro. Weaver, at Hawkins and Center, has also done a little this year; there has been a few members added.

For Butler circuit I can not say as much as I would like to in the way of prosperity.

This concludes the appointments on my district. There are several good towns on the district where a work could be done if we had the money and men who are willing to spend and be spent in building up the cause of Christ. For instance there is Nacogdoches, Lufkin, Longview, Athens and Henderson, which are growing railroad towns, where good work could be done if we only had the men and money. The total membership, as I have received it from each pastor, is 1,367, probationers, 206 This is an exceedingly poor district; I do not think there is a single pastor on the district who has received anything like a support this year; as for myself I have only received $252, traveling expenses and all, but I have, through the help of the Master, been able to hold forty-two quarterly conferences, preach 44 sermons, and baptize 15 children. The advance collection necessary to help raise the $1,000,000 on my district is $91, and by my continual calling on the pastors we will, I think, raise a little over and also bring up our other collections.

The Doctor's Answer.

REV. ABRAHAM BOOKER.

While Dr. M. W. Taylor was the presiding elder of the Ohio district, Lexington Conference, he had occasion to visit one of the other district conferences of the same Church. The presiding elder of the latter district was reading his report, posed to eulogize one of his ministers for valuable services on the district. Said he: "Doctor, have you any more Paynes on your district to give away?" Doctor—"Yes, and some Aches, too; you can have them all." We understand the Doctor now.

Jeffersonville, Ind.

Columbus District.

REV. P. M. CARMICHAEL, P. E.

The following is the report of the Columbus District to the Annual Conference held at Austin, Texas, Dec. 3, 1885:

Number of Sunday-schools, 37; officers and teachers, 125; scholars of all ages, 1,765; scholars who are church members, 300; officers and teachers who are church members, 120; conversions in the church and Sunday-school, 550; received into the church this year, 451; received on probation, 500; withdrawn from church, 13; received by letter, 25; dismissed by letter, 26; died during the year, 21; number of sermons preached by pastors, 873; families visited and prayed with, 755; benevolent money raised, $444. There is on the district 2,200 full members. The work of church building has been carried on at an average rate with last year.

Now I wish to say a few words about my work as presiding elder. I have held and caused to be held all the quarterly conferences; I have held 40 quarterly conferences myself, preached 160 sermons, besides a great many other talks and lectures; baptized 25 infants and 4 adults; visited and prayed with 86 families. I have, as far as possible, supplied the people with labor. All the church property is safe from debt. I have endeavored to get good teachers in all the communities where we have any people. I have tried to look after the work generally, and I think what we have done this year will be productive of much good.

Aids in Raising the Missionary Money.

BY MRS. M S. BUDLONG.

God bless the men whose noble impulses flung into the midst of the year 1885 the watchword for Methodism—"A million for missions."

Have they not builded better than they knew! For if before the Christmas snows fly we lay this free will offering before the Lord, there yet stands behind the shining heap so nothing of even better worth. Back of the gift stand the million givers, and from Bishops and Presiding elders down to our quick-witted Sunday-school boys, all have felt either less or more of the inspiration of the royal cause.

Even the luke-warm pulpits have awakened to something like eloquence in its plea; even the careless and unintelligent of the laity have felt the irresistible onset of its purpose; even our children have often flamed up with a child's quick enthusiasm to will and do. Dignified Doctors of Divinity have felt their faces flush over it, and the self-sacrificing frontier missionary has lifted his hands to God, while the tears in his eyes told how at one with this great scheme was his faithful heart.

Yes, it has done us all good, from oldest to youngest, from richest to poorest, from highest to humblest.

It has lifted up the grand subject into grander proportions before us; it has enlarged our sense of responsibility, and last, not least, it will it will raise Methodism from the ignoble seat—almost the very lowest round on the ladder of American churches—where our "46 cents per member for missions" has placed us.

Let oblivion swiftly and compassionately cover the record while we arise to a more worthy position and find it indeed among the "heavenly places" in Christ Jesus.

An exchange says. "Man's average life is 33 years." Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will always live.

General Conference Entertainment.

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which met in Philadelphia in May, 1884, after full discussion, inaugurated a new plan for the entertainment of the General Conference in 1888, whereby the whole church will take part in the entertainment of its delegates to that body, thus relieving from undue pressure the community in which the session is held. The plan is as follows, namely:

I. All matters pertaining to the entertainment of the next General Conference shall be in the hands of a Commission appointed by the Bishops during the present session.

II. This Commission shall be known as "The Commission of the General Conference Entertainment of the Methodist Episcopal Church," and shall consist of seven members, one of whom shall be one of the Book Agents at New York, who shall be Treasurer.

III. The Commission shall estimate the amount required for the expenses of the General Conference, including traveling expenses and board, and shall apportion the same among the Annual Conferences at as early a date as practicable.

IV. There shall be sub-committees of two ministers, one of whom shall be the presiding elder, and one layman for each presiding elder's district, in each of the Annual Conferences, who shall attend to the collection of the amounts apportioned to their several districts as the Commission shall direct. These sub-committees shall be elected by the several Annual Conferences on the nomination of the presiding elders, and it shall be the duty of the Bishop presiding to request the appointment of such sub-committees at each session of the Annual Conference.

V. The following general plan for the collection of money is recommended to the Commission namely:

1. The amount required shall be apportioned to each Annual Conference at its second session in the preceding quadrennium, and divided by the Conference, first among the presiding elder's districts, and then by the sub committees among the charges.

2. The collection shall be reported at the next ensuing Annual Conference by the preacher in charge, leaving the fourth year for the collection of arrears, should there be any: Provided, however, that if any sub-committee has any good reason to adopt any other method of collection, it may be authorized by the Commission.

VI. The Commission is hereby authorized to locate the next General Conference at the People's Temple, Boston, or at such other place as may be approved by a majority of its members.

VII. The Commission shall have power to appoint working sub-committees.

VIII. The Commission shall meet for organization at the call of the first named member, said meeting not to be held later than Nov. 1st.

In pursuance of the above action the Bishops appointed the undersigned as "The Commission of General Conference Entertainment of the Methodist Episcopal Church." The Commission first met in New York city on [illegible] 1884, all the members being present, and organized by electing M. D'C. Crawford, Chairman, Homer Eaton, Secretary, and William Swindells, Treasurer. At this meeting J. M. Phillips and Clinton B. Fisk were appointed a committee to ascertain as nearly as possible the entire expense of entertainment of each of the General Conferences since 1868. Homer Eaton, J. B. Cornell, and A. S. Weed were appointed a committee to ascertain the expense of holding the sessions of the General Conference of the various Methodist Episcopal Churches in this country.

At the same meeting a committee of three, consisting of M. D'C. Crawford, J. M. Phillips, and Homer Eaton, was appointed to apportion to the Annual Conferences the amount necessary to meet the expenses of the next General Conference, and to have in charge all matters pertaining to the securing of the amounts thus appropriated.

At their last meeting, July 2, 1885, the Commission, after full and free discussion, and careful consideration of all the interests involved, decided on New York as the seat of the General Conference of 1888.

They also unanimously adopted an equitable scale of apportionments to the Annual Conference of the amount they deem indispensable to pay the expenses of the expenses of the General Conference, including, as directed, "the board and traveling expenses" of the delegates. The amount required is, of course, greater than the Church has heretofore contributed for General Conference expenses, though it cannot be burdensome when properly distributed among the several pastoral charges of our great and rapidly growing Denomination.

In making this partial report of their proceedings the Commission confidently appeals to the churches and pastors for their hearty co-operation, without which success is impossible.

Wealth, a Stepping-Stone to Power.

REV. S. E. H. MORANT, LA. CONF.

Wealth, with a good character, is a powerful combination. What ever degree of civilization, science and prosperity any race of people have enjoyed, wealth of education and of character, wealth in money and estate, has given it to them.

Wealth is the foundation, while education and good character are beautifying adornments, and if there be not wealth of worldly goods and effects, which are obtained by toil, thought and labor from the hand of Providence and nature, held in possession by the individual and the commonwealth, there is certainly a great want of power, and this deficiency in wealth is a steppingstone out of place, producing an interval too large to be easily gotten over. If we would be situated to yield the power that makes a race of men a worthy race, and a man, a worthy man, every steppingstone must be in place. I tell you, there is great power in a pocket well filled with dollars, and that power is augmented when there is education and character to add force to it.

There is also great power in good crops, whether it is corn, cotton, sugar, etc., and I assure you, the man who has a good farm, a good dwelling, plenty of cattle, stock, poultry, and provisions, is a powerful man. For instance, there is Farmer Jones, he is not a white man; see his face, charcoal would almost make a white mark upon it, however, that is no disgrace.

See yonder, he is coming up the street, in his little carryall. He is an industrious man and well provided at home. He owns 30 acres of land just three miles from town. Every thing about it is arranged in order.

Mr. Jones is not a college bred gentleman, but there are few men who know more about matters in general than him, and one important point about the whole matter is, that the community thinks he is a thoroughly educated gentleman. Well, he has a smattering of an education, and came by it in the order of a self-made man, on this time; it mattered not how hard he worked in the field all day, behind the plow or hoe. he never failed to spend an hour and a half with his books, before retiring at night. He is what we may call a rich man, having acquired his wealth by hard and earnest labor, and what we want to-day, is just such men as as h.

There is plenty to do, and it must be done. There is plenty to do, and it must be done. There is plenty of land, lying idle, almost everywhere, and there are plenty of men, who can work as our model Jones has done. They are able, muscular and strong, full of health and are able to take hold of the great problem connected with the race and solve it by earnest, honest and energetic labor, by educating themselves. Work hard all day, quit frolicing abroad at night, use the hours not occupied, at home, with your family and books.

Cease to use intoxicating liquors, save your earnings and buy land and build houses.

We want more families with homes of their own. In a word, we want all that any other race has in its true men and women, and when it shall come to pass, that the Negros in America, will be distinguished for their education, character, and wealth, we shall and will be a power in every department of industrial, social and political life of this connitry; walking forth in our true manhood, intelligent agents, and powerful factors in the economy of our great commonwealth.

Above all things let us bear in mind this one thing: Intelligence can never and will never stoop to ignorance; therefore, if we would be powerful, let us educate ourselves, cultivate good character, accumulate wealth and attain the three great steppingstone to power.

Not long ago the British government elevated Nathaniel Rothschild to the peerage; the last step towards a removal of Jewish disabilities in England two other European countries similarly recognized the complete political and social equality of the "chosen race." At the same time that Sir Nathaniel Rothschild become an English Nobleman. An Italian Jew will henceforth be known as a Marquis in Hungaria. While the Jews have been persecuted and mistreated, two Israelites have been elevated to the peerage and given seats in the house of the Lords. It aroused great excitement, but the Emperor was determined. Thus the world moves on rapidly, and the Jews who, half a century ago were refused political rights in every country of Europe, now find themselves raised to the highest position everywhere.

In the Bible their history is analogous to the Negro race to-day. Education, character and wealth have placed them thus; notwithstanding they have passed through every species of oppression imaginable, and if we are true to ourselves, the same means will bring about the same ends to us.

THE SOUTHWESTERN

MARSHALL W. TAYLOR, D.D., Editor

THURSDAY, DEC. 24, 1885.

OUR TERMS.

All Methodists and Agents are requested to make the canvass for the SOUTHWESTERN CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE now for the year 1886 If paid in advance $1.50 will be received for one year's subscription. When an agent sends in a name but does not send the money to this office within three months $2 will be required. Subscriptions for six months taken at $1; for three months, 50 cents.

If agents will make a steady and persistent canvass for the next thirty days hundreds of new names may be added to the subscription list of their official Church paper. Remember, it is one of the cheapest papers in the country, and the best medium for news of the church work in the Southern States.

PHILLIPS & HUNT.
37 Natchez street, New Orleans

To whom are you preparing to make Christmas presents, the needy or the needless?

The righteous eateth to the satisfying of his soul, and his body like his soul; but the belly of the wicked shall want.

Instead of 3,232, as we gave it last week, the mulatto population of Texas in 1850 should be put at 1,980, of whom 254 were free.

Bishop Foster is one of the greatest philosophers of his times. When his monument is erected it will stand with the great men of all times and lands.

Atlanta, Ga., marches grandly to the tune of prohibition, and, [illegible] of all sizes Negroes joined the whites in this battle for God, home and native land.

Straight University has about [illegible] pupils in attendance. President Hitchcock has not been so well lately, but is now in his usual health and trim for work, of which he is fond.

A special committee to examine the charges of Mr. T. W. Price [illegible] has sustained the management of Dr. A. J. Kynett in his administration of the affairs of the Church Extension Society.

We hate to tell our people how [illegible] is being Christianized by the old Mother Church. But [illegible] them without [illegible]. Here is [illegible] Andrew Branch, [illegible] La.

Mr. Wm. H. Vanderbilt has gone to meet the divine verdict upon his worldly life. Let us hope that it shall not be such as it is said he once pronounced upon the judgment of his fellow-men—"The public be damned."

The article in the January Harper's Magazine which is most likely to be most widely read, though perhaps not most popular, is the last word of Gen. McClellan to his countrymen on "The Army and the [illegible]."

Having obtained the Freeman's definition of "censorious," we are prepared to submit the case [illegible] to our neighbor that he [illegible] a subject to whom his definition will be more applicable [illegible] in front of a large [illegible].

How the Insects Teach Us Fidelity.

Dr. Hitchcock has discovered [illegible] in bees, that they [illegible] comrades, even after a [illegible] than a year. In [illegible] to very [illegible] the [illegible] between [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] of

Now a bucket of cero de batt ry i. e. syrup from the kettle, a dozen or so of the succulent canes and we retrace our steps, then good dinner, prayer, farewell and we are off and away bound for the upper cotton lands

The Best New Year's Gift.

In these times when so much is being said about Africa, every Negro, and especially every Negro who pretends to leadership and letters, should read Geo. W. William's chapters on Africa, Sierra Leone and Liberia. It is only after reading such things as he has gathered that one is prepared, with heart aflame, to go into the general subject. "History of the Negro Race," by Geo. W. Williams, 2 volumes, 8 mo. Price $7, discount to preachers. Phillips & Hunt, agents.

Definit

When yon say African-American then it is necessary for yon to still farther define what you mean. Whether a white, black or an albino African is meant by African; American is not clear without explanation. But American Negro has and can have but one meaning. It means an American who descended from a black African. It is definit and unambiguous in meaning

The Lexington, Ky, Convention.

The State Convention of Kentucky, colored, proved to be a numerous, orderly and useful body of earnest men. They fittingly, and to our satisfaction, selected our old and valued friend, Dr. W.J. Simmons, of Louisville, for temporary and permanent chairman. They could scarcely have done better. Simmons is a bold, fearless and outspoken man, and in these times of human cupidity and indirectness it is refreshing to find such men in the lead. The convention did well to express its wishes and point the way to their gratification. Perhaps now is as good a time as any to go earnestly about doing something for ourselves. What the Negroes ought to do, and can do for themselves is to spurn and not lick the boot which kicks and the hand that smites them.

Plain Talk

A lay sermon to white people by the American Baptist is another matter for solid thought, and will and should be thought of seriously by all who read it. The Baptist is in earnest, and does not speak either in vanity or idleness on the subject.

Drs. Lee and Tanner are in the Southeast, attending conferences of their Church. That is right, gentlemen, divide and one of you go to the Southwest. Your brethren need your presence.

Bishop Turner has ordained a lady to the deaconate of his Church. Just like him.

One prominent gentleman invited to be present in New Orleans on African-American Day, we are told, made the inquiry, 'Is there any money in it?' No, sir, not a bit. Where the Lord you can't come.

The Gold Eagle reports prosperity in which we rejoice very greatly.

California and Other State Capers.

K. Hines, editor of the Christian Advocate, was severely hurt by a refractory horse [illegible] It is hoped not fatally.

[illegible] of Simpson Memorial Church was a great affair in Methodism. Bishops [illegible] Fowler, and ladies [illegible]

The California Christian Advocate wants 4,000 subscribers, which it well deserves. Ah! yes; and we want 10,000 ourself, and we expect them.

It is said that our church has raised, for all causes, from the first, about $140,000,000, and still we must have more.

Senator Sharon gave $60,000 to benevolence, and Vanderbilt a million.

At dedication day $10,000 was raised for the Simpson Memorial Church.

They are in earnest about the Episcopal residence in San Francisco.

Personal.

—We learn that Miss Cordelia Price, a highly respected member of our Church, and a school teacher at Starkville, Miss., has lost her mind and been taken to the asylum.

—We learn that Rev. B. J. Donnell, of Little Rock, and M. F. Morgan, of East Tennessee conferences, have been transferred to the Mississippi Conference.

—Hon. Frederick Douglass still holds on to his place. The President took the alarm when he measured the calibre of those who would create a vacancy and themselves fill it.

—Rev. R. T. Kent says our statistics were worth a year's subscription to the paper. He gives us, also, a cordial invitation to the Savannah Conference, which we wish it were in our power to accept.

—Our old friend, J. J. Spellman, of Mississippi, is in town. He says Mississippi is coming here on the first. Spellman and Simmons deserve much credit for the hard work they did, on very poor pay, at the Exposition last year.

—Bishop Mallalieu and son arrived in the city Dec. 19, in good health, after a pleasant visitation to conferences in the Southeast. He says his time will be much occupied with work in this vicinity for a month to come or more.

—We learn that Rev. G. W. Sams is quite ill and in need of all the aid his brethren, who promised, can afford him. The great zeal and interest displayed by Bro. Sams in life, both for his church and his race, constitute a strong claim for him upon the aid and sympathy of both in the closing hours of his precious life.

—Rev. D. B. Lawton, late financial agent for and member of the East Tennessee Conference, has been retransferred to the Holston Conference and taken a superannuate relation. In spiritual things he has the light which lighteth the evenings, but in things temporal his long and zealous ministry has been less productive, and he looks therefore with an unconquerable solicitude to the future.

—We were favored by a call in our office of Rev. A. Craig, D. D, Jersey city, N. J., presiding elder of Jersey City district, Newark Conference. Also Rev. A. L. Price, D. D, presiding elder Newark district, Newark Conference, Newark, N. J. They arrived in New Orleans, Friday, Dec. 11, and left on the evening of the 15th for a trip through Texas and home via St. Louis. We trust that they shall find wholesome tonic effects from the enjoyment of our salubrious climate, and also many pleasant features for future consideration during their sojourn among us.

—The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Booneville Quarterly Conference: "Resolved, That we, the undersigned members of the Quarterly Conference at Booneville, feel a deep sense of appreciation of the faithful Christian spirit in which the Rev. A. E. P. Albert has discharged the duties of his ministerial office among us, and of the hope and encouragement imparted to us by his conversations and sermons. Resolved, That we pray the blessings of Almighty God to rest upon him, giving him long life, and increased and continued efficiency to his prayers and labor in edifying the people. Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the SOUTHWESTERN for publication. S. Drew, Wm. L. Amos, A. Bahm

Church Polity.

MR. EDITOR—Should a Methodist Episcopal minister unite a believer and an unbeliever together in marriage? SUBSCRIBER.

Answer—He could not do so in fact, and ought not, ofcourse, to attempt that which is impossible Marriage is not only a civil contract, but it is also a divine institution. So far as it is a civil contract any Seneschal can perform the ceremony; but recognizing the divine origin and the Pleropbory of the Church touching the sanctity of this site all courts require ordination to the ministry of the church as a condition to its performance by preachers under judicial carte blanche. Dis. 1884, p. 236, par. 405.

Our matrimonial services pronounce all whom our ministers officiate for to be "servants" and "hand maidens" of the Lord, and the ministers invariably so pronounce them in his prayer. Dis. 1884, pp. 238-9.

Now either the minister has prayed what is not true in fact, or the couple before him must be just what he says they are. He seals the union in the name of the Holy Trinity, which he could not do if both were not clean spiritually. Dis. 1884, p. 239.

It may not be plead that this is done in anticipation that both will in future turn to the Lord. For the same reason we could admit unconverted people to full membership in the church or ministry. What must he do when they apply if this is so. We need answer at this point no further than to say he has God's word for it that "two cannot walk together except they are agreed." He has also the Apostle's injunction, "Be not unequally yoked together with unbelievers." And he has our Discipline imposing upon him the obligation to pronounce them one and to seal the union in the name of the adorable Trinity. If he can do all this with a good consoience when the parties are not both Christians, then the minister need not trouble himself about our view of the case at all. Were we more determined in the matter of strict adherence to our profession in these things we would greatly multiply the number of admissions to our churches. It does not help Christian institutions to place them in the reach of those who would not avail themselves of their dignity were we uncompromising in the requirement.

STATISTICS.

On this district the pastors' reports for 1884, show, 426 probationers, 1713 members, 16 local preachers, 48 deaths, 74 children and 257 adults baptized, 27 churches, valued at $25,850; nine parsonages, valued at $2,300; paid for building and improving church property, $2,473; paid on old indebtedness, $428; present indebtedness, $1,290; current expenses, $521.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

No. of Sunday-schools, 27; officers and teachers, 146; scholars of all ages, 1,200.

MINISTERIAL SUPPORT.

Pastors' claims including house rent or rental value of parsonage, $5,696; receipts on said claims, $4 118; deficit, $1,468; apportioned presiding elder, $797; paid him, $815 88; excess paid P. E. above apportionment, $18 88; apportioned bishops, $46 95; paid bishops, $38; deficit in bishops apportionment, $8 95; which should have been paid out of the presiding elders' overplus. We must be just before we are generous.

Conference claimants apportioned, $107; paid, $37 65; deficit, $69 35; since after paying $8 95 of his $18 88, over pay, to make up the bishop's under pay, the presiding elder would still have $9 83 above his apportionment. It was his duty to have either applied that sum to make up the deficit of the conference claimants or to have shared it with his pastors, who received, $1,483 less than a comfortable support.

BENEVOLENT COLLECTIONS.

For missions, $73 30; Church Extension, $20 20; Sunday-school Union, $4 70; Tracts, $11 15; Freedmen, $23 15; A. B. Society, $1 30; W. F. M. Society, $5 30; W. H. M. Society, $7 96; total, $137 06

This district is composed of Negro members and in connection with the two Negro districts, of the St. Louis Conference, referred to in this paper sometime since, makes three Negro districts with above 6,000 members and probationers in Missouri. Their last was a good conference, and the minute work is well done.

Schools and Colleges.

Mr. H. B. Payne, of New Orleans, La., has given Payne Institute at Macon, Georgia, $25,000 as an endowment fund, conditioned on the Methodist Episcopal Church South, raising $15,000 more. The conditions will be met. The South now begins to fall in line substantially.

The King of the Maories in New Zealand has kept the promise he made while in England to work for the temperance reform among his people, 11,539 of whom have become tetotalers and wear the blue ribbon.

Gratefulness.

Mr. H. Sampsel, Ottawa, Kansas writes: "DR. S. B. HARTMAN & Co., Columbus, O.—Gentlemen: I have suffered for seven years; have tried everything and many physicians, and all have failed. I went to Pittsburgh, and while there fell on the street, my breath seemed to leave my lungs, and numbness overpower me. I determined to give PERUNA and MANALIN a fair trial. I used four bottles of each, and my trouble left, never. I hope, to return. I left Pittsburgh three weeks ago for Kansas, and thought, as I was going to a new country, I had better take a bottle of MANALIN with me, or account of bad water, etc. I arrived here with one-half bottle. I found one of my friends in a pretty bad condition. The doctors were treating her for chills and fever. I did not know what her trouble was, though I persuaded her to use the MANALIN. She did so, and the first day she was up doing her work. Now this seems strange, but it is, nevertheless, a candid truth. She used it all, and has never had cause to lie down during the day since she took the first three doses."

A Case that was Pronounced Incurable.

Miss C. C. Peck, 714 Jackson street, Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "DR. S. B. HARTMAN & Co.—Gentlemen: I take great pleasure in stating to you the benefit I received from your valuable PERUNA. I have been suffering for about fifteen years with a severe cough and bronchitis (so the doctors call it). I was treated by different physicians, and spent considerable money for different kinds of patent medicines, but received no benefit whatever. Dr. Fox, of this city, claimed I had consumption, and there was no hope for me ever getting better. I was so bad that I coughed almost continually. Mrs. Henry Ellis, a friend of mine, induced me to try your PERUNA. I am happy to say I began to notice a change after I had taken my second bottle. I took eight bottles in all, and now I feel like a new woman. If it hadn't been for PERUNA I think I would be in my grave now. It is a wonderful remedy, and I recommend it to all my friends."

Messrs. Baker Bros., Mt. Vernon, O., write: "Your PERUNA sells well. Customers speak of it as being a good medicine."

Mr. Daniel R. Spry, Portsmouth, O., writes: "I have a good trade in PERUNA. It sells well and gives satisfaction."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

BAKING POWDER.

Why the "Royal" is the Best.

Royal is the best baking powder because it is absolutely pure and wholesome, of the highest strength, and maintains its full leavening power until used.

There is no other pure baking powder offered to the public; all others contain either lime or alum,—deleterious substances,—sometimes both. Lime presence results from impure cream of tartar; alum is added to give strength; the object of the manufacturers in both cases is to produce a cheap powder.

The Royal Baking Powder is exclusively made from cream of tartar specially refined and prepared for its use by patent processes by which the tartrate of lime and all other impurities are totally removed. Its absolute purity is guaranteed by its manufacturers and certified by all prominent chemists and scientists who have made it the subject of investigation.

The cream of tartar of the market from which other baking powders are made has been tested by Profs. Chandler and Love, for the New York State Board of Health, and found to contain impurities from three to ninety-three per cent of its weight. It is, therefore, absolutely impossible that these powders should be pure, while it is equally as impossible for the Royal, being made as it is from chemically pure materials, to be otherwise than absolutely pure.

There being no inert matter in the ingredients of the Royal Baking Powder, higher strength is, of course, attained; and, the exact value of the materials being ascertainable to an atom, a compound is possible that will maintain its full strength until used, leave no residuum in the bread, and which all chemical tests and practical experience have proved to be the perfection of leavening agencies. This combination in the "Royal" makes it the best, and the only perfect baking powder attainable.

Prof. Mott, late Government Chemist, says: "Because of the facilities that company have for obtaining perfectly pure cream of tartar, and for other reasons dependent upon the constituents used in its manufacture, the proper proportion of the same, and the method of its preparation, the Royal Baking Powder is undoubtedly the purest and most reliable baking powder offered to the public. H. A. MOTT, PH.D.," etc.

"MERRY CHRISTMAS"

When the red bains through the gray,
And the wintry world is waiting
For the glory of the day;
When we hear a fitful rustling
Just without upon the stair,
See also small white phantoms coming,
Catch the gleam of curly hair.

Are they Christmas fairies stealing
Rosy little socks to fill?
Are they angels floating hither
With their message of good will?
What sweet spell are these elves weaving
As they flit and chirp and sing?

Busy feet upon the threshold,
Eager faces pressing through,
With the first bright ray of sunshine,
Chanting chorals come to view;
Mistletoe and glowing holly,
Symbols of a blessed day,
In their chubby hands they carry,
Strewing all along the way.

Well we know them, never weary
Of the innocent surprise;
Waiting, watching, listening always
With full hearts and loud re eyes,
While our little household angels,
White as golden in the sun;
Greet us with the same old welcome,
"Merry Christmas, every one!"

Domestic Hygiene.

"What Shall We Have for Dessert?"

"What shall we have for dessert?" is a question daily asked in thousands of homes by troubled housekeepers, as often calling forth only the same oft-repeated answer. It is this perpetually recurring query that has suggested the publication of the "Household Receipt" book, as an attempt to furnish a ready answer of a more satisfactory nature.

The volume is published with the object that it may, by suggesting a pleasing variety of simple, pala table dishes, be the means of lifting a cloud from many a household, and increasing its happiness and prosperity, by securing the general peace and comfort of many a household.

The [illegible] Receipt Book, containing 176 pages of choice receipts, like the sample on the opposite page, will be mailed to you on receipt of [illegible] cents, to pay the postage. Joseph Burnett & Co., 27 Central Street, Boston, Mass.

Lost Friends.

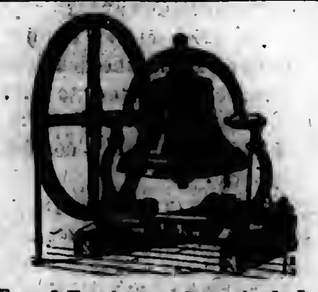
MR. EDITOR—Please allow me to inquire through your valuable paper for my parents, whom I left in Mississippi about 1850 or 1852. Father's name was Philip; mother, Lucy; brothers, Anderson, Aaron, Harney and Phillip; sisters, Ann, Amanda, Delila and Easter. We all belonged to the Gardiner family; I did not know the old man's name, but his sons were John and George Gardiner. When the old people died the property was divided, and pa and ma, Anderson, Ann, Amanda, Easter, Phillip and the baby fell to Mr. Milton. Also I have a brother Bradle, and Delila fell to some one unknown to me. I fell to George Gardiner; he sold me to S. M. Moore, in Italy county. These were kin to the Spinkses. My name is now Harvey Moore. I hope all the pastors will read this from their pulpits, and oblige a brother in Christ. Address H. B. Moore, Caldwell, Texas, local preacher of the Caldwell circuit, Navasota district.

MR. EDITOR—I was informed by Rev. Charley Brown that the SOUTHWESTERN was a paper that would bring all lost friends together; he said that your paper found his people for him who had been gone over since the year 1867, and in 1885 your paper brought them within hearing of him. I now inclose to you the sum of one dollar for this paper to pay for it just as long as it will last, in order to get you to publish the following names of my people, who have been parted from me about 37 or 38 years. My father is Frank Walker, mother is Harriet Walker, sisters Mary and Charlette Walker, brothers, Ed. Franklin, Simon and Orange Walker. I used to belong to Monroe Holloway, about eight miles from Rockport, Missouri. I [illegible] with [illegible] left them in Atchison county, Missouri. I do not know what names my father and mother, sisters and brothers go by at this time. I am in hope that the preachers and class leaders in every State will please help me to find my people, by your publishing their names. They have been away from me so long I expect they will be very hard to hear, but please call them again and again until they can be found, and when they are I will let you know. Any information that can de given will please be addressed to Louisa Mitchell, Garland City, Miller county, Arkansas, care of H. A. McCants.



Mr. Hiram Howard wants to find his uncle, Calvin Howard or Hiram Howard. My father was brought from Tennessee to Western Texas by Capt. Dunking, where he died the second year of freedom; his name was George Howard. My mother was born in Texas, she died in 1872, and left four boys, who are all living. Calvin, Joseph, William and Hiram; and my father, George, came from Hinds county, Tennessee; the town I can't recall. Address Hiram Howard, Galveston, Texas.

Especially to Women

"Sweet is revange (specially to women," said the gifted, but naughty Lord Byron. Surely he was in bad humor when he wrote such words. But there are complaints that only women suffer, that are carrying numbers of them down to early graves. There is hope for those who suffer, no matter how sorely, or severely, in Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." Safe in its action it is a blessing, especially to women, and o men, too, for when women suffer the household is askew.

It is reasonable to suppose, if earthquakes result, as they ordinarily do, from internal disturbances in the earth, that the farther down we go in a mine the less shock we would feel from such subterranean disturbance. What we feel is generally the undulatory motion of the surface of the ground, which would be greatly curtailed in a deep mine, walled in, as it is, on all sides and overhead. We never heard of a house chimney being "turned around" by an earthquake, much less without disturbing the building! That earthquakes are related to electrical disturbances we have never doubted. They take place within the earth, where the disturbances originate.—The

Oh, that ye could see
That Holy night when Christmas was born!
What stranger clad in panop'y
Rode with your host from eve till morn;
What palmy was a shadow,
What was a fiery pavon high,
And when ye came o'er Bethlehem,
Paused, while your wondering host went by.

Central Alabama Conference.

J. J. HOLLAND, B. D.

FIRST DAY.

The tenth annual session of the conference convened in Scott's Chapel, Methodist Episcopal Church, Mobile, Alabama, Dec. 10th, 1885, at 9 o'clock a. m, Rev. Bishop W. F. Mallalieu, D. D., presiding.

The Bishop opened the conference by requesting Rev. O. Nelson, P. E., of the Ashville district, to read hymn, number 798, "And are we yet alive, etc." Rev. A. S. Lakin read the 15th chapter of John and Rev. E. B. McCauley, lead the conference in a fervent prayer. The sacrament of the Lord's supper, was then administered.

The secretary of the conference called the conference roll and the brethren responded to their names. A. W. McKinney was elected conference secretary. and selected J. S. Todd, as his assistant; J. J. Rolland was elected statistical secretary, and selected A. N. Jackson as his assistant.

The usual committees were next appointed upon the nomination of the presiding elders. The hours of the conference were fixed to meet at 8:30 a. m., with a preaching service of one hour, and afternoon at 1:30 p. m. Miscellaneous business considered.

The twentieth question was taken up. The conference listened to a very interesting report from Rev. O. Nelson, presiding elder of the Ashville district. Quite a work has been done on said district. There was a gracious outpouring of the Holy Spirit during the year and three hundred souls had been added to the church of God upon this district. The call of the effective elders on the district was begun and a part reported A very gratifying feature of the work on this district, was the reception of three important churches with pastors and membership formerly of the A. M. E. Church. These pastors, Revs. Cain Rogers, Berry Jackson and S. R. Henderson, having signified their acceptance of the Discipline and doctrine of the Methodist Episcopal Church, were received upon the face of their orders as effective elders in the Methodist Episcopal Church, and full members of the conference. This action brings to the Methodist Episcopal Church about nine hundred members, and probably church property, valued at about $10,000. These people seem to have been burdened with taxation and an oppressive debt from which they could not extricate themselves, and have returned to the mother Church to better their condition.

SECOND DAY.

The morning service was conducted by Rev. Cain Rogers.

The conference proper convened at 9:30 a. m. Devotional services and minutes of the previous day were read, and approved. Roll of absentees called. Statistical secretary called charges failing thus far to report their statistics. At this juncture Marshall W. Taylor, D. D., editor of the SOUTHWESTERN, was introduced by the Bishop, and invited to address the conference.

The Doctor began by expressing his gratification at being able to meet the conference. He acknowledged the cordial greeting extended by the brethren. He pointed out the great work being done for God and humanity by the Methodist Episcopal Church. He referred to the work of Methodism generally, and pointed to the fact that during the past year more than seventy thousand infants had been baptized by the great Negro Methodist family in the United States, as a proof that infant baptism was not dying away. He showed also that the great achievements of the different Methodisms of this country are the achievements of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Since Methodist effort finds its origin in the memorable Christmas Conference. The Doctor showed how the Church was building up a specific literature for her Negro members, and pointed to the mission and work of the SOUTHWESTERN; showing what had occurred from the position taken by that paper. The changing of sentiment on questions respecting the Negro, and defending vital principles enunciated by the church.

The address was eloquent, instructive and impressive, and Dr. Taylor has stamped his impress upon the Central Alabama Conference, and no matter what may be said of the past, they will strive in future to do all possible for the SOUTHWESTERN, thus showing their appreciation for its editor.

J. H. Bowman, of Chattanooga was next introduced and addressed the conference in the interest of the Methodist Advocate.

Regular business of the conference was again resumed, and the 20th question continued.

G. R. Franklin, P. E., Dadeville district, read his report, and his character passed, also, H. W. Conner, H. Matthews, D. R. Mathews, G. McLemore.

Huntsville district, Dr. A. S. Lakin reported and his character passed, also: N. Snoddy, A W. McKinney, M. M. McKinney, A. Nichols. The district was reported as in a good condition, nearly 300 conversions during the year.

Marion district, E. B McCauley, reported and his character passed; also: J. Harper, G. Wynn, J. Jackson, C. Miller, B. D Louis. Who are the supernumerary preachers? L. Hyten, and W. F. Smith; Bro. Smith was made effective. N. S. Sterling continued supernumerary; H. W. Conner, and Geo. McLemore, placed on the supernumerary list. Wm. McFarland, superannuated. Jas. Moore, S. Ray and A. W. White, located.

W. H. Nelson and Watson McCauley, left without appointments to attend school.

THIRD DAY.

Preaching service commenced at 8:30, conducted by Dr. M. W. Taylor. Conference convened at 9:30, the minutes of the previous day, read and approved. Dr. C. Fisher was introduced and addressed the conference. The Doctor was pleased to meet the conference, and congratulated the brethren upon being able to assemble again in the name of the Lord; he presented the claims of the Herald to the conference.

Prof. W. P. Thirkield, A. M. B. D., Dean of Gammon School of Theology, Atlanta, Ga., next addressed the conference in the interest of the school, urging upon the conference thorough preparation for the work of the ministry.

Prof. A. F. Hoyt, A. M., president of New Orleans University, addressed the conference.

Upon motion of A. S. Lakin, these visiting brethren were admitted within the bar and invited to participate in the deliberation of the conference.

The conference business resumed. Thomas Ham, and J. C. Sammones continued on trial. J. Evans passed to the third year.

H. D. Byrd presented his credentials as deacon from the A. M. E. Church, and was admitted on trial. W. D. Mayo, from the same church, case referred for investigation.

Thos. P. Phillips, Jas. W. Wynn, Thos. S. McMorris and W. D. Bonds, were elected to deacons' orders. J. S. Todd and W. F. Smith left without appointments to attend school. A resolution fixing a conference standard of examination, adopted. A committee, consisting of the presiding elders to visit Clark University was appointed.

Jatt Ellis, J. J. Holland, G. W. Mann, S. D. Sanders, N. H. Speight, J. S. Todd, were elected to elders' orders.

FOURTH DAY.

Preaching services by Bishop Mallalieu. Conference proper at 9:30. The minutes of previous day were read.

SABBATH SERVICES.

The Lord's day was one of especial interest, and blessing. At early morn many of the brethren assembled at the church, and spent an hour in prayer, and song to Him whose servants they are.

At 11, the Bishop preached an able sermon to the elevation and joy of all who heard him, after which he proceeded to ordain the following deacons: Thos. P. Phillips, James W. Wynn, William H. Bondr. In the afternoon Dr. C. O. Fisher preached, and the Bishop ordained the following elders: Jefferson Evans, Nash H. Speight, Geo. W. Mann, Jatt Ellis, Solomon D. Sanders, Jas. S. Todd and Julius J. Holland.

At 7:30 p. m., Dr. A. H. Gillett conducted the Sunday service. The Doctor delivered a very forcible address in the interest of the Sunday school work of the church, and we feel sure it had the desired effect upon the minds of all who heard it. J. J. Holland according to appointment read a paper on "The Pastors' Work in the Sunday-school." After which a song was sung and A. W. McKinney by appointment read, a paper on "The Difficulties of the Work." Another song and a few more remarks from Dr. Gillett and the meeting closed, and it is just to presume that all the people retired to their homes, feeling that a glorious Sabbath had been spent in the presence of the Lord.

Huntsville was elected as the seat of the next conference.

The several committees reported The committees on examinations announced the following visiting committees:

Rust Normal School—M M McKinney, A N Jackson, A Nichols, O R Franklin and O Nelson.

New Orleans University—J. J. Holland, B D Louis, and E B McCauley.

Dadeville School—H Mathews, I Townsend and G. W. Mann.

The Bishop next addressed the conference in an earnest, fervent manner, bidding the brethren go forth in the name of the Lord.

Whereas, We have listened with interest and delight to the wholesome and instructive address of Rev. Marshall W. Taylor, D. Letters from the Pastors

Rev. Thomas Watts, of Springfield, Ills., writes: "We had a membership of 18 members at one time, and at that time I myself started it as far as the money line was concerned, and it ran very well for a while, but as we had no help we failed. We bought a lot 157x40 feet, costing $450, but paid only $150 on it, and had only one year to pay $300. The A. M. E. Church has two churches here, and they have done all that was in their power to break us down, they told the colored people that the M. E. Church was a slave church and that all who went into it would be slaves for the white people, and that the whites would have all of their property. So the colored people out here never was in a M. E. Church, nor do they know anything about it, and so we failed, and our lot was sold. The man who held the mortgage bought it, and we have 15 months to redeem it. It is the nicest place in the city for a church. The preachers and presiding elder and Bishop of the A. M. E. Church tell the colored people that the smart men of the M. E. Church will not come here, for they know that the presiding elder and Bishop of the A. M. E. Church will expose them, and they stay away and will not do anything for us, and there is no one to fight the cause but me. Since we fell through and could not get any help, the members of the M. E. Church will not join any other church, but stand asking me what shall we do. I can only tell them to stand still and see the salvation of the Lord. There are 2 A. M. E. and 2 Baptist churches here, and there is about 3700 or 3800 colored people here, and I think it is the right time to make our way into this city.

"Jacksonville has 1200, Decatur [illegible] Station 52, and a great many [illegible] I have not mentioned. I had charge of this church last year. I was unable to get to the annual conference which met at Springfield, Ohio, on account of sickness, and sent in my report, and it was read, and the presiding elder, [illegible] sent a man over to [illegible] of the work, and he [illegible] I was waiting to hear [illegible] be. He came and [illegible] down and wrote to [illegible] E. W. S. Hammond, [illegible] answered that he had the [illegible] to appoint me here again. This man took charge and the [illegible] did not like him and [illegible] not go to hear him, so for [illegible] we had no preaching. [illegible] I sent a letter to the district [illegible], and Elder Jones told [illegible] to take charge again. So I [illegible] you to put a notice in the [illegible] for us, and tell me how to [illegible] again. If we could get a [illegible] on the lot we have, in two [illegible] it would be self-supporting, [illegible] and would pay $50 [illegible] money besides the [illegible] claims. There are a great [illegible] who would join our church if [illegible] the A. M. E. [illegible] no effort against us and [illegible] to speak, exhorting, work [illegible] me, while they are ahead [illegible] the publishers of your [illegible] to get differentiated. I [illegible] the money to pay [illegible] it soon. I [illegible] half a chance [illegible] for it. I [illegible] [illegible], Winona, [illegible] here [illegible] the question of [illegible] through before the [illegible] "Only we white [illegible] yes, no, [illegible] the people and [illegible] He said [illegible] and went to the [illegible] text, "For the people had a mind to work." Neh. 4 6. We gave them this until they learned that hearing a sermon was one thing and practicing its teaching was another. Thus they were moved to action. Collection day, for the new church came, and the paying army was led by their pastor. This works better than driving, $400 were soon raised and the frame of the house went up. At this our troubles were put on paper and soon found our dear Dr. Kynett, who sent us $200 which greatly lightened our burden. The result of our labor is a house of worship, that will compare favorably with the six white churches in this beautiful little town. It is 35x56, built on the gothic style, with plastered walls, 16 feet high, ceiling raised five feet, giving a distance of 21 feet from the middle of the floor to the ceiling. A beautiful gallery in front, a room back of the pulpit, presenting a front view that will command the highest admiration of the most tasty congregation. A tower pointing far in the direction to which our souls tend. This house has cost to date, $1522. The plan by which the money was raised worked well, each member was required to pay $1 per month. This gave us $12 per year from each member and nobody felt it. We have two widows that we think worthy of especial mention here, Sisters Martha and Mattie Honghere, who paid $35 each, not because they had more money but because they had more love for God and His cause. Among the brethren we have J. H. Simpson, Lewis Jenkins, Byrant Vaughn and Parker Key who have paid from $25 to $40 each. There are manys other, who have done a noble part. The mention of whose names justice to your space will not allow. A bell at a cost of $90 is on its way to us. A new church, four miles Southeast of this place has been built at a cost of $622, which all acknowledge is the star of that neighborhood. Vaiden church has been improved to the amount of $150. Parsonage lot paid for, yard built and parsonage improved. The books show that we have raised $3,236, during our stay here. They show also, that the membership has increased to 162, and decreased by death and removal, withdrawal and expulsion, 46.

[illegible] I spent [illegible] my own [illegible] and [illegible] I was born a [illegible]."

Shreveport District.

COMMITTEE ON PERIODICALS.

With pleasure, your committee beg to report as follows: That under the editorial management of Rev. Marshall W. Taylor, D. D., the Southwestern Christian Advocate is growing in influence and power, and in our opinion fully sustains its position as one of the official organs of our church.

Resolved, That in the ability and judgment of its editor, the Rev. M. W. Taylor, D. D., we have, and desire here to express our abiding faith. We do heartily endorse the boldness with which all subject matters affecting the best interest of our church (as the editor understands them) and ours, as a peculiar race, forming a part of one the greatest known Christian organizations in the country, are treated.

Resolved, That as Ministers and and Laymen, we regard and recommend the paper to all our people as one of the best church and family newspapers published in the southwest, and ought to be in every house, and read by every family. To this end, we pledge our individual and collective efforts.

Your committee view with regret, the unpleasant fact (and that without reflection upon the administration of our dear friend, the Rev. J. C. Hartzell, D. D.—the the resuscitator of the paper, and our veteran friend and brother, the Rev. L. P. Onshman—late editor,) that most of the ministers in the Louisiana Conference stand charged by the publishers books with back claims of the concern for old subscriptions, by which fact the ministers are so hampered as to impair their activity, an element so essential to the circulation of the paper within their pastoral charges.

The justice or injustice of these claims we are not here to discuss, but of two things sure; first, by their existence the integrity of Christian Ministers are under a cloud and by this distrustful condition of things they have in most cases adopted she old adage, "That a burnt child dreads fire," and second, the claims of the, paper upon our people is lost sight of in many cases.

To this evil we invite the attention of the Louisiana Conference which is to meet at Monroe, La. in 1886, with the view of such action on the part of said body as will remove these obstructions.

Signed: H. J. WRIGHT, Ch'mn.

Bishop R. S. Foster's Address to the West Texas Conference, December 5th.

N. HILL MIDDLETON, M. D.

The condition of the colored people when the church came to their relief was that of abject poverty, the result of years of servitude; they at that time did not own even the rags on their backs; they had no knowledge of a letter in the book; they had rubbed out all of their manhood; and out of this condition of things, we had to build a church, and a ministry had to be formed.

A good many of the colored people, who associated with the aristocratic whites during slavery, more than they have since, had in a large measure, become refined, intelligent and accomplished. Another portion of them assembled in religious worship with the white people, but they were made to occupy the gallery, while the "people of state," were seated on the lower floor. Think of it, members of the same church, communed at the same altar rail only "we" come first. They had the same preacher and when "they" made local preachers and stewards among the colored people they did not fail to select the best material, and I do believe that the preachers of days gone by were better than those of to-day. When your bonds of slavery were broken, you left your old masters with a kind of hostility to them, with whom you had so long lived, you thought the North to be your friends, and the South your emenies, and thus you looked away from the South and they could not help you, and the North had to come to your aid. This action made lines, which I hope will soon pass away, for those who were your masters then, are to day some of your best friends in many instances. Under circumstances which existed, twenty years ago we had to have a ministry that did not know anything. How could they know anything?

Bishop Janes put his hand on the heads of 60 men who did not know a letter in the book. We had to commence a ministry with out education, and this created, in the minds of others, an idea that the ministers knew nothing and their successors did not know any more.

Among other things we have to contend with, is the wrong idea of religion, some think that the idea of religion is simply to get together and have a great noise. The preacher would get up in the pulpit and make a senseless speech, working up the nerve and setting the people in a great commotion, then he was called "great preacher." He that can simply set them howling is a "fine preacher," a good many of them say "amen," and half of them will do just the thing contrary to what they are taught. Something more, brethren, is necessary than simply standing in the pulpit and shouting like an ignoramus. The people have supposed that religion was the simple excitement of the nerve, brought on by the tone of the voice, and as they say this, the preacher will cater to them simply to please them and maintain a popularity among them. This is a difficult problem brethren, and it must not be dealt with in a rigorous way.

A large part who became preachers years ago, have made no progress, they are just as ignorant, and stupid to-day as they were twenty years ago; they have not studied as they don't know how to study. Some few have made a little progress.

The idea of education had to be formed in them, they thought that "how to read" was education. Twenty years ago, he who knew a letter was a "good scholar." He could not write or read a sentence, but was considered as "educated," and this was their standard of an educated ministry. They are beginning to realize the situation. The books in the different courses of study were ignored because they could not understand them. We put the classes under examination, go through the farce of appointing a committee, which committee had never seen the books which they were to use in examination, then the committe report and say "they passed a good examination." Brethren, this farce must cease, and our examinations must be conformed to. Again, many have not the slightest idea of the meaning of church life. What does it mean? Not simply going together, to go through a long exercise of a clownish nature, take up a collection, and then go home. This is not church life, and such a life is of no advantage to the people, as it carries with it no idea of sanctity.

The idea of church life is an assembly of people to listen to instruction from a competent teacher, not simply to excite, but to teach the things which will tend to build families, communities and a people. Not simply to pass through a stage of excitement, confess and have his name put on the church book. But the true conversion makes men and women; it is the operation of the spirit of God through the soul of man, which makes him a new man, a good man. No man is converted, who is not a good man, for conversion is that principle, which causes him to put his back against, and resist evil.

The idea is a development of piety and godliness. The focus of the church is the pulpit, and if a clown be in the pulpit then a clown is made of the congregation. The pulpit must give out truth and not noise, and when a man with truth in his mouth stands before the people they will be silent, and the proportion of truth will be according to the proportion of dead silence.

The Christian religion is to make the world over, a world composed of the elements of intelligence, and goodness, and the Christian life reflects and radiates goodness and piety, making the people educated, instructed, refined and pure.

We must have, 1. An educated ministry. 2. The truth by the month out of the word of God. 3. The Holy Ghost in that truth. It is the truth that the Holy Ghost takes hold of and you can't do any thing without the truth. The Holy Ghost can't do it without the truth.

We must have the truth to work upon and the pulpit must furnish this truth; but how can an ignoramus furnish truth to the people and put it into their hearts? We make account of the Holy Ghost in our churches, and we often allow this account to lead us into blunders. Some call it nonsense, noise, rant and fun, the inspiration of the Holy Ghost, and think that all they have to do is to open their ignorant mouths and the Holy Ghost will pour out the ideas.

Now brethren the Holy Ghost does not preach that way. The Holy Ghost begins sometimes by calling an ignorant man, as he is the best man he can find. A great many people who think they have been called to preach, because they have taken it upon themselves to do so. Nearly every colored man in the United States could have been preaching, simply because they want to preach. God calls suitable men to preach, young men, when they can be moulded to best suit the idea of the Holy Ghost, when they can take thought. God is hunting up the boys and not the old men; very rarely does He hunt an old man. His spirit goes out and finds young men. He wants the best quality, as the best men should be in the pulpit and at the head of all the departments of the church. He calls those men only of high moral purpose, who will be punctual and have intellectual faculties. He sets them aside and says to them, "go to school, seek education and aid from your parents and the church, then put yourselves at the feet of those who can teach and reason and learn.

Now the time has come to you, brethren, when you can carry out God's plan and not botch it. The legislations of the State of Texas are just as good for the education of the colored, as for the white; then why have you a right to allow your children to be less informed, less educated men and women than any white person? You must appreciate the freedom granted you. The atmosphere is filled with education and you must battle it. What right have you to demand a less standard of examination in a conference than the white preachers, when the necessities with you are strengthen and the advantages equal?

Why should you have a lower standard of tests, a standard lower than that of your white brethren? Is it a degradation to yourself and people? A man called of God should not be called upon to pass this bastard system of tests. After four years of ministry not able to buy the books, in a country where labor is at every man's door? Are you willing to put yourself on this record?

One of the great disgraces of the time in all the churches and especially in the Methodist and Baptist is the unsuccessful efforts to provide the people with competent preachers, and you will find in these churches a greater proportion of ignoramuses and stupids in the pulpit. It is a great shame to find it so. Hereon you must demand the test and if the applicants can't pass the examination, you must let us know that they cannot pass. Don't bring men at the door of the conference from the cotton field or other walks of life without education, as candidates for admission into this conference, for if he can't endure the labor of getting ready he ought not to preach. If he be willing to master the test put before him and you find that a man is needed and he is the man, use him. Let him understand that the examinations mean something; put him forward and he will be of use to you. When we get honest, pure, earnest, studious men in the pulpit, around them will grow beautiful, modest and shining families, and the preacher's ideas will go into the homes and there will result a nice home full of good sense, nice furniture. We will have good schools, vice will die out, and a great and noble race will grow up to glorify God. Legislatures and churches cannot make you a people, only God and yourselves can do so. Some present the cry of poverty as a difficulty and are always satisfied with a nasty little cabin, and when it takes money to build a church they cry we can not build.

Manufacture the people and they will manufacture the circumstances, and when the truth begins to work in them they will work out the problem. Teach them industry, cleanliness, economy and how to use their money in buying the best things, and not whiskey and tobacco. Teach them to husband their money and use it in building schools and your people will begin to get rich and build cottages, churches and schools, and when you have done this then you will be a people.

May God help you, I want to see them become a people. Much gratified am I with the present results. Fourteen years ago I began this work. My heart has always been knit with a sympathy for your people and I want to see them master the situation and become a race.

Proud am I of Marshall W. Taylor's position in the SOUTHWESTERN. A very vulgar man he is who will use the word "Nigger" as applied to a race. The name Negro is an honorable name; honor it and wear it as a badge of distinction and not allow a man twenty years to come to apply the opprobrium "nigger" to your race. No man is entitled to respect who is base, ignorant, degraded and with no element of respect and if he is respectable, white and black will respect him, and if you be true, honest and faithful, the world will respect you. More money is spent by the colored people in the State of Texas for tobacco and whiskey, than for bread for their families. Set the the law of chastity as high as heaven, and if any of you are not determined to be prepared for this ministry go out of it, and let the church get better men to fill your place, but if your purpose is to teach truth, godliness and virtue, then come on, and let us make this the work of God. We have among the white preachers a good many that are no less clowns than they of your color, who like to loaf at the corner groceries and tell long, vile stories, too vile to be uttered.

Brethren, you must maintain a dignity, not a pride, and no man who wears the ministerial robe has a right to associate with the vile. You should be courteous, gentle and kind like Christ to them, but you need not associate with them.

All hail, great Bishop! As we say so will all of the race you so grandly counsel; well done, noble Bishop, your words will burn and burn and inspire men to be good and great and good on and on as the years roll forward and generations succeed each other.

We thank our reporter for this very elaborate and painstaking report. We indorse the speech as is, but we warn our readers that so long a document there may and doubtless there are some inaccuracies, though we hope none of a serious character will be found here.—ED.

Four Lives Saved.

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup relieved four of my children of a most alarming attack of Whooping Cough, from which their throats and necks became so swollen as to prevent them from swallowing. Nothing would give them even temporary relief until this Syrup was tried. One bottle in one night, saved their lives, I verily believe. GEO. W. HARHART,

The expression "galvanizing a corpse" has ceased to be exclusively metaphorical. Monsieur Kergovaty, a Frenchman has discovered a method of preserving bodies by giving them a metal coating.

I have been bothered with catarrh for about twenty years. I had lost my smell entirely for the last fifteen years and I had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had and I can see to thread as fine a needle as ever I did. My sense of smell is partly restored; it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is no thing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh.—Mrs. E. Grimes, Rendrill, Perry county, Ohio.

Tanner's Apology for African Methodism Reviewed.—II.

L. M. HAGOOD, LEX. CONF.

No one church, comparatively, in this country, or anywhere this side of heaven, has made the progress, the gigantic strides that this church has in the sixty-nine years of its existence, taking their published figures. In 1880 they reported as follows:

Year.	Mem'rs.	Pas'rs.	Increase. Memb.	Pas
1826..	7,927	17
1836..	7,594	27		10
1846..
1866..	59,000	185	42,406	158
1876..206,331		1418	156,331	1233
1880..391,044		1832	184,713	414

If they continue to increase in the same ratio they will soon be the largest church in this or any other country. That the opening for the organization of colored bodies in 1816, was one of the means God used to call attention to the inhuman, iniquitous, as well as the gigantic and ominous proportions the slave system was assuming; to arouse a fellow feeling akin to religion in behalf of the four million slaves that were then performing unrequited toil in the broiling rays of the Southern sun, no one conversant with the affairs of that day doubts. But that God, who is all wise, and whose attribute is love, ever intended this or any other branch of his militant church to arise among any nation or people, and by their deportment add injury to insult, to any department or division of the Church, is preposterous. Such is characteristic of Popery and Mohammedanism but not of Christianity. That it has, as a Church, made wonderful progress no one who reads the periodicals published in aid of their Church can doubt. Just how a Church of its standing can increase its membership 184,713 in the short space of twelve months is beyond our comprehension, if done according to the Golden Rule. To what is the remarkable growth of this Church attributable? It, from the beginning, has had no enemies, but little opposition outside of its own [illegible], the African Zion Methodist Episcopal Church. A church having everything its own way, indeed has had little fighting to do as to have time to make straw images and name them after its mother, and set their grandchildren to throwing stones at them, if for no other reason than for the simple reason of [illegible] the experience needed for [illegible] engagements. A Church that had so little to contend with outside of her internal feuds, that [illegible] sympathy and friends has tried "persecution, persecution to attract attention and sympathy." The standing of that Church [illegible] due to the sympathy excited because of the "previous [illegible] of the colored people of [illegible]." To illustrate what I [illegible] say, and at the outset to [illegible] they intended to play on [illegible] throughout the entire [illegible], I quote the language [illegible] 15 of the "Apology." [illegible] the question "why [illegible]" the author says: "This [illegible] important term, has been [illegible] capable of opposite [illegible] of this epoch, [illegible] mostly heavier [illegible] have placed [illegible] which came date from [illegible] entitled to more [illegible] regard than [illegible] people, whose only [illegible] of the [illegible] was [illegible] on the race. Men went down to their graves praying for the amelioration of the condition of the race. White Abolitionists loved the colored man for humanity's sake, but loved him more and more as the hindrances of the slave power exhibited itself; men gave protection to and defended every colored man found within their reach because they thought it might help the poor colored man of the South. If a colored man at the North dared to open his mouth in defense of his down-trodden fellow man at the South his Northern friends lionized him, patted him on the head and cried "bravo." It may be true that the poor slave did not hear the voice of the orator, though throughout the land the cry may have gone in newspapers.

Thanksgiving Day in Mississippi.

REV. J. W. PARKS.

On the 26th ult., which was our national thanksgiving day Miss G. H. Byrd, teacher of the M. E. School, proposed to me that her school would give a thanksgiving dinner. Her proposal was a few days prior to the dinner on the 26th, cards were sent out which solicited some of every denomination promptly at 12 m. On entering the door the eyes of the guest were arrested on "You are welcome to this thanksgiving dinner," printed in large letters and handsomely decorated with cedar, the church was tightly closed, the lamps burned brightly, and the elegant fires glowed in the stoves, which made every thing comfortable.

Miss G. H. Byrd at the organ, with her select and superb choir composed of five, Miss Henritta Billups, Maggie Warren, Mrs. M. E. Perry, Mr. S. L. Cann and Wm. Ferguson, sang that old familiar, but beautiful song "America."

Recitation, subject, "Thanksgiving Day." The opening address was written and read by Miss Magnolia Shumpert, daughter of Elder J. M. Shumpert, of not more than 8 summers.

Recitation by Master Wm. G. Shields; recitation by little Callie F. Thompson; recitation by W. B. Morse, A. R. Tolen, Matthew Butler, M. L. Walker, S. B. Freemen; recitation, Miss Minerva Walker, a little girl only six years of age.

Song, "Beautiful Home." Recitation, Essie C. Boswell; recitation, Master Albert P. Moses, a little boy only 7 years of age, who studies the Fourth Reader, written, arithmetic, Harvey's grammar, Swinton's word book, Muany's geography, and has completed writing up to No. 4 Spencerian copy, too remarkable not to mention; but I must stop here, and must not fail to mention the excellent and noble temperance address, by Mrs. Dr. J. F. Boulden, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which closed the programme till 8 p. m.

After these little and large stars were through shooting their silver rays, we heard the tap of the bell inviting us to dinner. After the blessing was invoked by J. W. P., preparations were then made to serve the turkeys which boasted of their size, the tables were set in the shape of the letter T, to represent the day, were three-fourths of the length of the church, and would have groaned if possible from an immense load of everything eatable. After a crowded house had been abundantly supplied, several dinners were to be sent to those of our friends that could not be there. Some of the tables were boiled on the highway, brought in and fed, and every invalid that was near, which were many, waiters were filled and sent to them. After all of this there were refreshments enough left to set a very nice table the following night, which was conducted by Mrs. J. M. Shumpert, Mrs. Margaret Hudson and Mrs. M. A. Tolen. They realized enough to buy coal to last the school the remainder of the winter. Space will not allow me to mention the senior students and other young ladies and gentlemen who closed thanksgiving day at the M. E. Church with beautiful songs and lovely essays, etc.

Books from Our Book Concern.

Primary Sunday-school Exercises, compiled and arranged by Mrs. E. M. Hoffman, with an introduction by Chancellor J. H. Vincent, D. D. New York: Phillips & Hunt. Cincinnati: Cranston & Stowe. Price, 75 cents.

This book is just what its title indicates, and, of its kind, we believe it to be the best book on earth. Every primary Sunday school teacher in the land, especially in the South, and more especially among the Negroes, should buy it, study it and use it constantly. It would throw much light on the multifarious and difficult work of teachers generally. The price is unreasonably low for such a work. Like everything he does, Dr. Vincent has well done his work on the preface. The book contains all that is wanted for systematic work. It is a 12-mo., 282 pages, cloth and gold A perfect gem for useful contents.

Bishop Turner's Methodist Polity. The genius and theory of Methodist Polity, practically illustrated through a series of questions and answers by Rev. H. M. Turner D. D. L L D, Bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. Publication department of that church, 631 Pine St. Philadelphia, Pa. Price not given.

Before us lies the first copy of this work which left the bindery. It is of the cheap edition. There is to be two editions, one in better finish and a higher cost than that in hand.

We think this will prove to be a very popular as it cannot fail to be a most useful document in the hands of an earnest African Methodist Minister or member. Were we looking through it for errors we dare say we might find them. But that is not our aim, in the perusal of its pages. It is the work of an old and dear friend, a man who is not afraid of his color, and delights to be called a Negro.

While others wait for something to criticise, he has written a book to aid young preachers in the work of his church, and as much as in us lies, we are determined to help him circulate it. The work is bound in blue boards with red edges. It contains 27 chapters in 182 pages, making a neat and easily portable 12 mo., volume held together by six twine stitches. It has fair paper, good type, wide margin, and is set down in the form of a catechism.

The Bishop maintains his theory that a presiding elder is in charge when holding a regular quarterly conference; Page 166, and at pages 158-9 gives the latest collated statistics of his church. Those for 1866. He omits the debts, and does not claim that they are absolutely correct. Every page is full of interesting matter. Chapter 1, page 7, is very full of interest to one who cares to know the history of this large and important denomination from its own standpoint. At page 8 he boldly challenges the idea that Richard Allen was consecrated or ordained by Bishop White, and after denying that view says; Absolom Jones, a priest in the Protestant Episcopal Church consecrated Allen to be a Bishop. Dr. Turner dissents from the Bishop's idea, but on the Bishop's side, is Bishop Campbell, from whom the author has doubtless taken his cue. Bishop Campbell says: "On April 11, 1816, Allen was solemnly set apart for the Episcopal office by prayer and the imposition of hands by five ordained ministers, one of whom was Rev. Abraham Jones, a priest of the Protestant Episcopal Church, of the diocesse of the Rt. Rev. Bishop White, of Pensylvania." Lives of Methodist Bishops, by Flood and Hamilton, page 652. Allen by Campbell, and Bishop Campbell knows whereof he affirms, because he lives and was quite well acquinted with the affairs of that time, being a member of Bishop Allen's church and one of his converts, we believe. If it should be true that the hands of no Bishop was laid upon the head of Richard Allen, what opds does it make? Neither was the hands of any consecrated Bishop, laid upon John Wesley or Dr. Coke and yet the former decleared himself as much a Bishop as any man in England, and so he was. Any other view of the case runs to the exploded dogma of Apostolic succession.

But Lorenzo Dow, page 547 strictures on church government, shows that Allen was offered and delivered ordination by Bishop White for the pastorate and that therefore the Bishop ordained Absalom Jones.

Dow finanally sustains Bishops Turner and Campbell at pages 548-9 Dow's works Indeed Bishop Turner has so much, and Dr. Tanner so little authority for what he says that decision must be with the former.

Upon the whole, Tanner's polity is a timely work. The Bishop promises to improve it if he is encouraged to do so, and he should be encouraged. The church ought to buy the copy right with his good will; and make it a standard volume: Altogether, we regard this venture as portentious of good. Let us have some more books from colored authors, if they must lose, let them loose money but keep on writing books.

"Seven cities claimed Homer dead

And the copy right to Milton's Paradise Lost it is said brough him $75. It is the right road, go ahead Bishop.

Our Church.

The Sunday-School Union.

Organized in 1840 by the General Conference; chartered by the New York Legislature in 1852, and again in 1874. The Charter declares its design to be "to advance the interests and promote the cause of Sabbath-schools in connection with the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States and elsewhere."

Its work is classified in three departments: 1. The Department of Instruction; 2. The Department of Publication; 3. The Department of Benevolence. The Benevolent work of the Union is directed toward furnishing books and requisites for Sunday-schools in places where the people are unable to pay for them. Since the Union was organized over 40,000 schools have been helped in this way.

During the year of 1884 (the last year for which there is any report) aid was given to 885 schools. In the location of these schools every State and Territory in the American Union is represented.

In the Methodist Episcopal Church there were, according to the last report, 22,176 Sunday-schools, 237,472 officers and teachers, and 1,760,436 scholars. There were, during the year 1884, 86,082 conversions reported.

The Union began its foreign work in 1847. Since that time it has aided in Sunday-school work in connection with our foreign missions in the following countries: China, India, Japan, Liberia, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, and Switzerland, Italy, Bulgaria, Mexico, and South America.

We give, as a matter of special interest, the number of schools and scholars connected with the foreign missions of our Church:

THE NEW YORK TIMES is the best American Newspaper. It prints all the news that is worth printing, and by a liberal use of money and brains secures variety and interest for its columns without sensation or humbug.

The news is the bone and sinew of a newspaper, but while laying before its readers the news of the world by telegraph every morning, THE TIMES provides also for their further pleasure and profit, correspondence, stories, and literary miscellany of a less transitory value. It watches carefully and faithfully records the drift of discussion upon topics that engage the attention of thinking men, and notes the world's progress in science, theology, education, legislation, literature, art, invention and discovery. Its political news is notably full and accurate, and no voter, Republican or Democrat, who takes an intelligent interest in public affairs can afford to be without it. THE TIMES is an earnest advocate of civil service reform, and in estimating the worth of candidates for public office it places personal fitness above party zeal. As an independent Republican Newspaper it has a growing constituency and an increasing satisfaction in its work.

The WEEKLY and SEMI-WEEKLY editions of THE TIMES contain all the current news, condensed from the dispatches and reports of the daily edition, besides literary matter, discussions upon agricultural topics by practical farmers, full and accurate market reports of prices for farm produce, live stock, etc., and a carefully prepared Weekly Wool Market. No other New York newspaper so completely meets the wants of country readers.

Why should you have a lower standard of taste, a standard lower than that of your white brethren? It is a degradation to yourself and people. A man called of God should not be called upon to pass this bastard system of tests. After four years of ministry not able to buy the books, this country where labor is at every man's door? Are you willing to put yourself on this record?—Bishop R. S. Foster, at West Texas Conf

The Southwestern's Calendar of Church Days.

It will be of great profit to our ministers intellectually and we believe spiritually also, if they will keep in mind the historic days of the church and prepare and deliver to their people a sermon or a lecture, suited to the occasion, previously publishing their intention to do so, and arranging some spiritual financial ingathering as an accompaniment to it.

They need not fear an assimilation with Roman Catholic practices in doing this, for these do not belong to Roman Catholic Christianity in particular, and we doubt the propriety of allowing them or others to presume that such is the case by our neglect to use them.

All pomp and parade should be dispensed with, because it ill becomes a solid and unsuperstitious community to fritter away time and waste its resources in gaudy and gorgeous peagentry. But the solid lessons which these occasions recall to memory should be retained and impressed upon the people. Hence the preparation of this calander so that our brethren can see ahead and have time to prepare for each occasion.

GENERAL CHURCH DAYS.

1. The Lord's Day—The first day of every week. It symbolizes the rest that remaineth for the people of God. It is a memorial of our Savior's resurrection from the dead. He rose on the Lord's day. Christians regard its observance as a binding duty and hold that it properly succeeds the old Jewish Sabbath, which was observed by divine authority upon the seventh day of the week.

2. Ephiphany—Wednesday, January 6th, this means appearance, showing forth or transfiguration. It commemorates the showing forth or appearance of our Savior to the wise men 12 days after his birth The time is probably traditional, but the event is real.

3. Septuagesima—Sunday, February 21st, the third Sunday before Lent and 70 days before Easter.

Sexagesima—Sunday, February 28th. The second Sunday before Lent, or about sixty days before Easter. It is the next Sunday to Shrove Tuesday or Shrove tide as it is called. Shrove Tuesday is the following Tuesday after Quinquangesima, or the ninth day of March, and next preceding the first day of Lent, or Ash Wednesday. "It was formerly a custom in England, on Shrove Tuesday, for the people to confess their sins, one by one to the parish priest. After which they dined on pancakes or fritters, and the occasion became one of merriment. The bell rung on this day is vulgarly called "pancake bell," and the day itself "Pancake Tuesday."

5. Quinquagesima — Sunday, March 7th. It is also called Shrove Sunday and is about the fiftieth day before Easter.

6. Ash Wednesday—March 10th. The first day of Lent. "It is so called from a custom in the Roman Catholic Church of ashes, that day, on the heads of penitents, then admitted to penance." Lent, to lengthen, so called because at this season of the year the days lengthen. It includes a fast of forty days with Ash Wednesday, which continued until Easter. Its observation in some places supposed to commemorate the forty days fast of our Savior.

7. Quadragesima — Sunday, March 14th. The first Sunday in the Lenten season or of the forty days' fast. The Wednesday, Friday and Saturday following Quadragesima of March 14, 19 and 20 are the [illegible] days." These are certain days set apart by the Roman Catholic Church, for fasting and prayer in each of the four seasons of the year. The weeks in which these days fall are called "holy weeks."

8. 1st Lent—Sunday, April 4th. This is the middle of Lent or the forty days fast.

9. Palm Sunday—April 18th. The Sunday next before Easter, so called in commemoration of our Savior's triumphal entry into Jerusalem, when the multitude strewed palm branches in the way.

10 Good Friday—April 23d. A fast in memory of our Savior's sufferings. Kept on the Friday of passion week. This is the week immediately preceding the festival of Easter; so called because in that week our Savior's passion and death took place.

11. Easter Sunday—April 25th. This is a festival commemorating Christ's resurrection, and occurring on Sunday, the second day after Good Friday. It corresponds to the passover of the Jews.

12. Low Sunday—May 2d. The next Sunday after Easter, popularly so called.

13 Rogation Sunday—May 30th, or supplication Sunday, the first of these days immediately before the festival of ascension; so called as being days of especial supplication. Rogation week, the second week before Whit-Sunday, in which these days occur.

14 Ascension Day—Thursday, June 3d. The Thursday but one before Whitsuntide, the anniversary of our Savior's ascension into heaven after his resurrection, also called holy Thursday.

15. Whit-Sunday or Pentecost—June 13th. The seventh Sunday after Easter; a festival of the Church, in commemoration of the descent of the Holy Spirit on the the day of Pentecost; so-called, it is said, because, in the primitive church—those who had been newly baptized, appeared at church between Easter and Pentecost in white garments. The second Ember days fall on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, June 16, 18 and 19th.

16. Trinity Sunday—June 20th. The Sunday next after Whit-Sunday; so called from the feast held on that day in honor of the Holy Trinity.

17. Corpus Obristi—Thursday June 24th. This means the body of Christ. It is a festival of the Church of Rome. Kept on the next Thursday after Trinity Sunday, in honor of the eucharist. It is well to have a talk at this or any other time about the real humanity of Christ, but his body is not here, neither is his humanity to be worshipped. His divinity is the quality which demands our veneration and devotion. Third Ember days Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, September 15, 17 and 18th.

18. Advent Sunday—Nov. 28th. In honor of the Savior's first advent into this world, and it may be made an occasion to impress it upon the people that He is coming again, and that his second advent is at hand. Fourth Ember days, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 15, 17 and 18th.

19. Christmas Day—Dec. 25th. This festival is in commemoration of the Birth of our Savior.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH DAYS.

2. Missionary Days—For adults, one Thursday evening in each month, one Sunday in each year as the pastor may decide, and such other times as the quarterly, district, Annual Conference or Missionary Society may arrange. For the Sunday-School Missionary Society, one Sunday in each month.

3. Church Extension—As the pastor, quarterly, district, Annual Conference or Church Extension Board may arrange, at least one Sunday in the year.

4. Book Concern Day—This should be a time to set forth plainly and fully the need and duty of our people to use our own literature, and patronize our own Book House. At least one Sabbath should be given to this cause.

5. Children's Day—Second Sunday in June. Press the matter of higher education and support of our Educational Society.

6. Good Tidings Day—Third Sunday in October. A harvest offering of the children to increase our Sunday-school Tract supplies.

Bishop Wiley.

Rev. Isaac W. Wiley, L L. D., late Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. A monograph edited by Rev. Richard S. Rust, D. D., L L. D. Cincinnati, Cranston & Stowe; New York, Phillips & Hunt.

This is a grateful testimony of worth to one of the greatest men of his times; measured by any standard that the historian may apply to him. A man of several professions and varied learning Bishop Wiley excelled in all. Neither poor nor rich in material substances he had his place in the great middle rank of men, so that by his experience of want he could feel downward for those in a position below him, and by culture of the head, he could feel upward to those whose station was the highest.

But his culture of heart made him fit to teach, counsel, lead, command and govern in either rank by the loving consent of the governed.

This monograph is the united testimony of associates, acquaintances, friends, admireres, and news paper expressions concerning the lamented Bishop.

The articles fifteen in number are a complete picture of the Bishop's birth, life, work, dying scenes, death and post mortem matters in this country and in China.

Not only men but holy women found in Bishop Wiley a ready helper in their every effort for useful work, and their wreath of myrtle has also been twined, brought and laid upon his grave. Mrs. Rust has spoken in this volume as only Mrs. Rust can speak when pleading for the Lord's poor, or weeping for Israel's fallen chieftains.

Dr. Rust has done the best work of his life, and in a style which is entirely commensurate with the merits of his subject. In it he has shown himself to be what every Negro in this land, who thinks for himself, and is not a mere reflector of the unjust sentiments of others of the Dr's own race thinks he is, a man of endless friendships exalted feelings, and beauty of tastes and ideas.

Dr. Rust is a man without a wilful fault in his public life, or one which can not be shown to have been committed while endeavoring to do good for the church he loves better than his life. It was natural that such a man should be the biographer and friend of Bishop Wiley. And in this capacity he has thrown the mighty powers of his great soul into the task before him. The result of which must be seen and read to be justly appreciated.

A fine life-like steel engraving of the Bishop, by Mr. E. E. Jones, is the frontispiece followed by 231 pages of printed matter on toned paper, wide margins, tastefully executed, and making a fine 12mo. volume bound in cloth and gold. The work was in every part performed by members and ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, every one of whom knowing of the greatness of the man seemed to have put upon it the impress of their highest tearful loving efforts. We cordially commend this volume now as we have ever done the subject of which it treats, and shall ever do the man by whom it was edited.

What Paper do You Pay For?

We have had and there are yet many revivals in progress among our churches and on the various charges. Converts are coming into the new life. That means that they are changing their habits, associations and modes of life. Now then, a word to these young converts. Brothers and sisters in the Lord, you are now, and we gladly, yea, proudly call you so. Do you take a Christian newspaper of your own church? Will you not at once send to us $1 50 and get our paper. It will greatly aid you in getting a better knowledge of your church and of what is going on in the Christian world. One young convert writes us: "Now I am converted, I want, and must have your paper, send it to me at once." To pastors and presiding elders, does this paper help you in your work and Christian life? If so will it not also help your converts, friends and members? Would it not be a grand proof of our growing power as a race to have one page full of the cards of colored business houses and a list of 20,000 cash subscribers? You have the power. Tell us, have you the will to make it so? If you have, begin the canvass now.

Knocking About Among the Churches.

On Sabbath morning, Dec. 27, seated with Yorick H. Campbell, Esq., of First Street Methodist Episcopal Church, in his best buggy, with his best horse, for he keeps several of each, we had a delightful drive under a sun-bright sky to our Old Folks Home. Mrs. Dale and the associates have certainly began a noble work in renting and fitting up these rooms for our aged and infirm members here. There are 11 inmates in four rooms, a little crowded to be sure, but it is better far than no home. Ground is bought further up town, and a more comfortable asylum will be erected upon it. The only support this enterprise has so far received has been the voluntary contributions of colored people and collections taken after the regular collections in our churches. As one old sister in the home said to us, they do not always have meat, but they always have at least corn bread and coffee for breakfast, and that shows that they are not entirely forgotten. Bro. Campbell is now, and probably will remain as he has been for the past 14 years, a United States mail carrier here, at a salary of $1000 per year. This is not a large salary, but he is a careful man, with a small family, very economical, who has managed to help him get several good houses and lots here. So, whatever happens, he is in a position to meet the inevitable. The old ladies know his standing, and he is not so well off for small change when he leaves as when he enters the home. A little further on two of our members, Bros. Reid and Nicholas, keep a well supplied produce grocery, and do a good business. Quite a number of families belonging to our Church are getting settled on good property, which they are buying or have bought here.

At 11 a. m. we preached in Sixth Street Tabernacle, of which the Rev. Earnest Lyon is pastor. It was a pleasant service to a good audience. This church is closing a year of considerable prosperity in all things, more than 50 persons have been added to its membership, and a number of them are converts. Bro. Lyon is in many things a young man of great promise, and in all things a courteous gentleman. His wife is like unto him, sex of course excepted, and is one of the best singers in the city, she is also a very skilful musician with an instrument, and above all a tender gentle Christian.

In the afternoon we preached in Union Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, and at night listened to a good sermon in Rev. A. S. Jackson's Common street Baptist Church. Bishop Mallalieu is with Dr. Albert spending Christmas and Sabbath in the Red river country about Alexandria. Rev. Stephen Priestly taken his Christmas here with his family and is off again.

Dr. Martin in New Orleans.

Dr. Alexander Martin, of De Pauw University, Greencastle, Indiana, was the invited guest of the Exposition Management Saturday Dec. 27th, on the occasion of the celebration of American college day. And the States of Sunday Dec. 28, a city paper says: Among other pleasant things "Dr. Martin made a powerful speech on educational matters." He warmly approved of the action of the Management in devoting a special day to American colleges. President Martin's was an eloquent and most interesting address, and it called forth frequent bursts of applause from the listeners. On Sunday Dr. Martin preached at Ames Church, and the occasion was of both profit and pleasure to that worthy and persistent band of Methodists. Dr. Martin was greaty pressed for time but put in every moment in getting around among our people, and seeing the situation generally. We were especially pleased to meet him here, regretted his early departure, and wish he may speedily find his way back again.

Editorial Perambulations.

TEXAS METHODISM AT WORK.

The Texas and West Texas Conferences include all our colored work in that State. Besides these two we have there the Austin and Southern German Conferences. The last two conferences contain all the white work we have in Texas and Louisiana except two appointments of white work which remained when the others separated. Then the African Methodists have four conferences in Texas.

The Southern Methodists are there in good force, and the Colored Methodist Church in America is represented also. Bishops Foster, Wayman, McTyeire, and Miles of these churches respectively, have the Episcopal oversight for the present year; and the three former were present holding their conferences at the same time.

At San Antonio and Denton Bishop Foster had the field to himself.

FRATERNITY.

The African, and our Conference at Houston, exchanged fraternal visitations by means of committees delegated for that purpose. Between the Texas Conference Church South and the West Texas Conference of our church, both meeting in Austin at the same time, no formal fraternal recognition was had, unless an invitation to Dr. S. Hunt of our Book Concern to a seat within the bar was such.

Our conferences show a steady upward tendency and growth in all things. Eight years previously Bishop Foster held these conferences and expressed himself as well pleased with the evidences of progress which were apparent to him.

The feeling of admiration between the Bishop and conferences was mutual. The general verdict of the preachers was that with ripening years and an ever widening Christian culture and experience, the Bishop had himself greatly improved in sympathy and in tenderness of feeling and expression. What he said and done during these conferences touched an approving chord and a consenting response in the hearts of the preachers, and the general expression was "He is one of the grandest of living Methodists." He addressed the conference three times at the opening, at the reception of full members, and at the time of assigning the pastors. The address to members entering the conference will live forever, it will be spoken of by those young men after they have grown grey in the service of the church, and in conversation the great thoughts then expressed will be handed down to generations of ministers following. We venture the opinion that our episcopacy has never excelled in speech on such occasions the utterances of that hour. It was like the best similar efforts of Simpson, Wiley, and Bowman. But the sublime moment of the session was on Sunday evening at Houston, in Trinity Church, which holds 900, and was over full when the Bishop stood up to preach. It was an appreciative and an excellent audience, and let us add it was not in any sense a dissappointed one. Plato, Aristotle, and Cicero all come in mind while you listen to Bishop Foster. From Romans VIII. 18, the Bishop discussed the dual nature of man.

The spirituality and animality were so contrasted and the duty of catering to the man rather than his animal so clearly and forcibly painted, that though the Bishop was pouring forth a most learned and philosophical disquisition, having to do with a much mystified psycical truth, yet he promised to make it clear, and kept his promise to the letter; without synergism the preacher taught man's duty to work with God.

SOCIAL.

Both at Houston and Austin he took apparent delight in gratifying the desire of the people to entertain him. Sisters Baker, Vance, and Madison were thus gratified and the Bishop no less than they by the superb dinners they lovingly provided for him. Rev. Geo. W. Richardson and lady; J. T. Hamil co-editor of the Austin Citizen, Dr. McKinley, Prof. Kershaw of Tillotson University, and Mr. and Mrs. John Stokes, all of Austin, were prodigal in the generosity and impartiality with which they entertained ministers and visitors of the conference.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS

Drs. Albert S. and Sanford Hunt, one of the Bible and the other junior member of the Methodist Book house, New York, and Dr. J. C. W. Coon of Iowa, were in Texas for the first time we believe. Their visits to the conference were joyfully received and future ones desired. The letters of Dr. Sanford Hunt in the Christian Advocate show a pretty careful examination of things, and his statements are quite accurate barring a lapsus linguæ probably, which caused him to write two instead of four as it would be when speaking of the number of the African Methodist Conferences in Texas. Members of these brethren strong, well weighed and temperate in general matters but enthusiastic in the interest of our old church.

The Negro historian Williams vol. 2. p. 3 says: "Alabama and Mississippi became the most cruel slave States in the United States." Proof of this remains in the suppressed appearance of the people, and crude home life they lead. Not one family where we stopped sat down with us at the table. And at one place, although the landlord was evidently worth $3000 to $4000, his wife said that they had not had any fire in their front room which we were to occupy for 11 years. We marveled at such a statement, but after hearing it we didn't marvel that our host was subject to periodical attacks of bronchitus; nor that he was then prostrated by it.

The State contains 51,722 square miles of territory, in length it is about 230 miles, in breadth 160, it is bounded on the North by Tennessee, East by Georgia, South by Florida, and on the West by Mississippi. Alabama and Mississippi were both originally a part of Georgia, by which State they were ceeded to the union to be erected into slave states, that being the condition of the cession especially required by Georgia.

The principal rivers in Alabama are the Alabama, Tombigbee, Black Warrior, Coosa, Tallapoosa, Tennessee, Chattahooche, Perdido, and Cahawba, it has also three bays. The Southern part of the State bordering on West Florida and the Gulf of Mexico is low and levell, middle Alabama is hilly and the Northern part of the State is broken and mountainous, the Alleghany mountains terminate in the north-eastern part of it.

It is said that this country generally is more elevated above the sea than most other parts of the United States at equal distance from the ocean.

About one-sixth of the land in this State is under cultivation. But the population is constantly increasing. The climate is semi tropical, the soil is very rich though says Dupuy's Encyclopedia, "The low lands are very healthy." There are fine grazing lands in the north-east and in the valleys between the hills in that section. Cotton is the staple and for its production this state ranks third, Georgia and Mississippi taking the precedence. It also produces Indian corn, oats, sweet potatoes, fruits, vegetables, sugar, tobacco, barley, buckwheat, wine, cheese, grass seeds, flax and the Negroes under the lead of S. E. and R. M. Lowery of Huntsville, have introduced the growth and manufacture of silk.

Game and fish are abundant. There is a good supply of timbers, minerals, and excellent mineral waters.

The report of the United States Mint shows that from its organization to June 30, 1885, Alabama produced $222,729,90 in gold and $6,15 in silver, from mines in the State. The census of 1880 shows 2,070 manufacturing establishments in Alabama, with $9,668,008 of capital invested, 10,019 hands employed at $2,500,504 wages per annum, handling $8,470,206 of material and producing $13,565,504 worth of marketable goods. The State contains a total population of 1,262,505 divided as follows, white 662,185; colored 600,320; males 21 years and over white native 136,958, foreign 5,403, colored 118,423. In 1850 the total population of State was 771,621 of whom 427,514 were white and 344,109 were Negroes. Of the Negro population the following classification is needed for a correct understanding of the situation: 1. Slaves 342,841. 2. Free colored people 2,268; and these are divided into free mulattoes 1,698, and slave mulattoes 21,605; manumitted 16 and fugitives 29. The number of whites who held slaves was 29,295 or 5,692 less mulattoes than slave holders. Verily miscegenation was in these days rapidly asserting its power to throttle slavery. For in a little time the black of the Negro would have bleached into the white of the Caucasian, and then where would have been the slaves.

But before these letters are concluded we shall have figures to present much more conclusive as to this, than those already submitted.

Indeed it appeared that what was conceived in avarice was to be destroyed by lust.

The increase of Negro population in Alabama from 1850 to 1880 was 256,211: and of the whites 234,671, or 21,540 more of blacks than whites. But this does not fully show the relative increase, the Negroes left the State in great numbers during what will be known in history as the reign of terror at the collapse of what Williams calls the "Misconstruction governments."

EDUCATION.

In 1832 this State enacted a law fining any one from $2,50, to $5, for teaching any free person of color or slave to spell, read or write. It punished by severe flogging any free Negro for being in company with slaves without the permission of the master. It prohibited the assembling of more than five male slaves at any place off of the plantation to which they belonged, except when attending religious services conducted by white persons. It forbid any slave or free Negro preaching except in the presence of five respectable slave holders. But in 1833 a law was passed authorizing the mayor and aldermen of Mobile to grant license to such persons as they deemed suitable to give instruction to free colored creoles, ("mulattoes.") Such children were required to obtain a certificate from the mayor and aldermen also. This action grew out of a condition of the treaty between France and the United States by which the rights and privileges of citizens had been secured for the creoles residing in Mobile and Baldwin county, at the time of the treaty. Now is there any wonder that the Negroes come out of slavery very ignorant or that their preachers were very innocent of culture? The wonder is that they have made such progress as we see they have. Out of this State came 4 969 United States colored troops, and in 1873 sent Hon. James T Rapier, a Negro, to Congress.

Our church has had schools at Huntsville, and Dadeville, Congregational at Athens, Montgomery, Selma, Mobile, and Talladega. State Normal school at Huntsville and Marion. And in 1879 the enrollment of Negro children was 67,635 out of a total school population of 162,551.

METHODISM.

Our Church has two conferences in the State. The Alabama, white with 3190; and Central Alabama, colored, with 6827 members and probationers. Both of these conferences have just held their session for 1885; Bishop Mallalieu presiding. We were present at the latter, and testify as our report will more fully explain, that they had a most enjoyable and profitable session.

There was reported several accessions in churches, and preachers this year, yet for some reason perhaps clerical the total number and value of churches is less than last year. The men of this conference have made a good start, some of them are well advanced and the determination seems to be gain all they can, and hold all they have. The presence of Bishop Mallalieu was highly appreciated and the order of the conference render his faithful direction really of a high degree of excellence. Mr. J. W. Bowman and Dr. C. O. Fisher with this Editor spent some time with the conference, the latter preached in the afternoon following the Bishop; and at any other time than this it would be taken for one of high character, but coming after the great yet simple and well directed effort of the morning, we may say that it was a first class effort. Dr. Gillett gave one of his inimitable Sunday-school discourses at night, and thus passed a Sabbath not soon forgotten by our good people in Mobile. This city has about a dozen colored churches for a population of 16,000 Negroes. Five of these churches are Methodist one Episcopal, one Congregational and the others Baptist. The venerable and well known Isaac M. Williams is rector of the Episcopalian Church. Rev. W. D. Mayo well known in the African Methodist circles in New Orleans prepared himself with 300 members and five church buildings for admission to the conference and the matter was taken under deliberation. If admitted, this settles the score between us and African Methodism in Iowa, and gives us four to boot. The conference closed up as pleasantly as it began and the preachers retired full of hope and good purpose.

Visitors—Dean Thirkield of Gammon School of Theology, and Prof. A. F. Hoyt of New Orleans University were present, and each delivered stirring speeches. Several ministers of other denominations looked in upon the conference from time to time.

His Name May Yet be a Covering for Them.

After a careful reading of all that we have seen relating to the career of Mr. William H. Vanderbilt, we come to the conclusion that he was a man for the times in which he lived, and possessed of many valuable and useful traits of character.

Aside from the prodigous sums which he bestowed upon charity, which, being contrasted with his great fortune are eclipsed, dwarfed and appear small. He was a collossal employer of men at wages, and all other forms of bestowing benefactions are low, compared to this.

His was a great strong, bold face, which to look upon after all reminded one of a man, thinking more of men and his duty to them, than of his own greatness or the means of increasing it. We are forcibly impressed with the mutability of human concerns, and the evanescence of the grandest mortal conditions as we contemplate the progress of this gentleman through life.

Born in a plain double tenement three story house at New Brunswick, New Jersey. He came to the proprietorship of a castle on his farm at New Dorps Staten Island, New York. He later assumed the lordship of his palace at the corner of Fifth Avenue, and Fifty-first Street, New York, where he ended his busy life.

Now he goes to lie in a house much smaller than either of those. Indeed, a simple niche in the wall of his great mausoleum will serve his every purpose now. Is this all? Let us hope he so lived that there is more for him. May those of his home make for themselves a place in that better mansion, which the Savior has gone before to prepare for all who love and follow after him.

Though of a race in part, who so far as any public word or deed directly his own is concerned of which we have learned, share no place in his thought or direct benefactions.

Still we bring our needless chaplet of respect for his memory as a great American, and of sympathy for those whose grief is so much the greater as was his love and care best known and devoted to them.

May there yet be a school or a church, or an asylum accessible to Negroes and bearing the name of Vanderbilt.

Pay the Presiding Elder.

Conference is over and work begins. The district stewards will meet now and fix the presiding elder's salary. No charge should fail to see that the district stewards have the means to attend the district stewards' meeting. No district steward should be kept in office, who for any reason fails to go. If on any district the presiding elder fails to call these stewards together as the law directs, no estimate should be made him, and nothing paid him until he does call them together and proceed in a legal way to ascertain what his pay shall be.

When an estimate is made after due notice in the proper way, then every charge is as fully and truly bound to accept it, and raise and pay it all, as if each member had severally been present and voted for it. Meet, fix and raise the presiding elders' salary, brethren.

Gen. Robt. Toombs.

Gen. Robert Toombs has passed away. In life we knew nothing especially good, or commendable to say of him. In death we know nothing bad to say of him.

This we know, he was in all things a typical and representative man of the old South, and touching the old and what is called the new South, there is just one essential difference. The old South believed in the divinity of slavery and the perpetual committal of the Negro to it. They made it a constitutional issue and appealed to the arbitrament of war to decide the contest. The decision went against them and the new South accepted results without a change of view. The old South lived and will die whipped but not surrendered, conquered but not convinced. Inplacable and unwilling to placate others. Gen. Toombs represented this old South, and was idolized by it. He was a very clever man.

Personal.

—The address of Rev. Jesse P. Price is 356 South street, Memphis Tenn.

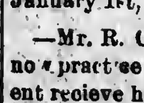
—We are informed that Rev. S. G. Turner of Lexington Conference has joined the A. M. E. Zion Church.

—We see in the prints that Messrs. Douglass and Bruce, and we hear that Mr. Langston will not be here on Emancipation Day.

—Rev. W P. Thirkield, Dean of Gammon School of Theology, paid a flying visit to the Crescent City recently.

—Bishop W. H. Miles, of Louisville, Ky., is in the South. He held the Louisiana Conference recently, and will probably spend January 1st, with this editor.

—Mr. R. C. O. Benjamin will now practice law, and for the present recieve his mail at Lexington, Ky. We have been acquainted with the gentlemen for several years.



—The Rev. Dr. Hartzell preached twice at Delaware, O., Nov. 20th, and lectured on the New South. His large audiences were profoundly stirred. Though he took a very handsome collection he left the town much richer for his visit.

— We hear that Bishop Ward, of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, was lately prevented from securing the benefit of first class passage on the Railroad over which his ticket read. But being unable to gain the absolute facts in the case, we withhold further comment until we have them. The Bishop is now in the city quite unwell.

A Mother's Love—A Practical Illustration of Its Power.

A mother's love! What a potent thing it is! It will melt the heart of the most hardened criminal, when no other influence would be effectual. No one but a mother knows its full meaning, but every one can appreciate it if they will. It is known, though, that it means sleepless nights, care, inconvenience, and, if necessary, want, hardship and death. But the subject has been too eloquently treated by the sweetest poets and the ablest writers to furnish an essay for these columns. Too many practical illustrations occur in every day life for it to be dwelt upon, so that it is unnecessary to speak of the subject further in order to make the reader understand the full meaning of what is to follow.

Mrs. Henry Schualen, of Ashland, Ky., writes that her daughter has been cured of deafness which resulted from chronic catarrh. She tells how she had lost all hope of her daughter (her ideal) being cured, and how overjoyed she is at the result. After trying many remedies, she says PERUNA brought a cure, and that the daughter's hearing is restored. She concludes, by speaking in the most flattering terms of PERUNA, and then describes in the most lovely manner the happiness it has brought her, and reviews the distress she experienced while her daughter was afflicted.

Dr. A. R. Ong, Martins Ferry, O., writes: "I have a large trade on your PERUNA. Think it is a grand remedy."

Mr. Robert C. Hannah, Tolesborough, Lewis county, Ky., writes: "I write to inform you of the great benefit I received by the use of your medicines, PERUNA and MANALIN. I had been low spirited and very sick for about six months with a bad cough, and my friends thought I had consumption; tried a number of patent medicines, and most of the doctors in the vicinity (and we have some as good as you can find in the country), but they did me no good whatever. Our merchant, Mr. Gillespie, insisted upon me trying your remedies. I did so, but must say, I had little faith in them at first; before I had consumed my first bottle, I noticed a change for the better, and to-day I am entirely well, and as sound a man as there is in the vicinity. I credit my cure to your valuable remedies, PERUNA and MANALIN, and recommend them to all of my friends."

Church Polity.

MR EDITOR:—In case of the trial of a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, has the pastor as president of the court any right to remain with the select committee while they are coming to a verdict?—SUBSCRIBER.

Answer.—He has the right. See Baker on the Discipline, p. 109. chapter, V. Sec. IV., par 7. See also Townsend's Hand Book of Church Trials, part 1. p. 51., p. 42 Sec. 13. DANGER SIGNAL.

When a person gives you counterfeit money he perpetrates a crime against the law and your pecuniary interests; but when he gives you an inferior and dangerous medicine in the place of one of recognized and well known curative properties he commits the blackest of crimes, for he conspires against your health and life.

"The New York Herald," Sept. 21, 1885, says: "To endorse a counterfeit medicine is to injure the manufacturer and the buyer, and the buyers will soon drop away from a counterfeited medicine that they find worthless. Manufacturers of counterfeit articles fail because they have not the experience and apparatus of the large manufacturer to produce the same curative results. The large manufacturers have the utmost incentive, while they are protected, to make their medicine as perfect and curative as possible."

For example, take the experience of Simmons Liver Regulator prepared by J. H. Zeilin & Co., of Philadelphia; their firm has devoted years of time, employed the most eminent chemists of the land, and spent thousands of dollars in bringing their medicine to the perfection it has attained. They expended a large amount of money in bringing it to the attention of the people, and its use has made Simmons Liver Regulator widely popular. In order to make money from the great reputation gained by this remedy, unscrupulous adventurers have gotten up cheap counterfeits, dangerous to health, and stick on these frauds a name closely resembling Simmons Liver Regulator, to deceive the unwary into buying their inferior goods.

FERNANDINA, Nassau Co., Fla.

"I have used Dr. Simmons Liver Regulator and always found it to do what is claimed for it. The last bottle and two packages did me no good and were worse than nothing. I see it is not put up by J. H. Zeilin & Co., and not genuine, and a waste of money to buy it. I could be glad to get the pure and genuine. Send me some from honest hands (with red Z and Zeilin & Co.'s signature on the Wrapper). The fictitious stuff sold will injure some one badly.

BENJ. T. RICH."

The genuine Simmons Liver Regulator has become the Faultless Family Medicine and has the endorsement of the thousands who have used it. If you want Simmons Liver Regulator see that the Druggist gives you the genuine, not something he claims is "just as good," and because he makes more off it.

Watch Meeting.

H. M. BURNSIDE.

We are standing on the threshold,
While old Time unlocks the door,
And the breathing of the New Year
Sweeps across us fresh and pure.
And the burden we have carried
Through the old year slips away,
While we turn our hopeful faces
To the smiling New Year's day.
In our hearts are new hopes arising,
To our lips come words of prayer,
Our beloved ones commending
To the Father's tender care.

How to Overcome Sleeplessness.

GEO. L. CUNTISS, M. D.

Tired nature begs for sleep. It is the sweet restorer of strength, health and spirits. Many persons, because of severe mental and physical labor or advancing years can not sleep as soundly and continuously as formerly. Besides, the sleep they do get does not seem to refresh and strengthen them. Various methods have been resorted to to overcome this inability to sleep, and produce good, quiet sleep. I will refer to some of them.

Some persons have resorted to various drugs in hopes of producing sleep. Opium in the form of laudanum, morphine, or the crude gum has been a great favorite and freely used. To a certain extent these will accomplish the object, but the practice is unwise and even dangerous to those who resort to it. The opium habit is soon formed, and the amount to be taken has to be greatly increased. There will come a time when the use of opium will not give sleep or anything bearing a resemblance to it. There are some who use the drug chloral to produce sleep. This is exceedingly dangerous. Its danger increases as the use is continued. It is very sure to produce death, even when the quantity has not been increased. It may be laid down as a safe rule that all drugs taken to produce sleep are dangerous, and liable sooner or later to lose their sleep-producing power or cause death.

There are other simple and safe things which may be done to produce sleep. Dr. Von Gallhorn was greatly troubled with insomnia. He bandaged one leg up to the knee with several layers of wet calico and covered these with a sheet of waterproof cloth. Thus equipped he retired to bed and soon fell into a sweet and refreshing sleep. This he practiced nightly for months, and was entirely cured of sleeplessness. The damp clothes by reflex influence caused the blood vessels of the leg to dilate, drawing the blood from the brain, when sleep was induced.

A good and yet simple remedy for sleeplessness is to bind wet cloths on the wrists and cover them with dry cloths. The same physiological results will follow as when the wet cloths are bound on the leg.

Great relief will be found in [illegible] from tea and coffee, and [illegible] attending [illegible] at once [illegible] in the [illegible] and [illegible] the bowels and [illegible] the last three ages [illegible] only with [illegible] in the diseases. The last form is usually the most severe, while the third, or that located in the sheath of the tendon, causes the loss of the joint. The pain is sharp, lancinating and continuous. It takes several days for a felon to run its course, and in the worst forms even weeks. The inflammation is usually great, and sometimes the destruction of tissue is considerable. In some cases the felon ought to be opened by a physician, more especially if it is located next the bone. In the other cases it is probably not so necessary, and, indeed, some physicians say they ought never to be opened until they do so spontaneously. Where it is not necessary or desirable to cut down to the center of the tumor and so give it out, the following is good, sensible treatment:

"Take the yelk of one egg and stir into it half a teaspoonful of finely powdered camphor gum, one teaspoonful of spirits of turpentine. This will make a mixture thick and and salvy. and easily spread on old linen. If the case is very urgent indeed, twice the quantity of camphor gum can be used, and in a few cases, when the individual can not bear the touch of turpentine, only a few drops need be added. This is to be laid over the sore for an hour or two, or as long as the patient can endure it, and then be replaced by a cooling poultice. If applied in the first stages the sore will be drawn rapidly to a head, and weeks of pain avoided. If very painful, put a little laudanum on the poultice, and if that does not relieve, bathe the hand with chloroform.

After the felon has broken, or at any stage when it is advisable to apply a soft poultice, there can be nothing better than flaxseed meal. Pour boiling water slowly over a teaspoonful of the meal until a soft poultice is made—not soft enough to run, or dry enough to become easily hard. A little experience will enable one to get it just right."

The salve is excellent for use in case of any lesser sore or swelling of any kind. Felons are believed to be caused by a blow or bruise, sometimes not very great, but still sufficient to cause a deep seated injury. It is not absolutely sure that a felon may not be aborted in its first stage. At any rate, some swellings, supposed to be the commencement of felons, by use of hot appliances, have been aborted.

General News Items.

Africa has an area of about 11,000,000 square miles, and a population of about 205,000,000.

It is estimated by the London Railway News that the railways of the world carry 500,000 passengers daily.

A Nevada court held that a man with $5 in his pocket and a week's board paid ahead is a "capitalist" within the meaning of the law.

A German professor has recently published a dissertation on Spiritualism, maintaining that it is wicked to seek intercourse with the dead, and that no Christian should put himself on a footing of negotiation and investigation with Spiritualism."—The Current.

The total receipts of a Birmingham Festival amounted to £13,565, which is £1,651 less than at the previous festival of 1882. The greatest falling off—£700—was manifest at the first production of Gounod's Mors et Vita—Musical World.

An electric stud is the latest novelty of this inventive age. The diamond forming the stud has a cavity in the center. This forms a receptacle for a tiny electric lamp. Stored electricity can be carried in the waistcoat pocket, and when switched on to the stud lamp it greatly intensifies the brilliancy of the diamond, producing a splendid effect.

In nineteen counties of Indiana there are 1,182 saloons, and in nine counties there are no saloons. In the nineteen counties there is one saloon prisoner for every seventy-two voters, in the nine counties there is one for every seven hundred and twenty votes—being ten times as many where liquor is sold.

An interesting discovery has recently been made at Sidon. Some natives who were excavating for stone, after penetrating through the alluvial soil, dug through a deposit of brown sand, six metres in depth, below which they found a stratum of earth containing flint implements, fragments of coarse hand pottery and other objects, among which a clay whistle may be noted. It is clear, therefore, that the Phœnician city of Sidon was preceded by an older settle ment whose inhabitants were still in the stone age. Flint flakes and implements, it will be remembered, have already been found in the vicinity of Dog river, north of Beyrout.—American Antiquarian.

LESSON HYMN. L. M. 61. Hymnal No. 475.

Behold the servant of the Lord!
I wait thy guiding hand to feel;
To hear and keep thy every word,
Thy promised joy and pain to prove;
Forget my own works to cease,
Glad to fulfill all righteousness.

Here, then, to thee thine own I leave;
Mould me to thy will thy passive clay;
Subdue me all thy stamp receive,
Be it to me all thy words obey;
Still to Jesus' heart and eye,
Still to Him gladly live and die.

All the preachers who are pastors in charge, local as well as traveling ministers of the Louisville district, must meet in Coke Chapel M. E. Church, Louisville, Ky., March 30, 1886, at 10 o'clock a. m., and if possible finish up the work on this district for this conference year; and before you leave your charge for this important duty please be certain and hold a special meeting of all the leaders and stewards, and in that meeting fill your statistics blanks for the annual conference. Do not guess at anything, but state nothing but facts. This you can not do very well away from your books. If any young preacher does not understand the blanks, put everything relating to this matter on paper and bring it to Coke Chapel on the day appointed above, and there we will have a careful review of all the reports for the annual conference.

Dear Brethren, please give the annual conference what she asks for, and nothing more and nothing less. That is facts about everything. She has given you twelve months to get the facts of your charge, and these facts will tell what you have been doing. The annual conference does not ask you for the picture of the peach, but for the peach itself. She also asks for a little more lightning and not so much thunder. And care, faith, prayer, holy living and study will make you a good Methodist.

W. W. LOCKE.

Notice.

Brethren of the Louisville District, Lexington Conference:—You will please remember the action of the first district conference, held in LaGrange, Ky., of this conference year, concerning the presiding elder's salary. You will be ready to settle up, at your fourth quarterly conference every cent you are due him since that session of the conference, according to the reports of the district stewards, which we received and agreed upon by the conference.

Littell's Living Age.

In 1886, THE LIVING AGE enters upon its forty third year, having met with continuous commendation and success.

A Weekly Magazine, it gives fifty-numbers of sixty-four pages each, or more than Three and a Quarter Thousand double-octavo pages of reading matter yearly. It presents in an inexpensive form, considering its great amount of matter, with freshness, owing to its weekly issue, and with a completeness nowhere else attempted.

The best Essays, Reviews, Criticisms, Serials and Short Stories, Sketches of Travel and Discovery, Poetry, Scientific, Biographical, Historical, and Political Information from the entire body of Foreign Peridical Literature and from the pens of the Foremost Living Writers.

The ablest and most cultivated minds, in every department of Literature, Science, Politics and Art, find expression in the Periodical Literature of Europe, and specially of Great Britain.

The Living Age, forming four large volumes a year furnishes from the great and generally inaccessible mass of this literature, the only compilation that, while within the reach of all, is satisfactory in the COMPLETENESS with which it embraces whatever is of immediate interest or of solid, permanent value.

It is therefore indispensable to every one who wishes to keep pace with the events of the current progress of the time, or to cultivate in himself or his family general intelligence and literary taste.

1886 GREGORY'S SEED CATALOGUE 1886

FAIR AND SQUARE DEALING

Believing that if a man has dealt squarely with his fellowmen his patrons are his best advertisers, I invite all to make inquiry of the character of my seeds among over a million of Farmers, Gardeners and Planters who have used them during the past thirty years. Raising a large portion of the seed sold, (few seedsmen raise the seed they sell) I was the first seedsman in the United States to warrant (as per catalogue) their purity and freshness. My new Vegetable and Flower Seed Catalogue for 1886 will be sent FREE to all who write for it. Among an immense variety my friends will find in it (and in none other) a new drumhead Cabbage, just about as early as Henderson's, but nearly twice as large!
